

Comparative Law and Justice
Sociology 333-01/Anthropology 333-01
Rhode Island College, Spring 2013

Wednesdays 4-7:50 PM, Craig-Lee 252

Prerequisite: Any 100- or 200-level course in a social science

Instructor Information

Mikaila Mariel Lemonik Arthur

marthur@ric.edu (preferred) 401. 456. 8681

Office: Craig Lee Hall Room 451

Office Hours: Tuesday and Thursday 2:30-3:30 or by appointment

This course uses the Blackboard Course Management System

Course Description

Globalization is a buzzword in today's society, but it is a buzzword with real consequences. We live in a world in which connections across national borders have become increasingly important to all aspects of life, from corporate outsourcing to immigration politics, from internet communications to transnational crime. This course takes globalization as a starting point for considering the comparative organization of legal and justice systems around the world. As an interdisciplinary course, it draws from anthropology, sociology, political science, and legal studies to paint a picture of the very different ways that countries make laws, govern their populations, respond to crime, and conceive of human rights. The course will provide students with a foundation in comparative analysis that enables them to understand the complexities of global legal and justice problems and to use cross-national data to better understand the legal and justice systems they will experience in their personal and professional lives.

Required Materials

Bracey. Exploring Law and Culture. Waveland Press. ISBN 1-57766-411-6 (List price $14)

The majority of course readings will be distributed via Blackboard; students are encouraged to validate their RIC IDs at the library ASAP.

THIS SYLLABUS IS TENTATIVE AND SUBJECT TO CHANGE.

Course Requirements

This course incorporates a variety of ways for you to demonstrate your engagement, learning, and competency regarding the course material. You will have some flexibility in choosing how and where to deploy your efforts; if you were to successfully complete all possible course assignments, you could earn 110+ points (the cutoff for an A grade is roughly 95 points). Because there are so many opportunities to earn points, most assignments cannot be made up or turned in late. If you experience an unusual or extraordinary circumstance, such as hospitalization, that requires an alternative plan for completing your work, please contact me as soon as possible to discuss this.

1. WEEKLY POLICY MEMOS. For the duration of this course, you will take on the role of a junior policy analyst for a country in the midst of creating a new government. Part of your job description is to read the literature on world legal systems and summarize it for your boss, an official with little time and great responsibility. Your memos will be due each week in Blackboard no later than noon on Tuesdays so that I have time to review them before class. More details about the expectations for this assignment are available in Blackboard. You will have 9 opportunities to submit memos and one opportunity to revise and resubmit a memo. 5 points each.
2. CURRENT EVENTS ASSIGNMENT. Once during the course of the semester, you will be responsible—as part of a group of three to four students—for selecting several key current world events related to our course and presenting them to your classmates. Resources and details are available in Blackboard; this assignment will be discussed further during the second week of class. You should also be sure to frequently review the Global Law News link in Blackboard to keep up on relevant current events. 10 points.
3. EXAMS. There are two take-home open-book exams in this course: the midterm, which is due in Blackboard by 3:30 pm on Wednesday, March 6th, and the final exam, which is due in Blackboard by 7 pm on Wednesday, May 8th. Both will ask you to identify elements of governmental and legal systems by drawing on the ideas and concepts we've developed in class. 10 points for midterm; 15 points for final. Note: the final is NOT optional; students who do not complete the final on time will receive an incomplete in the course until they make arrangements to complete a make-up exam.
4. BLACKBOARD ASSIGNMENTS. There will be approximately 4 Blackboard assignments due during the course—anonymous surveys, a quiz on the US legal system, and assignments asking you to respond to assigned films. Due dates are indicated on the course schedule below, though additional assignments may be added as needed (remember, if additional assignments are added, this provides only more opportunities to earn points). 3-5 points each.
5. IN-CLASS ASSIGNMENTS. Frequently throughout the semester we will work on some sort of assignment in class. These assignments, which are not announced in advance, may include group activities, individual writing responses to class material, peer reviews of memos, or other assignments. 1-2 points each.
6. ATTENDANCE & PARTICIPATION. While I do lecture during this course, I expect students to participate actively in class discussions and group activities. At least once during each class meeting, you should expect to contribute a question or comment or respond to something I or one of your classmates says. Remember that in order to participate you must be present both physically and mentally and engaged in what is going on in the classroom. I understand that some students are uncomfortable speaking in class; if this sounds like you, it is your responsibility to find alternative ways to demonstrate your engagement and contributions. For example, you can visit my office hours frequently during the semester, or send me emails in which you comment on class discussion and pose further questions. Remember that there are very few stupid questions, but that all questions and comments should be made in a spirit of respect for other students and their contributions to the class. Participation will be assessed, in part, using a rubric available in Blackboard. 10 points

7. READING. You are expected to complete all assigned course readings prior to the date for which they are assigned. Remember that this is not a course with multiple-choice memory-based exams—my goal is not for you to commit every name, date, and definition to memory but instead to develop an understanding of the concepts, ideas, and arguments in each reading. Remember that normal expectations for a college course are that you should do two hours of work outside class for every one hour in class—since you are spending four hours a week in this class, that means you should expect to work on reading, writing assignments, and studying for this class for eight or so hours per week outside of class. I do know the reading load in this course is fairly heavy, but this is what will help you learn. You should also be sure to frequently review the Global Law News link in Blackboard to keep up on relevant current events.

Course Schedule

All readings and assignments are due on the first course date for which they are assigned. The majority of readings are available in Blackboard, those by Bracey are in the required Bracey text.

Wednesday, January 23

First Day of Class

- ▶ Getting to Know You survey due in Blackboard by Friday the 25th
- ▶ Nelken, “Why Compare?” Pp. 11-24 in Comparative Criminal Justice
- ▶ Bracey, “Law’s Cultural Context,” 1-12
- ▶ For anthropology majors/minors: Bracey, “History and Method,” 13-28

Wednesday, January 30

World Legal Systems

- ▶ “Legal Traditions” 98-145 (bring printed/electronic copy to class)
- ▶ Bracey, pgs. 29-78 on world legal systems (bring to class)
- ▶ Be sure to have read the entire syllabus prior to today’s class

Wednesday, February 6

US Legal System Review/Writing Clinic

- ▶ Burnham, “History and Governmental Structure,” Introduction to the Law and Legal System of the United States 1-36
  - ▶ Friedman, “American Law,” Law in America 161-84
  - ▶ US Constitution, <http://www.usconstitution.net/const.html>
  - ▶ Bracey, “The U.S. Legal System,” 79-84
  - ▶ US Law Quiz due in Blackboard by 9 am today
  - ▶ First memo due by 3:30 pm today; revised memo by 10 am Feb. 8
- Note: Class will begin in the usual classroom and move to the Gaige 168 computer lab at approximately 5 pm

Wednesday, February 13

The State

- ▶ Mann, “The Autonomous Power of the State,” States War Capitalism
- ▶ Gottlieb, “Win or Lose,” The New Yorker 07/26/20, 73-77 O
- ▶ Horowitz, “Electoral Systems,” Journal of Democracy 14:4, 115-127
- ▶ Weaver, “Electoral Rules,” Journal of Democracy 13:2, 111-125
- ▶ Memo due by noon on Feb. 12

Wednesday, February 20

Crime and the Global World

- ▶ Greenwald, “Drug Decriminalization in Portugal,” Cato Inst. 1-30
- ▶ Gettleman, “Taken by Pirates,” New York Times Magazine
- ▶ Samuels, “The Pink Panthers,” The New Yorker 42-61
- ▶ Di Justo, “Crime, Organized,” Wired
- ▶ Schmidle, “Disarming Victor Bout,” The New Yorker
- ▶ Memo due by noon on Feb. 19

Wednesday, February 27

Law Enforcement

- ▶ Varghese, “Police Structure,” SSRN Working Papers Series 1-12
- ▶ Kulish, “Germany’s Anti-Chaos Crusaders,” NYT Magazine
- ▶ Hessler, “All Due Respect,” The New Yorker, 50-59
- ▶ Andreas & Nadelmann, “European Origins of International Crime Control,” Pp. 59-104 in Policing the Globe
- ▶ Memo due by 3:30 today (Feb 27)—bring 2 printed copies of your memo to class. Revised memo due by 9 am on Monday, March 4.

Wednesday, March 6

Courts, Part I

- ▶ Kadri, “From Eden to Ordeals,” Pp. 3-38 in The Trial
- ▶ Bahrapour, “The Caning of Michael Fay,” American University Journal of International Law & Policy 10, 1075-1108
- ▶ Schneider & Schneider, “The Anthropology of Crime and Criminalization,” Annual Review of Anthropology 37, 351-73
- ▶ Midterm Due before class today

Wednesday, March 13

NO CLASS: SPRING BREAK

Wednesday, March 20

Courts, Part II, and International Issues

- ▶ Keefe, “Reversal of Fortune,” The New Yorker, 38-49
- ▶ Rueschemeyer, “Comparing Legal Professions Cross-Nationally,” ABA Research Journal 1986, 415-46
- ▶ Luna, “A Place for Comparative Criminal Procedure,” Brandeis Law Journal 42, 277-327
- ▶ Schabas, “Creation of the Court,” An Introduction to the International Criminal Court 1-20
- ▶ Memo due by noon on March 19

Wednesday, March 27

Online Class—Globalization

- ▶ View video lecture on globalization
- ▶ View T-Shirt Travels video
- ▶ Ritzer, “Globalization II,” Pp. 33-62 from Globalization
- ▶ Blackboard Globalization assignment is due 9 am, Fri. March 29
*The deadline for withdrawing from this course is March 29

Wednesday, April 3

Punishment

- ▶ Foucault, "The Body of the Condemned," Discipline & Punish 3-31
- ▶ Lewis, "Behind Bars...Sort Of," NYT Magazine 6/14/09
- ▶ Mauer, "Comparative International Rates of Incarceration," The Sentencing Project, 1-16
- ▶ Miethe, "Issues in the Soc. of Punishments," Punishment 194-216
- ▶ Memo due by noon on April 2

Wednesday, April 10

Family Law

- ▶ Htun & Weldon, "Sex Equality in Family Law"
- ▶ Estin, "Unofficial Family Law," Iowa Law Review
- ▶ Rashad, "Marriage in the Arab World," PRB
- ▶ Memo due by noon on April 9

Wednesday, April 17

Human Rights

- ▶ Arendt, "The Perplexities of the Rights of Man," The Origins of Totalitarianism 290-302
- ▶ Nickel, "Human Rights," Stanford Encyclopedia of Philosophy, <http://plato.stanford.edu/entries/rights-human/>
- ▶ Weale, "Between the Highest and the Attainable? Reflections on the Right to Health," Essex Human Rights Review 5:1, 1-4
- ▶ United Nations Universal Declaration of Human Rights <http://www.un.org/en/documents/udhr/>
- ▶ Blackboard survey due by 9 am on Tuesday April 16
- ▶ Memo due by noon on April 16

Wednesday, April 24

Legal Culture

- ▶ Nelken, "Using the Concept of Legal Culture," Legal Theory & the Social Sciences 279-303
- ▶ Beah, "The Making, and Unmaking, of a Child Soldier," NYT 1/07
- ▶ White, "Defining the Intolerable," Childhood 6:1, 133-44
- ▶ Bracey, "Law as a Tool of Acculturation and Domination," 85-96
- ▶ Bracey, "Cultural Pluralism and the Cultural Defense," 97-108
- ▶ OPTIONAL: watch the Ishmael Beah lecture on Blackboard
- ▶ Memo due by noon on April 23

Wednesday, May 1

Last Class Meeting

- ▶ Bracey, "Epilogue," 109-110
- ▶ Zimring, "The Necessity and Value of Transnational Comparative Study," Criminology & Public Policy 5:4, 615-22
- ▶ Nelken, "Comparative Criminal Justice," European Journal of Criminology 6:4, 291-311
- ▶ Revised memo due by 9 am on May 1
- ▶ Bring completed review sheet and questions

Final Assignment Due by 7 PM, Wednesday, May 8

Course Policies

Academic Honesty

All students enrolling in this course are expected to abide by the Rhode Island College guidelines on academic honesty. More information about academic integrity and avoiding plagiarism, as well as RIC policies, can be found at <http://ric.libguides.com/integrity>. Examples of academic dishonesty include, but are not limited to:

- Plagiarizing written work, including copying some or all of your work from a book, a website, or another student's paper. Think about how you would feel if someone passed off your hard work as their own.
- Using sources without proper attribution. Remember that all claims that did not spring fully formed from your own head need attribution, regardless of whether or not they are paraphrased, and all direct quotes should appear in quotation marks. If you are unsure how to document sources, please see me or reference the RIC Sociology Term Paper Guide at <http://www.ric.edu/sociology/termpaperguide.php>.
- Turning in work completed for other classes without prior permission.
- Working together with another student on an assignment, or seeking assistance with the content of your work from professionals, parents, or peers, without prior permission. (The exception to this policy is proofreading.)
- Copying off of another student or off of materials you have brought without permission during an exam. This includes text messaging and use of the internet during exams.
- Destroying course materials or otherwise preventing other students from achieving fully in this course.

You should be aware that I have caught many students who have engaged in academic dishonesty. Cheating successfully is often harder than you think, and you might as well just put your effort into doing the assignment legitimately. The penalties for academic dishonesty are severe, and include receiving a 0 on the assignment for the first minor offense, receiving an F for the class for a repeated offense, and report to the Vice President for Academic Affairs at RIC. If you feel the urge to engage in academic dishonesty, stop and think about what you are doing, and then come see me so we can work out a plan together to ensure your success in the course.

Extensions, Absences, and Attendance

You are expected to attend class regularly, but I am aware that emergencies do come up and that this class is not the only priority in your life. It is your responsibility to get notes from a classmate (I do not provide notes to students) and to meet with me to clarify what you have missed. If you must be late to a class or if you must leave early, be sure not to disturb other students with your comings and goings. Be aware that repeated absences, even if excused, may imperil your ability to do well in the course, and that you cannot earn participation points (or points for in-class assignments, which cannot be made up) if you are not present.

All assignments are due in Blackboard by the specific time noted in the Blackboard system (you may not skip class to finish your work). Some assignments will require posting directly to a Blackboard application; others will be submitted as attachments in *.rtf, *.doc, or *.docx (preferred) format (try "Save As" to select one of these formats). Blackboard does log your submissions; you can return to an assignment yourself to see if you have submitted it correctly, and I am happy to show you how to do this so that you will not need to email me to see if I have received your work. If unavoidable circumstances require you to seek an extension on your work, I am generally open to providing one.

However, you will need to request the extension via email at least 24 hours before the due date unless there is a major emergency (health crisis, death in the family, etc.)—so plan ahead.

Course Technology

Students are expected to check their RIC email addresses and the course Blackboard site frequently, at a minimum twice a week and before each class meeting. If you primarily use another email account, I would suggest you arrange for your RIC email to be forwarded, as I do use email to disseminate important information about the course. Students are also responsible for being able to access the Blackboard site for this course. You may wish to consider downloading the Blackboard Mobile App. If you are not able to access email or Blackboard, you should seek assistance from User Support Services (<http://www.ric.edu/uss/> or 456-8803) right away so that you do not fall behind in the course.

Students with Disabilities

If you have a disability that might interfere with your ability to perform at your best in this course, it is your responsibility to come and speak with me as early as possible in the semester so that we can develop a plan together. All reasonable accommodations will be made. Students with disabilities should be sure that they are registered with Disability Services in order to ensure access to the full range of services available at Rhode Island College. Information about these services and about registration is available at <http://www.ric.edu/disabilityservices/>.

Supplemental Services

Writing Center: <http://www.ric.edu/writingcenter/>

OASIS (academic support, time management, ESL, etc.): <http://www.ric.edu/oasis>

Counseling Center (confidential & free services): <http://www.ric.edu/counselingctr/>

Course Learning Outcomes

This course is designed to meet these learning outcomes of the Sociology, Justice Studies, Anthropology, and International Business programs:

- ☑ To sensitize students to national differences in criminal justice systems.
- ☑ To introduce students to comparative perspectives on justice systems.
- ☑ To orient students toward a systematic perspective of the criminal justice system.
- ☑ To develop a citizenry educated in the problems of crime and in the administration of justice.
- ☑ To develop understanding of the causes of crime and societal responses to it.
- ☑ To advance knowledge about the design, evolution, operation, and maintenance of justice system.
- ☑ To provide an up-to-date understanding of law, human behavior, and social institutions.
- ☑ An ability to apply sociological perspectives to interpersonal and intergroup relations
- ☑ Develop an awareness of the multiple factors leading to similarities and differences across human populations, along with substantive knowledge of relevant data.
- ☑ Students will understand the legal and ethical framework of management.

For more information on program goals, see <http://www.ric.edu/sociology/degreeList.php>, <http://www.ric.edu/sociology/programJSTD.php>, <http://www.ric.edu/managementMarketing/goals.php> or <http://www.ric.edu/anthropology/goals.php>.