JUNE 2007

The Laboratory School at Rhode Island College

PRINCIPAL: DR. RON TIBBETTS
ASSISTANT PRINCIPAL: MR. STARR

SUMMER VACATION !!!

All of the teachers and staff wish everyone a happy, restful, and enjoyable summer. We are already looking forward to the first day of school on August 30, 2007. A complete calendar for the 2007 - 2008 school year is on the last page. This calendar has been approved by the Dean.

Our first day of school will be a half a day, with classes ending at 10:30. There will be an all school picnic, and students will be dismissed at 11:30.

Related to the school calendar is the length of the school day. This is currently being discussed as part of contract negotiations and any changes will be shared as soon as possible.

See you August 30th!!

LOST AND FOUND

On the table in front of the office are lost clothes that include coats, sweaters, shirts, mittens, etc. All of these items have been left behind by our students.

Clothes (and anything else) still at the school in mid-June will be donated to a woman's shelter during the summer.

TUITION

The following tuition rates for the 2007-2008 school year have been recommended to the Rhode Island College administration.

Summer Art Program:

Dr. Mulcahey's Rhode Island College Summer Art Program will run from July 9-19, and it's not too late to register! This is the 15th year of this successful program. The workshops are designed to provide a relaxed yet stimulating environment in which students can explore their creative interests. Most classes are held in the Rhode Island College Art Center, providing an enriching studio environment for young artists. Classes for younger children are held in the Henry Barnard School kindergarten rooms. Classes are offered in Mixed Media for ages 5-7 and ages 8-11, Sculpture for ages 8-11, Clay work for ages 9-13, and Drawing for ages 12-16. Tuition and supply fees for the two-week sessions are $210. There are brochures describing the program in the Henry Barnard office, or visit http://www.ric.edu/hbs/summer_art.html. For additional questions email cmulcahey@ric.edu.

Summer Soccer Program:

Mr. Janaway's Summer Soccer Camp will be offered again this summer and an additional Track and Field Camp at The Moses Brown Field in Providence. If you are interested, please contact Mr. Janaway at lpoj1@cox.net or download forms from www.proactivesoccer.com.

Summer Explorations:

Each summer Mr. Young offers a summer program for students. For the summer of 2007 a few weeks are already completely reserved. If you are interested in the remaining openings, please contact him at 456-8811 or myoung@ric.edu.

Rhode Island College Summer Programs

RIC offers a variety of programs during the summer for children. There is a Young Writer's Institute (grades K-12), a Performing Arts Camp (grades 6-12), and different types of Sports Camps (ages 8 -16). For more information about any of these programs go to www.ric.edu and click on Summer Programs.

Don't forget to read a couple of books a month!!
