RHODE ISLAND COLLEGE 2009–2011 CATALOG

This catalog was prepared on the basis of the information available at the time of publication. Therefore, specific statements, including fees, dates, course offerings, admissions requirements, financial aid practice and policies, graduation requirements, and other procedures or policies, may be subject to change without notice.

Each step of the educational process, from admission through graduation, requires continuing review and appropriate approval by college officials. The college, therefore, reserves the right to change the requirements contained in this bulletin, to determine whether a student has satisfactorily met the requirements for admission or graduation, and to reject any applicant for admission for any reason the college determines to be material to the applicant's qualifications to pursue higher education.

Printed in Canada.

Statement of Nondiscrimination and Affirmative Action

Pursuant to the philosophy of the Board of Governors for Higher Education, Rhode Island College does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, creed, national or ethnic origin, gender, religion, disability, age, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, marital, citizenship status or status as a special disabled veteran, recently separated veteran, Vietnam Era veteran, or any other veteran who served in active duty during a war or in a campaign or expedition for which a campaign badge has been authorized (except in those special circumstances permitted or mandated by law). This nondiscrimination policy encompasses the operation of the college's educational programs and activities, including admissions policies, scholarship and loan programs, athletic and other college-administered programs. It also encompasses the employment of college personnel and contracting by the college for goods and services. The college is committed to taking affirmative action to employ and advance in employment qualified women and members of minority groups identified in state and federal affirmative action laws and executive orders, persons with disabilities (including qualified special disabled veterans), and veterans of the Vietnam Era.

Inquiries concerning the college’s administration of the nondiscrimination laws should be addressed to the Assistant Vice President for Human Resources and Affirmative Action, 314 Roberts Hall, Rhode Island College, Providence, RI 02908-1991, tel. (401) 456-8218. Questions regarding provisions for students with disabilities should be directed to the Office of Student Life, 127 Craig-Lee Hall, Rhode Island College, Providence, RI 02908-1991, tel. (401) 456-8061. Questions regarding provisions of the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) should be addressed to the ADA Coordinator, 114 Roberts Hall, Rhode Island College, Providence, RI 02908-1991, tel. (401) 456-9859. Persons using TTY/TDD devices may contact the above offices via the Rhode Island Relay Services by dialing 1-800-745-5555 TTY/TDD. Reasonable accommodation upon request.

Cancellation of Classes

Classes will be held at Rhode Island College except in cases of extreme emergency as determined by the President following consultation with appropriate college officials. In making such a determination, the President may consider such factors as the college’s ability to clear parking lots and walkways, official state-issued advisories regarding vehicular travel, actions of other area higher education institutions and local school districts, and the availability of public transportation, among other factors.

Should the President determine that conditions warrant cancellation of classes, said classes may be cancelled for the morning, afternoon, or evening time periods, or for a combination of two or more of those specific time periods. Morning classes are defined as those beginning prior to 12:00 noon; afternoon classes are defined as those beginning from 12:00 p.m. through 3:59 p.m.; and evening classes are defined as those beginning from 4:00 p.m. through the remainder of the day. In consideration of the commuting time necessary for many students, faculty, and staff, every effort shall be made to provide notification of cancellation at least three hours prior to the start of each time period.

Notification of class cancellation

1. The Rhode Island College Web site (www.ric.edu) will feature an announcement on the home page.

2. The message will be carried on the college’s recorded telephone announcement that may be accessed by calling (401) 456-9500.

Normally, the college Web site and the recorded telephone announcement will provide the most timely information on class cancellations.

Other sources of information include:

3. Local radio and television stations will broadcast cancellation announcements through the Rhode Island Broadcasters Association consortium. These announcements may be accessed directly from most major television and AM and FM radio stations in the area. Many broadcasters also post cancellation announcements on their Web sites.

4. The announcement will also be carried on the college’s official institutional Facebook page.

5. A campus-wide e-mail notification will be sent to all faculty and staff as well as to the college e-mail address of all students registered for that semester.

6. A campus-wide voicemail will be sent to every voice mailbox throughout the campus system.
7. A text message will be sent through “RICalert,” the Rhode Island College Emergency Notification System. RICalert text messages are sent to all cell phones and PDAs registered in the system. Students, faculty, and staff may register for this service through RIConnect.

8. Anchor TV and RIC radio station WXIN will be notified by e-mail.

Emergencies—Information for Students, Parents, and the General Public

1. The college switchboard will remain staffed during the hours of 7:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m.

2. Provision will be made to meet the dining needs of residence hall students.

3. During emergencies, regardless of whether or not classes are cancelled, other activities scheduled on campus may be cancelled. Contact the sponsoring organization for information.

4. During any period of locally inclement weather that does not warrant college-wide cancellation of classes, a student unable to get to class shall be allowed, at the first opportunity, to make up any in-class examinations and to submit any assignments that require the student’s physical presence on the campus.

Emergencies—Information for Employees

In the event of cancellation of classes, nonteaching employees are still expected to report to work. Employees who are unable to report to work or to complete their work schedule due to adverse weather conditions may, with the approval of their supervisor, use personal leave, annual leave, salary deferred pay, or leave without pay to compensate for their absence.

Parking lots K (Student Union loop), D (south of Roberts Hall), and E (south of the Art Center) will be given priority for clearing during snow emergencies resulting in class cancellation. This is to facilitate access to the dining center for resident students and to provide a cleared parking area for nonteaching employees.

In extreme circumstances, when the governor officially orders a complete or partial shutdown of state services and/or orders the closure of state highways, the pay status of employees will be in accordance with the appropriate collective bargaining agreement or as agreed upon between the Board of Governors and the unions representing the several bargaining units.
INTRODUCTION TO
RHODE ISLAND COLLEGE
Rhode Island College

An Overview

Rhode Island College is located on a 180-acre campus in the Mount Pleasant section of Providence. This location combines easy access to the benefits and resources of the metropolitan area with a suburban atmosphere.

Academic offerings are provided through the Faculty of Arts and Sciences, the Feinstein School of Education and Human Development, the School of Management, the School of Nursing, and the School of Social Work, as well as through the Office of Continuing Education and Summer Sessions.

Rhode Island College is accredited by the New England Association of Schools and Colleges and has also received accreditation for specified programs from the following agencies: Council on Social Work Education, National Association of Schools of Art and Design, National Association of Schools of Music, National Association of State Directors of Teacher Education and Certification, National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education, and the Commission on Collegiate Nursing Education.

When the college was established in 1854 as the Rhode Island State Normal School, its goal was to provide teacher preparation to young people from Rhode Island. With the dedication of a new building in 1898, the institution began a period of steady growth, evolving first into a teachers college, the Rhode Island College of Education. In the 1958–59 academic year the college moved to its current Mount Pleasant campus, and in 1960 was renamed Rhode Island College to reflect its new purpose as a comprehensive institution of higher education.

The college has undergone expansion in recent decades at both the undergraduate and the graduate levels. It now serves approximately 9,000 students in courses and programs both on and off campus.

Rhode Island College is the oldest of the three public institutions of higher education that operate under the aegis of the Board of Governors for Higher Education. The board consists of thirteen members: twelve individuals (including a student) appointed by the governor and the chairperson of the Board of Regents for Elementary and Secondary Education.
Mission of the College

Rhode Island College is one of the region's leading comprehensive public colleges. Our mission is to offer accessible higher education of the finest quality to traditional and nontraditional students from around the state, the region, and beyond. Students here are members of a caring community that respects diversity and values academic excellence informed by cultural inquiry, civic engagement, and co-curricular activity. The college offers a wide variety of liberal arts, science, and professional programs in which dedicated faculty work with students to achieve the promise of higher education: an open and inquiring mind.
Admissions

Admissions Policy

The admissions policy at Rhode Island College is formulated by a committee of faculty, administrators, and students. Generally, the most important factor in an admissions decision is the applicant’s academic credentials. However, since the college recognizes the value of special backgrounds and experiences, it bases its final decision on the applicant’s overall record. Additional factors considered include recommendations, academic potential, school and community activities, and—for certain applicants—standardized test scores. Students are selected without regard to race, color, creed, national or ethnic origin, gender, religion, disability, age, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, marital status, citizenship, status as a special disabled veteran, recently separated veteran, Vietnam Era veteran, or any other veteran who served in active duty. Applicants to Rhode Island College are expected to adhere to standards of academic honesty in completing the application process. By signing the application, the applicant is attesting that the information provided is complete and accurate to the best of the applicant’s knowledge. The admissions office may withdraw an application or rescind the acceptance offered, if a violation of academic honesty is discovered.

Freshman Applicants

Admission Requirements

To qualify for admission, freshman applicants must possess a diploma from an accredited secondary school or expect to receive one before enrolling at Rhode Island College. The applicant’s secondary school program must include at least eighteen units of college preparatory academic subjects, with the following requirements:

- 4 units of college preparatory English.
- 3 units of mathematics, including algebra I, algebra II, and geometry. Students planning to enter education, nursing, management, mathematics, or the sciences are encouraged to complete four years of mathematics.
2 units of history or social science. Students should study U.S. history and government and the social sciences, which might include anthropology, economics, geography, political science, and sociology.

2 units of laboratory sciences. Students planning to enter a technical, scientific, or health-related field are strongly encouraged to complete courses in biology, chemistry, and physics.

2 units of the same foreign language. College-bound students are encouraged to complete three years of a foreign language.

5 units of diversified college preparatory courses. Appropriate courses may include additional units from the arts, mathematics, language, social sciences, science, or other college preparatory electives offered by the high school.

Exceptions to some unit requirements may be allowed. Requests should be made in writing to the director of admissions.

An individual assessment will be made of each student participating in ESL study while attending secondary school. Such students are encouraged to submit documentation of their current level of proficiency in English. Also, their secondary schools are encouraged to provide such additional information as transcript annotations designating the college preparatory level for appropriate ESL sections, course descriptions, and other indices of English proficiency sufficient to succeed in college.

Rhode Island College supports the efforts of secondary school officials and governing bodies to have their schools achieve regional accreditation status to provide reliable assurance of the quality of the educational preparation of applicants for admission.

Application Procedures

To be considered for admission, freshman applicants must submit the following materials to the Office of Undergraduate Admissions by March 15 for fall semester enrollment or by November 15 for spring semester enrollment:

1. A completed application form accompanied by a fifty-dollar nonrefundable application fee. Forms are available from the admissions office and from high school guidance offices. Students may also apply online at www.ric.edu/admissions.

2. Official high school transcript(s) and recommendations. The applicant must arrange to have these materials forwarded to the admissions office. Applicants may be required to submit senior midyear grades for review.

3. Scores on the Scholastic Assessment Test (SAT) of the College Entrance Examination Board or the ACT (including ACT with Writing Test). The applicant is fully responsible for arranging to take the test. Complete information is available from high school guidance offices or from the College Board, P.O. Box 592, Princeton, NJ 08540. Arrangements should be made at least five weeks prior to the desired examination date.

Students who reside in the United States but have secondary school (or equivalent) credentials from another country are not required to take the SAT. However, such students, if they have lived in the United States for less than five years, must have a minimum score of 213 on the computer-based version of the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL), 550 on the paper-based version, or a score of 79 on the Web-based version.

Scores on the SAT Subject Tests (formerly Achievement Tests) may be submitted for additional consideration; they are not a requirement. (See Proficiency and Advanced Placement on page 14.)

Interviews are encouraged and may be required of some applicants. Applications are considered on a rolling basis and are acted upon as soon as complete materials are received.

Admissions staff are available to answer any questions a prospective student may have about admission or about the college, and inquiries are welcomed. Campus tours are scheduled regularly; appointments can be made online or through the Office of Undergraduate Admissions.

Transfer Applicants

Admission Requirements
Rhode Island College accepts transfer applications. To be considered for transfer admission, a minimum of 24 credit hours in a diversified program of study is required. Transfer applicants for January admission must have completed 24 credit hours by September 1 prior to the January semester; applicants for September admission must have completed 24 credit hours by June 1 prior to the September semester. Students must also meet grade point average requirements as follows: minimum 2.25 with 24 to 29 earned college credits; or minimum 2.00 with 30 or more earned college credits.

Application Procedures
To be considered for admission, transfer applicants must submit the following materials to the Office of Undergraduate Admissions by June 1 for fall semester enrollment or by November 15 for spring semester enrollment:

1. A completed application form accompanied by a fifty-dollar nonrefundable application fee. Forms are available from the admissions office. Students may also apply online at www.ric.edu/admissions.
2. Official transcripts from all colleges attended, whether or not you expect or desire credit for such work. Final spring semester transcript is due by July 1. Students who complete summer courses before matriculation at Rhode Island College must arrange to send official transcripts to the admissions office. Credit from other colleges or universities will not be evaluated or posted until the official transcript is received.

3. Official high school transcripts and scores on the SAT or the ACT (including ACT with Writing Test) of students who will have earned fewer than 24 college credits before entering degree candidacy at Rhode Island College.

   Transfer applicants with fewer than 24 college credits will be evaluated according to the standards used for freshman applicants. Those with more than 24 college credits will be evaluated primarily on their collegiate academic performance.

   Students who reside in the United States but have secondary school (or equivalent) credentials from another country are not required to take the SAT. However, such students, if they have lived in the United States for less than five years, must have a minimum score of 213 on the computer-based version of the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL), 550 on the paper-based version, or a score of 79 on the Web-based version.

   Transfer credit is usually granted for courses completed at a regionally accredited college in which the student has achieved a minimum grade of C; however, Rhode Island College reserves the right of final judgment on any such decision. At the discretion of the admissions office, college credit more than ten years old may be accepted for transfer. The chair of the student’s major department will determine how the credit is to be applied in the student’s program of study.

   Students may request program credit for art courses taken at another institution by submitting a portfolio of work representing the courses for which credit is desired. The portfolio will be reviewed by a committee of studio art faculty to determine course credit transfer.

   Proficiency credit evaluated and awarded by the Community College of Rhode Island (CCRI) will be accepted as transfer credit. Transcripts that include credits awarded by a college other than CCRI through special proficiency procedures are evaluated on an individual basis to identify those which may be transferred.

   A minimum of 45 credit hours must be earned at Rhode Island College to fulfill degree requirements. Transfer students must also satisfy the College Mathematics Requirement and all General Education requirements.
Transfer Applicants from the University of Rhode Island (URI) and the Community College of Rhode Island (CCRI)

According to the Board of Governors’ “Policy for Articulation and Transfer,” all college credit earned in comparable courses at the University of Rhode Island and the Community College of Rhode Island with minimally acceptable grades is transferable to Rhode Island College. The Transfer Guide is available through the following Web site: www.ribghe.org. Click Transfer Guide under pull-down menu.

Students with a minimum cumulative grade point average (GPA) of 2.4, graduating from CCRI with an Associate in Arts, an Associate in Science in business administration or computer science, or an Associate in Applied Science in radiography, are guaranteed admission to Rhode Island College. (There are restrictions on entry into certain majors and professional programs.) These students will be able to transfer all credit earned for their associate degree, but any credit earned beyond it will be evaluated separately.

Students who possess the specified degree, with a minimum GPA of 2.0, may be accepted to Rhode Island College and their credits evaluated on a course-by-course basis.

Joint Admission Program with the Community College of Rhode Island (CCRI)

Rhode Island College and the Community College of Rhode Island (CCRI) have established a Joint Admission Program. To be guaranteed admission to Rhode Island College under the Joint Admission Program, the student must fulfill the following requirements:

1. Prior to completing 30 credits, enroll in the Joint Admission Program at CCRI as a freshman by completing a Joint Admissions Agreement Form at CCRI.

2. Earn an associate degree in the prescribed program of study at CCRI within five years of initial matriculation at CCRI.

3. Have a minimum cumulative grade point average of 2.4.

4. Meet all nonacademic admissions requirements for Rhode Island College.

Other Forms of Admission

Early Admission Program

Students with superior academic records may seek early admission to Rhode Island College and may begin study directly from their junior year in high school. Candidates for early admission must fulfill all regular admissions requirements and must have a personal interview. Application materials should be filed with the Office of Undergraduate Admissions during the spring semester of the junior year. Interested students must contact their high school principal or guidance counselor to make arrangements to complete high school diploma requirements.
International Student Admission
Rhode Island College encourages applications from prospective international students whose command of English is sufficient for college study. Applicants must submit the following materials to the Office of Undergraduate Admissions by March 15 for freshmen and June 1 for transfer students:

1. A completed application form accompanied by a fifty-dollar nonrefundable application fee.
2. Official records or certified copies of past academic work. A certified literal English translation and evaluation of the applicant’s educational records is required.
3. Scores on the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) for students whose native language is not English. Otherwise, the SAT is required. Applicants are expected to have a minimum score of 213 on the computer-based version of the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL), 550 on the paper based, or a score of 79 on the Web-based version of the TOEFL.
4. An affidavit of support detailing funds available for the educational program. All college health requirements must be met. In addition, students admitted to Rhode Island College for enrollment as F-1 visa students are required to buy the basic medical insurance currently offered as an option to all Rhode Island College students.

International admission information packets are available from the Office of Undergraduate Admissions. International students should contact the international student advisor in the Office of Student Life for information concerning U.S. laws, regulations, and employment practices.

Military Personnel and Veteran Admission
Rhode Island College is a Service-member’s Opportunity College. U.S. military personnel and veterans are invited to contact the Office of Undergraduate Admissions for information on undergraduate degrees. The office will also assist those who think they lack the necessary prerequisites for degree candidacy. Those who are interested in nondegree course work should contact the Office of Academic Support and Information Services.

Performance-Based Admission Program
Individuals who are at least twenty years old, who have been away from formal schooling for some time, who have little or no college credit, and who lack some of the usual college entrance requirements may be considered for freshman admission through the Performance-Based Admission (PBA) Program. Applicants must submit the following materials:

1. The regular application form accompanied by a fifty-dollar nonrefundable application fee. Applications must be received by June 1 for fall semester enrollment and November 15 for spring semester enrollment.
2. Official copies of high school transcripts.

3. Scores on the High School General Educational Development (GED) tests (if the candidate has not earned a traditional high school diploma).

4. An interview.

Each student who is accepted into Rhode Island College through the PBA Program will develop a special plan of study with the program advisor before the beginning of the first semester of classes. The plan of study will specify any special condition (e.g., remedial courses in mathematics or English-language courses), a schedule for ongoing consultation with an advisor, and a specific six-course program, which will include the college writing course, one General Education Core course, two General Education Distribution courses, and two other elective courses. Students must complete the six-course program with a minimum grade point average of 2.00, to be allowed to continue their studies. Upon successful completion of the plan of study, the student will be continued as a degree candidate without condition.

Testing in English and mathematics may be required as part of the admission process. Students who need remedial course work in either of these disciplines will be permitted to take these courses as part of their program, but credits earned will not count toward either the degree requirement or the six-course PBA Program plan.

Adult students whose primary language is other than English may also be accepted into the college through this program and may be required to complete one or more English-as-a-second-language (ESL) courses before undertaking the regular six courses in the PBA Program. These students are expected to demonstrate a facility with the English language that is comparable to a score of 213 on the computer-based version of the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL), 550 on the paper-based version, 79 on the Web-based version, or 960 on the English Language Proficiency Test (ELPT), before undertaking the six-course PBA Program.

Students who do not make satisfactory progress will be dismissed from the college. Appeals of dismissal decisions can be made to the Office of Undergraduate Admissions.

Preparatory Enrollment Program

A limited number of recent graduates from Rhode Island high schools who have the ability and potential to succeed in college with appropriate academic support services, but who do not meet Rhode Island College's criteria for regular admission, may be selected to participate in the Preparatory Enrollment Program (PEP). Preference in selection is given to low-income first-generation college students and to students with disabilities evidencing academic need.
The program consists of two academic phases intended to prepare participants fully for the college-level work they will face at Rhode Island College. The first phase begins in the spring prior to enrollment at the college. PEP students come to the campus one evening a week for six weeks to attend classes in developmental writing skills and to meet with their Student Support Services counselor. The second phase, which occurs during the summer, consists of seven weeks of intensive academic study. The students live on campus in residence halls while taking classes in writing and mathematics, as well as one freshman-level course for college credit.

Class sizes are small and individual and group tutoring sessions are frequent. Tutors live in the residence halls with the students, so that academic assistance is always nearby. College facilities, such as the library and computer laboratories, are completely open to PEP students. Upon successful completion of both the spring and summer components, PEP students enroll as freshmen and have full access to the college’s Student Support Services program.

The admission process involves a review of the student’s academic records, SAT scores and other standardized test scores (if appropriate), a statement written by the applicant, family/student financial information, and a guidance counselor recommendation. Some students selected for final consideration may be invited to participate in a personal interview. Applications must be submitted by February 1.

Re-admission
Undergraduate degree candidates in good academic standing who withdraw from Rhode Island College will be eligible to re-register without completing a formal application for re-admission, unless they have taken courses at another institution during their absence or have course credit(s) ten years old or older. Registration materials will be mailed to students for three consecutive semesters. After three semesters, students may call the Records Office to request registration materials.

Undergraduate degree candidates who have been dismissed for academic reasons or who have withdrawn and taken courses at another institution, must submit a formal application for re-admission along with a fifty-dollar nonrefundable application fee. Application deadlines are August 1 for fall semester enrollment and November 15 for spring semester enrollment.

Second Degree Applicants
Persons holding baccalaureate degrees from accredited institutions may apply to Rhode Island College for a second undergraduate degree. This assumes completion of all previous baccalaureate requirements, including General Education and a 2.00 cumulative grade point average (higher for some programs).
Applicants for a second bachelor’s degree are required to submit the following materials by June 1 for fall semester enrollment or by November 1 for spring semester enrollment:

1. A completed application form accompanied by a fifty-dollar nonrefundable application fee.

2. Official transcripts from all colleges attended, which the applicant must arrange to have forwarded to the Office of Undergraduate Admissions.

Once the application and all credentials have been received, the admissions office will notify and instruct the candidate to schedule an appointment with the appropriate department chair(s) to determine the courses needed to meet requirements for the second degree. Candidates should be advised that certain programs, e.g., art, teacher education, nursing, and social work, have specialized requirements and admission standards that must be satisfied for acceptance into those programs.

Candidates for a second degree must successfully complete a minimum of 30 credit hours at Rhode Island College. Some programs, such as education, will require considerably more credit hours. Credit requirements for plans of study may be as high as 98 credit hours. At least 15 of the 30 hours must be taken in the department of the major or program. Course/credit proficiency, field experience, prior learning credit, or transfer credit may not be counted toward this 30-credit-hour requirement.

Early Enrollment Program

The Early Enrollment Program (EEP) is a concurrent enrollment (or dual enrollment) program that provides high school students with the opportunity to take college-level courses in the familiar environment of their own high school. Upon successful completion of EEP courses, high school students earn college credits at Rhode Island College that may be transferred to other institutions of higher learning. The faculty and courses that are accepted into the program must meet NACEP and Rhode Island College EEP standards.

Proficiency and Advanced Placement

Students may increase their opportunities to pursue advanced work or may earn credits toward graduation through proficiency and advanced placement. Such credit is substituted for specified courses and is usually gained through appropriate scores on the following examinations administered by the College Board: SAT Subject Tests in a modern foreign language, the Advanced Placement Test (given to high school students in advanced programs), and the College Level Examination Program (CLEP) tests, both the Subject Level and General Level Tests. All proficiency and advanced placement credit must be approved by the academic department involved. Further information is available from the Office of Undergraduate Admissions or the appropriate academic department.
Health Requirements

All full-time students and international students are required to meet immunization requirements mandated by the Rhode Island Department of Health. A completed Immunization Record, signed by a health care provider, must be returned to College Health Services before a full-time student is allowed to register for classes. Students living on campus, participating in the athletic program, or enrolled in the nursing program are also required to have a physical examination on file at College Health Services.

Note: Certain departments have additional health requirements for admission to their programs.

High School Equivalency

In some cases, Rhode Island College will accept a high school equivalency diploma in lieu of a regular diploma, if the applicant has achieved superior scores on the high school General Educational Development (GED) tests. All other admissions requirements must be fulfilled.
Registration

Registration Procedures

Degree Candidates
Each student is assigned a day and time to register, which can be found in the student’s RIConnect account. Information regarding course offerings and registration is mailed to all students prior to the registration period.

Incoming Freshmen
Information on new student orientation is mailed to incoming freshmen by the Office of Academic Support and Information Services. Orientation provides for academic advisement and course registration as well as an introduction to campus life.

Nondegree Students
New and returning nondegree students may register during the late registration period. Those interested in taking undergraduate courses are advised to contact the Office of Academic Support and Information Services.

A late fee of ten dollars is charged to those who do not complete registration during the designated periods.

Preregistration
Some departments conduct an early registration for their courses. This procedure is usually restricted to department majors and allows students to enroll before the registration period. Students should check with the departments in which they wish to take courses.

Adding/Dropping Courses
Any adjustment in a student’s schedule may be made through the Web registration system. Courses may be added at any time during the first two weeks of classes; and a student may withdraw without a grading penalty up to midsemester.
Interinstitutional Agreements

Providence College
Students registered at Rhode Island College may take courses at Providence College, if the courses are not offered at Rhode Island College. Students must have the written approval of the chair of the Rhode Island College department involved as well as the permission of the appropriate department chair and instructor at Providence College.

In order to qualify for this exchange program, the student must be enrolled full-time (taking 12 to 18 credit hours per semester). Rhode Island College will pay Providence College the Providence College tuition for each student enrolled in an approved course, provided the combined total of credit hours taken at Rhode Island College and Providence College does not exceed 18.

The student will, in turn, reimburse Rhode Island College for the difference in tuition costs at Rhode Island College and Providence College. Should the combined total of credit hours exceed 18, the student will be responsible for paying the entire Providence College charge for all credit hours over 18.

This agreement is a reciprocal one, allowing students from Providence College to have the same benefits.

University of Rhode Island/Community College of Rhode Island
Any student who has paid full-time fees at Rhode Island College may take a maximum of 7 credits during each of the fall and spring semesters at the University of Rhode Island (URI) or the Community College of Rhode Island (CCRI) or both without paying additional fees. The student must be enrolled for at least 5 credits at Rhode Island College, and the total number of credits taken at all institutions combined must be 18 or less. The forms required for this procedure are available at the Records Office. This agreement is a reciprocal one, allowing students at URI and CCRI to have the same benefits.

Transcripts
Official transcripts are issued by the Records Office only upon written request and for a one-time charge of twenty-five dollars. Telephone and fax requests will not be honored. Transcripts are free for alumni and former students.

Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974
Rhode Island College maintains students’ records to support its educational and service programs. Its policies and procedures governing the utilization and maintenance of such records are in accordance with state and federal laws. Copies of the policy can be obtained from the Records Office.
The fees described in the following sections are projected for the 2010–2011 academic year. Because of rising costs, the Board of Governors for Higher Education reserves the right to change fees without notice as conditions necessitate.

Students are required to pay all applicable fees in accordance with the billing due dates. Also, Rhode Island College offers an extended payment plan for students who wish to pay on a monthly basis. The cost of this service is approximately thirty-five dollars per semester. Details are available in the Office of the Bursar.

Students accepted into a second degree undergraduate program pay undergraduate fees. Students are responsible for informing the college of their status in order to assess the aforementioned tuition and fee charges.

Textbooks, Supplies, and Other Expenses
Students purchase their own textbooks and supplies. The cost of these materials is approximately $1,000 annually. Rhode Island College furnishes a stated maximum of special materials for certain technology education and fine arts courses. Students who use these materials in excess of the amount must meet the additional costs themselves.

Commuting students are responsible for the cost of transportation and meals, which can run from $1,200 to $1,750 annually. Students should also expect to pay up to $1,000 per year for clothing, entertainment, and other personal expenses, depending, of course, on their style of living.

An optional plan for accident and sickness insurance is available to students at a nominal rate. Details may be obtained from College Health Services.

Transcript Fee

Explanation of Fees

The Application Fee is used to defray the costs of processing an application.

The Athletic Fee is used to support intramural, intercollegiate, and recreation activities and programming.

The Applied Music Fee is used to cover fourteen private fifty-minute lessons, which make up Music 270–288 and 370–388. The fee for Music 170–188 covers fourteen private thirty-minute lessons.
The Enrollment Fee applies to all incoming freshman, transfer, second degree, and re-admitted students at the time of their acceptance. This nonrefundable deposit will be applied toward tuition and/or fees.

The Fine Arts Fee is used to provide opportunities and activities in the fine and performing arts at Rhode Island College.

The Laboratory/Studio Art Fee is used to cover the costs of art and laboratory supplies provided by the college to students enrolled in specific courses.

The Late Registration Fee is a penalty for failing to complete registration during the designated periods.

The Library Fee is used to cover the costs of purchasing books, periodicals, and nonprint materials for the library.

The Nursing Testing Fee is used to cover the cost of a comprehensive testing and review package used to enhance the program.

The Orientation Fee is used to cover the costs of accommodations and other expenses for the orientation program.

The Recreation Fee is used to cover the debt service and utilities for the Recreation Center.

The Registration Fee is used to cover the costs associated with the registration process.

The School of Management Program Fee is used to provide educational opportunities and career activities for business students at Rhode Island College.

The School of Nursing Program Fee is used to enhance educational opportunities and career activities for nursing students at Rhode Island College.

The Technology Fee is used to cover the costs of purchasing equipment and software for student use on campus.

The Transcript Fee is a one-time fee charged to all students to cover all requests for official transcripts.

The Tuition (General Fee) is used to cover the basic costs of educating a student and of running the college.
Determinant of Residency for Tuition Purposes

The determination of residency for tuition purposes is made by the director of admissions for new students and by the director of records for enrolled students.

When residence status is in question, the student, if under eighteen, must present certification to the appropriate Rhode Island College official that the parents or legal guardians have resided in Rhode Island for at least twelve months. This certification must be verified by the clerk of the city or town in which legal residence is claimed.

If the student is over eighteen and claims independent status, a notarized statement must be furnished, indicating residence in Rhode Island for at least one year prior to the student’s first registering at Rhode Island College. In addition, to be considered independent of their parents, students must not have been claimed as a dependent for tax purposes for two years, and students must have resided in Rhode Island for at least one year. A notarized statement from the parents attesting to the fact that the student was not claimed for Internal Revenue Service purposes for two years is required. This statement authorizes the college to verify the fact with the IRS.

For such students, time spent in Rhode Island while attending college usually may not be used to establish residence.

Contact either the Office of Undergraduate Admissions or the Records Office, as appropriate, for further information.

Metropolitan Tuition Policy (MTP)

Rhode Island College students whose permanent place of residence is a community within a fifty-mile radius of Providence are eligible for in-state tuition rates plus 50 percent. The Metropolitan Tuition Policy includes both full-time and part-time students, undergraduate and graduate students, and degree and nondegree students. Connecticut and Massachusetts communities within the fifty-mile radius are listed online at www.ric.edu/bursar/tuition_metro.php.

Forms for verification of residence for this purpose are available in the Records Office and in the RIC Course Bulletin and must be submitted for approval prior to the close of registration.
New England Regional Student Program

Rhode Island College participates in the Regional Student Program (RSP) administered by the New England Board of Higher Education (NEBHE). Through this program, New England residents who live outside of Rhode Island may enroll in specified curricula at Rhode Island College for in-state tuition rates plus 50 percent. The student’s program of study must be one not offered at an institution in the student’s home state, or Rhode Island College must be closer in traveling time to the student’s legal residence than an institution offering an approved RSP program in the home state.

Students must remain in the program for which they applied or may transfer only into another NEBHE program; otherwise they will be charged out-of-state tuition fees as of the date of transfer. Each semester NEBHE program students must also request a tuition waiver from the Records Office.

Those entering Rhode Island College through the NEBHE program must meet all the standards required for admission to the college and must be accepted to a degree-granting program.

Additional information may be obtained from the Office of Undergraduate Admissions, any high school guidance counselor, or the New England Board of Higher Education, 45 Temple Place, Boston, MA 02111.

Rhode Island National Guard State Tuition Exemption Program

Rhode Island National Guard members in good standing may apply for tuition assistance through the State Tuition Exemption Program (STEP). This program applies to both undergraduate and graduate courses and will cover both tuition and mandatory fees for up to four courses within a twelve-month period, but it is limited to one course each semester. Those wishing to apply for STEP should contact their Rhode Island National Guard commanders for details.

Senior Citizen Waiver

All Rhode Island residents who are at least sixty years old are eligible to take courses at Rhode Island College without having to pay the regular tuition charges. However, the registration, recreation, and other applicable laboratory/studio fees will be charged. Three other restrictions apply:

1. The student must have fulfilled all academic prerequisites for the course.
2. The student may enroll in classes only on the last day of registration on a space-available basis.
3. The applicant is subject to a means test.
Unemployment Waiver

Rhode Island General Law 28-42-81 provides that any Rhode Island resident receiving unemployment benefits, including benefits earned in another state, is eligible for waiver of tuition for any course(s) taken at Rhode Island College. The law stipulates, however, that the waiver be granted on a space-available basis only and that each applicant be subject to a means test. Therefore, students who wish to register under the terms of waiver are limited to registering on the last day of registration. Students must obtain Form DET-467 from the Department of Employment and Training and submit this completed form, certifying eligibility, at the time of registration. Any registration prior to the specified date each term will be ineligible for consideration for an unemployment waiver and no retroactive use of the waiver is permitted. Mandatory fees that are not waived include lab fees, recreation fees, and activity fees.

Refund of Room and Board Fees

Room Refunds
Withdrawal prior to the “contractually publicized” July 15 date will cancel all room charges. Otherwise the room contract will remain binding upon the student until the end of the first semester during which the cancellation is effected (first semester, July 15 to December 31; second semester, January 1 to May 25). However, proration of the charges may be made by the Office of Residential Life and Housing if the space created by the withdrawal is filled by a new resident prior to the close of the semester. In all cancellations the room reservation deposit (one hundred dollars) shall be forfeited.

Board Refunds
The board contract is binding upon the student until the end of the semester during which the cancellation is effected (first semester, July 15 to December 31; second semester, January 1 to May 25). However, proration of the food-cost portion of the board contract will result in a refund based on the week of withdrawal.

Refund of Tuition and Fees

A full- or part-time student withdrawing from Rhode Island College, either voluntarily or because of dismissal for disciplinary reasons, will receive a refund of tuition and/or fees in accordance with the college policy in force for first-time students, including Title IV students and all other withdrawn students. Enrolled students are also subject to the college refund policy.

Full-time students who withdraw from a course are not eligible for a refund unless such withdrawal results in a change of status from full-time to part-time and this withdrawal is made during the approved Add/Drop Period.
Refund for Students Involuntarily Called to Military Service

The Board of Governors for Higher Education has adopted as policy the following options for students who are involuntarily called to military service:

1. Total refund of tuition and course-related fees, including registration fee. Prorated refund for housing and dining fees. Or

2. No tuition refund but a grade of Incomplete awarded for courses in which the student is enrolled at the time of recall. Prorated refund for housing and dining fees.

Indebtedness to the College

Failure to make full payment of all required tuition and fees or to resolve other debts to Rhode Island College—for example, unreturned athletic equipment, overdue short-term or emergency loans, delinquent or defaulted student loans (Federal Nursing and/or Federal Perkins Loans), unreturned library books, damage to college property, etc.—may result in the cancellation of registration for the following semester, withholding of academic grades, denial of registration until the payment is made, and/or disenrollment. If requested, appropriate college departments will provide the student with notice of the debt, the reason for the debt, and a review. Students must fulfill all financial obligations to the college, including participation in loan exit counseling for borrowers under one or more of the several long-term loan programs in which the college participates (e.g., Federal Perkins Loans, Federal Direct Loans, PLUS and/or SLS loans), before receiving grades, a degree, transcripts, or a diploma.
Financial Aid

In order to assist students who are unable to meet the cost of financing a college education, the Office of Student Financial Aid administers an extensive program of scholarships, grants, loans, and part-time employment opportunities. Demonstrated financial need is the primary factor used in the awarding of financial aid, although some scholarships are given each year in recognition of superior academic achievement or special talent. At Rhode Island College approximately 55 percent of full-time and part-time undergraduate degree students receive financial aid.

Eligibility Standards

Applicants should be aware that virtually all financial assistance awarded by Rhode Island College is limited to:

1. Students who have been accepted into a program that will lead to a degree.
2. Students who are U.S. citizens or eligible noncitizens.
3. Students who are enrolled at least half time (for six credit hours), although limited Federal Pell Grants are available to students enrolled less than half time.
4. Students who are maintaining satisfactory academic progress (see Standards for Measuring Satisfactory Academic Progress for Undergraduate Financial Aid Recipients on page 38).

For financial aid purposes, enrollment levels are determined at the end of the Add period (the first two weeks of each semester). Hence, those who are officially classified as nonmatriculated students, visiting students, special students, nonmatriculated graduate students, etc. at the end of the Add period should anticipate that their awards will be canceled. Students whose enrollment at the end of the Add period is less than full time should expect that the amount of their award(s) may be reduced proportionately or canceled.

Students enrolled in a program designed to lead to a second baccalaureate degree or to the Rhode Island Teacher Certification Program (RITE) are considered ineligible for virtually all grant/gift assistance provided by or through Rhode Island College. Second baccalaureate degree and RITE students may be considered for financial assistance in the form of a loan and/or work opportunities.
Application Procedure

Any undergraduate student who desires financial aid from Rhode Island College must complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). In addition, new freshmen and transfer applicants must complete the Rhode Island College Financial Aid Application if they wish to be considered for Rhode Island College grants and scholarships. These forms are available from the Office of Student Financial Aid.

Preference for financial aid provided by the college is given to students who complete the financial aid application process in accordance with the following deadlines:

Incoming Freshmen (Fall Semester) and Continuing Upper-Class Students
1. Application for admission on file with the Office of Undergraduate Admissions by March 15 (incoming freshmen only).
2. FAFSA on file at the processing center by March 1.
3. Rhode Island College Financial Aid Application on file with the Office of Student Financial Aid by March 1 (incoming freshmen only).

Re-admitted Students and New Transfers (Fall Semester)
1. Application for admission on file with the admissions office by June 1.
2. FAFSA on file at the processing center by May 15.
3. Rhode Island College Financial Aid Application on file with the Office of Student Financial Aid by May 15 (incoming transfers only).

Incoming Freshmen, New Transfers, and Other Students Admitted/Re-admitted (Spring Semester)
1. FAFSA on file at the processing center by November 15.
2. Rhode Island College Financial Aid Application on file with the Office of Student Financial Aid by November 15 (incoming freshmen and transfers only).

Applicants should fill out all forms completely and accurately in order to avoid delays in processing and possible loss of financial aid. Adherence to deadlines is strongly advised. Late applicants are considered only after on-time applicants have been considered and if funds are available. Awards to on-time applicants are made in the spring and summer. Awards to late applicants, if made, are normally not made until October/November or February/March.
Since awards are not automatically renewable, applicants must reapply each year.

Note: Rhode Island College reserves the right to require verification of income data submitted by any or all applicants for financial assistance. Awards to those who are asked for such verification will be made conditional upon receipt of the requested information/documentation. Forms of documentation or verification which may be requested include, but are not limited to, signed and dated photocopies of federal and/or state income tax returns, certified true copies of income tax returns, and copies of authorization letters for untaxed income. Any discrepancy in reported figures may result in adjustment or cancellation of the financial aid award and may be reported to the federal government for further review and possible legal action.

All awards made by or through the college are conditional and are based upon information available to college officials at the time the award is made. All awards are, therefore, subject to change and/or cancellation should the college become aware of facts, conditions, and/or circumstances which differ from those upon which the award(s) was (were) based. Similarly, all awards are contingent upon the receipt by the college of sufficient funding from state, federal, or other funding sources and/or donors to cover award offers.

Eligible Noncitizenship Documentation: Applicants who are “eligible noncitizens” must provide appropriate documentation before awards can be made (please refer to FAFSA instructions for definition and required documents for U.S. immigration status).

Financial Aid Programs

Federal Financial Aid Programs

Federal Direct Parental Loans for Undergraduate Students (PLUS)

Federal Direct PLUS loans allow parents of dependent undergraduate students to borrow up to the full cost of college, less other student aid. There is no need requirement for the PLUS loan, but parents must pass a credit review in order to qualify for the loan. Repayment may be deferred for up to six months after the student is no longer enrolled at least half time. However, interest does accrue on the loan and is capitalized into the loan principal before repayment begins. The interest rate on PLUS loans is fixed at 7.9 percent. In addition to interest, these loans have an origination fee of 4 percent on the amount borrowed, but the federal government will partially offset this with a 1.5 percent interest rebate.

Federal Pell Grants

Eligibility for a Federal Pell Grant is determined by the United States Department of Education, using a national formula. These grants range from $555 to $5,550 annually. Actual awards vary according to the cost of attendance, the student’s enrollment status (full, three-quarter, half, or less than half time), and a family’s expected contribution.
Academic Competitiveness Grants
These need-based grants are limited to Pell Grant recipients enrolled at least half time in the first or second year of an undergraduate program of study. Recipients must have completed a rigorous secondary school program of study (after January 1, 2006, if a first-year student; and after January 1, 2005, if a second-year student) as defined by the federal government. Second-year recipients must have a 3.0 cumulative grade point average after the first academic year. First-year awards range up to $750, and second-year awards range up to $1,300.

National Science and Mathematics Access to Retain Talent (SMART) Grants
These grants are limited to Pell Grant recipients who are enrolled at least half time in the third or fourth year of an undergraduate program of study. Recipients must be majoring in physical, life, or computer science; mathematics; technology; or a critical foreign language and have at least a 3.0 cumulative grade point average in course work required for the major. Awards may range up to $4,000 per year, depending on financial need.

Federal Perkins Loans
Perkins loans are long-term, low-interest (5 percent) loans. Eligibility for a Federal Perkins Loan is based on financial need as determined by the Office of Student Financial Aid using information from the FAFSA. Annual loan amounts may total up to $5,500 for undergraduates and $8,000 for graduate students. The cumulative borrowing limit is $27,500 for undergraduates and $60,000 for graduate students. Actual award amounts vary depending on federal funding levels, and priority is given to those applicants with the greatest need. Repayment begins nine months after graduation or after dropping below half-time status (6 credits per semester). Students may be allowed up to ten years to repay; however, a minimum monthly repayment of forty dollars is required.

Federal Direct Loans
Eligibility for a subsidized Federal Direct Loan is based on financial need as determined by the Office of Student Financial Aid using information from the FAFSA. Subsidized loans are interest free during the student’s period of enrollment and for a six-month grace period after leaving school or dropping below half-time status (6 credits per semester). Unsubsidized Direct Loans, which do not require financial need, have an interest charge during the in-school and grace periods.

Effective July 1, 2010, subsidized loans for undergraduate students have a fixed interest rate of 4.5 percent. Unsubsidized loans will continue to have a fixed interest rate of 6.8 percent. Both loans also have a 1 percent origination fee, but the federal government will partially offset this with a .5 percent interest rebate.
Annual loan limits are as follows:
$5,500 for freshmen, but only $3,500 can be subsidized
$6,500 for sophomores, but only $4,500 can be subsidized
$7,500 for upper-class undergraduates, but only $5,500 can be subsidized $20,500 for graduate students, but only $8,500 can be subsidized

Financially independent undergraduate students may apply for an additional unsubsidized loan of $4,000 in the freshman and sophomore years and $5,000 in the junior and senior years.

Aggregate loan limits are as follows:
$31,000 for undergraduate dependent students, but no more than $23,000 can be subsidized
$57,500 for undergraduate independent students, but no more than $23,000 can be subsidized $138,500 for graduate students, but no more than $65,000 can be subsidized

Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grants
Eligibility for a Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant is based on financial need as determined by the Office of Student Financial Aid, using information from the FAFSA. Awards range from $100 to $4,000 per year, depending on funding and student need. Priority for funding is given to students who are eligible to receive Federal Pell Grants.

Federal Work-Study Program
This is a part-time employment program based on financial need. A work-study award is paid biweekly at an hourly rate based on hours worked. Wage rates reflect both the level of responsibility and the experience of the student worker. Eligibility is determined by the Office of Student Financial Aid using information from the FAFSA. The Career Development Center helps work-study students identify opportunities both on and off campus; however, Rhode Island College cannot guarantee that a student will secure a work-study position.

State Financial Aid Programs

Rhode Island State Scholarship and Grant Program
These scholarships and grants are limited to Rhode Island residents and range from $250 to $900 per year. Eligibility is determined directly by the Rhode Island Higher Education Assistance Authority, 560 Jefferson Boulevard, Warwick, RI 02886, (401) 736-1100, using information from the FAFSA. The application deadline for receipt of the FAFSA at the federal processing center is March 1 prior to the following academic year.

Other State Financial Aid Programs
Guidelines for applying for state scholarship/grant programs vary, so students should inquire at the appropriate agency in their state of legal residence regarding application procedures.
Names, addresses, and telephone numbers of other state scholarship agencies are available upon request from the Office of Student Financial Aid.

Grant Programs

Preparatory Enrollment Program (PEP) Grants
These grants are restricted to students accepted for admission into the Preparatory Enrollment Program. Awards typically range from $200 to $10,000 per year based on financial need as determined by the Office of Student Financial Aid. All applicants are required to file the FAFSA. In addition, new freshmen are required to file the Rhode Island College Financial Aid Application in order to be considered for this program.

Rhode Island College Grants
Rhode Island College grants ranging from $100 to $10,000 are awarded by the Office of Student Financial Aid to students with demonstrated financial need. All applicants are required to file the FAFSA. In addition, new freshmen and transfer applicants are required to file the Rhode Island College Financial Aid Application in order to be considered for this program. Award decisions depend on level of need, year in school, academic record, and date of application.

Financial Aid for Summer Sessions
In addition to filing the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) as outlined above, students who desire financial assistance for summer sessions must submit a Rhode Island College Application for Financial Aid—Summer Sessions. This form is available from the Office of Student Financial Aid on or about February 1 each year. Summer session aid is contingent upon the availability of funds and normally consists of Pell Grants, Federal Direct Loans, and Federal Work-Study. To be considered for Federal Work-Study for summer sessions, the FAFSA must be received at the federal processing center by March 1 and the Application for Financial Aid—Summer Sessions must be received in the Office of Student Financial Aid by April 1.

Talent Awards
Special Talent Awards were established to recognize and encourage students who have exceptional talent or skill in the visual and performing arts, areas of intercollegiate competition (other than athletics), or similar fields. Currently, Rhode Island College offers awards in the following areas: art, communication, dance, film studies, music, and theatre. While the requirements for these awards vary by department, award competition is open to entering freshmen and transfer students. Awards range from $100 to $2,500. Applicants should contact the academic department or program advisor in their area of interest.

Employment Programs

The Office of Student Employment, located in the Career Development Center, provides information on part-time employment both on and off campus during the academic year and the summer. One source of employment is the Federal Work-Study Program, which is based on financial need. However, student employment opportunities are also available for students who do not qualify for financial aid.

Short-Term Loans

Students may be eligible to receive a line of credit toward purchases at the Rhode Island College Bookstore if their financial aid award exceeds direct charges (e.g., tuition, fees, room and board). Applications must be submitted online using the student self-service section of RIConnect.

The Rights and Responsibilities of Students Receiving Financial Assistance

As recipients of student financial aid, students have certain rights they should exercise and certain responsibilities that must be met.

Student Rights

1. Students have the right to know the cost of attending the institution.
2. Students have the right to know where and from whom information on student assistance at the institution may be obtained.
3. Students have the right to know what financial aid programs are available at their school.
4. Students have the right to know how to apply for student assistance programs and what standards are used to determine eligibility.

5. Students have the right to know the deadlines for submitting applications for each of the financial aid programs available.

6. Students have the right to know how financial aid will be distributed, how decisions on that distribution are made, and the basis for these decisions.

7. Students have the right to know how their financial need was determined. This includes how costs for tuition and fees, room and board, travel, books and supplies, personal miscellaneous expenses, etc., are considered in their budget.

8. Students have the right to know what resources (such as parental contribution, other financial aid, student assets, etc.) were considered in the calculation of their need.

9. Students have the right to know how much of their financial need as determined by the institution has been met.

10. Students have the right to request an explanation of the various programs in their student aid package.

11. Students have the right to know what portion of their financial aid must be repaid and what portion is grant aid. If the aid is a loan, students have the right to know what the interest rate is, the total amount that must be repaid, the payback procedures, the length of time they have to repay the loan, and when repayment is to begin.

12. Students have the right to know the means by which financial aid will be disbursed and the frequency of disbursements.

13. Students have the right to know how the school determines whether they are making satisfactory progress, what happens if they are not, and the procedures by which a student who has failed to maintain such progress may reestablish eligibility.

14. Students have the right to know their school’s refund policy.

15. Students have the right to know what academic programs are available at the institution and the faculty and facilities available for those programs.

16. Students have the right to data regarding retention of students at the institution.

17. Students have the right to know the number or percentage of students completing each program if such data is available.
Student Responsibilities

1. Students must complete all application forms accurately and submit them on time to the right place.

2. Students must provide correct information. In most instances, misreporting information on financial aid application forms is a violation of law and may be considered a criminal offense which could result in indictment under the U.S. Criminal Code.

3. Students must return all additional documentation, verification, corrections, and/or new information requested by either the Office of Student Financial Aid or the agency to which an application was submitted.

4. Students are responsible for reading and understanding all forms that they are asked to sign and for keeping copies of them.

5. Students must accept responsibility for all agreements that they sign.

6. Students must perform the work that is agreed upon in accepting a Federal Work-Study award.

7. Students must be aware of and comply with the deadlines for application or reapplication for aid.

8. Students should be aware of their school’s refund procedures.

9. All schools must provide information to prospective students about the school’s programs and performance. Students should consider this information carefully before deciding to attend a school.

Standards for Measuring Satisfactory Academic Progress for Undergraduate Financial Aid Recipients

Standards of satisfactory academic progress for student financial aid recipients measure both the quantity and quality of course work completed. All credit hours attempted, with the exception of credit hours dropped during the first two weeks of the semester (or corresponding time for summer sessions), are counted to determine placement in the schedule below. In addition, federal regulations require that student financial aid eligibility be terminated once a student has attempted 150 percent of the credit hours needed to complete a degree program. Satisfactory academic progress is measured once each academic year at the end of the spring semester.
Credit Hours Attempted | Required Successful Completion | Minimum Cumulative GPA
--- | --- | ---
0–12 | — | —
13–29 | 40% | 1.00
30–59 | 45% | 1.75
60–89 | 50% | 1.90
90–119 | 55% | 2.00
120–149 | 60% | 2.00
150–180 | 67% | 2.00

Transfer Credits: Credit hours transferred into Rhode Island College are included as credit hours attempted to determine placement in the above schedule.

Treatment of W, I, and F Grades: Credit hours earned will be added to credit hours attempted to determine placement in the above schedule.

Repeated Courses: Credit hours earned will be included in the total number of credit hours attempted.

Total Limit on Attempted Credit Hours: Rhode Island College does not provide financial assistance to undergraduate students attempting more than 180 credit hours.

Appeals and Reinstatement of Eligibility: If a determination is made that a financial aid applicant is not making satisfactory academic progress, the applicant will be considered ineligible for all student financial assistance programs for the next academic period. If a student believes that there are extenuating circumstances that contributed to the failure to maintain satisfactory academic progress, the determination of financial aid ineligibility may be appealed to the director of student financial aid. Appeals should be submitted in writing. Appeals not resolved by the director of student financial aid may be further appealed to the assistant vice president for academic affairs.

The above standards of satisfactory academic progress are not designed to replace the standards that Rhode Island College uses for academic dismissal/probation. It is possible for a student to lose financial aid eligibility without losing status as a degree candidate. However, once a student loses status as a degree candidate, he or she will also lose eligibility for financial aid.

Student financial aid eligibility may be reinstated during the academic year once a student successfully completes the required number of credit hours with the required cumulative grade point average.
Academic Policies and Requirements

IMPORTANT Graduation Requirements FOR ALL STUDENTS

The following requirements must be completed by undergraduate degree candidates at Rhode Island College in order to graduate:

1. All curriculum requirements, including General Education requirements, requirements in the major(s) or concentration(s), and, if applicable, requirements in the minor(s).
2. The College Writing Requirement.
3. The College Mathematics Requirement.
4. A minimum of 120 credit hours, with a minimum of 45 taken at Rhode Island College. Of the 45 credit hours, a minimum of 15 must be in the major (12 of which must be at the 300- or 400-level).
5. A minimum overall grade point average of 2.00 on a 4.00 scale.

Glossary of Academic Terms

1. Capstone means “culminating” or “crowning”; it is used to describe a course that is the culminating experience for a program of study.
2. Cognates are required courses in disciplines related to the major. Cognates are intended to broaden and enhance the major.
3. Concentration is the area of specialization. Courses in the concentration are a group of courses that relate specifically to the student’s area of study.
4. Content major refers to the disciplinary course work taken by students in elementary education.
5. Core Requirement within General Education consists of four courses that explore both Western and non-Western cultural and historical traditions.
6. Distribution Requirements within General Education consist of seven courses in writing, social and behavioral sciences, visual and performing arts, and natural sciences and mathematical systems.
7. Electives are courses that students may choose beyond their required courses, in order to fulfill degree requirements.

8. Enrolled means a student has been admitted to the college and/or a program and has registered for courses.

9. Full-Time Student is a student taking 12 to 18 credit hours per semester.

10. Hybrid Courses are those that combine in-class learning with online instruction. Greater emphasis is on in-class instruction.

11. Major is the discipline or academic area in which the student is studying in depth and normally requires a minimum of 30 credit hours.

12. Matriculate means to be admitted formally to a degree program.

13. Minor is a secondary specialization in a degree program and normally requires a minimum of 15 credit hours.

14. Online Courses are those in which most or all of the learning occurs online. (Some online courses have a first meeting and a last meeting face-to-face.)

15. Part-Time Student is a student taking fewer than 12 credit hours per semester.

16. Program of Study usually consists of the following: General Education courses, courses in the major, cognate courses, and elective courses.

17. Retention Requirements are requirements students must meet in order to remain enrolled at the college and/or in a program.

18. Teacher preparation program is a term used in the elementary education, secondary education, and K–12 programs to describe the major and other requirements needed to be eligible for certification as a teacher.

19. Teaching concentration in special education is a term used in the elementary education and secondary education curricula; the term refers to a group of courses in special education taken in addition to required courses in elementary or secondary education.

Academic Assessment

Faculty and staff at Rhode Island College are committed to meeting the mission of providing excellent academic and co-curricular programs. All major programs publish goals that articulate our expectations for student learning. Formative and summative assessment of student learning and programs help us to determine how well we have met our goals and make improvements. Students and graduates are expected, when requested, to submit examples of their work, respond to surveys and tests, and engage in discussions that enrich the collegiate environment and support our effort to strive for continuous improvement in the delivery of excellent academic programs. Faculty collect and analyze data to make program improvements as their contribution to this college-wide process.

Auditing a Course

To audit a course is to participate in a course without receiving credit for the course or having the grade point average affected. Auditing requires consent of the instructor and the appropriate department chair.

During the first two weeks of a semester, if registration for the course has not been closed, a course may be added for audit through regular Add/Drop procedures without a late registration fee charged. Conversely, during the first two weeks of the semester, a course that was audited may be dropped and added for credit with no late registration fee charged.

Full-time undergraduate students may register as auditors without paying additional fees. Part-time students pay the usual per-credit fee. Any refunds will be made only at the student’s request and according to the standard Rhode Island College refund schedules.

Under no circumstances will audited courses be counted for credit toward a degree.

College Mathematics Requirement

Students are urged to complete the College Mathematics Requirement by the end of their first semester of study at the college. Students who have not fulfilled the requirement will have that noted on their transcript.

Students who do not satisfy the College Mathematics Requirement by the end of their first semester (15 or more attempted credit hours at Rhode Island College) will be placed on academic probation.

Note: Fulfillment of the College Mathematics Requirement is distinct from and does not substitute for completion of the Mathematical Systems Category of General Education.

Entering Freshmen:
1. Students who score 480 or better on the Mathematics section of the SAT (or 20 or better on the ACT Mathematics subscore) will have met the College Mathematics Requirement.
2. Freshmen who scored less than 480 on the Mathematics section of the SAT (or less than 20 on the ACT Mathematics subscore) will be required to take the Mathematics Assessment Examination prior to or during freshman orientation. Students who achieve a satisfactory grade on the assessment examination will have met the College Mathematics Requirement. (This examination is given at least six times each semester, and, if necessary, may be repeated once. It is administered by the Mathematics Learning Center in 154 Craig-Lee Hall, or call (401) 456-9763.)

3. Students who do not achieve a satisfactory grade on the assessment examination (which may be taken twice) must enroll in Mathematics 010 prior to or during their first semester at Rhode Island College. Students who fail to earn a satisfactory grade during that semester shall be required to retake Mathematics 010 until successful completion.

Entering Transfer Students:
1. Students who score 480 or better on the Mathematics section of the SAT (or 20 or better on the ACT Mathematics subscore) will have met the College Mathematics Requirement.

2. Students who receive transfer credit for a course(s) deemed equivalent to Mathematics 010 or 177 or higher will have met the College Mathematics Requirement.

3. Transfer students who do not fulfill the College Mathematics Requirement by means of numbers 1 or 2 above will be required to take the Mathematics Assessment Examination prior to or during their first semester at Rhode Island College. Students who achieve a satisfactory grade on the assessment examination will have met this requirement. (This examination is given at least six times each semester, and, if necessary, may be repeated once. It is administered by the Mathematics Learning Center in 154 Craig-Lee Hall, or call (401) 456-9763.)

4. Students who do not achieve a satisfactory grade on the assessment examination (which may be taken twice) must enroll in Mathematics 010 prior to or during their first semester at Rhode Island College. Students who fail to earn a satisfactory grade during that semester shall be required to retake Mathematics 010 until successful completion.

College Writing Requirement

All students are required to complete the College Writing Requirement. In most cases this requirement is satisfied by the completion of Writing 100: Writing and Rhetoric, with a minimum grade of C. Students who receive a C-, D+, D, or a D- in Writing 100 will receive the college credit but will not have fulfilled the College Writing Requirement.
This requirement may also be satisfied by (1) passing the appropriate College Level Examination Program (CLEP)/English Composition Exam with Essay with a minimum score of 50 and by reporting the score to the admissions office and to the Writing Center director, or (2) by passing the course equivalent of Writing 100 with a C or better.

All students who score 430 or below on either the SAT Critical Reading or the SAT Writing (or 17 or less on the ACT English subscore) or students who have not taken the SAT are required to sit for the College Writing Examination. This placement exam will determine the student’s readiness for Writing 100. As a result of the placement exam, some students will be required to enroll in English 010 prior to taking Writing 100.

Students are encouraged to fulfill the College Writing Requirement in their first year of study at Rhode Island College. Students who have not fulfilled the requirement will have that noted on their transcript. Students who have not fulfilled the College Writing Requirement before the completion of 40 attempted credits at the college will be placed on academic probation and be advised to satisfy the requirement as soon as possible.

Failing a Required Course Twice

Students are subject to dismissal from degree candidacy after failing a required course twice. Students will be notified upon the second failure that they will not be permitted to register in any program for which the course is a requirement and will be advised to choose an alternate major or curriculum.

To avoid dismissal, students must enroll in a new major or curriculum by the end of the late registration period of the succeeding semester. Should a student fail to complete this process within the designated time, dismissal will result and the action will be recorded on the student’s permanent record.

Grading System

Academic standing is based on grade points, which are related to the letter grades as indicated:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Letter Grade</th>
<th>Grade Points Per Credit Hour</th>

D+ 1.33
D (low pass) 1.00
D- 0.67
F* (failure) 0.00

*Included in the calculation of the cumulative grade point average

W—Withdrawn with permission. No grade points, no effect on GPA. No credits counted toward graduation.

I—Incomplete. No grade points.

CR—Passing grade in course taken with Credit/No Credit option. Credits counted toward graduation, but no effect on GPA. The Credit/No Credit option may only be chosen in certain elective courses. Students should discuss this option with their academic advisor before electing it.

NCR—Failing grade in course taken with Credit/No Credit option. No credits counted toward graduation and no effect on GPA. The Credit/No Credit option may only be chosen in certain elective courses. Students should discuss this option with their academic advisor before electing it.

AUD—Notation for course which was audited.

H—Honors. No grade points, no effect on GPA. Credits counted toward graduation.

S—Satisfactory. No grade points, no effect on GPA. Credits counted toward graduation.

U—Unsatisfactory. No grade points, no effect on GPA. No credits counted toward graduation.

Incomplete Grade

For all undergraduate students, the time limit for completing course requirements for courses in which the grade of Incomplete was received is the last day of classes of the succeeding semester (summer sessions not included). For further information, students and their advisors should consult the Student Handbook provided by the Office of Student Life or on the RIC Web site (www.ric.edu).
Independent Study

Independent study, directed study, and certain research courses allow students to pursue concentrated study in a selected topic under the supervision of a faculty member. Students enrolled in independent study are expected to observe time limits and semester limits, unless specifically arranged by the instructor. Normally, application for these courses must be made prior to registration for the following semester. A Request for Independent Study Form, signed by the instructor, the department chair, and the appropriate dean must be filed. Application forms are available in the Records Office.

Leave of Absence

Undergraduate degree candidates who plan to leave Rhode Island College temporarily for sufficient and good reason are required to file a Leave of Absence Form. If the leave is for study elsewhere, the Leave of Absence Form is required to ensure the accurate and timely posting of transfer credit from the visited institution. This form is available in the Records Office.

Plagiarism

The Rhode Island College community is committed to the basic principles of academic honesty. Instances of alleged academic dishonesty are adjudicated under the procedures developed by the Board of College Discipline. The board is composed of students, faculty, and administrators. A description of its powers and responsibilities can be found in the Student Handbook under Campus Policies. The Student Handbook is available in the Office of Student Life or can be found on the RIC Web site (www.ric.edu).

Repeating a Course

A student may repeat only once any course taken for undergraduate credit that is not subject to restrictions within undergraduate programs. A student who wishes to repeat a course a second time may request permission to do so from the Academic Standing Committee. Forms for petitioning the Academic Standing Committee are available in the Records Office.

The latest grade for a repeated course will be included in calculation of the cumulative grade point average and will appear on the student’s transcript. The original course and grade will also appear on the transcript. Only grades for courses repeated at Rhode Island College will be adjusted.
Retention Requirements

Rhode Island College has set certain minimum requirements for cumulative grade point averages (GPAs), based on the number of credit hours attempted. The averages are as follows:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Credit Hours Attempted*</th>
<th>Probation GPA Lower Than</th>
<th>Dismissal GPA Lower Than</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>0–29</td>
<td>1.75</td>
<td>—</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>30–59</td>
<td>1.90</td>
<td>1.75</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>60–89</td>
<td>2.00</td>
<td>1.90</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>90 and above</td>
<td>—</td>
<td>2.00</td>
</tr>
</tbody>

Students will be placed on academic probation or dismissed from degree candidacy:

1. If they fail to attain the minimum cumulative GPA at the end of any given semester.
2. If they have attempted 40 credits at the college but have not fulfilled the College Writing Requirement.
3. If they have attempted 15 credits but have not fulfilled the College Mathematics Requirement.

Students who are placed on probation or dismissed are notified by the Records Office in writing and/or through the student’s RIC email account. Students may be placed on probation at the end of the fall semester, spring semester, or Summer Session II. Dismissals only occur at the end of the spring semester.

*Includes transfer and proficiency credits. Transfer students should understand that the credits transferred in from another institution will count in their accumulated credits earned at Rhode Island College; however, their GPA will be based only on their Rhode Island College course work. As with all students, transfer students will not be subject to academic dismissal prior to attempting a minimum of 30 credits at Rhode Island College.

Transfer Credit

In special instances, students may be permitted to take courses at other colleges, either during a summer or regular session, and have the credit transferred to Rhode Island College. An Authorization of Credit Form must be filed with the Records Office. Students must also obtain permission of the department chair or, in the case of interdisciplinary courses, the dean. Upon completion of the course, students must arrange to have their official transcript sent to the Records Office. Credit will not be posted until the official transcript is received.
Students with financial aid awards should contact the Office of Student Financial Aid about their continued eligibility to receive aid while they take courses at other colleges.

Withdrawal from a Course

Students may drop a course during the first two weeks of a semester (or during a corresponding time for summer sessions) without having any entry made on the permanent record. After that time, students will receive a grade of W and are financially responsible for the course.

Withdrawal from a course anytime after the last withdrawal date until the end of the course requires the approval of the instructor of the course. Approval is based on evidence of extenuating circumstances other than academic difficulty in the course.

Additional information on options and procedures for withdrawing from a course is available from the Records Office or the Office of Student Life.
Honors and Awards

Rhode Island College recognizes intellectual and creative excellence in four primary ways: (1) through the publication each semester of the Dean's List, (2) through honors programs, (3) through graduation honors, and (4) through awards.

Dean's List

Full-time students who attain a minimum grade point average (GPA) of 3.25 in any semester have their names placed on the Dean's List in recognition of their scholastic achievement. (During a student teaching semester, students must attain a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.00, as well as a minimum semester GPA of 3.00, and earn at least a grade of Satisfactory in student teaching.)

College Honors Program

The College Honors Program offers academically superior students, regardless of major, the opportunity to participate in a four-year honors experience. The program has three parts: General Education Honors, the Honors Colloquium, and Departmental Honors. Each part may be taken independently of the others and will be noted on the student's official transcript. However, all three parts must be completed in order to receive the additional designation of "College Honors" on the transcript.

General Education Honors

General Education Honors admits students directly from high school, during their freshman year, or as transfers. General Education Honors is normally, although not necessarily, completed by the end of the sophomore year.

Students take a minimum of five General Education courses in specially designed honors sections. These sections are designed to be more intellectually challenging than regular courses and are kept small in size, thus allowing ample opportunity for class discussion and for individualized study.

Successful completion of General Education Honors requires a minimum overall grade point average (GPA) of 3.00. All honors courses taken are noted on the student's transcript, as is the completion of General Education Honors as a whole. Students may withdraw from the program at any time.
Admission to General Education Honors is by invitation by the director of honors and the College Honors Committee. Students invited into General Education Honors normally rank in the top 20 percent of their high school class, have taken demanding academic schedules, and have scored at least 1200 on the SAT. Each student’s application is reviewed individually and other factors are considered, such as activities, recommendations, the student’s high school curriculum, and his or her personal statement. Students may also join on the basis of their performance at Rhode Island College during their first year or as transfer students, if they have not already completed too many General Education courses.

Each year Rhode Island College awards a number of merit-based financial scholarships to students in General Education Honors. Those scholarships are renewable for a maximum of four years as long as the student maintains full-time status with a minimum GPA of 3.00 and makes satisfactory progress toward completing General Education Honors.

Other financial scholarships specifically for General Education Honors students are the Eleanor M. McMahon Award, which is presented to an outstanding graduating senior who has completed both General Education Honors and Departmental Honors; the Eleanor M. McMahon Rising Junior Award, which is presented to a rising junior in General Education Honors who plans to complete a senior honors project; and the John Nazarian Honors Scholarship, which is awarded to an outstanding incoming freshman in General Education Honors.

Honors Colloquium

Honors 351: Honors Colloquium admits continuing and transfer students who have achieved a cumulative grade point average of 3.00, whether or not they have participated in General Education Honors. Although most students will have attained junior status, this colloquium is open to second-semester sophomores as well. This course may be taken twice for credit and is required for the College Honors designation.

Honors 351 promotes intellectual and social community among students from different disciplines at the college. It teaches students to think self-analytically about their majors and about working in particular academic genres. It provides information about graduate school, study abroad, and national scholarships. It helps students decide whether or not to undertake departmental honors work and guides them in the initial stages of identifying, researching, and proposing honors projects in their respective majors.

Departmental Honors

Departmental Honors offers students the opportunity to undertake an independent research, critical, or creative project on a topic of the student’s choice and directed by a professor of the student’s choice. Normally, the project begins in the senior year, although it may commence earlier, and carries at least six hours of independent study credit over two semesters. Students may participate in Departmental Honors whether or not they have completed General Education Honors or taken Honors 351.
A Departmental Honors project is completed in the department of the student’s major. The student must apply formally to the appropriate departmental honors committee, which is responsible for accepting the student’s proposal for an honors project, for evaluating the completed project, and for awarding the Departmental Honors designation, which will appear on the student’s transcript. If the student’s project involves work with persons or animals, the project must also be approved by the Committee on Human Participants in Research or the Committee on Animal Care and Use. Individual departments may also require that the student take specific upper-level courses in addition to or as part of the honors project. Limited funds are available from the director of honors to support honors projects.

If there is no honors program in the student’s major or if the student wishes to undertake an interdisciplinary project that cannot be accommodated in the major, the student may apply to the director of honors to appoint an appropriate faculty committee to review the student’s proposal and to oversee the project. In such cases, the student’s transcript will reflect completion of an Honors Independent Project rather than Departmental Honors. Such students will still be eligible to receive the College Honors designation on their transcript.

Students seeking Departmental Honors must have a minimum overall grade point average (GPA) of at least 3.00 and a minimum GPA in the major of at least 3.25. Some departments require higher minimum GPAs. Students should consult the respective departmental honors committees for details. A student whose project is denied honors may appeal that decision through the normal college appeal process.

Departmental Honors programs are offered in accounting, African and African American studies, anthropology, art, art education, art history, biology, chemistry, communication, computer information systems, computer science, dance performance, early childhood education, economics, elementary education, English, film studies, finance, geography, history, justice studies, management, marketing, mathematics, modern languages, music, music education, nursing, philosophy, physics, political science, psychology, secondary education, social work, sociology, theatre, and women’s studies.

Graduation Honors

Graduating seniors are cited for honors at the annual Commencement exercises, according to the following standards: a cumulative grade point average of 3.85 or higher, summa cum laude; 3.60 to 3.84, magna cum laude; 3.25 to 3.59, cum laude.

Students who have transferred to Rhode Island College or who are seeking their second baccalaureate degree are eligible for Graduation Honors if they have completed a minimum of 54 credit hours of work at Rhode Island College.
National Honor Societies

Alpha Delta Mu
The Beta Chi Chapter of Alpha Delta Mu, the National Honor Society in Social Work, was chartered at Rhode Island College in 1982. Alpha Delta Mu is dedicated to the advancement of excellence in social work practice and to the encouragement, stimulation, and maintenance of scholarship in social work.

Pi Mu Epsilon
The Rhode Island Beta chapter of Pi Mu Epsilon, the National Honor Society in Mathematics, was chartered at Rhode Island College in 1967. Founded in 1914, Pi Mu Epsilon currently has chapters at over 300 colleges and universities throughout the United States. The purpose of the society is to promote scholarly activity in mathematics among students in academic institutions.

Pi Sigma Alpha
The Alpha Beta Epsilon Chapter of Pi Sigma Alpha, the National Honor Society in Political Science, was chartered at Rhode Island College in 2003. Pi Sigma Alpha recognizes academic excellence in political science, provides a forum for the scholarly discussion of politics, and encourages graduate study in political science through scholarship awards.

Psi Chi
The Psi Chi Chapter of the National Honor Society in Psychology was chartered at Rhode Island College in 1992. Psi Chi functions as a federation of chapters located at more than 800 senior colleges and universities in the United States. Psi Chi serves two major functions: (1) to provide academic recognition to its inductees and (2) to nurture the creative and professional development of its members and its psychology department.

International Honor Societies

Alpha Kappa Delta
The Beta Chapter of the International Honor Society in Sociology was chartered at Rhode Island College in 1976. The society was founded in 1920 at the University of Southern California. There are now 290 chapters in the United States and Canada that honor excellence in scholarship, research, and service.

Kappa Delta Pi
The Epsilon Rho Chapter of Kappa Delta Pi, an International Honor Society in Education, was organized at Rhode Island College in 1944. It encourages high personal, professional, and intellectual standards and recognizes outstanding contributions to education. More than 500 colleges in the United States have chapters in this society.
Phi Alpha Theta
Kappa Psi Chapter of Phi Alpha Theta, the International Honor Society in History, was organized at Rhode Island College in 1966. It recognizes history students who maintain high standards in their college studies. It promotes the study of history by encouraging research, good teaching, exchange of ideas, and publication. Over 700 chapters exist across the United States, Canada, and the Philippines.

Sigma Tau Delta
The Alpha Omicron Pi Chapter of Sigma Tau Delta, an International Honor Society in English, was established at Rhode Island College in 2007 to recognize excellence in scholarship and includes students, alumni, and faculty members. Sigma Tau Delta was founded in 1924 as a national society and became international in 1988. There are now over 750 active chapters, with conventions scheduled in even-numbered years.

Sigma Theta Tau
Sigma Theta Tau, Inc., the International Honor Society in Nursing, has established the Delta Upsilon Chapter-at-Large at Rhode Island College and at the University of Rhode Island with this purpose in mind: to recognize superior achievement and scholarship, to recognize the development of leadership qualities, to foster high professional standards, to encourage creative work, and to strengthen commitment to the ideals and purposes of the nursing profession.

Sigma Xi
Sigma Xi, the Scientific Research Society, was founded in 1886 as an honor society for science and engineering. Today it is an international research society with programs and activities that promote the health of the scientific enterprise and honor scientific achievement. There are more than 80,000 Sigma Xi members in over 500 chapters at colleges and universities, industrial research centers, and government laboratories. Students who have shown potential as researchers are invited to join as associate members. The Rhode Island College chapter began as a club in 1984.

Awards
Rhode Island College recognizes academic excellence and outstanding achievement through the annual presentation of special awards. These are sponsored by alumni, faculty, and friends of Rhode Island College, as well as by the families and friends of those for whom they are named. Most funds for endowed awards are deposited with the Rhode Island College Foundation.

Listed below are awards offered at Rhode Island College. Contact the sponsoring department or organization for full descriptions of awards.

Academic Facilities and Services

Academic Advisement Information Center

The Academic Advisement Information Center (AAIC) was established to help students who have questions concerning change of major, selection of courses, or any of Rhode Island College’s academic policies and procedures. When necessary, the center refers students to appropriate departments. In addition, the AAIC sponsors workshops for faculty and staff on advising techniques and related matters. The center serves as official advisor to students who have not yet declared a major or who have not yet been accepted into the Feinstein School of Education and Human Development.

Academic Development Center

The Academic Development Center provides instruction and assistance to students interested in becoming more effective learners. The center’s services include tutorial help in reading comprehension, note taking, time management, and test preparation, including preparation for the Pre-Professional Skills Test (PPST), the Principles of Learning and Teaching Test (PLT), and other selected tests. The Conversation Table offers a format for the development of speaking skills for the ESL student. In addition, academic counseling and learning strategies are offered to students who have or think they may have a learning disability. The center welcomes all Rhode Island College students.

Academic Support and Information Services, Office of (OASIS)

Rhode Island College provides a number of academic support and advising services within the following offices: Academic Advisement Information Center, Academic Development Center, Mathematics Learning Center, National Student Exchange Program, New Student Services, Tutorial Services, Writing Center.
Adams Library

The James P. Adams Library is a four-level building of over 80,000 square feet, containing more than 650,000 volumes, over 2,700 print and electronic periodical subscriptions, and over one million items in microform. The Curriculum Resources Center, located on the top level of the library, is the primary resource for students in the Feinstein School of Education and Human Development.

The Adams Library has a wireless network, which students can access anywhere in the building. Thirty laptop computers are available at the Reserve Desk for in-house use. There is seating for nearly 700 on three levels, including carrels for individual study, numerous tables, and comfortable casual furniture throughout the building. Open ninety-three hours a week in the spring and fall semesters, the library offers extensive assistance with information and research needs. The library also provides discipline-based library instruction sessions conducted by library faculty, using state-of-the-art equipment. Through the HELIN library consortium, consisting of Brown University, Bryant University, Community College of Rhode Island, Johnson and Wales University, Providence College, Rhode Island College, Roger Williams University, Salve Regina University, the University of Rhode Island, and Wheaton College, the library provides access to over three million volumes. For materials not available in the HELIN consortium, the library can access other libraries in the United States and throughout the world through its Document Delivery Service.

Information about the library’s collection and about access to information databases on campus and off campus may be obtained through the Adams Library Web site at www.ric.edu/library.

In order to have access to the full range of library services, students are required to have a library-validated Rhode Island College ID card. Validation is done in person at the library’s Circulation Desk.

Career Development Center

The Career Development Center provides a range of services for students and alumni who are in the career planning or job search process. In addition to offering individual counseling sessions, the center provides TypeFocus, an online system that helps students examine their values, skills, and interests to reach informed decisions about a major and career. Students are also connected with employers who are seeking interns and full-time, permanent, and part-time employees. Work-study and nonwork-study jobs are available both on and off campus. Career programs and workshops sponsored by the center help students develop competitive job search skills and strategies (e.g., résumé and cover letter writing, effective interviewing, and networking). Online job postings are maintained as well as print and online career library resources. Current students and alumni may post résumés, view jobs/internships, and access the center’s online library at www.ric.edu/careerdevelopment. Students are encouraged to make use of the Career Development Center throughout their college years.

Curriculum Resources Center

The Curriculum Resources Center (CRC), located in Adams Library, provides instructional material and curriculum development literature for teacher education programs. Resources are available to students, faculty, and other Rhode Island educators. Most materials may be borrowed on a two-week basis.

The CRC collection includes audiovisuals, curriculum guides, games, microcomputer software, multimedia materials, periodicals, reference books, simulations, textbooks, and visual files. All subjects from kindergarten through grade twelve are represented. Some preschool materials are also available.

Center services include circulation of resources, class orientation, connection to online databases for K–12 instruction, interlibrary loans, media preview, reference assistance, and text copy.

The CRC Web site, www.ric.edu/adamslibrary/about/crc, provides an introduction to the center, enables patrons to search the online HELIN Catalog, and offers fast access to over 150 high-quality Web sites, with activities, lesson plans, professional information, and other resources for all fields of kindergarten-through-grade-twelve curriculum.

The CRC is affiliated with local, regional, and national education associations and is cited in national and international directories of collections related to teacher education.

David E. Sweet Center for Public Policy

The David E. Sweet Center for Public Policy at Rhode Island College provides research and consultation to external constituents and members of the community-at-large through a confederation of ten campus-based affiliates. It also provides the general public with contacts for outreach, applied research, and service opportunities available on campus. As the college’s central clearinghouse for community outreach and applied research, the David E. Sweet Center for Public Policy works with its affiliates to develop and disseminate rigorous programs that are relevant to important public issues. The center also offers a 16-credit Certificate Program in Nonprofit Studies for undergraduates, graduates, and community-based professionals.
Additional information about any of the center’s affiliates and services, or the Certificate Program in Nonprofit Studies, may be obtained from the director. Information on specific areas of interest may also be sought from individual affiliated institutes: the Alan Shawn Feinstein Institute for Philanthropic Leadership, the Child Welfare Institute, the Institute for Portuguese and Lusophone World Studies, the Outreach Programs, the Paul V. Sherlock Center on Disabilities, The Poverty Institute, the Rhode Island Adult Education Professional Development Center (RIPDC), the Rhode Island Technical Assistance Project, and the Rhode Island Writing Project.

Help Center

The Help Center provides comprehensive support for computer and printer problems along with a full complement of IT equipment and support for classroom instruction. The Help Center also assists conference planners with presentation media.

Henry Barnard School

The Henry Barnard School, named after Rhode Island’s first commissioner of public schools, functions primarily as a teaching school for Rhode Island College students who wish to become teachers, while simultaneously educating its elementary student population. The Barnard school also participates in educational research activities, provides a site for clinical experiences, and provides leadership to the schools of Rhode Island.

In keeping with the latter purposes, the school offers an innovative curriculum, which integrates basic academic subjects with special subject matter—physical education, library, Spanish, technology education, music, and art. The school enrolls pupils from preschool through grade five.

The Barnard school established a preschool program designed to train prospective leaders and to model activities for day care programs. An after-school program has been developed to serve those families within the school community who need child care services beyond the end of the school day. All programs serve as a model for other developing programs within the state’s schools. Additional information is available at www.ric.edu/hbs.

Information Services

Management Information Services (MIS)

Management Information Services is responsible for providing technical support for all administrative functions at Rhode Island College. The major administrative computer systems of the college, supported by the MIS staff (student administration, human resources, and financials), are part of the PeopleSoft enterprise software suite for colleges and universities. Additional database support in areas not currently served by PeopleSoft is also provided to departments as well as scanning services for time sheets and testing.
User Support Services (USS)
User Support Services is responsible for distributing and maintaining desktop hardware, software, and multimedia resources. To assist and educate students, faculty, and staff in the appropriate use of technology, USS provides a primary point of contact for end-user support and offers a wide range of end-user services, including the help desk, oversight of computer labs and electronic classrooms, and technology training. The college has two large walk-in computing facilities for student use. Located in Horace Mann Technology Center and in Whipple Hall, over 150 PCs and Apple Macintosh systems are available. In addition, hands-on instructional computing facilities are located in Alger Hall, Gaige Hall, Henry Barnard School, Horace Mann Hall, and Whipple Hall. Electronic classrooms are available for instructional use in ten classroom buildings: fifty-four are in classroom-sized facilities and five are in auditoriums with seating capacities from 90 to 350.

Network and Telecommunications (NT)
Network and Telecommunications is responsible for the data and voice infrastructure on the Rhode Island College campus. The college has a gigabit Ethernet data network and a Nortel digital phone system; these major investments in data and voice infrastructure provide a high quality of communication service for students, faculty, and staff.

Mathematics Learning Center
The Mathematics Learning Center has peer tutors available each day to assist students individually or in small groups who need help on the Mathematics Assessment Examination, on mathematics courses, or on mathematics topics in another discipline. Students may make appointments by phone or simply walk into the center for help.

Multimedia Center
The Multimedia Center consists of the Language Laboratory and the adjacent Computer Instruction Laboratory. The centerpiece of the facility is a Sony LLC-9000 Console, part of a twenty-four-station intermedia system, which is entirely computer controlled. This system is engineered to include many advanced operational features, such as stereo sound reproduction and several visual display units with touch-screen control. The Multimedia Center has several interactive stations that combine audio, video, digital, laser, and CD-ROM technology. There is also a vast library of audio and video materials for students, faculty, and staff to use in the center, in the classroom, or at home.
New Student Services

The Office of Academic Support and Information Services (OASIS) is responsible for the orientation of all new undergraduate students. Orientation provides academic advisement as well as an introduction to campus life. For freshmen entering in the fall, orientation consists of one- and two-day summer programs on campus. New students participate in a shorter, more intensive orientation.

Outreach Programs

Outreach Programs offers six-month vocational training in the areas of health care, financial services, insurance, and customer service. The comprehensive curriculum includes internship coordination and support as well as a requisite course in job skills and job search. Focus is on job readiness and employability skills, culminating in a full portfolio of targeted résumés and job-search tools. All courses include the full support of staff trained in job procurement and retention as well as financial and computer literacy instruction. Additional course offerings include English as a Second Language, GED preparation, remedial math, reading, and language.

Partnerships and Placements, Office of

In cooperation with academic departments within the Feinstein School of Education and Human Development, the Office of Partnerships and Placements is responsible for securing field placements and maintaining relationships with partnership school districts. There are three basic field placement programs: the practicum program, the student teaching program, and the internship program. Field placements take place at the Henry Barnard School, public schools and clinics, and in other public and private agencies. The Office of Partnerships and Placements also helps cooperating teachers and other helping professionals with professional development activities, such as preparation for the Rhode Island Professional Teacher Standards.

Student Support Services

Student Support Services (SSS) is a federally funded program that provides opportunities for academic development, assists students with basic Rhode Island College requirements, and serves to motivate students toward the successful completion of their postsecondary education. The goal of SSS is to increase college retention and graduation rates and to facilitate the process of transition from one level of higher education to the next.
Services provided by the program include instruction in basic study skills; tutorial services; academic, financial, or personal counseling; assistance in securing admission and financial aid for enrollment in four-year institutions, graduate programs, and professional programs; information about career options; mentoring; and special services for students with limited English proficiency.

SSS projects may only be sponsored by institutions of higher education or combinations of institutions of higher education. Institutions must assure that SSS participants will be offered financial aid packages sufficient to meet their full financial needs. To receive assistance, students must be enrolled or accepted for enrollment in a program of postsecondary education at a grantee institution. Only low-income students who are first-generation college students and students with disabilities evidencing academic need are eligible to participate in SSS projects. Two-thirds of the participants in any SSS project must be either disabled or a first-generation college student from a low-income family. One-third of the disabled participants must also be low-income students.

Tutorial Services

Any student having problems with mastering course content is encouraged to arrange for tutoring as soon as possible. Tutorial services are offered free of charge and are administered through the Office of Academic Support and Information Services (OASIS).

Writing Center

The Writing Center is staffed by highly qualified students who respond to writing as readers and collaborators. Tutors work with all writers, from freshmen to graduate students, in all disciplines. The staff assists with any phase of writing, such as refining topics, writing for a specific audience, developing ideas, organizing material, revising drafts, and editing. The center maintains a reference library of books, journals, and articles on writing theory, writing for specific disciplines, and other topics ranging from the use of peer groups in the classroom to MLA and APA style sheets. Services are free to all Rhode Island College students, faculty, and staff.
Campus Life

Intercollegiate Athletics

Rhode Island College sponsors nineteen varsity sports through the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics. Six team sports are offered in the fall, six team sports during the winter, and seven during the spring.

Men’s teams compete in baseball, basketball, cross country, golf, indoor track, outdoor track, soccer, tennis, and wrestling. Women’s teams compete in basketball, cross country, gymnastics, indoor track, lacrosse, outdoor track, soccer, softball, tennis, and volleyball. Participation is open to qualified undergraduate degree candidates who are taking a minimum of 12 credit hours of courses.

The college’s intercollegiate athletic facility, The Murray Center, features practice and competition sites for basketball, gymnastics, volleyball, and wrestling. In addition, there are team and general locker rooms, a fully equipped training/rehabilitation room, an equipment area, a weight-training facility, offices and classrooms, the Marocco student-athlete support center, team meeting rooms, and the Athletic Hall of Fame. Additional facilities include a recently renovated baseball facility; the Bazar softball complex; new tennis courts; and a state-of-the-art, all-weather, Black track complex. A new five-acre, outdoor practice facility and a renovated 2,000-seat, outdoor competitive venue were recently completed.

In men’s athletics, Rhode Island College holds membership in the National Collegiate Athletic Association, the Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference, and the Pilgrim League for wrestling. In women’s athletics, the college is a member of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, the Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference, the National Collegiate Gymnastic Association, and the Rhode Island Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women. Rhode Island College is a charter member of the Little East Conference, which sponsors conference championships in men’s baseball, basketball, cross country, soccer, tennis, and track; and in women’s basketball, cross country, lacrosse, soccer, softball, tennis, track, and volleyball. The Little East Conference includes Plymouth State University, University of Massachusetts (Dartmouth), University of Massachusetts (Boston), Eastern Connecticut State University, University of Southern Maine, Western Connecticut State University, and Keene State College.
Campus Ministry

RIC chaplains serve the entire Rhode Island College community: students, faculty, administration, and staff.

In addition to retreats and times of reflection, chaplains provide prayer and worship services, especially around the liturgical calendar, pastoral care and counseling, spiritual direction, and sympathetic listening in times of need. Campus Ministry also sponsors Bible studies, workshops, and programs that prepare students for baptism, Eucharist, and confirmation.

Many service activities occur throughout the year, including the Holiday Food Collection, the Christmas Giving Tree and Toy Collection, the Alternative Spring Break Service Project, Habitat for Humanity, and RIC 4 Life. Volunteer opportunities, whether long or short term, are also available.

Child Care—Cooperative Preschool

The Cooperative Preschool is a campus organization sponsored by Student Community Government. Through the cooperative involvement of parents, the co-op provides an affordable, reliable, high-quality preschool program for children ages three to five. To participate in the co-op, children must be toilet trained and be three years of age by August 31. Students, staff, and faculty of Rhode Island College are eligible to enroll their children. Children of students are given first priority.

Children are enrolled full time, regardless of the number of hours they attend. Children in kindergarten are enrolled half time.

The school is both DCYF and state licensed and employs a certified teacher and work-study students. The curriculum is aligned with the Rhode Island Early Learning Standards.

In addition to paying monthly tuition, parents work designated hours, attend monthly meetings, and participate in the running of the co-op.

The co-op is open Monday through Friday from 7:45 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. during the academic year. Use of the co-op is limited to those hours in which the parent is performing college-related activities, such as attending class, doing research, student teaching, etc.

For more information, stop by the co-op during hours of operation or access information and registration forms at scg.ric.edu/coop.
College Health Services

College Health Services, located on the ground floor of Browne Hall, provides confidential, primary health care to all students. Care includes physical examinations, treatment of acute and chronic illnesses and injuries, gynecological exams, health education, and, if necessary, specialty referral. On-site laboratory services include blood and urine tests, throat cultures, and pregnancy testing. Health Services is open year round and is staffed by a full-time nurse practitioner, registered nurses, and a part-time physician. Visits are available by appointment.

Rhode Island College offers Student Health and Accident Insurance to any student taking a minimum of 6 credit hours. This low-cost policy may be purchased online at www.universityhealthplans.com. For further information contact College Health Services.

Counseling Center

The principal aim of the Counseling Center is to help students grow, develop, and succeed during their college years. A professional staff of psychologists and counselors provides individual counseling to students who seek help with emotional or social problems, academic difficulties, or educational and career planning. Assessment of vocational interest and personal characteristics is available as needed. The center also conducts groups and workshops on personal development matters, such as stress management and procrastination. Although friends or faculty may encourage individual students to utilize counseling, it is entirely voluntary, and most students make the decision on their own initiative. Counseling Center services are strictly confidential and are provided to all Rhode Island College students, regardless of age, without charge.

Cultural Activities

Events in the performing and fine arts are sponsored by student organizations, academic departments, and other Rhode Island College groups. Students will find opportunities in the visual arts through the Art Club, the Artist Co-op, and NAEA (the local branch of the Art Education group); opportunities in dance through the Rhode Island College Dance Company; avenues in theatre through the Rhode Island College Theatre and Growing Stage (a student theatre company); music performance opportunities through the Rhode Island College Symphony Orchestra, Chamber Singers, Chorus, Wind Ensemble, Concert Jazz Band, Praise Ensemble, and MENC (the music education group); and literary arts opportunities through Shoreline, which annually publishes student short stories, art work, and poems and sponsors readings. Performances in all areas of the arts are presented on and off campus. Many groups enjoy the participation of professional artists.
The Bannister Gallery, site of fine art exhibitions, features the work of visiting artists and craftsmen, as well as the work of students and faculty. The Performing Arts Series and the Wednesday Chamber Music Series also bring prominent performing artists to the campus. The college Lectures Committee sponsors presentations in all the humanities, including guest lectures and readings by leading authors.

Disability Services Office

The Disability Services Office is the initial contact point for students with disabilities. Support services include advisement, accommodations, assistive technology, and referrals. This office not only serves as an advocate for students with disabilities but encourages students toward self-advocacy and independence.

In compliance with Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 and the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) of 1990, reasonable accommodations are provided on the RIC campus.

In order to request reasonable accommodations, a student must self-identify at the Disability Services Office and provide current verification of their disability. Clarification of policies and procedures for disability-related services is available in the Policies and Procedures Manual for Students with Disabilities. Copies of the manual are available at the Disability Services Office. Further information can be obtained on their Web site at www.ric.edu/disabilityservices.

Health Promotion, Office of

The Office of Health Promotion provides health information to all Rhode Island College students, faculty, and staff. A caring and knowledgeable staff is ready to answer informal and confidential questions. Inquiries may include nutrition, exercise, AIDS, sexually transmitted diseases, rape prevention, CPR, birth control, alcohol and other substance abuse issues, smoking cessation, and other health concerns. Referrals to campus and community resources are provided. The office Web site is www.ric.edu/studentlife/healthpromotion.

Housing

On-campus housing is available for undergraduate students and graduate students. Six residence halls—Browne, Thorp, Weber, Willard, Sweet, and the New Residence—provide accommodations for 1,197 men and women. Browne, Thorp, and Weber Halls are designed with suites of eight to twelve single rooms adjacent to a study-lounge area. Sweet and Willard Halls feature double-occupancy rooms, with a select number of single rooms. Sweet Hall is built along more traditional lines, with rooms on either side of the corridors. and a lounge on each floor. Each hall has a common lounge area and laundry, and each room is furnished with a bed, desk, and closet. The New Residence Hall features suite and apartment-style living with either single or double bedrooms.

The Office of Residential Life and Housing also maintains listings for off-campus housing; however, it does not guarantee the suitability or availability of such housing. An off-campus housing guide is available upon request.

Room and Board Fees (2010–2011)
The fees given below are for the 2010–2011 academic year and are subject to change in the academic year 2011–2012. Because of rising costs, the Board of Governors for Higher Education reserves the right to change fees without notice as conditions necessitate.

Room (per year)
Browne, Thorp, Weber (each hall single rooms only): $5,266
Willard: $5,266 (double); $5,414 (single)
Sweet (double and triple): $5,532
New Residence: $5,610 (double bedroom suite); $5,792 (single bedroom suite); $5,974 (double bedroom apartment); $6,158 (single bedroom apartment)

Board (per year)
Plan A: 19 meals per week (includes four weekend meals), $4,004
Plan B: 15 meals per week, $3,796
Plan C: 180,000 points per year, $4,192
Plan D: 160,000 points per year, $3,984
10 meals plus 15,000 points, $3,848 (New Residence Hall option only)

Rooms are contracted on a yearly basis. Upon signing a contract, a student must pay a room reservation deposit of one hundred dollars and a damage deposit of one hundred dollars, plus twenty dollars in hall dues. Since on-campus housing is limited, approximately 50 percent of the spaces are reserved for new students.

Residence halls open at the beginning of each semester. They are closed during Christmas, Spring Break, and between semesters. Residents are expected to secure alternate housing accommodations during scheduled breaks.

The terms of board contracts apply only while classes are in session. Each resident student is required to purchase a board contract. Board contracts are also available to commuter students who use the dining facilities of Donovan Dining Center.

Room Refunds
Withdrawal prior to the “contractually publicized” July 15 date will cancel all room charges for the fall semester. Otherwise, the room contract will remain binding upon the student until the end of the first semester during which the cancellation is effected (first semester, July 15 to December 31; second semester, January 1 to May 25). However, proration of the charges may be made by the Office of Residential Life and Housing if the space created by the withdrawal is filled by a new resident prior to the close of the semester. In all cancellations, the room reservation deposit (one hundred dollars) shall be forfeited.

Board Refunds
The board contract is binding upon the student until the end of the semester during which the cancellation is effected (first semester, July 15 to December 31; second semester, January 1 to May 25). However, proration of the food-cost portion of the board contract will result in a refund based on the week of withdrawal.

International Students, Office of
The Office of International Students serves many undergraduate and graduate students from around the world by providing information about U.S. government forms, the process of entering and leaving the country, employment, financial needs, taxes, health, housing, and academic and personal problems. The office also hosts social activities, such as coffee hours, parties, picnics, and field trips. The office Web site is www.ric.edu/studentlife/iss.

Recreation Center
The Recreation Center features extensive intramural programming and a wide variety of popular recreational opportunities for undergraduate and graduate students. Programs and activities are also available to faculty, staff, alumni, and the community on a membership-fee basis. Instruction is offered in aquatics, wellness and fitness, and leisure-time sports activities. Also offered throughout the year are informal weekend activities centered on open recreation, recreational tournaments, and outdoor activities.

The 54,000 square foot building currently includes: a five-lane, twenty-five-yard, L-shaped heated swimming pool; five-lane, 1/10 mile indoor track; three multiple playing courts for basketball, volleyball, and tennis; a cardiovascular/weight training room, featuring some of the most up-to-date cardiovascular equipment available, as well as Cybex and free weight components; a recently renovated wrestling facility; and a full complement of locker facilities for men and women, including steam and sauna rooms.

Security and Safety, Department of
The Department of Security and Safety provides twenty-four-hour service to the campus community in the areas of law enforcement, security and personal safety, fire safety, and right-to-know laws. The department is also responsible for the enforcement of all laws and regulations that apply to campus life, including those of the Board of Governors for Higher Education and federal and state statutes. Information regarding security and safety, campus police, parking, traffic regulations, and vehicle registration is available in the security department or on the college Web site at www.ric.edu.

The Department of Security and Safety also provides a variety of crime prevention materials and a twenty-four-hour escort service for students, faculty, and staff. This service is available by calling extension 8201 or by pushing the escort button on the Blue Light Emergency Phones (for the location of these phones see Campus Map on page viii).

Student Community Government

As the official voice of the student body, Student Community Government is concerned with student rights and responsibilities and the enhancement of educational, cultural, and social opportunities for students.

Although primarily undergraduate in membership, Student Parliament, the main body of Student Community government, includes representatives from almost all areas of the college. A Finance Commission, composed of parliament and nonparliament members, allocates funds from the student activity fee to support various student organizations and activities on campus.

Student Life, Office of

The Office of Student Life provides information, assistance, and referrals to individuals with concerns about Rhode Island College policies and procedures. The office publishes the Student Handbook, arbitrates minor disciplinary infractions, and conducts exit interviews with students who are withdrawing either temporarily or permanently from the college.

In addition, the Office of Student Life coordinates services for the Career Development Center, the Disabilities Services Office, the Office of Health Promotion, the Office of International Students, The Unity Center, and the Women’s Center. The office Web site is www.ric.edu/studentlife.

Student Union

The Student Union staff oversees the Student Union and the Ducey Media Center. Offices within the Student Union are the Café, the Campus Card (I.D. Office), the Campus Store, the Convenience Store, student mailboxes, the Student Union office, and the Welcome and Information Center. The Student Union also facilitates a variety of events, houses the Office for Slightly Older Students (SOS); the Office of Student Activities; Student Community Government, Inc.; and other student organizations. Student organizations located in the Ducey Media Center are the Anchor (student newspaper), Anchor TV, and WXIN Radio.
Unity Center, The

The Unity Center is a multicultural affairs office, which has as its mission to educate and elevate understanding between ethnically and culturally diverse social groups and prepare RIC students for success in a dynamically diverse world.

The Unity Center works in collaboration with various administrative offices and academic departments at the college and with multicultural student organizations on campus. The center is available as a resource for research, workshops, and artistic presentations that open up further opportunities for dialogue and growth. The center’s Web site is www.ric.edu/unitycenter.

Veterans Resource Center

The Veterans Resource Center (VRC) serves as a bridge between off-campus services and on-campus services for veterans and their families. The VRC provides information and assistance in accessing the educational benefits at Rhode Island College.

Women’s Center

The Women’s Center is a resource and growth center for all members of the Rhode Island College community. Services offered include information and referrals to agencies within the state and southeastern Massachusetts; a pamphlet/booklet display; a lending library with books on women’s issues; the sale of condoms and feminine sanitary supplies; and information on workshops, in-state seminars, and other resources. The Women’s Center is located in the lower level of Donovan Dining Center. The Web site is www.ric.edu/womenscenter.

Bachelor of Social Work (B.S.W.)

The bachelor’s degree in social work provides entry-level professional generalist social work practice. In addition to taking classroom courses, students participate in professionally supervised fieldwork in one of several Rhode Island College-approved social service agencies. Application for formal admission into the bachelor’s degree program is made during the first semester of the student’s junior year.
Special Programs

Assessment of Prior Learning

Rhode Island College makes every effort to acknowledge college-level learning that has taken place outside of formal college classrooms.

The college has instituted a procedure for granting undergraduate credit for prior college-level learning achieved through experience, such as employer-sponsored or armed service-sponsored training, community service, self-education, relevant work assignments, or artistic development. Limited credit will be granted only for documented learning that is clearly germane to the student’s degree program, not for experience per se. The basis for granting credit will be a portfolio of documentation prepared by the student with the guidance of the college.

The college accepts the results of the College Level Examination Program (CLEP) and armed services testing programs (DANTES) and makes use of the guide prepared by the American Council on Education (ACE) and other sources that contain evaluations of a wide variety of training opportunities sponsored by the armed services, business, industry, and labor communities.

Returning adult students, especially those who have been in the armed services, who have participated in apprenticeship or other extensive training programs, or who have held positions of responsibility, are encouraged to apply for assessment of their prior learning. Applications are available in the offices of the academic deans.

Certificate of Undergraduate Study (C.U.S.)

Certificate programs of undergraduate study are offered in the following areas:

- Case Management
- International Nongovernmental Organizations Studies
- Nonprofit Studies
- Public History
- Risk Management and Insurance
Continuing Education

Rhode Island College offers a wide range of professional development courses and workshops each semester and summer for students and working professionals. The college also offers certificate programs that provide focused study and expertise in several professional areas.

For returning adult students, a schedule of course offerings, which includes information on registration and fees, is available at the Records Office or online at www.ric.edu. For formal admission to an undergraduate program and for information on possible transfer credit, applicants should contact the Office of Undergraduate Admissions. Applicants interested in pursuing graduate work should contact the appropriate dean. Individuals with teacher certification questions or those seeking to complete professional teaching requirements should contact the dean of the Feinstein School of Education and Human Development.

For agencies and organizations, continuing education provides assistance with establishing courses and workshops and with identifying college resources that support personal enrichment and professional development activities. Rhode Island College has a long history of providing such assistance to business and industry and of assisting public and private schools and agencies. For more information, contact the director of continuing education and summer sessions.

Endorsement in English as a Second Language

Refer to Teaching English as a Second Language on page 296.

Endorsement in Middle School Education (Elementary and Secondary)

Refer to Elementary Education Middle School Endorsement on page 260 and Secondary Education Middle School Endorsement on page 284.

National Student Exchange Program

The National Student Exchange Program includes a group of nearly 200 four-year colleges and universities that allow undergraduate students to study for up to one academic year at a college or university in another part of the United States. The program embraces social and cultural experiences as well as academics, offering an opportunity for further self-exploration and examination of educational objectives.

In order to qualify for participation, a student should (1) be a full-time student at Rhode Island College, (2) be in their sophomore or junior year during the exchange, and (3) have a minimum cumulative grade point average of 2.50 at the time their application is submitted.
ROTC

Participation in the Army Reserve Officer’s Training Corps (ROTC) program is available to Rhode Island College students through the ROTC program at Providence College. For more information and a complete program description, contact the program director at Alumni Hall, Providence College, (401) 865-2023.

Specialization in Adapted Physical Education

Student-Designed Majors

Students may develop individualized majors to accommodate special needs and interests. These majors may focus on an area of study not covered in regular departmental offerings or may be interdisciplinary in nature. Student-designed majors are open to undergraduate degree candidates who have earned at least 40 credit hours and who have a minimum cumulative grade point average of 2.50. Proposals from students with more than 75 credit hours is normally not accepted. A completed proposal must be submitted to the Committee on Student-Designed Majors no later than October 1 or March 1 for action that same semester. Further information about this program and application materials may be obtained from the offices of the academic deans.

Study Abroad Program

The Study Abroad Program assists students in making arrangements for study in a wide variety of countries worldwide, providing information about specific programs and sponsoring special programs. Study Abroad, in collaboration with the office of the dean of the Faculty of Arts and Sciences, offers a summer program called The London Course in conjunction with South Bank University and Anglo-American Educational Services, Limited. The London Course includes a prosemnar at Rhode Island College during Summer Session I and a three-week residential program in London, England, during Summer Session II. Study Abroad also collaborates with the office of the dean of the Feinstein School of Education and Human Development to send education students to the University College of St. Martin in Lancaster, England. The college also participates in the New England–Quebec exchange program, where students study at any university in this Canadian province. The Department of Modern Languages offers a study abroad program in Cuernavaca, Mexico, during the winter break and in the summer. The college is also an active member of the American Association of State Colleges and Universities (AASCU).
and cooperates closely with its Office of International Programs. Students are assisted by the program director in planning for study abroad as well as in matters related to credit for courses completed abroad and ongoing matriculation at Rhode Island College during the study experience away from campus. Information about scholarships and stipends related to study abroad and the Ridgway F. Shinn Jr. Study Abroad Fund is available from the Study Abroad Program.

This program cooperates with other departments and organizations to plan lectures and colloquia on topics of international concern.

Summer Sessions

Summer Sessions provides degree and nondegree undergraduate and graduate students access to a comprehensive cross section of courses in two six-week sessions each summer. Traditional and intensive courses are offered to accelerate and maximize college study and many courses are designed specifically for personal enrichment or professional advancement. For information, contact the director of continuing education and summer sessions.
Admissions

Admissions Policy

The primary factor in decisions for admission to graduate studies at Rhode Island College is a candidate’s academic record, although other factors, such as recommendations and standardized test scores are also important. A bachelor’s degree from a regionally accredited college or university is required for admission to all graduate programs. Final acceptance is based on the combined decision of the appropriate academic department and the dean responsible for that department. Decisions are made without regard to race, color, creed, national or ethnic origin, gender, religion, disability, age, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, marital status, citizenship, status as a special disabled veteran, recently separated veteran, Vietnam Era veteran, or any other veteran who served in active duty.

Admissions Requirements

Graduate study is offered through the School of the Faculty of Arts and Sciences, the Feinstein School of Education and Human Development, the School of Management, the School of Nursing, and the School of Social Work. Applications may be obtained from these schools. Though many departments review applications on a continuing basis, the Faculty of Arts and Sciences, the Feinstein School of Education and Human Development, and the School of Management require that all application materials be received by April 1 to ensure full acceptance to the fall term and by November 1 to ensure full acceptance to the spring term. The school psychology program in the Feinstein School of Education and Human Development has one application deadline of February 1, to ensure full acceptance into the program, which begins in the fall term. Applicants should refer to the relevant schools for appropriate admission requirements and deadlines.

For all degree programs, the materials listed below should be submitted to the dean responsible for that program.

1. A completed application form accompanied by a fifty-dollar nonrefundable application fee. Forms may be obtained from the office of the dean responsible for the program to which the student is applying.
2. Official transcripts of all undergraduate and graduate records. The dean’s office will obtain any Rhode Island College transcripts.

3. A minimum cumulative grade point average (GPA) of B (3.00 on a 4.00 scale) in all undergraduate course work. Applicants with undergraduate GPAs less than 3.00, may be admitted to degree candidacy upon the submission of other evidence of academic potential, for example, satisfactory performance in postbaccalaureate work, professional experience as evidenced by publications or letters of recommendation, and/or high scores on the standardized tests.

4. A copy of candidate’s teaching certificate (when applicable).

5. An official report of scores on the Graduate Record Examination (GRE) or the Miller Analogies Test (MAT) for most programs. See specific programs for exceptions.

6. Three letters of recommendation attesting to the candidate’s potential to do graduate work. Placement references are generally not applicable.

7. Some programs have additional admission requirements. Please review requirements for individual programs. An interview may also be required.

The dean responsible for the program to which the candidate is applying will inform the candidate of the decision regarding his or her admission.

Graduate Record Examination and the Miller Analogies Test

Most graduate programs require either the Graduate Record Examination (GRE) or the Miller Analogies Test (MAT).

The Miller Analogies Test is offered on campus at least twice a month and often more frequently. For further information, applicants should contact the associate dean of graduate programs at the Feinstein School of Education and Human Development.

The Graduate Record Examination is offered at sites approved by the Educational Testing Service. Applicants who are required to submit GRE scores should complete the GRE General Test. Some departments may also require a GRE Subject Test score. Please review the test requirements in the appropriate department.

Students whose native language is not English should submit an official report of scores on the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL).
Health Requirements

All full-time graduate students and international students are required to meet immunization requirements mandated by the Rhode Island Department of Health. A completed Immunization Record, signed by a health care provider, must be returned to College Health Services before full-time graduate students are allowed to register for classes.

Note: Certain departments have additional health requirements for admission to their programs.

International Student Admission

Rhode Island College encourages applications from prospective international students whose command of English is sufficient for graduate study. Applicants follow the normal graduate admissions procedures and requirements. In addition, applicants must submit

1. Certified literal English translations and evaluations of their transcripts and academic records.

2. Scores on the Graduate Record Examination or Miller Analogies Test, if required by their departments.

3. An affidavit of support detailing funds available for the educational program.

4. A completed Immunization Record.

International students should contact the international student advisor in the Office of Student Life for information concerning U.S. laws, regulations, and employment practices.

Military Personnel and Veterans

Rhode Island College is a Service-member’s Opportunity College. U.S. military personnel and veterans are invited to contact the appropriate dean for information on graduate degrees and courses.
Fees and Expenses

Tuition and Fees (2010–2011)

The fees described in the following sections are projected for the 2010–2011 academic year. Because of rising costs, the Board of Governors for Higher Education reserves the right to change fees without notice as conditions necessitate.

All full-time graduate students (those taking 9 credit hours or more per semester) and part-time graduate students (those taking fewer than 9 credit hours per semester) pay per credit hour:

(Tuition and fees for the Master of Fine Arts in theatre program and the Master of Social Work program may be found under the sections titled Faculty of Arts and Sciences and School of Social Work respectively.)

All graduate students (in state and out of state) also pay once per semester:

Registration Fee: $72

Note: Graduate students enrolled in undergraduate courses pay the undergraduate tuition rate for those courses.

Students accepted into a second degree undergraduate program pay undergraduate fees. Students accepted into the RITE program also pay undergraduate fees, but only after they have been fully accepted into the RITE program. Students are responsible for informing Rhode Island College of their status in order for the proper tuition and fee charges to be assessed.
Special Fees

Students are charged the following additional fees, if applicable:

Application Fee
$50

Applied Music Fee
$630 per semester, for students taking Music 370–388 or 570–588

Laboratory/Studio Art Fee

Explanation of Fees

The Application Fee is used to defray the costs of processing an application.

The Applied Music Fee is used to cover fourteen private fifty-minute lessons, which make up Music 370–388 and 570–588.

The Fine Arts Fee is used to provide opportunities and activities in the fine and performing arts at Rhode Island College.

The Laboratory/Studio Art Fee is used to cover the costs of art and laboratory supplies provided by the college to students enrolled in specific courses.

The Late Registration Fee is a penalty for failing to complete registration during the designated periods.

The Library Fee is used to cover the costs of purchasing books, periodicals, and nonprint materials for the library.

The Recreation Fee is used to cover the operation and programs of the Recreation Center.

The Registration Fee is used to cover the costs associated with the registration process.
The Technology Fee is used to cover the costs of purchasing equipment and software for student use on campus.

The Transcript Fee is a one-time fee charged to all students to cover all requests for official transcripts.

The Tuition (General Fee) is used to cover the basic costs of educating a student and of running the college.

Indebtedness to the College

Failure to make full payment of all required tuition and fees or to resolve other debts to Rhode Island College—for example, unreturned athletic equipment, overdue short-term or emergency loans, delinquent or defaulted student loans (Federal Nursing and/or Federal Perkins Loans), unreturned library books, damage to college property, etc.—may result in the cancellation of registration for the following semester, withholding of academic grades, denial of registration until the payment is made, and/or disenrollment. Appropriate college departments will provide the student with notice of the debt and reason for it and a review, if requested. A student must fulfill all financial obligations to the college, including participation in loan exit counseling for borrowers under one or more of the several long-term loan programs in which the college participates (e.g., Federal Perkins Loans, Federal Nursing Student Loans, Federal Direct Loans, PLUS and/or SLS loans), before receiving grades, a degree, transcripts, or a diploma.

Metropolitan Tuition Policy (MTP)

Rhode Island College students whose permanent place of residence is a community within a fifty-mile radius of Providence are eligible for in-state tuition rates plus 50 percent. The Metropolitan Tuition Policy includes both full-time and part-time students, undergraduate and graduate students, and degree and nondegree students. Connecticut and Massachusetts communities within the fifty-mile radius are listed online at www.ric.edu/bursar/tuitionMetro.php.

Forms for verification of residence for this purpose are available in the Records Office and must be submitted for approval prior to the close of registration.
New England Regional Student Program

Rhode Island College participates in the Regional Student Program (RSP) administered by the New England Board of Higher Education (NEBHE). Through this program, New England residents who live outside of Rhode Island may enroll in specified curricula at Rhode Island College for in-state tuition rates plus 50 percent. The program of study must be one not offered at an institution in the student’s home state, or Rhode Island College must be closer in traveling time to the student’s legal residence than an institution offering an approved RSP program in the home state.

Students must remain in the program for which they applied or may transfer only into another NEBHE program. Otherwise they will be charged out-of-state tuition fees as of the date of transfer. Each semester they must also request a tuition waiver from the Records Office.

Those entering Rhode Island College through the NEBHE program must meet all the standards required for admission to the program.

Additional information may be obtained from the vice president for academic affairs or the New England Board of Higher Education, 45 Temple Place, Boston, MA 02111.

Refund of Tuition and Fees

A full- or part-time student withdrawing from Rhode Island College, either voluntarily or because of dismissal for disciplinary reasons, will receive a refund of tuition and/or fees in accordance with the college policy in force for first-time students, including Title IV students and all other withdrawn students. Enrolled students are also subject to the college refund policy.

Refunds for Students Involuntarily Called to Military Service

The Board of Governors for Higher Education has adopted as policy the following options for students who are involuntarily called to military service:

1. Total refund of tuition and course-related fees, including registration fee. Prorated refund for housing and dining fees. Or

2. No tuition refund but a grade of Incomplete awarded for courses in which the student is enrolled at the time of recall. Prorated refund for housing and dining fees.
Determination of Residency for Tuition Purposes

Determination of residency for tuition purposes is made by the director of records. When residence status is in question, the student, if under eighteen, must present certification to the appropriate Rhode Island College official that the parents or legal guardians have resided in Rhode Island for at least twelve months. This certification must be verified by the clerk of the city or town in which legal residence is claimed.

If the student is over eighteen and claims independent status, a notarized statement must be furnished, indicating residence in Rhode Island for at least one year prior to the student’s first registering at Rhode Island College. In addition, to be considered independent of their parents, students must not have been claimed as a dependent for tax purposes for two years and students must have resided in Rhode Island for at least one year. A notarized statement from the parents attesting to the fact that the student was not claimed for Internal Revenue Service purposes for two years is required. This statement authorizes the college to verify the fact with the IRS.

For such students, time spent in Rhode Island while attending college usually may not be used to establish residence.

Contact the Records Office for further information.

Senior Citizen Waiver

All Rhode Island residents who are at least sixty years old are eligible to take courses at Rhode Island College without having to pay the regular tuition charges. However, the registration, recreation, and other applicable laboratory/studio fees will be charged. Three other restrictions apply:

1. The student must have fulfilled all academic prerequisites for the course.
2. The student may enroll in classes only on the last day of registration on a space-available basis.
3. The applicant is subject to a means test.

Unemployment Waiver

Rhode Island General Law 28-42-81 provides that any Rhode Island resident receiving unemployment benefits, including benefits earned in another state, is eligible for waiver of tuition for any course(s) taken at Rhode Island College. The law stipulates, however, that the waiver be granted on a space-available basis only and that each applicant be subject to a means test. Therefore, students who wish to register under the terms of this waiver are limited to registering on the last day of registration. Students must obtain Form dDET-467 from the Department of Employment and Training and submit this completed form, certifying eligibility, at the time of registration. Registration prior to the specified date each term will be ineligible for consideration for an unemployment waiver and no retroactive use of the waiver is permitted.

Mandatory fees not waived include laboratory fees, recreation fees, and activity fees.
Financial Aid

Employment Programs
The Office of Student Employment, located in the Career Development Center, provides information on part-time employment both on and off campus during the academic year and the summer. One source of employment is the Federal Work-Study Program, which is based on financial need. However, student employment opportunities are also available for students who do not qualify for financial aid.

Federal Financial Aid Programs
Need-based financial aid for graduate students consists of student loans and employment programs. To apply for need-based financial assistance, students must complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). Students are encouraged to apply online at www.fafsa.gov. The FAFSA on the Web Worksheet should be used prior to applying online. Priority for funds administered by Rhode Island College is given to applications received by May 15 prior to the following academic year. In addition to demonstrating financial need, general eligibility requirements for financial aid include acceptance for admission as a degree candidate and status as a U.S. citizen or permanent resident.

Federal Perkins Loans
This loan program is administered directly by the Office of Student Financial Aid. Eligibility is based on financial need as determined from the FAFSA. The annual loan limit for graduate students is $8,000, and the cumulative limit for combined undergraduate and graduate borrowing is $60,000. Actual award amounts depend on federal funding levels, and priority is given to those applicants with the greatest need. Repayment at 5 percent interest begins nine months after the borrower drops below half-time enrollment (5 graduate credits per semester). Students may be allowed up to ten years to repay; however, a minimum monthly payment of forty dollars is required.
Federal Direct PLUS Loans
Graduate students are eligible to borrow under the Federal Direct PLUS Loan Program. Students may borrow up to their full cost of attendance minus other student financial aid. The PLUS interest rate is fixed at 7.9 percent, and applicants must pass a credit review in order to qualify for the loan. Repayment of the loan begins six months after the borrower ceases to be enrolled at least half time, and interest accrues during the period of enrollment and grace period. In addition to interest, these loans have a 4 percent origination fee, but the federal government will partially offset this with a 1.5 percent interest rebate. Graduate applicants must complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA), and they must have used their maximum eligibility under the subsidized and unsubsidized Federal Direct Loan Program.

Federal Direct Loans
Eligibility for a subsidized Federal Direct Loan is based on financial need as determined by the Office of Student Financial Aid, using information from the FAFSA. Subsidized loans are interest free during the student’s period of enrollment and for a six-month grace period after leaving school or dropping below half-time status. Students who cannot demonstrate need may be eligible for an unsubsidized Direct Loan. Unsubsidized loans have an interest charge during the in-school and grace periods. Both loans have a fixed interest rate of 6.8 percent. These loans also have a 1 percent origination fee, but the federal government will partially offset this with a .5 percent interest rebate.

Graduate students with financial need may borrow up to $8,500 per year from the subsidized Direct Loan. These students may also apply for additional unsubsidized Direct Loans of up to $12,000. Students who are unable to demonstrate need may apply for up to $20,500 per year in unsubsidized Direct Loans. In all cases, the total amount of student aid from all programs is limited to a student’s total educational costs as determined by the Office of Student Financial Aid.

Federal Work-Study Program
This is a part-time employment program based on financial need. A work-study award is paid biweekly at an hourly rate based on hours worked. Wage rates reflect both the level of responsibilities and the experience of the student worker. Eligibility is determined by the Office of Student Financial Aid, using information from the FAFSA. The Career Development Center helps work-study students identify opportunities both on and off campus; however, Rhode Island College cannot guarantee that a student will secure a work-study position.
Financial Aid for Summer Sessions

In addition to filing the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) as outlined above, students who desire financial assistance for summer sessions must submit a Rhode Island College Application for Financial Aid—Summer Sessions. This form is available from the Office of Student Financial Aid on or about February 1 each year. Summer aid is contingent upon the availability of funds and normally consists of long-term loans and Federal Work-Study.

To be considered for Federal Work-Study for summer sessions, the FAFSA must be received at the federal processing center by March 1 and the Application for Financial Aid—Summer Sessions must be received in the Office of Student Financial Aid by April 1.

Graduate Assistantships

Graduate assistantships are limited to accepted degree candidates who are enrolled full time. The duties of a graduate assistant usually involve such activities as classroom instruction, preparation for and supervision of laboratory sections, direction of discussion or recitation sections, grading papers, and research. The student may be required to devote a maximum of twenty hours a week to such work, not more than ten hours of which may be in classroom contact hours. The normal course load for a graduate assistant is six hours per semester.

Graduate assistants receive a stipend of $3,500 to $4,000 for the academic year and remission of tuition and registration fees for the academic year and summer session. Appointments to assistantships are for one year. Renewals must be recommended by the department chair to the dean. The application deadline for graduate student assistantships is April 1. Applications may be obtained in the department office. The awarding of assistantships for the ensuing year will be announced in May.

Graduate Scholarships

Scholarship assistance is available through the Elizabeth S. Carr Trust Fund for students in the elementary/early childhood education programs and through the Rhode Island College Alumni Association. The Harrower Family Award is available through the Department of English and the dean of the Faculty of Arts and Sciences. The Naylor Family Scholarship is available through the Department of Psychology and the dean of the Faculty of Arts and Sciences. Specific information on these and other scholarships is available from the Office of Student Financial Aid, and for alumni scholarships, the Office of Alumni Affairs. The application deadline for graduate student scholarships is April 1.
Master of Social Work Scholarships

In addition to offering Rhode Island College Graduate Student Scholarships, the School of Social Work offers Master of Social Work Graduate Scholarships to full-time M.S.W. students. These scholarships match federal work-study funds to enable recipients to obtain paid field placements in nonprofit agencies and organizations. To be eligible for these scholarships, students should file the Free Application for Federal Student Aid, which can be obtained from the Office of Student Financial Aid. The School of Social Work also offers the following scholarships to students enrolled full-time in the M.S.W. program: the Gladys Corvera-Baker Scholarship, available to Hispanic students who demonstrate academic excellence and financial need; the Juanita Handy Scholarship, awarded to a second-year minority and/or female student; and the Mary G. Davey Scholarship, awarded to a second-year student who is dedicated to child welfare. Specific information and requirements may be obtained from the dean of the School of Social Work.

Graduate Traineeships

Graduate traineeships are limited to accepted M.S.W. degree candidates who are enrolled full-time and who are not in the first year of the advanced standing program. Graduate trainees in the School of Social Work are refunded tuition and registration fees for the academic year and are required to work ten hours per week on assignments within the School of Social Work.

Interested candidates who are accepted into the M.S.W. program should contact the School of Social Work.

The Rights and Responsibilities of Students Receiving Financial Assistance

Students should be fully aware of their rights and responsibilities in applying for and accepting any form of financial aid.

Note: Rhode Island College reserves the right to require verification of income data submitted by any or all applicants for financial assistance. Awards to those asked for such verification will be made conditional upon receipt of a certified true copy of the most recent federal income tax return. Any discrepancy in reported figures may result in adjustment or cancellation of the financial aid award and may be reported to the federal government for further review and possible legal action.
Academic Policies and Requirements

Auditing a Course

To audit a course is to participate in a course without receiving credit for the course or having the grade point average affected. Auditing requires consent of the instructor and the appropriate department chair.

During the first two weeks of a semester, if registration for the course has not been closed, a course may be added for audit through regular Add/Drop procedures without a late registration fee charged. Conversely, during the first two weeks of the semester, a course that was audited may be dropped and added for credit with no late registration fee charged.

Full-time undergraduate students may register as auditors without paying additional fees. Part-time students pay the usual per-credit fee. Any refunds will be made only at the student’s request and according to the standard Rhode Island College refund schedules.

Under no circumstances will audited courses be counted for credit toward a degree.

Grading System

Credit/No Credit
Graduate students are not permitted to take graduate courses for Credit/No Credit; however, they may take certain undergraduate prerequisite courses for Credit/No Credit with permission of their graduate advisor.

Failure in a Course
A course with a failing grade that has been retaken or replaced will be considered taken for No Credit and must remain on the student’s transcript. The most recent grade will be included in calculating the grade point average.

Incomplete Grades
An Incomplete will be given in place of a grade when the work of the semester has been passing but has not been completed because of illness or some other reason that, in the opinion of the instructor, justifies such a report. To remove the Incomplete, the student must make satisfactory arrangements with the instructor, or in the instructor’s absence, with the department chair.
Satisfactory/Unsatisfactory Grades

In certain courses, grades of Satisfactory (S) or Unsatisfactory (U) may be assigned. These courses are so designated by the Curriculum Committee upon recommendation by the Graduate Committee. Grades of S or U are not included in the calculation of grade point averages. Normally, not more than 9 credits graded Satisfactory may be applied toward a graduate degree. The limit may be exceeded only with permission of the dean responsible for the program.

Independent Study, Research, and Directed Study

Independent study, directed study, and certain research courses afford graduate students an opportunity to pursue concentrated study in a selected topic under the supervision of a faculty member. Students enrolled in independent study are expected to observe the semester begin and end dates, unless a different time limit has been arranged with their instructor. Requests for an independent study should be made in the semester prior to the semester of the planned independent study. A Request for Independent Study Form, signed by the instructor, department chair, and appropriate dean, must be filed with the respective graduate program. Independent study requests must be approved and fees paid before study is begun.

Students who wish to register for credits that will be counted toward their degree but that will be earned through off-campus activities, such as research or independent study at a national laboratory, must list these activities as part of their plan of study and receive prior approval from their advisor and dean. Credits are calculated on the basis of 1 credit for three hours per week per semester and may not exceed the limits of full-time registration, namely 12 credit hours per semester and 6 per summer session.

Leave of Absence

Graduate students are expected to remain continuously enrolled until they have completed all requirements and have received their degrees. Students who must leave Rhode Island College for a period of one semester or more, whether before or after they have completed the work prescribed in their plan of study, due to military service, prolonged illness, or other unusual circumstances, should apply for a leave of absence. The request should be made in writing to the graduate program director and to the appropriate dean and should be sufficiently specific to enable the dean to determine whether the leave is warranted. A leave of absence granted under such circumstances has the effect of suspending time limitations, such as those for completion of the degree or for the removal of Incomplete grades. Accordingly, a leave will be granted only for sufficient reason and only if it is to be for one year or less. Students may apply in writing for a maximum of one additional year, if circumstances warrant.
Plan of Study

When they are recommended for acceptance into a graduate program, graduate candidates are assigned a graduate advisor in their program. In order to complete the admission process, candidates must confer immediately with their advisor to develop a plan of study, which must be approved by the advisor and filed with the appropriate academic dean. The plan of study must contain no more than 9 credit hours of completed course work. Students are not formally accepted into a graduate program until their plan of study is approved and on file in the dean's office.

Changes in the plan of study must be made on appropriate forms and must have the approval of the advisor and the dean.

Repeating a Course

A course with a failing grade that has been retaken or replaced will be considered taken for No Credit but must remain on the student's transcript. The most recent grade will be included in calculating the grade point average.

Residency Requirements

The master's degree may be earned either through full- or part-time study or by a combination of both. However, candidates must take at least four-fifths of the credits required for the degree at Rhode Island College. Upon the recommendation of the student's program committee and upon the approval of the appropriate dean, the amount of transfer credits may be increased.

All Master of Social Work degree candidates (except those in the part-time program) must complete their last year on a full-time basis in order to fulfill the residency requirement.

Retention Requirements

To qualify for continuation of degree-candidate status, a minimum grade point average (GPA) of 3.00 in all graduate course work is required.

If degree candidates do not maintain a minimum 3.00 GPA, their status will be reviewed immediately by the dean of their program in consultation with the appropriate departmental faculty members. Such review may result in the student being placed on provisional status or dismissed. Students who are permitted to continue on provisional status must achieve a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.00 in graduate-level course work during the next semester (the next 9 credits earned, if part-time students). Students failing to achieve the necessary minimum 3.00 GPA will be subject to dismissal.
Grades below a B are not considered of graduate quality and are of limited application to degree work. Students who receive a grade of C in courses in the plan of study must consult with their advisors. Two C grades are sufficient cause for consideration of dismissal. Grades below a C- are unacceptable and require a review of the student’s status by the department and the dean.

Schools and departments may have additional grade requirements. Students should refer to their department for additional information on these requirements.

Thesis/Portfolio/Comprehensive Examination/Field Project

Students are responsible for meeting all departmental requirements for the thesis, portfolio, comprehensive examination, or field project.

The comprehensive examination may be written or oral as dictated by the department. It is usually taken when all work in the major has been completed or during the semester in which the work will be completed. A candidate may not take the comprehensive examination more than twice. (Candidates may not retake the examination before the next regularly scheduled examination.)

Further information is provided in the Graduate Studies Manual.

Time Limits

A program of study must be completed within six years (four years in the Master of Social Work program, seven years in the Ph.D. in education program) from the time of registration following acceptance to degree candidacy; otherwise candidacy will be terminated. An appeal for extension requires the review of the department and the dean.

Credits in support of a degree may not be older than seven years at the time the degree is awarded, unless an exception is made by the dean.

Transcripts

Transcripts are issued by the Records Office only upon written request. Telephone and fax requests will not be honored. A one-time charge of twenty-five dollars entitles the student to official transcripts upon request.
Transfer Credit

Normally, transfer credit must not exceed 6 credit hours of a candidate’s graduate program. However, upon the recommendation of the student’s program committee and upon the approval of the dean responsible for that program, the amount of credits to be transferred may be increased but may not exceed 20 percent of the total program. An official transcript must be filed in the Records Office. Credit is transferred only for graduate courses having minimum grades of B.

Withdrawal from a Course

Students may drop a course during the first two weeks of a semester (or during a corresponding time for summer session courses) without having any entry made on the permanent record. After this time, students receive a grade of W (Withdrawn).

Withdrawal from a course anytime after the last withdrawal date until the end of the course requires the approval of the instructor of the course. Withdrawal must be based on evidence of extenuating circumstances other than academic difficulty in the course. Students who do not follow the official procedures, but stop attending classes, receive a grade based on the work completed as compared to the total course requirements.

Withdrawal from a Graduate Program

Permanent withdrawal from Rhode Island College is a serious matter that deserves careful consideration by students in consultation with their advisor. If a leave of absence is not in the student’s best interest, then the student should inform the dean responsible for the program in writing of the intention to terminate graduate status.

Students who do not register for a term or who do not comply with the regulations governing withdrawal or leave of absence will be assumed to have voluntarily withdrawn from the college. The interpretation of this inaction will be that the student does not intend to return for graduate study.
Degree Programs

Certificate of Advanced Graduate Study (C.A.G.S.)

The C.A.G.S. is a degree program consisting of a minimum of 30 post masters credit hours that prepare candidates for positions and competencies in education and related fields for which the master’s degree is not sufficient. The C.A.G.S. is offered in the following areas:

- Individualized Certificate of Advanced Graduate Study
- Mental Health Counseling
- School Counseling (Currently not accepting students)
- School Psychology

Master of Arts (M.A.)

The M.A. degree is offered in the following areas:

- Art with concentrations in
  - Art Education
  - Media Studies
- Biology
- Counseling with concentrations in:
  - Agency Counseling
  - Co-Occurring Disorders
  - School Counseling
- English
- English with concentration in
  - Creative Writing
- History
- Individualized Master of Arts
- Mathematical Studies with concentrations in
  - Mathematics
  - Mathematics for the Professions
- Psychology
Master of Arts in Teaching (M.A.T.)

The M.A.T. degree is offered in the following areas:

- Art Education
- Elementary Education
- Music Education
- Secondary Education with concentrations in
  - English
  - French
  - History
  - Mathematical Studies
  - Spanish

Master of Education (M.Ed.)

The M.Ed. degree is offered in the following areas:

- Advanced Studies in Teaching and Learning
- Early Childhood Education
- Educational Leadership
- Elementary Education
- Health Education
- Reading
- Special Education with concentrations in
  - Early Childhood—Birth through Kindergarten
  - Exceptional Learning Needs
  - Severe/Profound Disabilities
  - Special Education Certification
  - Urban Multicultural Special Education
- Teaching English as a Second Language
- Technology Education

Master of Fine Arts (M.F.A.) in Theatre

This program is currently not accepting students.
Master of Music Education (M.M.Ed.)

The M.M.Ed. degree is offered for persons certified to teach music. However, students seeking initial certification are required to enroll in the Master of Arts in Teaching program.

Master of Professional Accountancy (M.P.Ac.)

The M.P.Ac. degree is offered in professional accountancy, with concentrations in accounting information systems and personal financial planning.

Master of Public Administration (M.P.A.) in Rhode Island Program

The M.P.A. degree is offered cooperatively by Rhode Island College and the University of Rhode Island.

Master of Science in Nursing (M.S.N.)

The M.S.N. degree is designed to prepare expert nurses for clinical and academic practice. There are two specialty concentrations: (1) acute care/critical care, and (2) public health/community leadership.

Master of Social Work (M.S.W.)

The M.S.W. degree is designed to prepare advanced professional social workers. There are three concentrations: (1) clinical, (2) administration, and (3) organizing and policy. The clinical concentration has three tracks: (1) children and families, (2) adults and families, and (3) older adults and families.

Ph.D. in Education Program

The Ph.D. in education is offered jointly by Rhode Island College and the University of Rhode Island.

Individualized Graduate Degree Programs

Two individualized graduate programs are offered: the M.A. and the M.S. Essentially interdisciplinary in nature, these programs provide students with the opportunity to pursue graduate work in areas of specific academic interest or need. These programs may be oriented toward special career preparation or toward unique scholarly pursuits.
Admission standards for all individualized programs are comparable to those of the department or departments involved. All graduate division criteria also apply. Admission is subject to the criteria approved by the Committee on Individualized Graduate Programs. All plans of study must be approved by the committee.

Students who are interested in an individualized graduate program should first consult with the dean responsible for that program to receive advisement and the special forms for application.
Special Programs

Certificate of Graduate Study (C.G.S.)

The C.G.S. is a certificate program of advanced study offered in the following areas:

- Autism Education
- Co-Occurring Disorders
- Creative Writing
- Financial Planning
- Health Psychology
- Literature
- Mathematics Content Specialist: Elementary
- Modern Biological Sciences
- Physical Education

Postbaccalaureate Middle School Endorsement

Students who hold the baccalaureate degree, an elementary or secondary certificate, and who have a major, minor, or 30 credit hours in one of the following areas: English/language arts, French, general science, mathematics, social studies, or Spanish may pursue the middle school endorsement program. This program consists of the following courses at Rhode Island College: Middle Level Education 510, 520, 530, and 540, as well as specified courses verified through an analysis of the student’s transcript by the Middle Level Program and by the State Department of Education.

Rhode Island Teacher Education (RITE) Program

Students who hold the baccalaureate degree and who have majored in or completed a substantial amount of course work in an appropriate academic area (see appropriate academic areas below) may pursue the secondary education teaching certificate in that area through the RITE program. This is not a degree program and courses taken in this program cannot be used in any graduate degree program at Rhode Island College. This program is designed so that successful applicants can, in most cases, complete the required course work within three consecutive semesters.
Appropriate academic areas are

- Biology
- Chemistry
- English
- French
- General Science
- History
- Mathematics
- Physics
- Social Studies
- Spanish

RITE Admission Requirements

1. A baccalaureate degree with a major equivalent to an undergraduate secondary education major at Rhode Island College.

2. A completed application submitted to the dean of the Feinstein School of Education and Human Development, including complete transcripts from a regionally or nationally accredited college or university.

3. A minimum cumulative grade point average (GPA) of 2.50 in all previous college course work.

4. The minimum GPA required in the academic major. Requirements for GPAs in specific majors are available from the Department of Educational Studies.

5. Two Disposition Reference Forms. One form must be from an instructor of a college course in the applicant’s academic major and the other from a professional who can document the applicant’s experience with youth.

7. Evidence of completion of the Technology Competency Requirement.

8. A personal interview with the RITE program major advisor.

9. A complete plan of study approved by the RITE program advisor, the chair of the Department of Educational Studies, and the dean.

RITE Program Requirements

The RITE program consists of a minimum of 31 credit hours, as follows: Counseling and Educational Psychology 315; Foundations of Education 346; Secondary Education 406, 407, 410, 421, 422; and Special Education 433.

General Information on General Education

All full degree programs require the completion of eleven General Education courses. General Education courses consist of Core Requirement and Distribution Requirement courses.

Core Requirement courses provide students with an understanding of the cultural and historical traditions that have shaped the world in which we live and provide a critical appreciation of the values, ideas, and practices that have emerged from these traditions. To this end, the Core explores both Western and non-Western contexts. Courses in the Core are writing intensive, with emphasis on critical thinking. Students are required to take four Core courses, a total of 16 credit hours. Courses in the Core may only be taken to fulfill General Education requirements.

- Core 1 is a study of Western literature.
- Core 2 is a study of Western history.
- Core 3 is a study of non-Western worlds.
- Core 4 is a critical inquiry into cultural issues.

Any course that fulfills one of the Core Requirements has the following notation in the course description following credit hours:

Gen. Ed. Core 1
Gen. Ed. Core 2
Gen. Ed. Core 3
Fulfills Gen. Ed. Core 4

Distribution Requirement courses expose students to writing, social and behavioral sciences, visual and performing arts, and natural sciences and mathematical systems. Students are required to take seven Distribution Requirement courses, a total of 23 to 26 credit hours.

Any course that fulfills one of the Distribution Requirements has the following notation in the course description following credit hours:

Gen. Ed. Category W (Writing)
Gen. Ed. Category SB (Social and Behavioral Sciences)
Gen. Ed. Category A (Visual and Performing Arts)
Gen. Ed. Category LS (Laboratory Science)
Gen. Ed. Category M (Mathematical Systems)
Gen. Ed. Category SM (Science/Mathematics)
Transfer Students may determine their status with respect to General Education requirements by inquiring at the office of the dean of the Faculty of Arts and Sciences or at the Office of Undergraduate Admissions.

General Education Honors. To complete General Education Honors, students must take a minimum of five General Education courses in specially designed honors sections. Courses chosen normally include the honors core: HONR 161, 162, 163, and 264 taken in sequence over the first four semesters. The HONR 161, 162 sequence substitutes for ENGL 161 and HIST 161 respectively. Although honors courses are reserved for students in General Education Honors, if space permits and with the permission of the director of honors, other students may take honors sections. For more information, write or call the director of honors.

*Art education and music education are designed for students seeking grades 7–12 teaching certification.

Students seeking grades 7–12 teaching certification in these majors should see Secondary Education on page 277.

*Note: Honors programs are offered in all of the disciplines listed above, except chemical dependency/addiction studies, radiologic technology, and social science.

*Note: In addition to the minors offered in the full-degree programs listed above, minors are also offered in gerontology, international nongovernmental organizations studies, Italian, jazz studies, labor studies, public history, and writing.

*Note: Professional preparation programs are offered in predental, prelaw, premedical, and preoptometry.

PLEASE NOTE

All undergraduate full-degree programs require the completion of at least 120 credit hours, including (1) General Education, (2) the College Writing Requirement, (3) the College Mathematics Requirement, (4) electives, and (5) the major requirements listed under each program. For more details on graduation requirements, see Academic Policies and Requirements on page 40.

B.S. in Art Education

Admission Requirements

Students apply to the art education program through the Department of Art while enrolled in or after completing ARTE 303: Introduction to Art Education. The Department of Art forwards recommendations to the Feinstein School of Education and Human Development (FSEHD). Applicants are then formally accepted into both the art department and to the teacher preparation program in art education.

For acceptance into the teacher preparation program in art education, students must fulfill the following requirements by the end of the semester in which they apply for admission:

1. All FSEHD admission requirements. Please refer to the FSEHD section of this catalog or go to www.ric.edu/feinsteinSchoolEducationHumanDevelopment/undergrad_requirements.php.

2. Art education program-specific admission requirements:
   a. Completion of a plan of study approved by assigned advisor.
   b. Completion of a Declaration of Major Form.
   c. Completion of all studio foundations courses, with a minimum grade of B- in each course. (Studio foundations courses and other course requirements may be met by a positive portfolio review. The portfolio must include work from studio foundations courses and the introductory studio art course in the concentration. Portfolios are reviewed once per semester. Review dates are posted in the Art Center.)
   d. Completion of ARTE 303: Introduction to Art Education, with a minimum grade of B-.
   e. Three letters of recommendation from art faculty: one from the student’s 2-D or 3-D synthesis instructor, one from the student’s ARTE 303 instructor, and one from another art studio or art history faculty member.

Note: For information on transferring credit for courses taken at another institution or credit for advanced placement courses, see Transfer Portfolio Guidelines at www.ric.edu/art/transfer.php or obtain guidelines in the main office of the Art Center.
Retention Requirements

1. A minimum cumulative grade point average of 2.67, both overall and in the art education major.
2. Completion of all required studio art and art history courses, with a minimum grade of B-.
3. Completion of ARTE 404 and 405, with a minimum grade of B in each course.
4. In order to student teach, students must successfully complete the FSEHD and the art education program requirements for a Preparing to Teach Portfolio.

The Art Education Advisory Committee will review records of students who do not maintain this criteria. Such students may be dismissed from the program.

   b. Completion of a Declaration of Major Form.
   c. Completion of all studio foundations courses, with a minimum grade of B- in each course. (Studio foundations courses and other course requirements may be met by a positive portfolio review. The portfolio must include work from studio foundations courses and the introductory studio art course in the concentration. Portfolios are reviewed once per semester. Review dates are posted in the Art Center.)
   d. Completion of the Studio I course in the concentration, with a minimum grade of B.
   e. Completion of ARTE 303: Introduction to Art Education, with a minimum grade of B-.
   f. Three letters of recommendation from art faculty: one from the student’s 2-D or 3-D synthesis instructor, one from the student’s ARTE 303 instructor, and one from another art studio or art history faculty member.
   g. Submission of a B.F.A. application.
   h. A positive portfolio review.

Note: For information on transferring credit for courses taken at another institution or credit for advanced placement courses, see Transfer Portfolio Guidelines at www.ric.edu/art/transfer.php or obtain guidelines in the main office of the Art Center.

Retention Requirements

1. A minimum grade of B in all studio concentration courses, and a minimum grade of B- in all other studio and art history courses.
2. A minimum grade point average of 2.67 both overall and in the art education major.
3. Completion of ARTE 404 and 405, with a minimum grade of B in each course.
4. In order to student teach, students must successfully complete the FSEHD and the art education program requirements for a Preparing to Teach Portfolio.

The Art Education Advisory Committee will review records of students who do not maintain this criteria. Such students may be dismissed from the program.

M.A. IN ART—WITH CONCENTRATION IN ART EDUCATION

The M.A. in art with concentration in art education does not lead to teacher certification. Students interested in prekindergarten-through-grade-twelve teacher certification should see the M.A.T. program in art education.

Admission Requirements

1. A completed application form accompanied by a fifty-dollar nonrefundable application fee.
2. Official transcripts of all undergraduate and graduate records.
3. A minimum cumulative grade point average of 3.00 on a 4.00 scale in undergraduate course work.
4. An official report of scores on the Graduate Record Examination (GRE) or the Miller Analogies Test (MAT).
5. Three letters of recommendation.
6. A bachelor’s degree in art education or its equivalent, including 45 credit hours of art courses.
7. A representative portfolio of art work.
8. A statement of purpose.
9. An interview with the art education graduate program director.
10. A plan of study approved by the advisor and appropriate dean.

Chemical Dependency/Addiction Studies Program Faculty: Professors Agatstein, Fingeret, Goldfield, Lounsbury, Malloy, Montvilo, Rollins, Sugarman, Tropper; Associate Professors Kim, Ladd, Laupa, Marco, Simson, White; Assistant Professors Faille, Lewis

Students must consult with their assigned advisor before they will be able to register for courses.

Admission Requirements
Students must have a minimum grade of B- in PSYC 217, 451, and 452; and a minimum grade point average of 2.50 in all courses taken in the program prior to admission.

Retention Requirements
Students must have a minimum grade point average of 2.50 in the major, and a minimum grade of B- in PSYC 453, 471, and 472. Enrollment in these three courses require prior admission into the chemical dependency program. In their junior year, students should file an application with the program director.

Examination Plan

Under the examination plan (optional for M.A. in English) and upon completion of at least 24 credit hours of graduate course work, students take a written examination prepared and administered by the Department of English. The examination is based on reading lists in two of the following four categories: (1) British literature before 1800, (2) British literature since 1800, (3) American literature, and (4) theory or genre. Prior to the examination, students, in consultation with faculty, will prepare reading lists for the two categories selected. The departmental graduate committee must approve the reading lists and will appoint faculty committees to conduct examinations. Guidelines for preparing reading lists are available from the departmental graduate advisor.

Thesis Plan

Under the thesis plan (optional for M.A. in English; required for M.A. in English with concentration in creative writing), students take ENGL 592: Master’s Thesis in their final semester of study toward the M.A. degree, during which time they complete research for and write a master’s thesis on a subject of their choice that has been approved by the departmental graduate committee. Students may also, as an option in a previous semester, take ENGL 591: Directed Reading in preparation for the writing of the thesis. The thesis will be written under the direction of a faculty member of the student’s choice and will be read by that faculty member and by a second reader appointed by the departmental graduate committee. For M.A. in English students, the thesis will normally be a substantial critical or research paper (though different kinds of projects are possible) of approximately fifty to seventy pages in length. For M.A. in English with concentration in creative writing students, the thesis will consist of a substantial body of poetry, fiction, nonfictional prose, or drama. A defense of the thesis before a faculty committee is required in all cases.

Modern Languages

Department of Modern Languages
Department Chair: Olga Juzyn
Department Faculty: Associate Professors Géloin, Juzyn, Margenot

Language Courses

The Department of Modern Languages offers elementary and intermediate courses in Arabic, French, German, Greek, Italian, Latin, Portuguese, and Spanish. Placement for language study may be determined by performance in course work or by the student’s score on the Modern Languages online test. See Web site: www.ric.edu/modernlanguages/placement.php, for more information. Students who demonstrate proficiency on the CEEB or the College Level Examination Program (CLEP) tests are granted credit toward graduation in accordance with Rhode Island College policy.

Elementary courses (101 and 102) and intermediate courses (113 and 114) may be offered in languages not listed in this catalog. Recent examples include Chinese, Japanese, and Russian. Refer to the schedule of classes published each semester and contact the department chair for details. Advanced courses are available in French, Italian, Latin American Studies, Portuguese, and Spanish.

Elementary courses may be taken for elective credit, except in the language presented to meet college admission requirements. Students who wish to continue their study of the language presented for admission should elect language courses numbered 110, 113, or 114. Students who complete a language course numbered 110 or 113 will be considered to have fulfilled one of the requirements for the Social and Behavioral Sciences Category of General Education.

Study Abroad

The Department of Modern Languages encourages students to study abroad and sponsors a program in Cuernavaca, Mexico. Please contact the Department of Modern Languages for information concerning this program.

Internship

The Department of Modern Languages strongly encourages students to undertake internship experiences as part of their undergraduate education. Every semester, the department offers twelve-week internships for students in all Modern Languages concentrations. Students are placed in area agencies, organizations, and companies where they have the opportunity to use the language of their concentration. In order to participate in an internship, students must register for MLAN 320.

Total Credit Hours 43

Internship

The Department of Political Science strongly encourages students to undertake internship experiences as part of their undergraduate education. Every fall, spring, and summer the department offers a twelve-week internship for students in political science, public administration, justice studies, gerontology, and other programs. Students are placed in federal, state, and local government agencies; in private sector public service organizations; and in organizations engaged in campaigns or political advocacy. To enroll in this internship, students should register for POL 328.
In addition, under the auspices of the Rhode Island State Internship Program, the department offers a twelve-week internship every spring semester, placing students with individual members of the Rhode Island state legislature or with members of the executive and judicial branches of state government. To enroll in this internship, students should register for POL 327. In cooperation with Rhode Island’s U.S. senators and representatives, several students are chosen to spend a week during the spring semester in the Washington, D.C. office of either a U.S. senator or a representative from Rhode Island.

The London Course

The London Course is the study of British politics, government, and culture, as well as urban geography and city planning in London. The course is divided into two components—a six-week proseminar at Rhode Island College during Summer Session I, followed by a three-week stay in London during July in conjunction with South Bank University. The stay in Europe includes trips to the House of Commons, Cambridge University, the Home Counties, and Paris.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS FOR MINOR IN POLITICAL SCIENCE

The minor in political science consists of a minimum of 18 credit hours, as follows: two courses from POL 202, 203, and 204. Additional courses are selected from departmental offerings at the 300- or 400-level, with the exception of PBAD 325.
Predental, Premedical, Preoptometry, Preveterinary Preparation

Predental, Premedical, and Preoptometry Advisor
Elaine Magyar

Preveterinary Advisor
Edythe Anthony

To qualify for admission to dental, medical, optometry, or veterinary school, students must present a strong liberal arts background, show competency in writing, competency in their chosen academic majors, and demonstrate some knowledge of work in the laboratory sciences. Although neither a specific major nor a specific program of study is required for application, a biology or chemistry major will provide excellent preparation. In addition, most schools require the results of the student’s performance on some standardized tests of verbal and quantitative analytical abilities.

Beginning in the freshman year, students interested in dental, medical, optometry, or veterinary school should consult with the appropriate preprofessional advisor concerning a plan of study and application procedures to a professional school. Since individual schools have specific course requirements, it is essential to consult with the advisor early in the program of study. Students should also supplement their majors with the following courses: BIOL 111, 112, 114; CHEM 103, 104, 205, 206; PHYS 101, 102; and two or three courses in advanced biology, chosen in consultation with the appropriate advisor. It is strongly recommended that students take mathematics sequences through calculus as well as intermediate or advanced courses in modern foreign languages.

Each year the faculty is able to nominate several students from the premedical studies area as Early Decision Candidates for the medical school at Brown University. Students who meet the course requirements can be accepted into Brown’s medical school. Complete details are available from the premedical advisor.
Prelaw Preparation

Prelaw Advisor
John Perrotta

Rhode Island College is comparable with other baccalaureate degree-granting institutions as an appropriate environment for a prelegal education. The college offers a range of experiences that help prepare students for entrance into law school.

No specific major or curriculum is required or recommended by law schools as a prerequisite for admission. One can major in any of a dozen or more possible fields and go on to law school with equal facility. Accordingly, the selection of liberal arts courses that familiarize prelaw students with society, history, philosophy, and government is as important as the choice of a major. Success in and contribution to some fields of law also increasingly require preparation in such areas as accounting, communication, and computer science.

A primary criterion for admission to law school is performance on the Law School Admissions Test (LSAT). All law schools require applicants to submit their LSAT scores. The LSAT is both “. . . a standardized test designed to . . . measure . . . an examinee’s ability to handle new situations and problems” and an examination requiring the writing of an impromptu essay on a controversial topic or situation. The former is scored in competition with all other applicants taking the LSAT on a given date around the country. The essay is scored and used by the admissions committees of individual law schools as they see fit. (See Law School Admission Services’ LSAT/LSDAS Registration Information Book.)

The LSAT examination is given four times a year at test sites throughout Rhode Island and the nation. Students who wish to apply to enter law school in the month of September, especially if they are going to seek financial support, should take the LSAT in October or December of the preceding year.

Law schools assess a student’s undergraduate record on a 4.00 index scale, excluding grades in physical education, ROTC, and applied courses in art and music. The law school applicant should demonstrate a strong grade point average both in their major and overall course work.

Early in their undergraduate programs, those interested in law school should discuss with the college’s prelaw advisor the particulars of taking the LSAT as well as the procedures and strategies for filling out the law school application.

Public Administration

Director
Francis Leazes Jr.

B.A. in Political Science—With a Concentration in Public Administration

The major in political science with a concentration in public administration is available as a dual major only. Students enrolled in liberal arts majors or preprofessional programs are encouraged to consult with the director of the program about the ways in which this major may be tailored to complement their course of study. See political science on page 214.

B.A.–M.P.A. Program

Rhode Island College cooperates with the University of Rhode Island in providing Rhode Island College students with an opportunity to begin their graduate training in public administration as they complete their studies leading to a degree at Rhode Island College. Early advisement is essential for students seeking admission to this program. A student in this cooperative program could earn the Master of Public Administration degree in fifteen months of full-time study or pursue the degree on a part-time basis. Students should consult with the director of the undergraduate public administration program no later than the second semester of their junior year.

M.P.A. Program

The Master of Public Administration (M.P.A.) in Rhode Island Program is a cooperative program of Rhode Island College and the University of Rhode Island. M.P.A. students may take graduate-level electives at Rhode Island College to fulfill their plan of study. Requests for program information should be made to the director of the public administration program at Rhode Island College.
Radiologic Technology

Directors
Eric Hall
Kenneth Kinsey

The B.S. in radiologic technology is a four-year joint program with Rhode Island College and the School of Diagnostic Imaging at Rhode Island Hospital. Students undertake two years of General Education and cognate courses at Rhode Island College followed by two years of clinical education courses at the School of Diagnostic Imaging. Accommodations for part-time, evening students are built into the program.

Clinical training is held at Rhode Island Hospital, Hasbro Children's Hospital, University Orthopedics, and Rhode Island Medical Imaging. Students who successfully complete the program are eligible to take the national certification examination offered by the American Registry of Radiologic Technologists.

Students must consult with their assigned advisor before they will be able to register for courses.

B.S. IN RADIOLoGIC TECHNOLOGY

Admission Requirements
1. Completion of the Enrollment Form signed by the program director.
2. Completion of all cognate courses (listed below), with a minimum grade of C.
3. A minimum cumulative grade point average of 2.70.
4. An interview with the director of the School of Diagnostic Imaging.

Retention Requirement
A minimum grade of C in all radiologic technology courses.

Feinstein School of Education and Human Development—General Information

Application to Undergraduate Teacher Preparation Programs

Students who are in good standing at Rhode Island College may apply for admission to a teacher preparation program.

Application packets may be obtained from the office of the dean of the Feinstein School of Education and Human Development (Horace Mann 105) and from the Office of Academic Support and Information Services (OASIS).

Students interested in the art education or music education program should contact the department chair as soon as they are admitted to the college for information about the required courses in the program and the requirements for admission to the program. Candidates interested in special education programs apply for admission both in the Department of Special Education and either in the Department of Elementary Education or in the Department of Educational Studies (Secondary Education).

Most applicants acquire and complete the application materials prior to or while they are enrolled in FNED 346: Schooling in a Democratic Society. This course is a prerequisite for admission to teacher preparation programs. Applicants who transfer a course equivalent to FNED 346 into the college should complete the application materials immediately upon admission to the college. Basic skills tests are required for admission and should be completed before or during enrollment in FNED 346. Transfer students must complete these tests as soon as possible. Registration for these tests is through the Educational Testing Service in Princeton, New Jersey. Application forms for these tests are available at OASIS and on the Educational Testing Service (ETS) Web site at www.ets.org/praxis. Individuals with disabilities should read the Special Registration Options section on the ETS Web site for information on requesting alternative test administration.

Admission Requirements to Undergraduate Teacher Preparation Programs

The applicant’s academic performance and related experiences that indicate potential for success as a teacher are reviewed in the admission process. The application materials submitted by the student must provide evidence of the following:

1. Successful completion of all of the subtests of the Pre-Professional Skills Test (PPST) of the Praxis I Series from the Educational Testing Service (ETS), with a passing score established by the Rhode Island Department of Education. Either the paper and pencil or computerized tests are acceptable. Test registration information is available in OASIS and on the ETS Web site at www.ets.org/praxis.
2. Completion of at least 24 credit hours at a nationally or regionally accredited college or university by the end of the semester in which the candidate applies for admission to a teacher preparation program.
3. A minimum grade point average (GPA) of 2.50 in all college-level courses taken prior to admission to a teacher preparation program. Candidates who transfer to Rhode Island College from another school must meet this requirement and provide transcripts from all schools previously attended.
4. Completion of FNED 346: Schooling in a Democratic Society, with a minimum grade of B-. The minimum grade requirement applies even if an equivalent course from another institution is transferred to Rhode Island College.
5. Completion of the College Mathematics Requirement.
6. Completion of WRTG 100, with a minimum grade of B. This requirement may also be satisfied by (1) passing the equivalent of a WRTG 100 course, with a minimum grade of B; (2) earning a minimum score of 63 on the College Level Examination Program/English Composition Exam with Essay; or (3) earning a score of 4 or 5 on the Advanced Placement Test for English Language and Composition.
7. Two Disposition Reference Forms. Information about this criterion is included in the admission packet.
8. Evidence of completion of the Technology Competency Requirement. Information about this criterion is included in the admission packet.
9. Fulfillment of all additional requirements that a department may have for admission to a particular teacher preparation program/concentration. Information about these requirements is available in the teacher education department to which the candidate is applying.

Admission Procedures to Undergraduate Teacher Preparation Programs

Students submit the completed application to the office of the appropriate department. The Admission and Retention Committee in the respective departments evaluates the information provided in the application packet and makes a recommendation to the associate dean about the candidate's admission to a teacher preparation program. Since certification as a special education teacher in Rhode Island also requires certification as an elementary or secondary school teacher, students applying to a program in the Department of Special Education must also apply for admission to an elementary education or secondary education program. For these applicants, the application to an elementary education or secondary education program requires preparation of a standard application packet available in OASIS or in the office of the dean of the Feinstein School of Education and Human Development. The application to a special education program requires preparation of a separate and different application packet available in the Department of Special Education. Transfer students who wish to apply to a special education program should initiate applications to either an elementary education or secondary education program and a special education program as soon as they decide to become a student at Rhode Island College. Application packets may be acquired and preparation of the packet may begin prior to or simultaneous with application to the college. Students who decide they would like to apply to a special education program some time after admission to an elementary education or secondary education program must apply for separate admission to the Department of Special Education. Following department action, the second application packet and the department recommendation are forwarded to the associate dean of the Feinstein School of Education and Human Development.
The associate dean reviews the recommendation of the department. If the associate dean and the department committee concur, a letter is sent informing the applicant of their decision. If the associate dean does not concur with the recommendation of the department, the associate dean and the departmental committee confer to resolve the disagreement and the applicant is then informed of the result in writing. If the decision is negative, the applicant may reapply to the department by submitting a new application. The student may request a personal interview with the Department Admission and Retention Committee. The departmental recommendation for admission based on reapplication is forwarded to the associate dean who reviews the application and informs the applicant of the decision.

Students admitted to one teacher preparation program who wish to transfer to or add another program within the school must inform their advisor or department chair of their decision and apply for admission to the new program. Information used in the original application may be used in the new application when appropriate.

Appeal Process

The applicant may appeal a decision for admission or re-admission to a teacher preparation program to the dean of the Feinstein School of Education and Human Development on the basis of policy or procedure. Any applicant initiating an appeal must provide additional and substantiating evidence to support the appeal. Subsequent appeals should follow Rhode Island College policy for student appeals (see the Rhode Island College Student Handbook).

Community Service Requirement

The Feinstein School of Education and Human Development requires all students in undergraduate teacher preparation programs (undergraduate, second degree) to participate in a community service experience. This requirement may be completed on an individual basis or through one or more of the courses in the program and must be completed prior to student teaching.

Portfolio Requirement

The Feinstein School of Education and Human Development requires all students in teacher preparation programs (undergraduate, second degree, RITE, and M.A.T.) to successfully complete a Preparing to Teach Portfolio prior to student teaching and to successfully complete an Exit Portfolio prior to graduation. Both portfolios must be rated as meeting standard or better for a student to progress in and graduate from any teacher preparation program.
Admission Requirements to Graduate (M.A., M.Ed., C.A.G.S., and C.G.S.) Programs

Admission to the Feinstein School of Education and Human Development master’s-level programs is determined by the quality of the total application. Applicants must submit the materials listed below to the associate dean of graduate studies as a measure of their potential for success in graduate-level studies.

1. A completed application form accompanied by a fifty-dollar nonrefundable application fee. Graduate applications are available online at: ric.edu/feinsteinSchoolEducationHumanDevelopment.
2. Official transcripts of all undergraduate and graduate records.
3. A minimum cumulative grade point average (GPA) of 3.00 on a 4.00 scale in all undergraduate course work. Applicants with undergraduate GPAs less than 3.00 may be admitted to degree candidacy upon submission of other evidence of academic potential.
4. A teaching certificate (for all school-related programs, except school psychology).
5. An official report of scores on the Graduate Record Examination or the Miller Analogies Test, except C.G.S. candidates and C.A.G.S. in mental health counseling candidates.
6. Three Candidate Reference Forms accompanied by three Letters of Recommendation.
7. A Professional Goals Essay.
8. A Performance-Based Evaluation.

See individual programs for additional program-specific requirements.

The C.A.G.S. in mental health counseling is awarded when the student has completed:

1. The 500-level courses required for the M.A. in counseling (agency counseling concentration) and an additional 27 credit hours of graduate course work at the 600-level as specified in the student’s integrated plan of study for a total of 60 credit hours.
2. A two-semester, 12-credit internship in a cooperating mental health agency and submission of a performance portfolio at the conclusion of the internship.
3. A passing score in the Clinical Mental Health Counselor Licensure Examination (nonthesis option) or successful completion of a field project (thesis option).

For candidates admitted to the C.A.G.S. in mental health counseling, the M.A. in counseling (agency counseling concentration) is awarded when the student has completed all 500-level courses and satisfactorily passed a written examination prepared and administered by the Department of Counseling, Educational Leadership, and School Psychology. The examination is based on the student’s knowledge of human development, counseling approaches, and intervention strategies.

Elementary Education

Department of Elementary Education
Department Chair: Patricia Cordeiro
Elementary Education Program Director: Lisa Owen

Elementary Education Program Faculty: Professors Barton, Betres, Cordeiro, Eldridge Jr., Kniseley, Nixon, Rowell, Rude, Steiglitz; Associate Professors Cotti, Goodrow, Henshaw, Lawrence, McGuire-Schwartz Owen; Assistant Professors Capalbo, Davis-Duerr, Horn, McKamey, Sevey

Students must consult with their assigned advisor before they will be able to register for courses.

B.A. AND B.S. IN ELEMENTARY EDUCATION

Students in elementary education follow one of two programs:

1. Early childhood education program (certification for infant programs through grade two).
2. Elementary school program (certification for grades one through six).

Students are awarded either a B.A. or a B.S. degree. The B.A. is awarded to students choosing a content major, and the B.S. is awarded to students electing a teaching concentration in special education. Some programs, including middle school endorsement, will total more than 120 credits and may take longer than four years.

Retention Requirements

1. A minimum overall grade point average of 2.50 each semester.
2. A minimum grade of B- in ELED 300 or ECED 301, and recommendation to continue from the instructor.
3. A minimum grade of B- in all other professional courses, and a recommendation to continue from the instructors. Courses in the department may be repeated once with a recommendation to retake from the previous instructor.
4. A minimum grade of C in all prerequisite courses offered in the Faculty of Arts and Sciences.
5. Students accepted into the Department of Special Education and the Department of Elementary Education must maintain concurrent retention in both departments.

Records of students who do not maintain good standing or who receive a Recommendation to Continue with Concerns are reviewed by the departmental retention committee. Students may be dismissed from the program. Appeal of a decision to dismiss a student is made to the dean of the Feinstein School of Education and Human Development.

Requirements for Students Electing a B.A. in Elementary Education

Students must complete the required courses in elementary education and select a content major from one of the following: English, French, general science, geography, history, mathematics, political science, social studies, Spanish, or theatre. These content majors are directly relevant to a subject area taught in prekindergarten through grade six and provide appropriate depth and academic rigor in the content area.

The following content majors will total more than 120 credits and will take more than four years to complete: biology, chemistry, economics, and physics.

Content Major in English

In addition to completing required courses in elementary education, students electing a content major in English must complete the following courses, with a minimum grade point average of 2.67. Students may not proceed to student teaching without the required GPA.

• ENGL 201, 202, 205, 207, 210
• THREE COURSES in literature at the 300- or 400-level. Note: students seeking middle school endorsement must choose from ENGL 301 (or 302 or 303), 326 (or 327), and 336 as their three literature courses. ENGL 212 and SED 445 are also required for middle school endorsement.

Total credit hours: 32
Content Major in General Science

In addition to completing required courses in elementary education, students electing a content major in general science must complete the following courses, with a minimum grade of C in each course and a minimum grade point average of 2.50:

• BIOL 111; CHEM 105; PSCI 212, 357, 491 (or BIOL 491, or CHEM 491, or PHYS 491); PHYS 101
• ONE COURSE from BIOL 112; CHEM 106; PSCI 210, 214, 217; PHYS 102
• TWO COURSES from BIOL 318, 321, 324, 329, 353, 354; CHEM 404; PSCI 340

Total credit hours: 30–32

Content Major in Geography

In addition to completing required courses in elementary education, students electing a content major in geography must complete the following courses, with a minimum grade point average of 2.75:

• GEOG 100, 101, 205, 400
• SIX COURSES from GEOG 301, 305, 306, 312, 313, 320, 337, 338, 339, 407, 408

Total credit hours: 30

Content Major in History

The C.A.G.S. in school psychology is awarded when the student has completed:

1. An additional 27 credit hours of graduate course work beyond the master’s level as specified in the student’s integrated and sequential plan of study.
2. A one-year, 1200-hour, 12-credit internship in a cooperating school system.
3. A passing score (as determined by the Department of Counseling, Educational Leadership, and School Psychology) on the National School Psychology Examination administered by the Educational Testing Service (ETS/PRAXIS II #10400).
4. A performance portfolio at the conclusion of the internship.

The C.A.G.S. in school psychology meets state certification requirements in school psychology from the Rhode Island Department of Education.

For candidates admitted to the C.A.G.S. in school psychology, the M.A. in counseling (educational psychology concentration) is awarded when the student has completed CEP 531, 532, 533, 534, 536, 537, 538, 551, 552, 554; and satisfactorily passed a written examination prepared and administered by the Department of Counseling, Educational Leadership, and School Psychology. The examination is based on the student’s knowledge of human development, counseling approaches, and intervention strategies. The M.A. in counseling with concentration in educational psychology is not granted as a terminal degree and does not meet requirements for certification as a school psychologist.
Secondary Education

Department of Educational Studies
Department Chair: Ellen Bigler
Secondary Education Program Faculty: Professors Benziger, Bigler, Carriuolo, Cloud, Cvornyek, Franzblau, La Ferla, McLaughlin Jr., Panofsky, Sidorkin, Sullivan; Associate Professors Bogad, Brell Jr., Christy, Farinella, Johnson, Niska, Özcan, Patterson, Tiskus, Williams; Assistant Professors Andreozzi, August, Cook, Guilbault, Horton, Horwitz, Kraus, Ramirez

Students must consult with their assigned advisor before they will be able to register for courses.

B.A. IN SECONDARY EDUCATION

Undergraduate students planning to teach in the secondary school—grades 7–12—also major in one of the following areas: biology, chemistry, English, general science, history, mathematics, modern languages, physics, or social studies. See course requirements for these majors on the following pages. A teaching concentration in special education may be chosen in addition to one of these majors. See course requirements for the teaching concentration in special education on page 286.

Retention Requirements
1. A minimum cumulative grade point average (GPA) of 2.50 each semester.
2. A minimum grade of B- in all teacher education courses.
3. A satisfactory GPA in the major area.
4. Positive recommendations from all education instructors based on academic work, fieldwork, and professional behavior.

If a student’s GPA falls below the minimum 2.50, or if the required GPA in the major falls below the minimum, the student will be put on probation, which means the student cannot continue to take courses in the professional education sequence until the probationary status is removed. If either the overall GPA or the required GPA in the major falls below the minimum for two consecutive semesters, the student may be suspended or dismissed from the secondary education program.

• PSCI 212, 357
• PHYS 101 or 200
• ONE COURSE from: BIOL 300, 321, 324, 329, 353, 354

(Total Credit Hours: 67)

Also Note: To enroll in SED 411 and 412, students must have completed at least 55 credit hours of required and cognate courses in the major or have the consent of the program advisor. Prior to enrolling in SED 421, students must have completed all requirements in the biology major.
Major in Chemistry
Along with completing required courses in secondary education, students electing a major in chemistry must complete the following courses with a minimum grade point average of 2.50 and a minimum grade of C:

• BIOL 111
• CHEM 103, 104, 205, 206, 310, 403, 404, 405, 406, 407, 408, 491
• MATH 212, 213, 314
• PSCI 212, 357
• PHYS 200 and 201 (In unusual circumstances, PHYS 101 and 102 may be substituted for PHYS 200 and 201, with consent of department chair.)
(Total Credit Hours: 66)

Note: To enroll in SED 411 and 412, students must have completed at least 55 credit hours of required and cognate courses in the major or have the consent of the program advisor. Prior to enrolling in SED 421, students must have completed all requirements in the chemistry major.

Major in English
Along with completing required courses in secondary education, students electing a major in English must complete the following courses with a minimum grade point average of 3.00:

• ENGL 201, 202, 205, 207, 212, 326 (or 327), 336, 345 (or 346), 432 (or 433), 460
• SED 445 (or equivalent)
• ONE COURSE in nonprint media or ENGL 325
(Total Credit Hours: 47)

Note: To enroll in SED 411 and 412, students must have completed ENGL 201 and 202 and a minimum of five additional courses in the major. To enroll in SED 421, students must have completed all but two of the required 300-level English courses and all other all requirements in the English major.

Major in General Science
Along with completing required courses in secondary education, students electing a major in general science must complete the following courses with a minimum grade point average of 2.50 and a minimum grade of C:

• BIOL 111, 112
• CHEM 103, 104
• MATH 209, 212, 240
• PSCI 212, 217, 357
• PHYS 101 and 102 (or PHYS 200 and 201)
• ONE RESEARCH COURSE from: BIOL 491, CHEM 491, PSCI 491
• THREE COURSES at the 300-level or above from the following areas: biology, chemistry, physical science, and physics (two courses must be in the same area)
(Total Credit Hours: 56–59)
Note: To enroll in SED 411 and 412, students must have completed at least 55 credit hours of required and cognate courses in the major or have the consent of the program advisor. Prior to SED 421, students must have completed all requirements in the general science major.

Major in History

Along with completing required courses in secondary education, students electing a major in history must complete the following courses with a minimum grade point average of 2.75:

• HIST 200, 201, 202, 362
• ONE COURSE from U.S. History at the 300-level
• ONE COURSE from Western History I: HIST 300, 301, 302, 303, 304, 305, 306, 307, 311, 312, 315, 318, 352
• ONE COURSE from Western History II: HIST 308, 309, 310, 313, 316, 317, 353
• ONE COURSE from Non-Western History
• TWO ADDITIONAL COURSES from U.S., Western (I or II), or Non-Western History

Note: To enroll in SED 411 and 412, students must have completed at least 24 credit hours of courses in social science/history, including ECON 214, GEOG 400, HIST 201 and 202, and POL 202. Students must have completed HIST 200 and one 300-level course in Non-Western History, Western History, and U.S. History. (General Education courses may be counted to meet this requirement.)

Certification Courses

To be certified to teach history in Rhode Island secondary schools, students must also complete seven of the certification courses listed below. Upon completion, students may be eligible for Rhode Island endorsement to teach economics, geography, political science, and social studies. Students may also be eligible for endorsement to teach anthropology and/or sociology, if they take two of the designated anthropology courses (see below) and/or two of the designated sociology courses (see below). Only one course in these disciplines is required if endorsement in these disciplines is not sought.

• ECON 214, 215
• GEOG 400
• POL 202
• ONE COURSE from: ANTH 101, 205; SOC 200, 202, 208
• ONE COURSE from: GEOG 101, 312, 320, 337, 408
• ONE COURSE from: POL 208, 337, 357, 358

(Total Credit Hours: 54)
Major in Mathematics
Along with completing required courses in secondary education, students electing a major in mathematics must complete the following courses with a minimum grade point average of 2.75:

• CSCI 201
• MATH 212, 213, 240, 300, 314, 315, 324, 418 (or 436), 431, 432, 441, 458
• PHYS 200
(Total Credit Hours: 47)

Note: To enroll in SED 411 and 412, students must have completed the calculus sequence: MATH 212, 213, 314; in addition to MATH 240, 300, 315, 324; and at least concurrent enrollment in MATH 432. Prior to enrollment in SED 421 and 422, students must have completed all requirements in the mathematics major.

Major in Modern Languages
Along with completing required courses in secondary education, students electing a major in modern languages with a concentration in French, Portuguese, or Spanish must complete the following courses with a minimum grade point average of 3.00:

Concentration in French

• TWO COURSES in another foreign language
(Total Credits: 45–48)

Note: To enroll in SED 411 and 412, students must have completed seven of the required courses in the major, including SPAN 201, 202, 310 (or 311), 312 (or 313), 400, and 420.

Minor in Spanish: A minor in Spanish that is specifically tailored to secondary education consists of 20 credit hours, as follows: SPAN 201, 202, 310 (or 311), 312 (or 313), 400, and one additional course in Spanish at the 300-level or above.

Major in Physics
Along with completing required courses in secondary education, students electing a major in physics must complete the following courses with a minimum grade point average of 2.50 and a minimum grade of C:

• BIOL 111
• CHEM 103, 104
• MATH 212, 213, 314, 416
• PSCI 212, 357
• PHYS 200, 201, 307, 311, 312, 313, 401, 403, 407, 413, 491 (for 1 credit)
(Total Credit Hours: 68)

Note: To enroll in SED 411 and 412, students must have completed at least 55 credit hours of required and cognate courses in the major or have the consent of the program advisor. Prior to enrollment in SED 421, students must have completed all requirements in the physics major.

Major in Social Studies
Along with completing required courses in secondary education, students electing a major in social studies must complete the following courses with a minimum grade point average of 2.75 to obtain social studies and history certification:

Core Courses
• ANTH 101, 103
• ECON 214, 215
• GEOG 101, 400
• POL 202, 332
• SOC 208
History Component

- HIST 200 (or an approved social science methods course) with a grade of C or higher
- HIST 201, 202
- HIST 361 (or 362) with a grade of C or higher
- ONE COURSE from: HIST 308, 309, 310, 311, 313, 314
- ONE COURSE from: HIST 340, 341, 342, 344, 345, 346, 347, 348, 349
- (History elective, if needed, to complete 30-credit-hour requirement)

Choose a minor in anthropology, geography, political science, or sociology, or a concentration in interdisciplinary social sciences/global focus:

E. Interdisciplinary Social Sciences/Global Focus
SSCI 310 (or ANTH 319), SSCI 311 (or ANTH 312), and a 300-level social science or non-Western history course chosen with consent of advisor

(Total Credit Hours: 59–64)

Note: To enroll in SED 411 and 412, students must have completed at least 24 credit hours of History Component courses and Core courses listed above, including ECON 214, GEOG 400, HIST 201 and 202, and POL 202.

Teaching Concentration in Special Education

A teaching concentration in special education may be chosen in addition to one of the majors listed above. Students must complete required secondary education courses, required courses in the major, and special education courses. See course requirements for a teaching concentration in special education on page 286.
MIDDLE SCHOOL ENDORSEMENT

The endorsement program in middle school education is for students who wish to teach in a middle school. Students must be enrolled in the secondary education program and must fulfill the following requirements:

2. Complete a student teaching experience at a middle school.
3. Complete the course requirements for a secondary education major in one of the following areas: English (language arts), general science, mathematics, modern languages (French, Portuguese, or Spanish), or social studies.

M.A.T. IN SECONDARY EDUCATION

Admission Requirements

1. A completed application form accompanied by a fifty-dollar nonrefundable application fee.
2. Official transcripts of all undergraduate and graduate records.
3. A minimum cumulative grade point average of 3.00 on a 4.00 scale in undergraduate course work.
4. An official report of scores on the appropriate Praxis II Content Knowledge Test, with a minimum score as established by the Department of Educational Studies.
5. An official report of scores on the Graduate Record Examination as established by the Rhode Island Department of Education.
6. Two Disposition Reference Forms: one from a faculty or supervisor of a child/youth-related activity, and one from a work supervisor.
7. Two Letters of Recommendation: one from a faculty or supervisor of a child/youth-related activity, and one from a work supervisor.
10. An interview with an advisor in the M.A.T. program.
11. A plan of study approved by the advisor and appropriate dean.

Special Education

Department of Special Education
Department Chair: Susan Dell
Professors Antosh, Imber, Kochanek; Associate Professors Dell, Favazza, Lynch; Assistant Professors Dalton, Gunning, Hui, LaCava, McDermott-Fasy

Students must consult with their assigned advisor before they will be able to register for courses.

Students in the Department of Special Education must meet the admission and retention requirements of either the elementary education or secondary education program as well as the admission and retention requirements of the special education program, which may be obtained from the advisor. Once teaching concentration requirements in special education and in either elementary or secondary education are completed, students are eligible for a provisional teaching certificate in special education in Rhode Island.

Application and Admission Requirements
A complete Special Education Admission Portfolio must be submitted to the candidate’s special education advisor. A complete portfolio includes:

1. A completed special education application form.
2. A copy of current transcripts from Rhode Island College and other institutions of higher education attended during the last ten years, documenting a minimum overall grade point average of 2.50 in all college course work, including SPED 300 or equivalent (department chair approval required) with a minimum grade of B-.
3. One reference letter from a professional documenting the extent and quality of the candidate’s experience with individuals with disabilities.
4. A personal statement describing the candidate’s interest in a career teaching students with disabilities. This statement must address all content areas listed under the Content/Purpose section of the Career Commitment Essay Rubric, which is included in these guidelines.
5. A copy of a letter of acceptance to an elementary or a secondary education teacher preparation program.

Retention Requirements

1. A minimum cumulative grade point average of 2.50 at Rhode Island College.
2. Minimum grades in the education curriculum and the academic major, and/or the teaching concentration courses.
3. A minimum grade of B- in all required special education courses.
4. Completion of admission and retention requirements in an elementary or secondary education teacher preparation program.

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS FOR ALL M.ED. IN SPECIAL EDUCATION PROGRAMS

There are five M.Ed. programs in special education: early childhood, exceptional learning needs, initial certification, severe/profound disabilities, and urban multicultural special education. The initial certification program results in licensure as a special education teacher of students with mild to moderate disabilities at either the elementary through middle level or the middle through secondary level.

The early childhood program prepares special education teachers for children with disabilities from birth through kindergarten and for their families. The exceptional learning needs program provides advanced study for special educators with specialization in one of four strands: special education administration, urban multicultural curriculum and instruction, secondary special education, or specialized study in an area of professional interest (i.e., behavioral support). The severe/profound disabilities program provides preparation and special education licensure for teachers of students with severe disabilities. The urban multicultural program provides advanced preparation for special educators who teach English language learners with disabilities.

1. Completion of all admission requirements listed on page 242.
2. Completion of SPED 300: Introduction to the Characteristics and Education of Children and Youth with Disabilities or its equivalent as determined by the advisor.
3. An application essay describing the candidate’s commitment to special education, cultural awareness, collaboration, and lifelong learning.
4. An interview.
5. An M.Ed. in special education with concentration in severe/profound disabilities requires course work in elementary education teaching methodology in reading, language arts, and mathematics.
6. An M.Ed. in special education with concentration in early childhood—birth to kindergarten requires eligibility for Rhode Island certification in early childhood education.
7. An M.Ed. in special education certification requires Rhode Island certification in elementary or secondary education or concurrent enrollment.
8. An M.Ed. in special education with concentration in exceptional learning needs (strands: secondary, administration, specialized study in special education, urban multicultural curriculum and instruction, or urban multicultural special education) requires Rhode Island certification in special education.
9. Candidates seeking ESL endorsement in Rhode Island to teach K–12 are required to complete college-level study of a second language before the time of certification. Courses may include elementary and intermediate grammar and conversation, and culture and civilization.

School of Management—General Information

The School of Management houses three departments: (1) the Department of Accounting and Computer Information Systems, (2) the Department of Economics and Finance, and (3) the Department of Management and Marketing. The school also houses and coordinates the health care administration major.

Writing Requirement

A graded writing assignment is required in every course.

Suggested Sequence of Courses

Majors in the School of Management are designed primarily for upper-division students. Entering students should plan to complete their General Education Core and Distribution Requirements during their first two years. These courses provide excellent and necessary preparation for the major and its requirements.

In the first year, students may not take courses in the departments (except ECON 200, 214, and 215) but are strongly encouraged to complete MATH 177 and 238.

Students entering their second year may enroll in a variety of required courses at the 200-level, including introductory courses in their major.

In the third year, students with junior standing and with 60 credit hours or more may enroll in 300-level courses in the School of Management. Students with 45 credit hours or more may enroll in MGT 301 and MKT 301. At this time, students begin to take courses to fulfill the requirements of their major.

Retention Requirements

1. Satisfactory completion (passing grade) of the College Writing Requirement.
2. A minimum cumulative grade point average of 2.00.
3. Students majoring in accounting, computer information systems, management, and marketing must achieve satisfactory completion of the four General Education Core Requirement courses, 9 credit hours of Distribution Requirement courses, and ACCT 201, 202; CIS 251; ECON 214, 215; ENGL 230; and MATH 177, 238, and 248.
4. Students majoring in health care administration must have a minimum cumulative grade point average of 2.00 in all courses in the major.
The appropriate department within the School of Management, in cooperation with the Records Office, will monitor the standards for all declared majors and notify those students who fail to meet the requirements. The appropriate department within the School of Management will also establish and maintain an Appeals Committee to receive, review, and determine the outcome of petitions by students for retention under extenuating circumstances. Preregistration course reservations will be canceled for any student who has been notified that he or she no longer meets the retention standards.
Accounting

Department of Accounting and Computer Information Systems
Department Chair: David Filipek
Accounting Program Faculty: Professor Schweikart; Associate Professors Filipek, Church, Przybyla; Assistant Professor Haser-Lafond

Students must consult with their assigned advisor before they will be able to register for courses. A graded writing assignment is required in every course.

DEGREE PROGRAMS

SCHOOL OF NURSING
Bachelor of Science in Nursing

JANE WILLIAMS
DEAN, SCHOOL OF NURSING

B.S.N. Undergraduate Program Director: Yolande Lockett
B.S.N. Program Faculty: Professors Byrd, Carty, Padula, Thomas, Williams, Wood; Associate Professors Aflague, Costello, Hetzel, Huntley-Newby, Lockett, Matarese, Newman, Rubotzky; Assistant Professors Blanchette, Blasdell, Coia, Creamer, DeNuccio, Foote, Gremel, Griffin, Mock, Molloy, Morris, Quigley, Records, Ross, Schwager, Servello, Siskind, Smith, Wilks

Application to the School of Nursing
Admission to the School of Nursing is highly competitive. The applicant’s academic performance, indicating potential for success as a nurse, is reviewed and considered carefully in the admission process. The criteria listed below are minimum admission requirements and do not guarantee admission to the nursing program. Students admitted to the college as freshmen are given preference. Transfer and second degree candidates are welcome to apply for a limited number of spaces.

Admission Requirements for All General Declared Nursing Majors
1. Completion of Enrollment Form signed by the faculty advisor and submitted to the School of Nursing by October 15 or April 15 of the preceding semester. Students may apply to the nursing program no more than three times.
2. Completion of the College Mathematics and Writing Requirements.
3. A minimum cumulative grade point average of 3.00 on a 4.00 scale.
4. Completion of BIOL 231, CHEM 106, and PSYC 230, with a minimum grade of C; and a minimum overall grade point average of 2.67 (B-) in these courses.

Admission Requirements for RN Students
1. Admission to Rhode Island College and declaration of nursing as the major.
2. Completion of Enrollment Form signed by the faculty advisor and submitted to the School of Nursing by October 15 or April 15 of the semester prior to senior nursing course work.
3. Completion of NURS 207, with a minimum grade of C.
4. Completion of the College Mathematics and Writing Requirements.
5. A minimum cumulative grade point average of 2.50.
Admission Requirements for Lateral Transfer Students
Students within the Rhode Island College community who desire a change of major to nursing must complete a Change of Major Form found in the School of Nursing office.

Admission Requirements for Transfer Students
Transfer students accepted into the college will need to file an Enrollment Form and will need to meet the same requirements as all general declared nursing majors. Nursing students transferring from other nursing programs are required to forward a letter of recommendation from the head of the previous program.

Admission Requirements for Second Degree Candidates
Second degree candidates admitted to Rhode Island College must apply through the college’s Office of Undergraduate Admissions. A plan of study is then formulated with the department chair. Acceptance as a second degree student does not guarantee admission to the School of Nursing. The student should contact their nursing advisor regarding eligibility to make formal application to the school. Second degree candidates may petition to take the four beginning-level courses (NURS 220, 222, 223, and 224) in one semester on a space-available basis.

Retention Requirements for All General Declared Nursing Majors
1. Completion of required prerequisite courses (cognate and nursing courses).
2. Completion of cognates before the junior year.
3. A minimum grade of C in each nursing course. Only one nursing course may be repeated. Students who sustain another failure (a grade below a C) in any nursing course will be dismissed from the program.
4. A minimum grade of C in each cognate course. Students with a grade of C- or below in a cognate course will have the option to progress in nursing (probationary status) for one semester while repeating the course in question.

Retention Requirements for RN Students
A minimum grade of C in each nursing course. Only one nursing course may be repeated. Students who sustain another failure (a grade below a C) in any nursing course will be dismissed from the program. The School of Nursing will notify students who have not met the retention criteria. The faculty of the School of Nursing reserves the right to require withdrawal or dismissal of a student who shows evidence, academically or personally, of an inability to carry out professional responsibilities in nursing. Students are expected to adhere to the School of Nursing code of academic honesty. Students have the right to appeal through the Student Outcomes Committee and the dean of the School of Nursing.

Health Requirements
Every year students must provide health services with evidence of a negative PPD test or compliance with treatment. Before beginning some clinical nursing courses, students may be expected to meet additional health requirements. All nursing students must provide the following documentation:
1. A physical examination.
2. Two measles immunizations.
3. One rubella (German measles) immunization.
4. One mumps immunization.
5. One dose of tetanus/diphtheria/pertussis (Tdap) if it has been two or more years since last dose of tetanus/diphtheria (Td).
6. Hepatitis B vaccine (a series of three immunizations over a six-month period).
7. Two-step PPD (TB skin testing) within one year of starting clinical rotation.
8. Proof of chicken pox disease or immunization.
9. Influenza vaccine or declination form

Students will not be admitted to the first class meeting of a nursing practicum course without having complied with the health requirements. Proof of immunization may be obtained from your physician, high school, previous college or university, military record, and/or from blood titers.

Nursing majors should follow the guidelines on the college immunization form or call College Health Services at 456-8055 for further information. Once all required information is complete, students may pick up their laminated identification cards at College Health Services.

Clinical Placements
Clinical learning provides students with the opportunity to carry out nursing care for persons of all ages and in all stages of the health-illness spectrum. The School of Nursing retains the right to place and schedule students in appropriate clinical settings. Although every effort will be made to place all students, it is possible that in any given semester sufficient placements may not be available. Students in clinical courses are responsible for their own transportation to the clinical area. Affiliating agencies require students to consent to criminal background checks; therefore, students must have periodic Background Criminal Investigation (BCI) checks.

Licensure
Graduates of the nursing program are eligible to take NCLEX-RN for licensure as a registered nurse in any state. An applicant who has been convicted of a felony may not be awarded a license by the Rhode Island Board of Nurse Registration and Nursing Education. For more information, contact the dean of the School of Nursing.

Nursing Fee
The School of Nursing contracts with Assessment Technologies Institute, LLC to provide students with a comprehensive testing and review package, which enhances the program. Nursing students are billed by the college each semester for these services.
Handbook

The School of Nursing Handbook for Undergraduate Students in Nursing provides detailed and essential information about the undergraduate nursing program. It is available online at www.ric.edu/nursing.

Students must consult with their advisor each semester before registering for courses.

M.S.N. Program Faculty: Professors Byrd, Carty, Padula, Thomas, Williams, Wood; Associate Professors Aflague, Costello, Hetzel, Huntley-Newby, Lockett, Matarese, Newman, Rubotzky; Assistant Professors Blanchette, Bisdell, Coia, Creamer, DeNuccio, Foote, Gremel, Griffin, Mock, Molloy, Morris, Quigley, Records, Ross, Schwager, Servello, Siskind, Smith, Wilks

Admission Requirements
1. A completed application form accompanied by a fifty-dollar nonrefundable application fee.
2. A baccalaureate degree in an upper-division nursing major from an NLNAC or CCNE accredited program.
3. Official transcripts of all undergraduate and graduate records.
4. Completion of a course in statistics (MATH 240 or its equivalent), with a minimum grade of C.
5. A minimum cumulative grade point average of 3.00 on a 4.00 scale in undergraduate course work. Provisional acceptance is occasionally granted to students with a cumulative grade point average of less than 3.00. Students who are provisionally admitted must achieve a minimum grade of B in three required nursing courses to qualify for full admission.
6. An official report of scores on the Graduate Record Examination (GRE) or the Millers Analogies Test (MAT).
7. An official report of scores on the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) from international applicants who are from countries where English is not the first language.
8. Current unrestricted licensure for the practice of nursing in Rhode Island.
9. A professional résumé.
10. Three professional references (one from the clinical area).
11. A brief letter of intent, which includes a statement of goals.
13. An interview may be required.

Retention Requirement
Students who achieve less than a B in a required nursing course will be placed on probationary status and must achieve a minimum grade of B in all required nursing courses over the next 9 credits.

DEGREE PROGRAMS

SCHOOL OF SOCIAL WORK
Bachelor of Social Work

ROBERTA PEARLMUTTER
DEAN, SCHOOL OF SOCIAL WORK

B.S.W. Program Chair: Scott Mueller
B.S.W. Program Faculty: Professors Bates, Weisman; Associate Professors Becker, Martell; Assistant Professor Mueller

The B.S.W. program is accredited by the Council on Social Work Education.

Admission Requirements
1. Enrollment in SWRK 326.
2. A completed application form during the first semester of the junior year, prior to enrolling in SWRK 327.
3. A minimum grade point average (GPA) of 2.00 on a 4.00 scale in undergraduate course work, and a minimum GPA of 2.67 in 300-level social work courses.
4. Evidence of personal qualities considered essential to professional social work practice, such as responsiveness and sensitivity in relationships, values compatible with the values of the social work profession, the ability to understand and carry out the ethical obligations of a social worker, commitment to improving social conditions, and the ability to function collectively with others.

Transfer students must also comply with these requirements. Specific information about application procedures may be obtained from assigned student advisors, the chair of the B.S.W. department, or his/her designee.

Retention Requirements
1. A minimum grade point average (GPA) of 2.00 on a 4.00 scale in undergraduate course work, and a minimum GPA of 2.67 in all 300-level social work courses. No student will be allowed to enter a senior year field placement (SWRK 436) if their GPA falls below these standards.
2. Students who receive a grade of C- or below in any required social work course must retake that course and receive at least a grade of C in order to proceed in the major. Students who receive a C- or below twice in the same course will be dismissed from the major. For additional information, see the School of Social Work B.S.W. Academic Manual available at the B.S.W. Office or on the School of Social Work Web site: www.ric.edu/socialwork/bswprogram.php.
3. Students who receive an F in any required social work course or a C- or below in any two required social work courses will be dismissed from the major. A copy of the Bachelor of Social Work Academic Standing Policy, including appeal procedures, is distributed to students in the department and is available on the School of Social Work Web site: www.ric.edu/socialwork/bswprogram.php.
Fieldwork

Social work majors enroll in fieldwork in both the junior and senior years. The first B.S.W. fieldwork experience takes place during the spring semester of the junior year. In the senior year, students may fulfill their 480-hour field requirement in one of the following ways:

1. Students may take SWRK 436 in the fall semester (minimum of 4 credit hours) and SWRK 437 in the spring semester (minimum of 4 credit hours). Credits are calculated on the basis of 4 hours per week for each credit hour; hence, students are in the field for 16 hours per week over the two semesters (total 480 hours).

2. Students may take the “extended field option”: SWRK 445 in the summer (120 hours of fieldwork plus 16 hours of seminar, for 3 credit hours), SWRK 446 in the fall semester (180 hours of fieldwork at 12 hours per week for 3 credit hours), and SWRK 447 in the spring semester (180 hours of fieldwork at 12 hours per week for 3 credit hours).

3. Students may take the “extended field option”: SWRK 445, 446, and 447 at the discretion of the department.

Honors

A Departmental Honors program is offered in social work. See the chapter titled Honors and Awards in the General Information—Undergraduate section of this catalog.

Master of Social Work

ROBERTA PEARLMUTTER
DEAN, SCHOOL OF SOCIAL WORK

M.S.W. Program Chair: Jayashree Nimmagadda
M.S.W. Program Faculty: Professors Evans, Mumm, Nimmagadda, Olsen, Pearlmutter, Reamer, Siegel; Associate Professor Ghindia; Assistant Professors Gushwa, Harvey, Majewski, Meade

The M.S.W. program is accredited by the Council on Social Work Education.

Admission Requirements

Admission to the Master of Social Work program is on a selective basis and is determined by the quality of the total application. Certain admission requirements may be waived under special circumstances if the applicant demonstrates sufficient cause.

1. Baccalaureate degree from a regionally accredited institution of higher education. Students who have completed all but their last semester of baccalaureate work may also apply; however, their degree must be granted by August 15.
2. Evidence of the intellectual capacity to participate successfully in academic work at the graduate level. A diverse academic background with a liberal arts perspective that includes course work in the human biological sciences, humanities, mathematics, and social sciences. Specifically, an applicant is required to have
   a. A minimum grade point average of 3.00 on a 4.00 scale in undergraduate work;
   b. At least 15 credit hours drawn from course work in anthropology, economics, political science, psychology, and sociology;
   c. Course work in human anatomy, human biology, or human physiology (the CLEP Examination is not sufficient); and
   d. Course content in the humanities (English, language, philosophy, visual and performing arts, and Western and non-Western history.
3. Evidence of a combination of personal qualities considered essential to professional social work practice, such as responsiveness and sensitivity in relationships, commitment to improving social conditions, and the ability to function both independently and collectively with others.
4. A commitment to social work as a profession based in part on personal experience in the field. This experience may have been attained in a variety of ways, such as through volunteer work, fieldwork experience in conjunction with course work, life experiences, etc.
Admission Procedures

Application materials may be downloaded from the School of Social Work Web site: www.ric.edu/socialwork/mswprogram.php. The deadline for admission is February 1.

1. A completed application form accompanied by a nonrefundable fifty-dollar application fee payable to Rhode Island College.
2. Official transcripts. It is the responsibility of the applicant to request official transcripts from all undergraduate and graduate programs previously attended, including community colleges, and have them sent directly to the School of Social Work. Even if the student transferred into RIC or into another college, transcripts must be requested from the previous college. The School of Social Work will obtain official transcripts for all work completed at Rhode Island College.
3. Three letters of recommendation. More than three required recommendations may be provided if the applicant wishes. Applicants must provide referees with the proper guidelines for completing letters of recommendation. (Guidelines are included with the application.) Advanced standing applicants must submit a fourth recommendation on a form included with the M.S.W. application package.
4. A personal statement. Typically six to eight double-spaced typewritten pages, the personal statement will aid the Admission Committee in assessing the applicant’s qualifications for professional social work practice. Among these qualifications are: the ability to think analytically and conceptually; clarity in self-expression; responsiveness and sensitivity in minority and culturally diverse relationships; the ability to develop professional self-awareness and self-evaluation; commitment to improving social conditions; and the ability to function creatively, responsibly, and independently.

Admission Decision

Notice of acceptance will occur by April 15 for study beginning the following September. There are no midyear admissions. Within two weeks of receiving notification, accepted applicants must confirm in writing their intention to enroll in the program. Confirmation of acceptance should be addressed to the M.S.W. Department, School of Social Work. Upon accepting a place in the full-time, part-time, or advanced standing program (full or part time), the student is required to provide a nonrefundable one hundred dollar deposit, which will be applied against tuition charges for the first semester. Admitted applicants should also inform the program of any change of address.

Health Requirements

After being accepted, candidates are provided with an Admission Physical Examination Form, which must be completed and signed by a physician and returned directly to College Health Services before the candidate enrolls. As required by Rhode Island state law, all new entering students must present to College Health Services a certificate signed by a physician, attesting to their immunity to measles and rubella (German measles).
Advanced Standing Program

Preference in admission to advanced standing is given to students who have completed a B.S.W. during the last five years from a program accredited by the Council on Social Work Education. All students accepted into this program are expected to enroll in and successfully complete an online summer preparatory course. Advanced standing students should expect to pay $375 to participate in this class.

Applicants who obtained a B.S.W. degree more than five years prior to their application year can still apply to the Advanced Standing Program; however, they will be granted conditional admission and must successfully complete the summer preparatory course.

Students who are granted admission to advanced standing are exempt from the foundation year, pending completion of comparable course work. Students in the program must complete 32 credit hours and may do so in one or two years.

Student Advisement

Shortly after initial registration, a member of the faculty is appointed as the student’s advisor. Thereafter, students plan their program in consultation with the advisor. Advisors assist students in developing their learning goals and objectives and in assessing their progress toward those objectives. Students are encouraged to confer with their advisors. Early in the first semester, prior to going into the concentration year(s), students in the full-time program will meet with their advisor and develop a plan of study, listing the required courses in the concentration and electives. Students must have an approved plan of study in order to proceed into the concentration year. Additional academic aids are available through College resources and/or special programs.

Grade Requirements

All students must have a minimum grade point average (GPA) of 3.00 at the end of the first year and an evaluation of Satisfactory or better in field education. Students who do not have the minimum 3.00 GPA may not continue in the program. No course in which the student earns a grade below a C may be accepted for M.S.W. credit.

Full-Time Program

To achieve full-time status in either year, a student must register for field instruction and at least three courses each semester. Students who are admitted full time are expected to complete the program in two years. This would require that students register for 15 credits in their first semester, 14 credits in their second, 17.5 credits in their third, and 14.5 credits in their fourth. Students are encouraged to take at least one summer or early spring course to ease the third semester workload.
Part-Time Program

Applicants who intend to retain full-time employment while attending the M.S.W. program or who have significant responsibilities in other areas should apply to the part-time program. Admission requirements and procedures are the same as those for full-time study. Part-time students are normally expected to take a minimum of two courses during the academic year. A field placement will occur in a public or private nonprofit agency after the completion of 11 credit hours of course work. Degree requirements must be met within four years. At the discretion of the M.S.W. chair, students may switch from part-time to full-time study after completing the foundation year on a part-time basis.

Fieldwork

All students, except those in the advanced standing program, are required to complete SWRK 500 (240 hours), 501 (240 hours), 600 (300 hours), and 601 (300 hours) for a total of 1,080 hours. For full-time and part-time students, this is accomplished over two academic years. Students in the advanced standing program complete SWRK 600 (300 hours) and 601 (300 hours) for a total of 600 hours.

All students must take the first-year placement concurrently with SWRK 532 and 533. It is possible to do one year of fieldwork in the student’s place of employment, provided that the placement meets all the criteria for supervision and placement settings. Plans to do a placement in a student’s place of employment need to be discussed with and approved by the director of field education. For all continuing students, this approval must be obtained no later than April 1 for field placements to begin in September. For all incoming full-time students, this approval must be obtained no later than July 1 for placements to begin in September.

Graduate Fees (2010–2011)

The fees described below are projected for the 2010–2011 academic year and are subject to change in the academic year 2011–2012. Because of rising costs, the Board of Governors for Higher Education reserves the right to change fees without notice as conditions necessitate.

Course Descriptions—General Information

Course Numbering System

Courses Numbered 000–009 = noncredit courses.

Courses Numbered 100–199 = introductory and General Education courses normally taken during the freshman and sophomore years.

Courses Numbered 200–299 = other lower-division courses and General Education courses.

Courses Numbered 300–399 = courses taken by undergraduate students who have met the prerequisite(s); not accepted for credit toward graduate degrees.

Courses Numbered 400–499 = courses normally taken in the junior and senior years; open to graduate students for credit toward graduate degrees. The number of credits acceptable in a graduate program is limited by graduate program policies.

Courses Numbered 500–599 = courses open to graduate students. Normally these courses require a bachelor’s degree as a prerequisite. In certain circumstances, qualified undergraduate students who have earned at least 90 credit hours may be admitted, with documented consent of the instructor and the appropriate dean.

Courses Numbered 600–699 = courses open to graduate and doctoral students only.

Courses Numbered 700–799 = courses open to graduate and doctoral students only.

In general, when the middle digit of a course number is 6, the course is a seminar or a General Education Core course; 8, a workshop; 9, directed study.

Courses with Variable Content

Most departments offer a variety of topic courses (X50), seminar courses (X60), and workshop courses (X80), for which the content and credit hours are announced each semester. Departments may offer independent study courses (X9Y). The level of study, for example, 19Y, 29Y, 39Y, etc., will depend on what is appropriate in terms of the project and the student. These courses may be repeated for credit with a change in content.
Contact Hours

A number in parentheses appearing before the credit hours for a course indicates that the number of “contact hours” per week—time required in class, studio, or laboratory—differs from the number of credit hours.

Credit Hours

The number of “credit hours” specified for each course indicates both the number of credits it carries and the approximate total number of clock hours it meets each week.

Frequency of Course Offerings

Listed with each course description is the normal frequency with which the course is offered. For example, a course that is typically offered every fall semester carries the notation “Offered fall.” For complete and current information on course offerings, including dates, times, locations, and instructors, students are advised to consult both the Summer/Fall and Spring Course Bulletins.

3 credit hours. Prerequisite: any 100- or 200-level course in a social science. Offered as needed.

ANTH 304: Human Paleontology
Alternative models of human evolution from the earliest primates to the development of Homo sapiens are considered in light of both physical and cultural data.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: ANTH 103 or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

ANTH 305: Exploring Ethnographic Film
A broad perspective is given on the ethnographic category of documentary film. Students cannot receive credit for both ANTH 305 and FILM 305.
4 credit hours. Offered as needed.

ANTH 306: Primate Ecology and Social Behavior
Captive and field studies are examined to illustrate common features of nonhuman primates. Topics include biological and social adaptations, such as diet, communication, dominance hierarchies, social learning, and cognition.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: ANTH 103 or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.
ANTH 308: Cross-Cultural Studies of Aging
Human maturation, aging, and death are studied using cross-cultural research.
3 credit hours. Offered as needed.

ANTH 309: Medical Anthropology
Anthropological approaches and results in the study of health and illness are surveyed as social, cultural, and biological phenomena.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: ANTH 101 and 103, or consent of department chair. Offered spring.

ANTH 311–314: Regional Studies in Archaeology
The archaeological evidence for the development of cultures in selected world areas is surveyed. Regions include:
311 North America
312 Latin America
313 Europe
314 Other regions (may be repeated with a change in topic)
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: ANTH 102 or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

ANTH 319–327: Regional Studies in Cultural Anthropology
Selected societies of a major world area are examined as they relate to anthropological concerns and contribute to an understanding of the similarities and variations in cultures and societies. Regions include:
319 Africa
322 Caribbean
325 South American Indians
327 Other regions (may be repeated with a change in topic)
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: ANTH 101 or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

ANTH 332: Applied Anthropology
Students explore the history, evolution, methods, objectives, and applications of the practical involvement of anthropology in understanding and solving human problems.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: ANTH 101 or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

ANTH 336: State and Society in the Third World
The origins of preindustrial non-Western states are examined as issues of power, class, statecraft, and empire. Students cannot receive credit for both ANTH 336 and POL 336.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: any 100- or 200-level anthropology or political science course, or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

ANTH 337: Anthropological Approaches to Religion
The content, structure, concepts, and functions of religion are studied, with emphasis on relationships to other aspects of culture and society.
3 credit hours. Offered as needed.

ANTH 338: Urban Anthropology
Western and non-Western traditions in urbanization are compared and contrasted. Cross-cultural comparisons are emphasized.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: ANTH 101 or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

ANTH 339: Culture Change
This is a study of societal change, conflicts, and accommodations caused by the contact of differing cultures.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: ANTH 101 or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

ANTH 340: Social Organization
Theories of social organization, the interrelations of social institutions, and current anthropological methods of interpretation and analysis of social systems are examined.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: ANTH 101 or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

(8) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: 60 earned credits and any course in a social or behavioral science, or consent of department chair. Offered summer.
ANTH 401: Issues in Anthropological Theory
Theoretical perspectives in anthropology are critically examined in the context of anthropology’s holistic view of humanity in its cultural, physical, linguistic, and archaeological-historical aspects.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: ANTH 101 or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

ANTH 410: Language and Culture
The interrelationships between language and other aspects of culture are examined as they illuminate anthropological issues and theories.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: 60 earned credits and ANTH 104 or COMM 355, or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

ANTH 418: Cultural Pluralism
The nature of cultural pluralism in American society are examined. Issues of identity, race, ethnicity, and class are explored. Students may receive credit for only one of the following: ANTH 418, SSCI 418, or SSCI 518.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: 6 credit hours in any of the social sciences disciplines or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

ANTH 424: North American Indians
Selected societies of Native North America are examined as they relate to anthropological concerns and contribute to an understanding of the similarities and variations in cultures of the region.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: 60 earned credits and any course in a social or behavioral science, or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

ANTH 433: Research Methods in Cultural Anthropology
The theory and practice of anthropological research are examined. Topics include epistemology, causality, hypothesis formation and testing, participant observation, questionnaire development, interviews, and cross-cultural comparisons.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: 60 earned credits and ANTH 101, or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

ANTH 460: Seminar in Anthropology
Anthropological concepts and theory are examined within a holistic framework. Students conduct research and complete a senior paper. Required of majors.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: senior standing and ANTH 101, 102, 103, 104. Offered fall.

ANTH 461: Latinos in the United States
The experiences and perspectives of Latinos in the United States are examined. Students may receive credit for only one of the following: ANTH 461, SED 461, or SSCI 461.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: 60 earned credits and any course in a social or behavioral science, or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

ANTH 470: Reading Course in Anthropology
Directed reading is given in an anthropological area of interest to the student and the instructor.
1–4 credit hours. Prerequisite: 75 earned credits and consent of advisor, department chair, and instructor with whom student plans to study. Offered as needed.

ANTH 489: Field School in Archaeology
Local archaeological surveys and/or excavations are undertaken.
3–6 credit hours. Prerequisite: 75 earned credits and consent of department chair. Offered summer.

ANTH 490: Directed Study in Anthropology
Students select a topic and undertake concentrated research under the supervision of a faculty advisor.
1–4 credit hours. Prerequisite: 90 earned credits and consent of dean, department chair, and instructor with whom student plans to study. Offered as needed.

ANTH 495: Internships in Anthropology
Students are placed in positions appropriate to their studies in anthropology, such as in museums and historical preservation agencies. A program of study is designed by the student and supervised by a faculty member.
3–12 credit hours. Prerequisite: 90 earned credits and written application containing program of study, identifying objectives, outcomes, timing, and review procedures, which must be approved by advisor, department chair, and department faculty. Offered as needed.

ANTH 561: Latinos in the United States
Students examine recent scholarship on Latinos in the United States and undertake research projects that focus on Latino educational issues. Students may receive credit for only one of the following: ANTH 561, FNED 561, or SSCI 561.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status and any 300-level social or behavioral science course, or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.
Arabic (ARBC)

ARBC 101: Elementary Arabic I
Students learn to understand, speak, read, and write in basic Modern Standard Arabic and gain an understanding of the diversity of Arabic life.
4 credit hours. Offered fall.

ARBC 102: Elementary Arabic II
Four skills in Modern Standard Arabic: speaking, reading, writing, and listening comprehension are further developed within the context of Arabic-speaking cultures.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: ARBC 101 or equivalent. Offered spring.

Art (ART)

ART 101: Drawing I: General Drawing
The fundamentals and history of freehand drawing are explored. Observational analysis of forms and space, media characteristics, and pictorial organization approaches are stressed. Studio.
(6) 3 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Category A. Offered fall and spring.

ART 104: Design I: Two-Dimensional Design
Two-dimensional compositional strategies are applied through intuitive and logical organization of visual elements. Students also develop basic problem-solving skills while learning to think visually. Studio.
(6) 3 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Category A. Offered fall and spring.

ART 105: Drawing II
Drawing from the human figure is introduced, including basic anatomy, general nomenclature, and consideration of various artistic problems. Students work from live models, the skeleton, and anatomy texts. Studio.
(6) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: ART 101. Offered fall and spring.

ART 114: Design II: Three-Dimensional Design
The sequential development of planar and volumetric forms in real space provide the basis for study of visual structure. The role that media, process, and problem solving have in the development of form are also covered. Studio.
(6) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: ART 104. Offered fall and spring.

ART 162: Perspectives on Asian Art
The visual arts of India, China, and Japan are introduced in their historical and cultural contexts. Students view East Asian art as an expressive cultural practice. Students cannot receive credit for both ART 162 and ART 230.
4 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Core 3. Offered fall.

ART 201: Visual Arts in Society
Fine arts and crafts from various periods are introduced along with hands-on studio experience to foster visual understanding. Art forms are studied within the context of society. For nonart majors only. Lecture and studio.
(4) 3 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Category A. Offered fall and spring.

ART 202: Painting I
The techniques of oil painting are introduced. Color, value, line, form, texture, and compositional problems are explored by observing objects and nature. Studio.
(6) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: Concurrent enrollment in or completion of ART 204 or 205. Offered fall and spring.

ART 204: Synthesis/Three-Dimensional Emphasis
Using drawing and three-dimensional techniques, a synthesis of the skills and concepts developed in the previous four foundation courses is realized. The interaction of two- and three-dimensional approaches is stressed. Studio.
(6) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: ART 105 and 114. Offered fall and spring.

ART 205: Synthesis/Two-Dimensional Emphasis
Emphasis is on the synthesis of basic drawing language and fundamental design skills. Extended possibilities for the manipulation of materials and the conceptual aspects of image construction are stressed. Includes slide portfolio lab. Studio.
(6) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: ART 105 and 114. Offered fall and spring.

ART 206: Ceramics I
Basic hand-building methods and simple direct decoration techniques are introduced. Students explore clay, glaze materials, and firing procedures at earthenware temperatures. Studio.
(6) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: Concurrent enrollment in or completion of ART 204 or 205 is prerequisite for art department majors. Nonart department majors must have consent of department chair. Offered fall and spring.
ART 208: Printmaking: Intaglio and Monotype
The materials and techniques of monotype and intaglio printmaking are introduced, with emphasis on the aesthetic and conceptual possibilities of various approaches. Studio. (6) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: Concurrent enrollment in or completion of ART 204 or 205. Offered spring.

ART 217: Introduction to Photography
Emphasis is on the expressive potential of the medium through the creative use of theory, camera controls, and darkroom procedures. Print quality is stressed. Studio. (6) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: Concurrent enrollment in or completion of ART 204 or 205 is prerequisite for art department majors. Nonart department majors must have consent of department chair. Offered fall and spring.

ART 218: Printmaking: Lithography and Relief
The materials and techniques of relief and lithographic printmaking are introduced, with emphasis on the aesthetic and conceptual possibilities of various approaches. Studio. (6) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: Concurrent enrollment in or completion of ART 204 or 205. Offered fall.

ART 221: Metalsmithing and Jewelry: Basic Fabrication/Forming
Fabrication and forming processes are studied, with emphasis on the development of design concepts and skills in their application to the studio practice of metalsmithing and jewelry. Studio. (Formerly Metal I.) (6) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: Concurrent enrollment in or completion of ART 204 or 205, or consent of department chair. Offered fall and spring.

ART 223: Metalsmithing and Jewelry: Casting/Duplication Processes
Casting and its application in the design and production of jewelry and small art metal forms are studied using a variety of waxes and techniques to develop models. Studio. (6) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: Concurrent enrollment in or completion of ART 204 or 205, or consent of department chair. Offered fall and spring.

ART 224: Graphic Design I
Students research concept, preliminary forms, analysis, and basic studio and computer skills. Included are conceptual and visual problem-solving and graphic design theory related to creative organization of space using typography and image. Studio. (6) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: Concurrent enrollment in or completion of ART 204 or 205 is prerequisite for art department majors. Nonart department majors must have consent of department chair. Offered fall and spring.

ART 225: Figurative Modeling
Elements that emphasize three-dimensional aspects of the figure and the development of figurative concepts are realized through modeling and drawing. Studio. (6) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: ART 105. Offered fall.

ART 226: Pixel-Based Digital Design
Technical and aesthetic aspects of digital art are studied, including photographic imagery, Web graphics, creative expression, design, conceptual development, and visual thinking. Studio. (6) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: ART 101 and 104. Offered fall.

ART 227: Vector-Based Digital Design
Technical and aesthetic aspects of digital art are studied, including typography and graphics, creative expression, information design, conceptual development, and visual thinking. Studio. (6) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: ART 101 and 104. Offered spring.

ART 230: A Survey of Far Eastern Art
The painting, architecture, sculpture, and minor arts of India, China, Korea, Japan, and Southeast Asia are introduced. Lecture. Students cannot receive credit for both ART 162 and ART 230. (3 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Category A. Offered as needed.

ART 231: Prehistoric to Renaissance Art
The fundamental concepts and functions of the history of art, visual analysis, and interpretation are introduced. Focus is on the painting, sculpture, and architecture of early Europe and the Near East. Lecture. (3 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Category A. Offered fall, spring, summer.)
ART 232: Renaissance to Modern Art
Focusing on European painting, sculpture, architecture, and the minor arts of the past 500 years, the basic aims of ART 231 are developed further. Lecture.
3 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Category A. Offered fall, spring, summer.

ART 234: Sculpture: Wood and Alternate Materials
Students explore a variety of subject matter and develop a personalized vision using wood fabrication skills introduced in class. Plastics, assemblage, and student-selected alternate materials are also explored. Studio.
(6) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: Concurrent enrollment in or completion of ART 204 or 205. Offered spring.

ART 235: Sculpture: Metal Casting and Fabrication
Traditional and contemporary approaches to sculptural form are explored using metal-working techniques, including welding, cold fabrication, forging, and casting. Studio.
(6) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: Concurrent enrollment in or completion of ART 204 or 205. Offered fall.

ART 262: Picturing Ourselves: The Art of Japan and the West
Selected visual images from Edo Japan and the West are introduced and critical comparative studies made of social relations depicted in those images.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: Gen. Ed. Core 1, 2, and 3. Fulfills Gen. Ed. Core 4. Offered fall.

ART 302: Painting II
Focusing on the figure, this course continues the development of concepts begun in ART 202. Students are encouraged to explore individual concepts, with emphasis on style, technique, and materials. Studio.
(6) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: ART 202. Offered fall and spring.

ART 306: Ceramics II
Emphasis is on the use of the potter’s wheel and on firing at stoneware temperatures. Stress is on developing greater sensitivity to clay and glazes, experimentation, and skill. Studio.
(6) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: ART 206 is prerequisite for art department majors. Nonart department majors must have consent of department chair. Offered fall and spring.

ART 324: Graphic Design II
Students investigate conceptual and visual problem solving through expanded graphic design projects. Emphasis is on the development of ideas, the manipulation of typography, image, and graphic design principles. Studio.
(6) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: ART 224. Offered fall and spring.

ART 331: Greek and Roman Art
Greek and Roman art from the tenth century B.C. to the fourth century A.D. are studied. Focus is on the differing character and functions of this art and on its importance for the development of Western art. Lecture.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: ART 231 and 232. Offered spring.

ART 332: Renaissance Art
Focusing on the concept of the Renaissance from the fourteenth to the sixteenth centuries, this course surveys developments in painting, sculpture, and architecture in major European centers. Lecture.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: ART 231 and 232. Offered fall.

ART 333: Baroque Art
Beginning with changes occurring in Rome around 1600, this course surveys seventeenth-century European art, with emphasis on Italian art. Lecture.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: ART 231 and 232. Offered spring.

ART 334: American Art and Architecture
Painting, sculpture, and architecture from colonial times to the Armory Show of 1913 are examined, with particular attention given to problems of indigenous tradition. Lecture.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: ART 231 and 232. Offered fall.

ART 336: Nineteenth-Century European Art
Beginning with the manifestation of romanticism and neoclassicism in late eighteenth-century European art, this course then follows the nineteenth-century developments of realism, naturalism, and symbolism. Lecture.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: ART 231 and 232. Offered fall.

ART 337: Twentieth-Century Art
The development of modernism, dada, and surrealism in European centers, and American post-World War II and contemporary trends are traced through painting and sculpture. Lecture.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: ART 231 and 232. Offered spring.
ART 338: History of Photography
Focus is on the origin and aesthetic evolution of fine art photography. Movements in theory and criticism relevant to photography are explored in relation to parallel developments in other visual arts. Lecture.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: ART 231 and 232, or consent of instructor. Offered spring.

ART 347: Photography II
Focus is on advanced photographic theory, philosophy, and technique. Students are expected to develop a portfolio theme through mature sensitivity in handling the medium. Studio.
(6) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: ART 217. Offered fall and spring.

ART 400: Issues for the Studio Artist
Studio art majors engage in issues pertinent to their roles as professional visual artists, including the articulation of personal vision, the influences of social and formal issues, and the role of galleries, museums, and educational institutions.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: ART 231, 232, and all foundations courses required of B.F.A. majors. Offered fall.

ART 460: Seminar in the Visual Arts
Various historical and theoretical topics in the visual arts are explored. Lecture.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: consent of instructor. Offered as needed.

ART 461: Seminar in Art History
Through readings, discussions, and papers on selected topics, students explore specific problems in art history, including interpretation and methodology. This course may be repeated for credit with a change in content. Lecture.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: advanced class standing and consent of instructor. Offered fall and spring.

ART 490: Problems in the Visual Arts
Students select, with approval, a specific area and medium for advanced investigation. Evidence of performance is presented in completed art work. A 6-credit-hour maximum for any single area of study. Studio.
1–6 credit hours. Prerequisite: completion of most advanced courses offered in area of study, upper-class standing, and consent of instructor and department chair. Offered as needed.

ART 491: Studio III: Topic
Students explore advanced involvement in specific studio concentrations, with emphasis on development of a personal direction. A professional attitude of self-regulation in developing ideas and executing work is expected. Studio.
(2–12) 1–6 credit hours. Prerequisite: all 200- and 300-level courses in the topic area or consent of instructor. Offered fall and spring.

ART 492: Studio IV: Topic
A continuation of advanced studio studies, this course continues the in-depth development of a personal direction. Studio.
(2–12) 1–6 credit hours. Prerequisite: ART 491 and consent of instructor. Offered fall and spring.

ART 493: Reading and Research in Art History
Working individually with the instructor, the student continues the exploration of Greek and Roman art, Renaissance art, baroque art, American art, or modern art.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: lecture course in respective area and consent of instructor. Offered as needed.

ART 497: Senior Studio
This final course in advanced studio culminates in an exhibition. In-depth exploration, conceptual inquiry, and articulation skills are promoted in relation to each student’s personal direction. Studio.
(6) 1–6 credit hours. Prerequisite: ART 492 and consent of instructor. Offered fall and spring.

ART 510: CADD
Objects and space are designed electronically using 3-D software. Simple and complex objects are also placed in appropriate environments. Software, such as Photoshop and Illustrator, are used.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: admission to the M.F.A. in theatre program or consent of department chair. Offered spring.

ART 560: Graduate Seminar in the Visual Arts
Focus is on current issues concerning philosophical, historical, and aesthetic problems in art. Structural concepts, relevant methods of inquiry, social and formal issues, and articulation of personal vision are examined.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: consent of department chair. Offered spring.
ART 590: Directed Graduate Study
Students conduct independent research and/or studio exploration in the visual arts under the supervision of a faculty member.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: consent of department chair. Open to candidates in the master’s programs in art. Offered as needed.

ART 594: Graduate Studio: Topic
A professional level of work is required in both technique and attitude in this advanced study in the topic area. This course concludes with an Art Department Graduate Committee review. Studio.
(2–12) 1–6 credit hours. Prerequisite: 400-level course in the topic. Offered fall and spring.

ART 595: Graduate Studio: Topic
A continuation of ART 594, this course concludes with an Art Department Graduate Committee review. Studio.
(2–12) 1–6 credit hours. Prerequisite: ART 594 and consent of instructor. Offered fall and spring.

ART 596: Graduate Studio: Topic
Independent professional research is required, demonstrating continuity, integrity, and innovation in a particular area. This course concludes with an Art Department Graduate Committee review. Studio.
(2–12) 1–6 credit hours. Prerequisite: ART 595 and consent of instructor. Offered fall and spring.

ART 691: Thesis
Students research and complete their thesis project under the direction of their thesis advisor. Credit for this course is contingent on final approval of the thesis.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: acceptance of thesis proposal and consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

Art Education (ARTE)

ARTE 303: Introduction to Art Education
Prospective art educators are oriented to the field of art as a discipline and to concepts of teaching and learning in art. Observational and studio experiences are included. (Formerly ARTE 203.)
(4) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: ART 204 or 205. Offered fall and spring.

ARTE 340: Methods and Materials in Art Education
Children’s artistic expression in relation to research and current approaches to art education are covered. Included are studio workshop experiences with art materials used in the elementary classroom. Not open to art education majors.
(3) 2 credit hours. Offered fall, spring, summer.

ARTE 404: Secondary Practicum in Art Education
Teaching concepts, lesson plan development, and evaluation for secondary school art instruction are studied through readings, discussions, observations in secondary art classrooms, and introductory teaching experiences.
(4) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: admission to the art education teacher preparation program, ARTE 303, and 24 credit hours of art courses. Offered fall and spring.

ARTE 405: Elementary Practicum in Art Education
Artistic development, teaching models, and curriculum development for elementary school art instruction are studied through readings, discussions, observations in elementary art classrooms, and introductory teaching experiences.
(4) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: ARTE 404 and 33 credit hours of art courses. Offered fall and spring.

ARTE 421: Art in the Elementary School
The objectives of an art program in the elementary grades are considered as well as the means of developing, presenting, encouraging, and evaluating programs.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: ARTE 340 or elementary teaching experience, and consent of instructor. Offered as needed.

ARTE 426: Student Teaching in Art Education
In this culminating field experience, candidates complete a teaching experience in an elementary and secondary school under the supervision of cooperating teachers and a college supervisor. This is a full-semester assignment.
10 credit hours. Prerequisite: concurrent enrollment in ARTE 464; satisfactory completion of all major and professional courses required prior to student teaching; special departmental requirements; a cumulative GPA of 2.67 a full semester prior to student teaching; passing score(s) on the Praxis II, approved Preparing to Teach Portfolio; completion of the community service requirement; and a negative result from the required tuberculin test. Offered fall and spring.
ARTE 464: Student Teaching Seminar in Art Education
Teacher behaviors appropriate to effective teaching are developed. Topics include classroom and time management, effective communication, learning styles, and teaching strategies. This seminar meets weekly.
2 credit hours. Prerequisite: concurrent enrollment in ARTE 426. Offered fall and spring.

ARTE 503: Graduate Introduction to Art Education
Prospective art educators are oriented to the field of art as a discipline and to concepts of teaching and learning in art. Included are graduate-level research projects as well as observational and studio experiences.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: application or acceptance into the M.A.T. in art education program. Offered fall and spring.

ARTE 504: Graduate Secondary Practicum in Art Education
Teaching concepts, lesson plan development, and evaluation for secondary art instruction are studied through readings, discussions, observations in secondary school art classrooms, and introductory teaching experiences.
(4) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CEP 552, prior or concurrent enrollment in ARTE 503, and acceptance into the M.A.T. in art education program. Offered fall and spring.

ARTE 505: Graduate Elementary Practicum in Art Education
Artistic development, teaching models, and curriculum development for elementary school art instruction are studied through readings, discussions, observations in elementary school art classrooms, and introductory teaching experiences.
(4) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: ARTE 504. Offered fall and spring.

ARTE 515: Curriculum in Art Education
Curriculum theory and development of art programs at elementary and secondary schools are identified, analyzed, and critiqued. Initiatives for site-specific curriculum development or revision are begun. Seminar.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: consent of department chair. Offered fall.

ARTE 525: Graduate Student Teaching in Art Education
In this culminating field experience, candidates complete a teaching experience in an elementary and secondary school under the supervision of cooperating teachers and a college supervisor. This is a full-semester assignment.
10 credit hours. Prerequisite: ARTE 505, CEP 552, FNED 546; concurrent enrollment in ARTE 562; a cumulative GPA of 3.00 a full semester prior to student teaching; satisfactory completion of all required courses in the M.A.T. program in art education prior to student teaching; a minimum grade of C+ in all professional education courses; passing score(s) on the Praxis II, approved Preparing to Teach Portfolio; completion of the community service requirement; and a negative result from the required tuberculin test. Offered fall and spring.

ARTE 562: Graduate Seminar in Student Teaching in Art Education
Teacher behaviors appropriate to effective teaching are developed. Topics include classroom and time management, effective communication, learning styles, and teaching strategies. This seminar meets weekly.
2 credit hours. Prerequisite: concurrent enrollment in ARTE 525. Offered fall and spring.

ARTE 591: Readings and Research in Art Education
Students select a topic and undertake concentrated research under the supervision of a faculty advisor.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

ARTE 613: Research and Evaluation in Art
Art research and evaluation are analyzed for design, methodology, and conceptual foundations. Emphasis is on interpreting, understanding, and critiquing original research or evaluation projects in art or art education.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

Art Media (ARTM)

ARTM 521: Electronic Media Production I
The fundamentals of multimedia production, including logical and intuitive approaches as applied to graphic design, photography, animation, audio, and video are covered. Studio. (Formerly ART 521.)
(6) 4 credit hours. Offered fall.
ARTM 522: Electronic Media Production II
Study is made of the hypermedia environment as an interactive synthesis of diverse elements, including text, sound, moving and still photography, video, and animation. Studio. (Formerly ART 522.)
(6) 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: ARTM 521. Offered spring.

ARTM 523: Digital Portfolio I
Students develop a personal vision and learn to conceive, design, and produce hypermedia projects. Various media models are tested against topics. Students also prepare their proposals for ARTM 524. Studio. (Formerly ART 523.)
(6) 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: ARTM 522. Offered fall.

ARTM 524: Digital Portfolio II
In this capstone course, students consolidate their skills, while focusing on a specific topic and format. Studio.
(6) 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: ARTM 523 and a written proposal submitted to and accepted by the instructor. Offered spring.

ARTM 532: Media Ethics
The ethical context of contemporary media is examined. (Formerly PHIL 532: Media Ethics: Law and Management.)
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: acceptance into the M.A. in art with concentration in media studies program or graduate status and consent of instructor and department chair. Undergraduates with 90 earned credits may enroll with documented consent of the instructor, department chair, and appropriate dean. Offered as needed.

ARTM 541: Media Aesthetics
The theoretical study of aesthetic principles and creative uses of media as art forms and not simply as transmission devices are presented. Students also examine theories governing the aesthetics of visual communication media.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: acceptance into the M.A. in art with concentration in media studies program or graduate status and consent of instructor and department chair. Undergraduates with 90 earned credits may enroll with documented consent of the instructor, department chair, and appropriate dean. Offered as needed.

ARTM 542: Media Culture and Theory I
From a historico-theoretical foundation, students analyze new media and the transformations of traditional media into its recent electronic incarnations.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: acceptance into the M.A. in art with concentration in media studies program or graduate status and consent of instructor and department chair. Undergraduates with 90 earned credits may enroll with documented consent of the instructor, department chair, and appropriate dean. Offered spring.

ARTM 543: Media Culture and Theory II
From a theoretical foundation, students examine new media, evolving technologies, and the changes in culture, society, and media that have accompanied the rise of the computer and postmodernism.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: acceptance into the M.A. in art with concentration in media studies program or graduate status and consent of instructor and department chair. Undergraduates with 90 earned credits may enroll with documented consent of the instructor, department chair, and appropriate dean. Offered fall.

ARTM 579: Media Studies Internship
Students gain a more comprehensive understanding of electronic media through on-the-job training. Instruction, supervision, and practice in professional careers and specialties are provided. (Formerly COMM 579.)
1–4 credit hours. Prerequisite: acceptance into the M.A. in art with concentration in media studies program or graduate status and consent of instructor and department chair. Offered as needed.

ARTM 590: Directed Study in Media Studies
Students conduct independent research in new media and/or engage in independent electronic media production under the supervision of a faculty member.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: acceptance into the M.A. in art with concentration in media studies program and consent of instructor and department chair. Offered as needed.

ARTM 691: Thesis in Media Studies
Students research and complete their thesis project under the direction of their thesis advisor. Credit for this course is contingent on final approval of the thesis.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: acceptance into the M.A. in art with concentration in media studies program and consent of instructor and department chair. Offered as needed.
Bilingual-Bicultural Education (BLBC)

BLBC 515: Bilingual Education Issues
Bilingual education and its application in the United States are examined. Recent major research is also examined, critiqued, and discussed. (Formerly BLBC 451.)
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: 6 credit hours of teacher education courses or consent of department chair. Offered spring.

BLBC 516: Methods and Materials in Bilingual-Bicultural Education
Methods and materials in bilingual-bicultural education are identified and analyzed. Materials on the national and international levels are discussed. (Formerly BLBC 416.)
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: 6 credit hours of teacher education courses or consent of department chair. Offered fall.

BLBC 517: Curriculum Issues in Bilingual-Bicultural Education
Curriculum issues relating to second-language acquisition at both the elementary and secondary levels are identified and analyzed. Curriculum models are researched and evaluated. (Formerly BLBC 517.)
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: BLBC 547 or TESL 546. Offered as needed.

BLBC 539: Language Acquisition and Learning
Theory and research relating to first- and second-language acquisition and learning are examined from a pedagogical perspective. Students cannot receive credit for both BLBC 539 and TESL 539. (Formerly BLBC 439.)
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: 6 credit hours of teacher education courses or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

BLBC 547: Concepts in Bilingual-Bicultural Education
Methods and materials relating to bilingual and bicultural learning situations at all levels are examined and compared. Essential components of a bilingual-bicultural program are identified and implemented. (Formerly BLBC 447.)
3 credit hours. Offered as needed.

BLBC 562: Seminar in Bilingual Education
Focus is on developing appropriate investigative skills and methodologies in conducting bilingual classroom-centered research. Students attend weekly seminar discussions.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status and 24 credit hours of graduate courses, including BLBC 517 and 547. Offered as needed.

Biology (BIOL)

A grade of C or better is required in BIOL 108, 109, or 112, in order to take any biology course at the 200-level and above.

BIOL 103: Human Biology
The fundamental principles and concepts of biology as they pertain to the human organism are introduced. This course is intended for students who are pursuing studies in areas other than the natural sciences. Lecture.
3 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Category SM. Offered fall, spring, summer.

BIOL 108: Basic Principles of Biology
Basic biological principles are introduced. This course prepares students for courses in anatomy, physiology, and microbiology. Lecture and laboratory (dissection included). Not open to biology majors.
(6) 4 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Category LS. Offered fall, spring, summer.

BIOL 109: Fundamental Concepts of Biology
Unifying concepts from various levels of biological organization are considered. This course is for students pursuing studies other than the natural sciences. Lecture and laboratory. Not open to biology and clinical laboratory science majors.
(6) 4 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Category LS. Offered fall, spring, summer.

BIOL 111: Introductory Biology I
Emphasis is on the molecular and cellular nature of living systems. This course is intended for science majors and any student with an interest in science. Lecture and laboratory. (Formerly BIOL 101.)
(6) 4 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Category LS. Offered fall, spring, summer.
BIOL 112: Introductory Biology II
Emphasis is on organismal and ecological levels of organization. This course is intended for science majors and any student with an interest in science. Lecture and laboratory (dissection included). (Formerly BIOL 102.)
(6) 4 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Category LS. Prerequisite: BIOL 111 with a minimum grade of C-.
Offered spring and summer.

BIOL 221: Genetics
A balanced treatment of classical Mendelian concepts, population topics, and the recent advances in molecular genetics are presented. Lecture and laboratory.
(6) 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: BIOL 111 and 112.
Offered fall.

BIOL 231: Human Anatomy
By using a systematic approach, study is made of the human organism with respect to the histological and gross anatomy. Lecture and laboratory (dissection included). (Formerly BIOL 331.)
(6) 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: BIOL 111 and 112, or 108.
Offered fall, spring, summer.

BIOL 241: Biology Research Colloquium
Students attend formal scientific research seminars given by invited outside speakers from diverse fields of biology. Students discuss the research with the speaker and their peers. This course must be taken for two semesters.
0.5 credit hour. Prerequisite: BIOL 111 and 112, or 108.
Offered fall and spring.

BIOL 261: The World’s Forests
Interactions between people and their native trees are explored from historical, biological/environmental, humanitarian/aesthetic, and socioeconomic perspectives. Emphasis is on how trees are perceived and used by diverse cultures.
Offered as needed.

BIOL 300: Developmental Biology of Animals
A descriptive and experimental approach is applied to animal ontogeny, with consideration of cell fate determination, differentiation, morphogenesis, and pattern formation. Lecture and laboratory. (Formerly Developmental Biology.)
(6) 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: BIOL 111 and 112.
Offered spring.

BIOL 318: Ecology
The ecosystem is introduced. Emphasis is on how the interaction of environmental factors has shaped, influenced, and controlled the distribution of biomes, communities, and populations. Lecture, laboratory, and field trips.
(6) 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: BIOL 111 and 112.
Offered fall.

BIOL 320: Cell and Molecular Biology
The structure and function of cells as living units are presented. Cell metabolism, reproduction, and steady-state controls are discussed. The biochemical and ultrastructural nature of cells is examined. Lecture and laboratory.
(6) 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: BIOL 111, 112, 221; CHEM 205.
Offered spring.

BIOL 321: Invertebrate Zoology
Study is made of common invertebrate types, their life histories, adaptive morphology, and physiology, with respect to their environment and to their phylogenetic position. Lecture and laboratory.
(6) 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: BIOL 111 and 112.
Offered as needed.

BIOL 324: Vertebrate Zoology
The origin, evolution, life history, and adaptation of the subphylum vertebrata are studied. Local fauna is stressed in the laboratory. Lecture and laboratory.
(6) 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: BIOL 111 and 112.
Offered as needed.

BIOL 329: Comparative Vertebrate Anatomy
Comparison of the anatomy and functions of the vertebrates from the evolutionary point of view is presented. Included is detailed dissection of selected representatives from five classes of vertebrates. Lecture and laboratory.
(6) 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: BIOL 111 and 112.
Offered as needed.

BIOL 335: Human Physiology
Basic principles of physiology are introduced, with emphasis on homeostatic mechanisms. Attention is given to the functions of organ systems and coordination in the whole human organism. (Formerly Vertebrate Physiology.)
(6) 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: BIOL 111 and 112, or 108 and 231.
Offered fall, spring, summer.
BIOL 340: Histology
Structural characteristics of mammalian cells, tissues, and organs are examined in detail. At each of these levels of organization, functional correlates of microanatomical features are emphasized. Lecture and laboratory.
(6) 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: BIOL 111 and 112. Offered as needed.

BIOL 348: Microbiology
Microbial structure and metabolism, dynamics of microbial populations, disease causation, microbial genetics, and virology are presented. Lecture and laboratory.
(6) 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: BIOL 111 and 112, or 108. Offered fall, spring, summer.

BIOL 353: The Plant Kingdom
The major groups of plants are surveyed, with emphasis on evolutionary aspects, reproductive strategies, and ecological interrelationships. Structural features of plant cells, tissues, and organs are emphasized. Lecture and laboratory.
(6) 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: BIOL 111 and 112, or consent of instructor. Offered as needed.

BIOL 354: Plant Growth and Development
Topics include photophysiology, nitrogen metabolism, phytotropism, translocation, mineral nutrition, and the anatomical structures associated with these processes. Lecture and laboratory.
(6) 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: BIOL 111 and 112, or consent of instructor. Offered as needed.

BIOL 410: Biochemistry I
The physical and chemical properties and metabolism of proteins and nucleic acids are studied, with emphasis on enzyme systems and hereditary molecules. Students cannot receive credit for both BIOL 410 and CHEM 420. Lecture.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CHEM 205 and 206. Offered fall.

BIOL 411: Biochemistry II
This is a study of the physical and chemical properties of carbohydrates and lipids, with emphasis on intermediary metabolism and its hormonal regulation. Students cannot receive credit for both BIOL 411 and CHEM 421. Lecture.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: BIOL 410. Offered spring.

BIOL 423: Parasitology
The general biology, etiology, symptomatology, and epidemiology of parasites are examined, with emphasis on animal parasites of medical and veterinary importance. Lecture and laboratory.
(6) 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: BIOL 111 and 112. Offered as needed.

BIOL 429: Medical Microbiology
This is a study of medically important microorganisms, with emphasis on the molecular mechanisms of pathogenicity. (Formerly Advanced Microbiology.)
(6) 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: BIOL 348; CHEM 205, 206. Offered as needed.

BIOL 431: Immunology
This is a study of animal immune responses, with emphasis on the properties of antigens and immunoglobulins, cellular communication, pathology, and the development and regulation of humoral and cellular immunity. Lecture.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: BIOL 111, 112; CHEM 205, 206; or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

BIOL 435: Comparative Animal Physiology
This is an exploration of diverse physiological adaptations to environmental conditions. Particular emphasis is placed on the wide variety of mechanisms that animals use to cope with diverse environmental conditions.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: BIOL 111, 112, and 221. Offered as needed.

BIOL 440: Evolution
An interdisciplinary approach is used to examine evolutionary trends of plants and animals, the origin of life, molecular evolution, and speciation. Lecture.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: BIOL 221. Offered as needed.

BIOL 460: Biology Senior Seminar
Topics covering the breadth of biology content are synthesized in this capstone experience. Skills emphasized are writing and oral presentation in science. A content examination and literature review are required.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: senior status (90 credit hours successfully completed), BIOL 111, 112, 221, 318, 320; or consent of department chair. Offered fall and spring.
BIOL 491–494: Problems in Biology
The experimental aspects and recent advances in different fields of biology are examined. Research projects and papers on the work accomplished are required. Not open to students enrolled in the M.A. program in biology. 1–4 credit hours. Prerequisite: two 300-level biology courses or consent of department chair. Offered fall, spring, summer.

BIOL 526: Molecular Cell Physiology
Topics may include solution chemistry, membrane structure, gene regulation, homeostasis, and cell organelle structure and function. Lecture. (Formerly Cell Morphology and Physiology.) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: BIOL 320; CHEM 205, 206. Offered as needed.

BIOL 531: Mammalian Endocrinology
Topics include neuroendocrinology, hypothalamic-pituitary relationships, mechanisms of hormone action, endocrine aspects of reproduction, carbohydrate metabolism, calcium homeostasis, and water/electrolyte balance. Lecture. 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: two 300-level or above biology courses and consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

BIOL 532: Advanced Developmental Biology
The molecular regulation of development, differentiation, control of the cell cycle, and regeneration are examined, with emphasis on recent research. Lecture and laboratory. 6 credit hours. Prerequisite: BIOL 221, 300, 320, or equivalents. Offered as needed.

BIOL 533: Research Methods in Molecular Biology
Students undertake a single semester-long research project, which requires the integration of diverse biological facts, principles, and techniques in order to answer a novel biological question. 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: senior undergraduate or graduate status, with consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

BIOL 560: Graduate Seminar
Students investigate a current biological topic using primary literature and develop skills that contribute to effective oral and written presentations in science. 1 credit hour. Prerequisite: graduate status. Open to undergraduates with consent of department chair. Offered fall.

BIOL 651–654: Advanced Topics in Biology
Individual study is provided under the direction of a faculty member of the biology department. Topics vary. 1–4 credit hours. Prerequisite: normally only open to students enrolled in the M.A. program in biology. Offered fall, spring, summer.

BIOL 691–696: Directed Research
Students investigate an experimental question in biology under the direction of an advisor. 1–6 credit hours. Prerequisite: consent of advisor and department chair. Offered fall, spring, summer.

Career and Technical Education (CTE)
These courses are only open to students enrolled in the career and technical education program.

CTE 201: Principles and Practices of Career and Technical Education
Students gain an understanding of the organization and operation of career and technical education, with focus on current principles and practices. (Formerly CTE 301.) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CEP 215. Offered fall.

CTE 203: Organization and Management of Career and Technical Education Labs
Topics include layout and design, budgeting, safety, ordering of supplies, and current research in the planning, organizing, and managing of labs to meet today’s technologies. (Formerly CTE 303.) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CTE 302. Offered fall.

CTE 300: Methods of Teaching Career and Technical Education
Students are introduced to teaching career and technical education at the secondary and post-secondary levels. Topics include basic planning and teaching skills, writing skills, and strategies for identifying, organizing, and presenting lessons. 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: CEP 215 or equivalent, with minimum grade of C; minimum GPA of 2.50 in all previous courses; admission to the career and technical education teacher preparation program; or consent of department chair. Offered spring.
CTE 302: Curriculum Construction in Career and Technical Education
Students develop the competencies needed to identify, write, and implement a curriculum in their occupational area.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CEP 215 and FNED 340. Offered spring.

CTE 304: Career and Technical Education Guidance: An Introduction
Prospective teachers of career and technical education gain competence in secondary school guidance practices in general and in the activities of guidance programs for career and technical education in particular.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CTE 300, 302; SPED 433. Offered spring.

CTE 323: Internship in Career and Technical Education
The first-year teacher in career and technical education is assigned a master teacher/mentor in his or her school to assist in the learning process during the first two semesters of employment.
9 credit hours. Prerequisite: CTE 300, 301, 302, 303; CEP 215; FNED 340. Offered fall and spring.

Chemistry (CHEM)
CHEM 103: General Chemistry I
Topics include atomic theory, periodicity, bonding, reactions, stoichiometry, gas laws, and thermochemistry. Laboratory experiments illustrate these concepts and develop laboratory techniques. Lecture and laboratory.
(7) 4 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Category LS. Offered fall, spring, summer.

CHEM 103H: Honors General Chemistry I
For students with a good background in science and mathematics. Topics are listed in and experiments are similar to CHEM 103, with increased emphasis on instrumentation and independent work. Lecture and laboratory.
(7) 4 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Category LS. Offered fall.

CHEM 104: General Chemistry II
Topics include states of matter, solutions, kinetics, acids and bases, equilibrium theory, thermodynamics, and electrochemistry. Lecture and laboratory.
(7) 4 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Category LS. Prerequisite: CHEM 103 or equivalent. Offered fall, spring, summer.

CHEM 104H: Honors General Chemistry II
For students with a good background in science and mathematics. Topics are listed in and experiments are similar to CHEM 104, with increased emphasis on instrumentation and independent work. Lecture and laboratory.
(7) 4 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Category LS. Prerequisite: CHEM 103H or equivalent. Offered spring.

CHEM 105: General, Organic, and Biological Chemistry I
General chemistry in preparation for studying organic and biochemistry is introduced, including structure, bonding, energy, reactions, rates, equilibrium, acids, bases, and from organic chemistry, alkanes and alkenes. Lecture and laboratory.
(6) 4 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Category LS. Offered fall, spring, summer.

CHEM 106: General, Organic, and Biological Chemistry II
Topics include alcohols, carbonyl compounds, amines, amides, carbohydrates, lipids, proteins, enzymes, bioenergetics, catabolism, biosynthesis, nucleic acids, hormones, and neurotransmitters. Lecture and laboratory.
(6) 4 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Category LS. Prerequisite: CHEM 105. Offered fall, spring, summer.

CHEM 205: Organic Chemistry I
Topics include structure, stereochemistry, nomenclature, and chemistry of hydrocarbons and alkyl halides, spectroscopy, reaction mechanisms, and computational chemistry. Lecture and laboratory.
(7) 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: CHEM 104. Offered fall and summer.

CHEM 206: Organic Chemistry II
Topics include reactions of functional groups, synthesis and mechanism, spectroscopic identification, and topics in biochemistry and computational chemistry. Lecture and laboratory.
(7) 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: CHEM 205. Offered spring and summer.

CHEM 310: Biochemistry
Topics include biological macromolecule structure, function and interactions, catalysis and kinetics of biochemistry, acid-base equilibrium in biological systems, and thermodynamics of binding and recognition. Lecture. (Formerly Biochemistry I.)
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CHEM 206. Offered as needed.
CHEM 403: Inorganic Chemistry I
Topics include electronic structure of atoms, bonding, solids, coordination chemistry, acid-base theory, nonaqueous solvents, periodicity, and some main group chemistry.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: prior or concurrent enrollment in CHEM 405, or consent of department chair. Offered fall.

CHEM 404: Analytical Chemistry
Topics include the principles and applications of volumetric, gravimetric, and selected instrumental methods of analysis, including potentiometric and spectroscopic methods. Lecture and laboratory.
(6) 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: CHEM 104, PHYS 102 or 201, or consent of department chair. Offered fall and spring (even years).

CHEM 405: Physical Chemistry I
Through rigorous quantitative approaches, properties of gases, kinetic molecular theory, thermodynamics, statistical mechanics, and chemical and phase equilibrium are presented. Differential and integral calculus are used extensively. Lecture.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CHEM 104, MATH 314, and PHYS 102 or 201. Offered fall.

CHEM 406: Physical Chemistry II
Through rigorous quantitative approaches, quantum mechanics, atomic structure, atomic spectra, chemical bonding, molecular spectra, and chemical kinetics are presented. Differential and integral calculus are used extensively. Lecture.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CHEM 104, MATH 314, and PHYS 102 or 201. Offered spring.

CHEM 407: Physical Chemistry Laboratory I
Experiments involving topics covered in CHEM 405 are performed. The experimental methods of physical chemistry are developed. Error analysis, statistical methods, and computer applications are emphasized.
(3) 1 credit hour. Prerequisite or corequisite: CHEM 405. Offered fall.

CHEM 408: Physical Chemistry Laboratory II
This is a continuation of CHEM 407. Experiments involving chemical kinetics, molecular spectroscopy, photochemistry, computational chemistry, and other topics covered in CHEM 406 are performed.
(3) 1 credit hour. Prerequisite or corequisite: CHEM 406. Offered spring.

CHEM 412: Inorganic Chemistry II
Topics include molecular orbital theory, symmetry, spectral and magnetic properties of coordination compounds, and selected main group and organometallic chemistry.
2 credit hours. Prerequisite: CHEM 403. Offered spring.

CHEM 413: Inorganic Chemistry Laboratory
Experiments illustrate main group periodicity, coordination and organometallic compounds’ properties, and techniques, including the use of inert atmospheres and microwave acceleration of rates.
(3) 1 credit hour. Prerequisite: prior or concurrent enrollment in CHEM 406 and 412. Offered spring.

CHEM 414: Instrumental Methods of Analysis
Emphasis is on the areas of spectroscopy, electrochemistry, chromatography, and other identification and separation techniques using instrumental methods. Lecture and laboratory.
(6) 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: CHEM 404 and 405. Offered spring (odd years).

CHEM 420: Intermediate Biochemistry
The physical and chemical properties and metabolism of proteins and nucleic acids are discussed. Students cannot receive credit for both CHEM 420 and BIOL 410. Lecture. (Formerly CHEM 410: Biochemistry I.)
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CHEM 310 or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

CHEM 421: Advanced Biochemistry
The physical and chemical properties of carbohydrates and lipids are presented. Students cannot receive credit for both CHEM 421 and BIOL 411. Lecture. (Formerly CHEM 411: Biochemistry II.)
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CHEM 420. Offered as needed.

CHEM 422: Biochemistry Laboratory
Topics include basic laboratory concepts, including notebook documentation, ethics, and data interpretation, as well as experiments involving DNA cloning, protein purification, spectroscopic analysis, and functional assays. Laboratory.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CHEM 310 or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.
CHEM 425: Advanced Organic Chemistry
Synthesis, structure determination, and mechanism are discussed in the context of natural product and bio-organic chemistry. Spectroscopic and computational methods are emphasized. Lecture and laboratory.
(6) 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: CHEM 206. Offered fall (odd years).

CHEM 435: Pharmacology and Toxicology
The relationship between the chemical structure and biological activity of organic compounds is studied. Historical and current drug development and use are emphasized in relation to the biochemistry of disease.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CHEM 205 and 206, or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

CHEM 467: Honors Colloquium in Chemistry
Advanced level topics in science are examined through participation in department colloquia with outside speakers and through a series of seminars. This course may be repeated for credit with a change in content.
0.5 credit hour. Prerequisite: CHEM 206 or consent of department chair. Offered annually.

CHEM 490: Independent Study in Chemistry
Students study under the guidance of a member of the chemistry faculty. The particular area of chemistry is selected on the basis of the interest of the student and instructor.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

CHEM 491, 492, 493: Research in Chemistry
The student conducts original research in an area selected after consultation with the instructor and prepares a report on the work. A maximum of 6 credit hours may be earned in these courses.
1–3 credit hours. Prerequisite: consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

Collaboration (COLL)

COLL 125: College Learning Strategies
Skills necessary for success in college are developed, with emphasis on organizational methods, study skills, and the interpretation of reading materials. Normally open to freshman and sophomore students only, with consent of instructor.
(4) 3 credit hours. Offered fall and spring.

COLL 202: Open Books–Open Minds Mentor Program
Students mentor a small group of first-year and transfer students through the Open Books–Open Minds program and encourage their groups to become involved in on-campus activities.
1 credit hour. Prerequisite: completion of 24 credit hours of courses. Offered fall.

Communication (COMM)

COMM 162: East Asian Popular Cinema
East Asian culture, identity, gender, and communication patterns are explored through the examination of different genres in popular films and documentaries from Japan, Korea, Taiwan, Hong Kong, and China.
4 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Core 3. Offered as needed.

COMM 200: Research Methods in Communication
Topics include communication research, quantitative and qualitative methods, critiquing research from scholarly journals, and applying a selected method in an original research study. (Formerly Fundamentals of Research in Communication.)
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: completion of 24 credit hours of courses. Offered fall and spring.

COMM 208: Public Speaking
Students develop public-speaking skills through directed practice. Emphasis is on the selection and organization of material, the use of reasoning and evidence, speech construction, and methods of delivery.
3 credit hours. Offered fall and spring.

COMM 219: Vocal Improvement
Effective voice and articulation management are developed through theory and practice. Emphasis is on personal improvement for professional career objectives.
3 credit hours. Offered as needed.
COMM 220: Voice and Articulation
The fundamentals of voice production and diction are studied, including the physiological and phonetic bases of speech. Students work on vocal clarity, flexibility, range, force, and variety. 3 credit hours. Offered as needed.

COMM 223: Introduction to Sign Language
The basic vocabulary of Signed English and finger spelling are introduced. Discussion includes the needs and problems of the deaf community. A vocabulary of 600 signs should be attained at the completion of this course. 3 credit hours. Offered fall.

COMM 230: Making Sense of Rhetoric
This is a comparative study of the methods and criteria for analyzing communication. Traditional themes for speech criticism (situation, purpose, structure, and style) are introduced and selected contemporary critical approaches are presented. 3 credit hours. Offered fall.

COMM 232: Introduction to Graphic Communication Technology
Students are introduced to the theory, concepts, processes, and careers in the printing and publishing field. Study includes digital photography, design and computer operation, imagesetter operation, and screen-process printing. (6) 3 credit hours. Offered fall and spring.

COMM 240: Mass Media and Society
The institutions, history, and technology of the mass media are examined. Newspapers, film, and broadcasting media are studied in terms of social and personal impact. (Formerly Mass Communication.) 3 credit hours. Offered fall, spring, summer.

COMM 241: Introduction to Film and Video
The industries, audiences, and content of film and video are analyzed and compared. Included are feature films and television programs. (4) 3 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Category A. Offered fall and spring.

COMM 242: Message, Media, and Meaning
Students are introduced to visual communication and how meaning is made. Topics include the theories about and critical interpretation of visual media. Media production projects and presentations are required. 3 credit hours. Offered fall and spring.

COMM 246: Television Production
The theoretical and practical aspects of television production, script preparation, and studio and control room operations and practice are presented. Included is a two-hour-per-week lab. (5) 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: completion of 9 credit hours of communication courses. Offered fall and spring.

COMM 255: Introduction to Language
The diversity and basic similarities of languages are explored, including their phonetic, phonological, morphological, syntactic, semantic, and social properties. (Formerly COMM 355: Language and Thought in Communication.) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: COMM 208. Offered spring.

COMM 261: Critical Inquiry into Free Speech
This is a critical inquiry into the issues of free speech and free speech “crimes” in the United States and in certain non-Western countries. 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: Gen. Ed. Core 1, 2, and 3. Fulfills Gen. Ed. Core 4. Offered as needed.

COMM 262: Dialect: Identity, Variation, and Change
This course explores the variability within a human language as influenced by geography, social class, gender, age, ethnicity, and cultural identity. 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: Gen. Ed. Core 1, 2, and 3. Fulfills Gen. Ed. Core 4. Offered as needed.

COMM 301: Public Relations
The field of public relations is surveyed, with emphasis on the role of the communication specialist as a practitioner. Topics include public relations history, ethics, campaign design, and media use. 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: completion of 45 credit hours of undergraduate courses, including COMM 200, or consent of instructor. Offered fall and spring.

COMM 305: Introduction to Communication Disorders
A variety of speech, language, and hearing problems that may exist in children and adults are examined. Normal processes, abnormalities, and treatment are also discussed. 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: COMM 200. Offered fall.

COMM 311: Advanced Public Relations
Additional public relations skills are learned, with emphasis on writing. Formats and public relations methods are also reviewed and applied to case studies. 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: COMM 301. Offered fall.
COMM 319: Phonetics and Phonology
Students develop listening and transcription skills as well as knowledge about the production of speech. The sound structure of language is explored and students are introduced to phonological theory. (Formerly Phonetics.)
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: COMM 255. Offered fall.

COMM 320: Speech and Language Development
The theories and stages involved in the acquisition of speech and language skills from birth to adolescence are examined. Included are the subsystems of language and normal and abnormal speech and language development.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: COMM 200 and 255. Offered fall.

COMM 323: Introduction to Audiology
Acoustics, anatomy, and physiology of the ear are introduced. Included are basic hearing tests, hearing disorders, and rehabilitation.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: COMM 200 and either COMM 255 or 305. Offered fall.

COMM 325: Anatomy and Physiology: Speech and Hearing
Topics include the anatomy and physiology of the speech and hearing mechanism, and neurological, skeletal, and muscular functions involved in speech and hearing. (Formerly Auditory and Speech Mechanisms.)
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: COMM 200 and either COMM 255 or 305. Offered spring.

COMM 332: Gender and Communication
The differences and similarities of the communicative patterns and behaviors of women and men are studied.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: COMM 358. Offered as needed.

COMM 333: Intercultural Communication
The communication problems, issues, and consequences that accompany interaction between people from diverse cultures are explored. Research dealing with intercultural communication is explored.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: COMM 358. Offered as needed.

COMM 338: Advertising
The key processes of modern advertising practice are introduced. Topics include production of effective advertising and media. Students cannot receive credit for both COMM 338 and MKT 338.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: COMM 240. Offered fall.

COMM 340: Current Issues in Mass Media
Topics cover a broad area of contemporary concerns about the mass media. Focus is on the relationships between the media and social, economic, and political issues.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: COMM 200 and 240. Offered spring.

COMM 342: History and Development of Electronic Media
Emphasis is on the history and development of electronic media and its impact on political, cultural, and economic institutions in the United States. (Formerly History and Development of Telecommunications.)
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: COMM 200 and 240. Offered fall.

COMM 344: Broadcast Journalism
The preparation, writing, production, and editing of broadcast news are discussed. Emphasis is on local and special news events. An analysis of broadcast policies and principles of news management are presented.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: COMM 246. Offered fall.

COMM 345: Digital Media Production
Students explore the development, design, and creation of video programming through the use of field-production techniques. (Formerly Electronic Field Production and Editing.)
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: COMM 242 and 246. Offered fall and spring.

COMM 347: Communication Law and Regulation
Issues of control in mass media and in telecommunication systems are explored. Included are the legal and regulatory frameworks of telecommunication applications.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: COMM 200 and 240. Offered as needed.

COMM 348: International Telecommunications
The organization and operation of different broadcasting systems around the world are examined. Also explored is the role of telecommunication and electronic media in today’s international environment.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: COMM 200 and 240. Offered as needed.
COMM 351: Persuasion
The classical and modern elements inherent in persuasion and the means by which individuals and audiences are influenced in predetermined ways are studied.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: COMM 208. Offered spring.

COMM 353: Political Rhetoric
Focus is on the rhetoric of elections and political communication within government institutions.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: COMM 208. Offered as needed.

COMM 354: Communication and Civic Engagement
Communication research that supports student-designed learning experiences is used to develop positive citizen involvement.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: completion of 45 credit hours of courses and COMM 208, or consent of instructor. Offered spring (odd years).

COMM 356: Discussion and Group Communication
The principles of group dynamics and discussion in task-oriented experiences are examined. Topics include group leadership skills and cooperative problem-solving methods.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: COMM 208. Offered spring.

COMM 357: Propaganda and Public Opinion
The nature and influence of public opinion are explored. Topics include propaganda as a technique for persuasion.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: COMM 240 or POL 200. Offered as needed.

COMM 358: Interpersonal Communication
By participating in a series of communication experiences, students explore principles, skills, and techniques essential for effective face-to-face communication and how to apply them to their daily lives. (Formerly COMM 258.)
3 credit hours. Offered fall.

COMM 359: Argumentation and Debate
The tools of argumentation and debate are introduced, including the construction of logical arguments and the analysis of arguments for weakness in reasoning or evidence. (Formerly COMM 259.)
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: COMM 208. Offered fall.

COMM 377: Public Relations Laboratory
Working in teams, students research, plan, and implement a public relations campaign for not-for-profit groups within the community. Field experience may be required.
(12) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: COMM 301 and 311, each with a minimum grade of B. Offered spring.

COMM 378: Forensics
With the approval of the forensics director, students may receive credit for participation in debate and other forensic activities. Admission to the activity does not, by itself, ensure credit. Credit may be awarded no more than four times.
1 credit hour. Prerequisite: consent of instructor. Offered fall and spring.

COMM 420: Applied Rhetorical Criticism
Different historical and contemporary rhetorical theories are used to evaluate artifacts, such as speeches, songs, photographs, and written texts.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: COMM 230. Offered spring (even years).

COMM 421: Speech and Hearing Science
Basic acoustics, the acoustics of speech, speech production theory, psycho-acoustics, and speech perception are covered. Lecture and laboratory. (Formerly COMM 321.)
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: COMM 319. Offered spring.

COMM 422: Language Processes
Human language processes are examined, with explorations into its social, biological, and cognitive components. This course may be repeated for credit with a change in content.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: COMM 200 (or equivalent) and 255. Offered as needed.

COMM 429: Introduction to the Clinical Process
The clinical process and ethics in speech-language pathology and audiology are introduced. Students earn twenty-five observation hours and learn professional report writing. (Formerly COMM 329: Clinical Observation.)
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: completion of a minimum of six courses in communication, including COMM 305, with a minimum GPA of 3.00 in all courses. Offered as needed.
COMM 434: Electronic Publishing
Students examine preflighting, problem-solving techniques, and font management, while mastering basic to advanced page layout techniques in the creation of products destined for printing.

(6) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: COMM 232 or consent of department chair. Offered fall, spring, summer.

COMM 452: Conflict Resolution
Conflict is examined as a personal and societal challenge that can be managed by applying communication skills and knowledge. (Formerly COMM 352.)

3 credit hours. Prerequisite: COMM 358. Offered as needed.

COMM 454: Leadership and Management Communication
Organizational communication and methods for improving the communication of leaders and managers in organizations are studied. Simulations, role play, and case studies are used. (Formerly COMM 254.)

3 credit hours. Offered spring.

COMM 459: Debate Practicum
By applying theories and methods of argumentation, students debate on controversial topics in public venues, such as high schools.

3 credit hours. Prerequisite: COMM 359 or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

COMM 460: Seminar in Communication
A topic not previously studied in communication is researched.

3 credit hours. Prerequisite: completion of 75 credit hours of undergraduate courses, including COMM 200, 208, and 12 additional credit hours of communication courses. Offered as needed.

COMM 479: Communication Internship
Students gain a more comprehensive understanding of communication fields through on-the-job training. This course may be repeated once for credit.

1–4 credit hours. Prerequisite: open to communication majors who have completed at least 75 credit hours of undergraduate courses, 18 of which are communication courses, and to graduate students, with consent of instructor. Application must be made during the semester prior to field experience. Additional requirements are set forth in the application form. Offered fall, spring, summer.

COMM 490: Independent Study in Communication
Students select a topic and undertake concentrated research under the supervision of a faculty advisor. This course may be repeated once for credit with a change in content.

3 credit hours. Prerequisite: completion of 18 credit hours of communication courses, including COMM 200, and consent of instructor. Offered as needed.

COMM 491: Special Problems in Communication
Students select a practicum-oriented problem and undertake concentrated research under the supervision of a faculty advisor. This course may be repeated once for credit with a change in content.

3 credit hours. Prerequisite: completion of 18 credit hours of communication courses, including COMM 200, and consent of instructor. Offered as needed.

COMM 492: Senior Portfolio
Students develop a professional-quality portfolio of media production projects. Emphasis is on conceptual design, clarity, aesthetics, content, effectiveness of communication to audience, and technical competence.

4 credit hours. Prerequisite: open only to communication majors and minors. Completion of 90 credit hours of undergraduate courses, including COMM 200, 208, 240, 242, and 345. Offered fall and spring.

COMM 493: Senior Thesis
Students write a thesis and formally present findings on a major research project. Emphasis is on mass media theories and research methodologies.

4 credit hours. Prerequisite: open only to communication majors and minors. Completion of 90 credit hours of undergraduate courses, including COMM 200, 208, 240, 242, and 342. Offered as needed.

Computer Information Systems (CIS)
Prior to enrolling in any 300-level computer information systems course, all students must have junior standing.

CIS 251: Computers in Management
This is an intensive hands-on experience with microcomputers and their use with spreadsheets, word processing, and presentation graphics software.

3 credit hours. Offered fall, spring, summer.
CIS 255: Introduction to Java in Business
Java programming language and application development are studied in the context of realistic, real-world business programming examples and case studies.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CIS 251. Offered as needed.

CIS 256: Introduction to COBOL Programming
Topics include COBOL syntax, input/output statements, logic and arithmetic statements, basic sequential, and file processing. 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CIS 251 or equivalent or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

CIS 257: Introduction to Visual Basic in Business
Business applications are designed and coded using a visual basic programming language. Emphasis is on object-oriented design and programming. (Formerly Object-Oriented Programming for Business.)
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CIS 251 or equivalent or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

CIS 258: Introduction to Visual RPG Programming
Topics include RPG syntax, file creation and maintenance, and the generation of reports, using a visual RPG language. (Formerly RPG Programming.)
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: sophomore standing (25 credit hours minimum). Offered as needed.

CIS 320: Information Technology: Hardware and Software Systems
The evolution of the major subsystems of computer hardware, technical knowledge of the integration of hardware, and selected operating systems software are examined.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CIS 352 and one course from the following: CIS 255, 256, 257, or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

CIS 324: Web Page Development
Students are introduced to the process of Web page development using rapid application software. Study includes HTML basics, the creation of Web objects, common Web page formats, and functions to create a personal Web page.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CIS 251 or equivalent or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

CIS 350: Special Topics
New courses are offered by faculty to present latest computer information materials.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CIS 251 or equivalent or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

CIS 351: Advanced Office Applications for Business
Advanced applications of Office Suite software are examined. Applications include database, spreadsheet, word processing, and presentation graphics. (Formerly CIS 252: Microcomputer Applications for Management.)
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CIS 251 or equivalent or consent of department chair. Offered fall and spring.

CIS 352: Management Information Systems
The fundamentals of analysis, design, and the implementation of information systems for managerial decision making are examined, including use of the Internet.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CIS 251 or equivalent or consent of department chair. Offered fall and spring.

CIS 355: Advanced Business Applications in Java
Business applications using Java programming language are further developed. Topics include object-oriented design, object-oriented programming, and database connectivity.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CIS 255. Offered as needed.

CIS 356: Introduction to Expert Systems
The basic techniques and skills for developing knowledge-based information systems are provided. No prior knowledge or experience with expert systems or programming language is required. Lecture and laboratory.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CIS 352 and one course from the following: CIS 255, 256, 257, or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

CIS 357: Advanced Business Applications in Visual Basic
Students are introduced to a variety of sophisticated programming components of Visual Basic. These components include variable arrays, database creation and management, activeX components, and class modules.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CIS 257. Offered as needed.
CIS 421: Networks and Telecommunications
Data communication and networking requirements are presented, including networking and telecommunications technologies, hardware, and software. Emphasis is on the analysis, design, and implementation of a network system.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CIS 352 or consent of department chair. Offered fall and spring.

CIS 440: Issues in Computer Security
Students evaluate organizational and technological methods employed to provide security for computer software, hardware, and data. Topics include controlling for error, natural disaster, and intentional attacks.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CIS 352 or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

CIS 453: Systems Analysis and Design
System design and analysis concepts that were introduced in prior courses are now applied. Topics include documentation, hardware/software selection, database development, system implementation, and post-implementation evaluation.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CIS 352 and one course from the following: CIS 255, 256, 257, or consent of department chair. Offered fall and spring.

CIS 455: Database Programming
The basic components of file and communication systems as they support information systems are surveyed. (Formerly CIS 355.)
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CIS 352 and one course from the following: CIS 255, 256, 257, 258, or consent of department chair. Offered fall and spring.

CIS 462: Applied Software Development Project
This is a practicum in the application of programming and systems-development concepts, resulting in a comprehensive systems-development project. (Formerly CIS 362.)
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CIS 453 and 455, or consent of department chair. Offered fall and spring.

CIS 467: Directed Internship
Students are assigned to a business, an industrial organization, or a not-for-profit organization and supervised by a mentor. Students receive 1 credit hour for every four hours of work. A two-hour biweekly seminar is included.
3–9 credit hours. Prerequisite: major in computer information systems and completion of at least 60 undergraduate credit hours. Offered fall, spring, summer.

CIS 535: Data Management
Various techniques are explored for the management of the design and development of database systems. Issues in the creation and use of logical data models, database administration, and concurrent processing are explored.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: senior standing or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

CIS 541: Legal Aspects of Information Technology
The legal environment within which an organization must conduct its electronic commerce is reviewed. Legal liability for data transmission and exchange is also explored.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: senior standing or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

CIS 542: Electronic Commerce
The systems and management challenges and the opportunities and successful strategies required to develop and maintain electronic commerce are examined. Marketing, strategy, infrastructure design, and server management are also covered.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: senior standing or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

CIS 543: Decision Support Systems
The decision-making process is examined, with emphasis on dealing with incomplete and inexact data, including unstructured environments. The use of data management, modeling, and simulation are explored.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: senior standing or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

Computer Science (CSCI)
Prior to enrolling in any computer science course, all students must have completed the College Mathematics Requirement.

CSCI 101: Introduction to Computers
Topics include an overview of computer systems, hardware and software, algorithms, computer history, applications, and the impact of computers on society. Hands-on computer work.
3 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Category SM. Offered fall, spring, summer.
CSCI 102: Introduction to Visual BASIC Programming
This course introduces interactive Windows programming, using Visual BASIC. Topics include projects, form objects for user input/output, and text handling.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: three units of college preparatory mathematics or one college mathematics course. Offered fall and spring.

CSCI 157: Introduction to Algorithmic Thinking
Algorithmic thinking (the study of step-by-step procedures for solving problems) is introduced, with simple applications from various disciplines. Topics include algorithms, flowcharts, top-down design, selection, repetition, and modularization.
3 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Category SM. Prerequisite: completion of the College Mathematics Requirement. Offered fall and spring.

CSCI 201: Computer Programming I
The fundamentals of programming and algorithm development are taught using an object-oriented language, such as Java. Topics include classes, control structures, arrays, and inheritance. Lecture and laboratory.
(4) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: successful completion of or concurrent enrollment in CSCI 157 or MATH 212, or consent of department chair. Offered fall and spring.

CSCI 203: Advanced Visual BASIC Programming
Students are introduced to file management, multi-dimensional arrays, subroutines, and VBScript. Students also compile programs to form executable programs and construct forms that can be processed through the Internet.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CSCI 102 or equivalent. Offered as needed.

CSCI 221: Computer Programming II
A continuation of CSCI 201, emphasis is on techniques needed to develop large object-oriented programs. Topics include graphical user interfaces, exception handling, strings, recursion, and files. Lecture and laboratory.
(4) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CSCI 201. Offered spring.

CSCI 302: C++ Programming
The fundamental concepts and constructs of the C++ programming language are examined. Topics include expressions, input/output, control structures, classes, inheritance, arrays, strings, and templates.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CSCI 221. Offered spring.

CSCI 305: Functional Programming
Functional programming focuses on the design process from problems to well-organized solutions, using a functional language. Topics include design recipes, functions, lists, self-referential data structures, and abstract design.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CSCI 201 or equivalent, or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

CSCI 312: Computer Organization and Architecture I
Basic concepts of computer organization, architecture, and machine language programming are examined. Topics include data representation, binary and hexadecimal arithmetic, Boolean algebra, combinatorial and sequential circuits, and registers.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: CSCI 201. Offered spring.

CSCI 313: Computer Organization and Architecture II
A continuation of CSCI 312. Topics include the central processing unit, memory access, input/output, and floating point operations.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CSCI 221 and 312. Offered fall.

CSCI 315: Information Structures
Data structures are presented to represent and access information efficiently. Topics include time complexity, linked lists, stacks, queues, hashing, trees, heaps, searching, and sorting.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CSCI 221. Offered fall.

CSCI 325: Organization of Programming Languages
Programming language constructs are presented, with emphasis on the run-time behavior of programs. Topics include language definition, data types and structures, and run-time considerations.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CSCI 315. Offered spring.

CSCI 401: Software Engineering
The software development process is examined from initial requirements analysis to operation and maintenance. Student teams develop a software system from requirements to delivery, using disciplined techniques.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CSCI 315 or consent of department chair. Offered spring.
CSCI 415: Software Testing
Software testing principles, concepts, and techniques are presented within the context of the software development life cycle. Topics include software test design, test process, test management, and software testing tools.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: CSCI 315 or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

CSCI 422: Introduction to Computation Theory
Computation theory concepts are introduced, including finite state automata, pushdown automata, and Turing machines. Also covered are the applications of these concepts to lexical analysis, parsing, and algorithms.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CSCI 315 and either MATH 200 or 436. Offered spring (even years).

CSCI 423: Analysis of Algorithms
Techniques to analyze and design efficient algorithms are presented. Topics include recurrence relations, “big oh” analysis, NP completeness, set operations, heaps, graphs, and trees.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CSCI 315, MATH 200 or 436, and one semester of calculus. Offered spring (odd years).

CSCI 427: Introduction to Artificial Intelligence
Fundamental artificial intelligence methods are introduced, including search, inference, problem solving, and knowledge representation. AI applications, such as natural language understanding and expert systems, are introduced.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CSCI 315. Offered as needed.

CSCI 435: Operating Systems and Computer Architecture
Topics include instruction sets, I/O and interrupt structure, addressing schemes, memory management, process management, performance, and evaluation.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CSCI 313 and 315. Offered spring.

CSCI 437: Introduction to Data and Computer Communications
Data and computer communications are discussed through the topics of data transmission, data encoding, digital data communication techniques, data link control, multiplexing, and networking.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CSCI 315. Offered as needed.

CSCI 455: Introduction to Database Systems
Database structure, organization, languages, and implementation are introduced, including data modeling, relational and object-oriented systems, query languages, and query processing. (Formerly Database Programming.)
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CSCI 315. Offered as needed.

Counseling and Educational Psychology (CEP)

CEP 315: Educational Psychology
Learner-centered psychological principles and research findings are analyzed. Emphasis is on the characteristics of the learner and the nature of developmentally responsive pedagogy. (Formerly CEP 215.)
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: admission to a teacher education program or consent of department chair. Offered fall, spring, summer.

CEP 519: Supervision of Field-Based Work
Students review the practice and administration of supervision for CEP candidates. Focus is on the characteristics of effective supervisors and the current trends in professional disciplines. Hybrid course.
1 credit hour. Prerequisite: consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

CEP 531: Human Development across Cultures
Focus is on human development theories across cultures as they relate to the field of human services and on life cycle stages, the exploration of child, adolescence, and adult issues.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status or consent of department chair. Offered fall, spring, summer.

CEP 532: Theories and Methods of Counseling
The nature of the counseling process and theories of counseling are considered. Included are techniques of interviewing and an examination of common and special counseling problems in various school and agency settings.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status or consent of department chair. Offered fall, spring, summer.
CEP 533: Psychology of Students with Exceptionalities
The symptoms, causes, and treatment of developmental, learning, and social-emotional problems of children are covered. Educational classification criteria, services, interventions, and collaboration are reviewed. Observations are required. 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status or consent of department chair. Offered spring.

CEP 534: Quantitative Measurement and Test Interpretation
Students develop techniques for the effective use of test results in counseling, including statistical and data analysis techniques. 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: matriculation into the counseling or school psychology and CEP 532, or consent of department chair. Offered fall and summer.

CEP 535: Vocational Counseling and Placement
Counseling theories are explored, including the assessment of individual aptitudes, interests, and abilities. Also examined are occupational information sources and opportunities. 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: matriculation into the counseling or school psychology and CEP 532, or consent of department chair. Offered spring and summer.

CEP 536: Biological Perspectives in Mental Health
Students are introduced to the neuroscience perspective of studying human behavior, including the biology of mental illness and the role of psychopharmacology. 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CEP 532 and matriculation into the counseling or school psychology program, or consent of department chair. Offered fall and summer.

CEP 537: Introduction to Group Counseling
The dynamics of group process, an analysis of current modalities, and the principles and techniques of group counseling are covered. Students participate in a time-limited group. 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CEP 532 and matriculation into the counseling or school psychology program, or consent of department chair. Offered fall, spring, summer.

CEP 538: Clinical Practicum I
Counseling experience is offered under supervised laboratory conditions, with emphasis on observation and evaluation in a laboratory-seminar sequence. Video, audio, and process recordings are used. 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CEP 531, 532, and matriculation into the counseling or school psychology program. Offered fall, spring, summer.

CEP 539: Clinical Practicum II
Attention is given to the development of special skills in counseling. Self-analysis is stressed, particularly in consideration of the client-counselor relationship. Students work with clients under controlled supervisory conditions. 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CEP 538, with minimum grade of B. Offered fall, spring, summer.

CEP 540: Clinical Practicum with Children in Schools
Attention is given to developing skill in counseling children and youth, while working with clients under controlled supervisory conditions. Supervised school-based experiences are required. 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CEP 538, with minimum grade of B. Offered spring.

CEP 541: Clinical Internship in School Counseling I
Students complete 150 hours of supervised school counseling in a school setting. 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CEP 540, with minimum grade of B. Offered fall.

CEP 542: Clinical Internship in School Counseling II
This is a continuation of CEP 541. 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CEP 541, with minimum grade of B. Offered spring.

CEP 543: Clinical Assessment and Case Problems
This is an introduction to clinical decision making, diagnostic assessment, and treatment planning. Students also learn how to conduct intakes and mental status examinations and how to diagnose various psychiatric conditions. 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CEP 536 and 538, or consent of department chair. Offered spring and summer.
CEP 544: Family Counseling Theory and Practice
Current family counseling theories and methods are introduced. Class instruction includes lectures, demonstrations, and family simulations. 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CEP 537 and 538. Offered spring.

CEP 545: Therapeutic Approaches to Attention/Behavior Disorders
The assessment, treatment, educational approaches, and current research on attention deficit and related behavior disorders are analyzed. 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CEP 551 or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

CEP 546: Assessment of Addiction and Co-Occurring Disorders
Topics include concurrent mental health issues, the interactive nature between substance use and co-occurring mental health issues, assessment typologies, and treatment implications. (Formerly Rehabilitation of the Chemically Dependent Person.) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CEP 536 and 538. Offered fall.

CEP 547: Treatment of Addiction and Co-Occurring Disorders
Students develop clinical skills to assess, diagnose, and engage chemically dependent individuals in counseling and recovery processes. Interacting mental health issues are explored. (Formerly Treatment of the Chemically Dependent Person.) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CEP 546. Offered spring.

CEP 548: Clinical Procedures in Family Counseling
Building on current concepts and models, students explore and practice intervention procedures to acquire their own preferred style of helping families. 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CEP 544 or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

CEP 549: Foundations in School Counseling
This is an introduction to the historical foundations, roles and functions, and professional standards and ethics in the practice of school counseling. 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CEP 531, 532, and matriculation into the school counseling program. Offered fall.

CEP 551: Behavioral Assessment and Intervention
Current theory, research, and applications of behavioral assessment and intervention are reviewed. Emphasis is on behavioral approaches to school-related problems. 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: matriculation into the school psychology program or consent of department chair. Offered spring.

CEP 552: Psychological Perspectives on Learning and Teaching
This is a systematic study of students and teachers and their interactions in classroom settings. Emphasis is on understanding typical and exceptional learners. A field component is required. 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status or consent of department chair. Offered fall, spring, summer.

CEP 553: Counseling Children and Adolescents
This course explores the application of developmental theory, evidence-based literature, and the clinical knowledge of children and adolescents to guide effective counseling with diverse populations. 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CEP 531 and 532. Offered spring and summer.

CEP 554: Research Methods in Applied Settings
Nonexperimental, experimental, and single-subject designs are explored, along with the use of inferential statistics. A research proposal relevant to human service settings is also developed. 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status and a measurement and/or research course (CEP 534, PSYC 520, or equivalent). Offered spring and summer.

CEP 601: Cognitive Assessment
Lab experiences are provided in the administration, scoring, and interpretation of individual cognitive tests, with emphasis on the application of tests. Psychological report writing is also introduced. 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: matriculation into the school psychology program. Offered fall.

CEP 602: Social-Emotional Assessment and Intervention
Objective and projective techniques in the assessment of child and adolescent personalities are studied. Lab experiences are provided in test administration, scoring, and interpretation. 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CEP 534 and 551. Offered fall.
CEP 603: Professional School Psychology
This course covers the foundations of school psychology, roles and functions of psychologists in schools, professional standards and ethics, realities of practice, and vital issues for the profession.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: matriculation into the school psychology program. Offered spring.

CEP 604: Psychoeducational Assessment and Response-to-Intervention
The neuropsychological process in learning is reviewed, with lab work in the use of psychoeducational tests to identify learning problems. Remedial instructional strategies are also examined.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: prior or concurrent enrollment in CEP 601. Offered spring.

CEP 605: School Psychology Practicum
This is a yearlong, 400-hour practicum experience. Emphasis is on supervised practice in the problem-solving approach to school psychological service.
6 credit hours. Prerequisite: CEP 601, 603, and 604, each with a minimum grade of B. Offered fall and spring.

CEP 609: Ethical and Legal Issues in Counseling
Standards of practice, ethical codes, and applicable laws related to the counseling profession are reviewed. Emphasis is on developing an ethical decision-making model applicable to counseling issues.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: matriculation into a C.A.G.S. program or consent of department chair. Offered fall.

CEP 610: Advanced Clinical Internship I
A work-setting placement is provided under the supervision of a field supervisor and department faculty member. Besides weekly meetings with the faculty member, the student logs fifty work-setting hours for each credit hour to be earned.
6 credit hours. Prerequisite: CEP 609, 684 (with minimum grade of B), and matriculation into a C.A.G.S. program; or consent of department chair. Offered fall.

CEP 611: Advanced Clinical Internship II
Advanced field experience is provided under the joint direction of field supervisors and department faculty. Internship includes a two-hour seminar each week. Fifty hours of field experience per semester equals 1 credit hour earned.
6 credit hours. Prerequisite: CEP 610, with minimum grade of B, and matriculation into a C.A.G.S. program; or consent of department chair. Offered spring.

CEP 612: Cross-Cultural Counseling
Issues in counseling diverse groups are presented. Current counseling models are adapted to meet these groups’ specific needs.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: matriculation into a C.A.G.S. program or consent of department chair. Offered spring.

CEP 613: Psychopharmacology and Mental Health
The neuroscience perspective of human behavior and the mechanisms of drug action are studied. Attention is given to principles of psychopharmacology and the biology and treatment of mental illness.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CEP 536 or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

CEP 615: Organization, Operation, and Administration of Counseling Services in Schools
The practice, concepts, and trends in the organization, operation, and administration of counseling services in schools are studied.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: matriculation into a graduate program in counseling, educational leadership, or school psychology; or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

CEP 629: Internship in School Psychology
This internship consists of a 1,200-hour, one-year placement in a cooperating school system under the supervision of a certified school psychologist and a college faculty member. A weekly seminar is required.
12 credit hours. Prerequisite: CEP 604 and 605. Offered fall and spring.

CEP 663: Research and Information Technology for Counselors
Educational research and evaluation strategies are examined as they relate to student learning. The application of information technology to assessment and evidence-based practice in counseling are explored.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: matriculation into a C.A.G.S. program. Offered as needed.
CEP 675: Consultation and Collaboration in School and Community Settings
For graduate students in school psychology, school counselors, special educators, and administrators interested in collaboration. Emphasis is on direct and indirect support-service delivery in schools.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: matriculation into the counseling, educational leadership, or school psychology program; or consent of department chair. Offered fall.

CEP 682: Advanced Theory and Practice of Group Counseling
Theories of group counseling are presented and supervision is provided as students conduct requisite group counseling sessions in the field.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: matriculation into a C.A.G.S. program, CEP 537 or equivalent, or consent of department chair. Offered spring.

CEP 683: Advanced Clinical Practicum in Counseling I
Students extend and deepen their clinical counseling skills. Audio and video resources are used.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CEP 683, with minimum grade of B. Offered spring.

CEP 684: Advanced Clinical Practicum in Counseling II
This practicum further develops counseling and assessment skills. Students are required to apply their skills in a clinical setting, working a minimum of five hours per week.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CEP 683, with minimum grade of B. Offered spring.

CEP 686: Supervision in Counseling
Theoretical concepts and applied skills in the supervision of counseling are presented. Students develop their teaching, supervision, and consultation skills.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: matriculation into a C.A.G.S. program or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

CEP 690: Independent Study
Research is conducted under the supervision of a faculty advisor.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: matriculation into a C.A.G.S. program and consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

Curriculum (CURR)

CURR 501: Media Literacy, Popular Culture, and Education
This course provides conceptual and practical tools to help educators integrate media literacy into K–16 classrooms. Specific attention is given to cultural studies and social justice perspectives on literacy.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status or consent of department chair. Offered summer.

CURR 505: Learning Theory and Curriculum Research
Students examine how learning theory informs various approaches to curriculum. Included are behavioral, cognitive, developmental, humanistic, and interactionist theories of learning.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status or consent of department chair. Offered spring (odd years).

CURR 532: Curriculum Theory and Research
The rationale for curriculum construction is examined. Research in curriculum is reviewed as it pertains to the development of theory.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status or consent of department chair. Offered fall.

CURR 558: Internship in Curriculum I
This is a 150-hour field-based experience under the supervision of a curriculum director and a faculty advisor.
2 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status or consent of department chair. Offered fall.

CURR 560: Seminar in Curriculum
Topics vary.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

Dance (DANC)

DANC 110: Introductory Ballet
Ballet technique and the classical tradition in dance are introduced through an intensive studio experience, related readings, and attendance at ballet performances. (Formerly DANC 100: Fundamentals of Ballet.)
(4) 2 credit hours. Offered fall.
DANC 112: Introductory Jazz
The technique, rhythms, styles, and historical background of jazz dance are introduced through an intensive studio experience, related readings, and films. (Formerly DANC 101: Fundamentals of Jazz.)
(4) 2 credit hours. Offered fall.

DANC 114: Introductory Tap Dance
The technique, style, and vocabulary of tap dance are introduced through studio experience, related readings, and films. Emphasis is on the development of a strong fundamental technique.
(4) 2 credit hours. Offered fall (odd years).

DANC 181: Dance Company I
Credit is available to all qualified students who participate for the full academic year.
1 credit hour. Prerequisite: membership in the Rhode Island College Dance Company and consent of instructor. Offered spring.

DANC 210: Intermediate Ballet
Intermediate ballet technique and the classical tradition are studied through studio experience, related readings, and ballet performances. Emphasis is on the refinement of technique and elements of performance. (Formerly DANC 227: Ballet.)
(4) 2 credit hours. Prerequisite: DANC 110. Offered spring.

DANC 212: Intermediate Jazz
Intermediate jazz technique and the history of jazz dance are examined through studio experience, related readings, and films. Emphasis is on the refinement of technique and elements of performance. (Formerly DANC 237: Jazz Dance.)
(4) 2 credit hours. Prerequisite: DANC 112. Offered spring.

DANC 214: Intermediate Tap Dance
Intermediate tap technique and the history of tap dance are explored through studio experience, related readings, and films. Emphasis is on the refinement of technique and elements of performance.
(4) 2 credit hours. Prerequisite: DANC 114. Offered fall (even years).

DANC 215: Contemporary Dance and Culture
Students are introduced to the fundamentals of contemporary technique, improvisation, choreography, and performance. Studio and lecture. (Formerly DANC 116: Introductory Modern Dance.)
(5) 3 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Category A. Offered fall and spring.

DANC 216: Intermediate Modern Dance
Intermediate modern dance technique is provided in a studio experience. Emphasis is on the refinement of technique and elements of performance. (Formerly DANC 207.)
(4) 2 credit hours. Prerequisite: DANC 215. Offered fall.

DANC 281: Dance Company II
Credit is available to all qualified students who participate for the full academic year.
1 credit hour. Prerequisite: membership in the Rhode Island College Dance Company and consent of instructor. Offered spring.

DANC 302: Musical Resources for Dance
Study includes taking rhythmic dictation, composing rhythmic scores, and analyzing musical forms. Criteria are developed for the selection of music to support, supplement, or contrast with dance.
3 credit hours. Offered as needed.

DANC 303: Dance Production
The fundamentals of technical production are studied. Emphasis is on scenic design for dance and the technical aspects of lighting design. A minimum of twenty hours of laboratory work in a production is required. Lecture and laboratory.
(6) 3 credit hours. Offered as needed.

DANC 304: Choreography I
Binary and ternary dance forms are reviewed. Rondo, theme and variations, sonata, and other forms are choreographed. Dance history is summarized and exemplary performing artists are introduced.
(5) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: consent of instructor. Offered fall (even years).

DANC 306: Dance for Children
Students plan and supervise dance activities for children of different ages in various settings, including dance studios and classrooms. Exercises include creative movement and choreography for children. (Formerly DANC 316.)
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: DANC 215 and 304. Offered fall (even years).

DANC 309: Dance History
The development of dance as a performing art in Europe, Russia, and America is examined. Attention is given to the cultural context of dance events. (Formerly DANC 319.)
3 credit hours. Offered spring (odd years).
DANC 316: Advanced Modern Dance
Advanced modern dance technique is provided in a studio experience. Emphasis is on the refinement of technique and elements of performance through the mastery of complex movement sequences. (Formerly DANC 307.)
(4) 2 credit hours. Prerequisite: DANC 216. Offered spring (even years).

DANC 320: Touring Dance
Students participate in all aspects of the creation of a touring program for children. Programming includes repertory selection, analysis, rehearsal, performance, script development, and assessment of and responsibility for technical support.
(6) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: DANC 216. Offered spring (even years).

DANC 321: Dance for Musical Theatre
The performance of dance for musical theatre is studied in its theatrical context. Emphasis is on performance techniques and the characteristics of style. This course may be taken twice for credit.
(6) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: 9 credit hours of dance technique courses and consent of department chair. Offered spring.

DANC 322: Repertory Performance
Performance and style is examined through repertory experience. New or existing dance works are prepared for formal and informal performances. This course may be taken twice for credit. (Formerly DANC 317: Dance Performance.)
(6) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: 9 credit hours of dance technique courses and consent of department chair. Offered spring (odd years).

DANC 324: Improvisation/Performance
Students refine their facility for generating dance as a spontaneous response to movement structures and various stimuli. Included are frequent informal and occasional formal performances. This course may be taken twice for credit.
(4) 2 credit hours. Prerequisite: DANC 216. Offered as needed.

DANC 360: Seminar in Dance
This course builds on the student’s experiences in dance. Topics are announced in advance and allow the student to pursue investigations into select theories and problems.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: 6 credit hours of dance courses and consent of instructor. Offered as needed.

DANC 381: Dance Company III
Credit is available to all qualified students who participate for the full academic year.
1 credit hour. Prerequisite: membership in the Rhode Island College Dance Company and consent of instructor. Offered spring.

DANC 405: Choreography II
Dancers apply the fundamentals of choreography to create examples of preclassical and modern dance. These dances are presented in a demonstration workshop at the end of the semester.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: DANC 304. Offered as needed.

DANC 491: Independent Study in Dance
Students select a topic and undertake concentrated research under the supervision of a faculty advisor.
1–3 credit hours. Prerequisite: demonstration of superior ability and initiative in previous dance courses; and consent of instructor, department chair, and dean. Offered as needed.

DANC 492: Independent Performance in Dance
The student, working with a faculty advisor, selects a specific form or style in dance to which the work is restricted. Evidence of performance is presented during the student choreography showcase.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: demonstration of superior ability and initiative in previous dance courses; and consent of instructor, department chair, and dean. Offered as needed.

Early Childhood Education (ECED)

ECED 301: Developmental Approaches to Teaching and Learning
Developmentally appropriate approaches and teaching models for all early childhood education students, including atypical/exceptional, are learned through supervised practice. Observations and a multicultural/urban practicum are required.
(5) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: minimum GPA of 2.50 in all previous courses and admission to the early childhood education teacher preparation program, or consent of department chair. Offered fall and spring.
ECED 419: Early Care and Education, Birth to Three Years
Students create and maintain positive learning activities for infant-toddler group care. (Formerly ELED 419: Early Childhood Education: Day Care for Children from Birth to Three.)
(5) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: prior or concurrent enrollment in ECED 301, with minimum grade of B-; admission to the early childhood education teacher preparation program; or consent of department chair. Offered fall and spring.

ECED 420: Mathematics, Prekindergarten through Second Grade
Mathematics education in prekindergarten through second grade is examined. Also explored are the development of appropriate teaching/learning strategies, content, and materials related to teaching all young children. Practicum required.
(5) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: ECED 301 or equivalent and 419, each with minimum grade of B-; MATH 143 and 144, each with minimum grade of C; admission to the early childhood education teacher preparation program; or consent of department chair. Offered fall and spring.

ECED 423: Developmental Literacy and the Language Arts I
Developmentally appropriate methods and materials for promoting literacy and language skills, strategies, and dispositions for young children are explored, including children’s literature. Practicum: kindergarten and grade one.
(6) 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: ECED 301; ECED 419, with minimum grade of B-; prior or concurrent enrollment in ECED 420, with minimum grade of B-; admission to the early childhood education teacher preparation program; or consent of department chair. Offered fall and spring.

ECED 425: Developmental Literacy and the Language Arts II
Teacher candidates work with infants, toddlers, and preschoolers from diverse populations. Study includes managing classroom literacy programs through grade two. Practicum: infants through grade two.
(6) 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: ECED 301; ECED 419, 420, 423, each with minimum grade of B-; concurrent enrollment in ECED 429; admission to the early childhood education teacher preparation program; or consent of department chair. Offered fall and spring.

ECED 429: Social Studies and Science
Students use developmentally appropriate methods, content, and materials to establish positive learning environments. Practicum: prekindergarten and grade one. (Formerly ELED 429: Early Childhood Education: Social Studies and Science.)
(7) 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: BIOL 109, with minimum grade of C; ECED 301 or equivalent, with minimum grade of B-; ECED 419, 420, 423; prior or concurrent enrollment in ECED 425; PSCI 103 and POL 201, with minimum grade of C; admission to the early childhood education teacher preparation program; or consent of department chair. Offered fall and spring.

ECED 502: Curriculum, Developmental Play, and Programs
Development and content of curriculum and trends in research for early care and education through primary grades are examined. (Formerly ELED 502: Curriculum and Methods in Early Childhood Education.)
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status or consent of instructor. Offered fall.

ECED 503: Infants and Toddlers in Early Care and Education Programs
Components of quality group-care situations for infants and toddlers are analyzed. Topics include professional responsibilities and health and safety routines. (Formerly ELED 503: Infants/Toddlers in Group Care.)
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status or consent of instructor. Offered spring.

ECED 505: Early Childhood Education and Development Issues
This course fosters an understanding of various theoretical perspectives, issues of young children’s educational, physical, social, emotional, and cognitive development, focusing on typical and atypical growth, multicultural contexts and characteristics.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status or consent of instructor. Offered spring.

ECED 509: Emergent Literacy—Infants through Grade Two Students learn how to help young children acquire an interest in reading and learn the necessary concepts concerning print and books. (Formerly ELED 509: Emergent Literacy—Infants through Grade Two.)
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status or consent of instructor. Offered fall.
ECED 512: Working with Families: Building Home-School Partnerships
Students develop an understanding of parenting, of working with families within diverse contexts, and of building school, community, and family partnerships. Relevant National Board for Professional Teaching standards are reviewed.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status or consent of instructor. Offered spring.

ECED 661: Directing Early Care and Education Programs
Quality day care and preschool programs are analyzed and the administrative functions necessary to maintain them. (Formerly ELED 661: Seminar in Education: Designing and Directing Preschool and Day Care Programs.)
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status or consent of instructor. Offered spring.

ECED 662: Seminar in Early Childhood Education Research
Students gain increased professional knowledge and competencies in finding, assessing, applying, and presenting data related to selected major topics in the field of early childhood education. (Formerly ELED 662.)
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status or consent of instructor. Offered fall.

Economics (ECON)

ECON 200: Introduction to Economics
This course fosters an understanding of contemporary economic problems, such as economic growth and inflation. Students cannot receive credit for ECON 200 if they have successfully completed or are currently enrolled in ECON 214.
3 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Category SB. Offered fall, spring, summer.

ECON 214: Principles of Microeconomics
Microeconomics is introduced, including such areas of decision making as individual demand theory, cost theory, production theory, and the structure of markets.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: completion of College Mathematics Requirement. Offered fall, spring, summer.

ECON 215: Principles of Macroeconomics
The U.S. economy as a whole is considered and problems of inflation and recession are explored by examining aggregate demand, aggregate supply, national product and income, and the influence of money and interest rates on the economy.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: ECON 214. Offered fall, spring, summer.

ECON 313: Managerial Economics
Economic analysis is applied to managerial decisions. Topics include techniques for analyzing and estimating revenue, cost, and profit; and pricing and profit-maximizing strategies within different market structures.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: ECON 214 and either MATH 240 or 248. Offered spring.

ECON 314: Intermediate Microeconomic Theory and Applications
Theoretical foundations covered in ECON 214 are expanded upon and myriad applications of these theories are developed, using graphical and mathematical techniques. The role of microeconomics in managerial decision making is also explored.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: ECON 214, 215; MATH 238. Offered fall and spring.

ECON 315: Intermediate Macroeconomic Theory and Analysis
Macroeconomic models are used to analyze economic growth, unemployment, and inflation. Also examined are the effectiveness of fiscal and monetary policies, using models depicting the interactions of product, resource, and financial markets.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: ECON 214, 215; MATH 238. Offered spring.

ECON 390: Directed Study
Students select a topic and undertake concentrated research under the supervision of a faculty advisor.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

ECON 421: International Economics
The theory of international trade is analyzed. Topics include the benefits of trade and the effects of tariffs, quotas, and customs unions. Also covered are the theories of international monetary relations, capital flows, and exchange rates.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: ECON 214, 215; MATH 177. Offered as needed.
ECON 422: Economics of Developing Countries
The characteristics of developing countries and the process of economic development are examined. Topics include poverty, inequality, unemployment, capital formation in industry and agriculture, and the effects of foreign trade and aid.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: ECON 214, 215; MATH 177. Offered as needed.

ECON 423: Financial Markets and Institutions
Students examine the markets in which securities are traded and the institutions that participate in these markets. Students cannot receive credit for both ECON 423 and FIN 423.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: FIN 330. Offered fall and spring.

ECON 431: Labor Economics
The structures and operations of human resource markets are analyzed, including pricing and allocation of labor resources, wage differentials, income distribution, discrimination, and unemployment. (Formerly Human Resources Economics.)

3 credit hours. Prerequisite: ECON 214, 215; MATH 177. Offered as needed.

ECON 449: Applied Forecasting Techniques
The quantitative methods used in testing theoretical propositions in economics and business are presented. Emphasis is on the use of regression, time-series models, and other econometric methods.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: ECON 214, 215; MGT 249; MATH 248. Offered fall.

ECON 461: History of Economic Thought
The development of economic thought is examined from the prescholastics through the middle of the twentieth century. This seminar is the first part of a two-semester capstone experience in economics. (Formerly ECON 453.)
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: ECON 314, 315, and at least one additional economics course at the 300-level or above. Offered fall.

ECON 462: Seminar in Economic Research
Students integrate their experience in economic theories, methodologies, concepts, and applications. Literature in a variety of fields of economics is analyzed. A research paper and presentation are also required. (Formerly ECON 460.)
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: ECON 449, 461, and at least two additional economics courses at the 300-level or above. Offered spring.

Education Doctoral Program (EDP)

EDP 610–611: Core Seminar I: Issues and Problems in Educational Inquiry and Foundations
Issues and problems are presented related to the philosophical and historical aspects of educational thought and the role of the school in society. Emphasis is on empirical analysis of classroom settings.
6 credit hours. Prerequisite: admission to the Ph.D. in education program. EDP 610 is prerequisite to EDP 611. Offered fall and spring.
EDP 612: Introduction to Qualitative Research
Qualitative methods of educational research, including terminology, historical development, assumptions, and models of inquiry, are examined.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: admission to the Ph.D. in education program. Offered fall.

EDP 613: Introduction to Quantitative Research
The quantitative analysis of educational research data is examined. Emphasis is on applications of the general linear model to a variety of research designs (i.e., ANOVA, Regression). Lecture and computer laboratory.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: admission to the Ph.D. in education program. Offered spring.

EDP 620–621: Core Seminar II: Issues and Problems in Human Development, Learning, and Teaching
Issues and problems related to human development, curriculum, teaching, and learning are examined, with emphasis on the ways of gathering and evaluating evidence about school and curricula effectiveness.
6 credit hours. Prerequisite: EDP 610–611. EDP 620 is prerequisite to EDP 621. Offered fall and spring.

EDP 622: Community Service Learning
Focusing on the school, students examine theory and define problems related to community service and service learning. (Formerly Field Research II.)
2 credit hours. Prerequisite: EDP 610–611. Offered as needed.

EDP 623: Research Design
Students develop problem statements, research questions, hypotheses, and literature reviews, and identify appropriate methodology (qualitative, quantitative, mixed methods).
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: EDP 610–611, 612, 613, or consent of codirector. Offered fall.

EDP 630–631: Core Seminar III: Issues and Problems in Organizational Theory, Leadership, and Policy Analysis
Issues and problems are presented concerning the educational applications of organizational theory, leadership theory, and policy analysis as they relate to district, statewide, and/or regional educational offices and agencies.
6 credit hours. Prerequisite: EDP 620–621. EDP 630 is prerequisite to EDP 631. Offered fall and spring.

EDP 641: Field Research Seminar
Second- and third-year students research questions and empirical designs and present them in biweekly forums. Discussion and feedback refine their research plans.
1 credit hour. Prerequisite: admission to the Ph.D. in education program. Offered fall and spring.

EDP 661: Language and Thinking in Schools
Students consider language and thinking as they relate theoretically and practically to curricula in schools. Focus is on a variety of seminal perspectives in the professional literature.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: EDP 610–611 or consent of co-director. Offered as needed.

EDP 662: Culture, Discourse, and Education
Students examine teaching and learning in relation to culture and discourse in social activity contexts of schools, classrooms, families, and community sites. Focus is on theories, methods, and findings of research.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: EDP 610–611 or consent of co-director. Offered as needed.

EDP 663: Discourse Analysis in Education Research
Students examine and practice the analysis of discourse methodology in educational research. Various analyses of discourse samples are conducted and a variety of analytic research frameworks are explored.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: EDP 662 and consent of major instructor. Offered as needed.

EDP 664: Social Justice in Higher Education
Through course readings, discussions, and assignments, students examine the theoretical and historical circumstances, current research, and practical applications of social justice issues in higher education.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: EDP 610–611 or consent of co-director. Offered as needed.

EDP 692–693: Directed Readings and Research Problems
Students undertake directed readings and advanced research work under the supervision of their major instructor.
1–3 credit hours. Prerequisite: EDP 623 and consent of instructor. Offered as needed.
EDP 699: Doctoral Dissertation Research
Students conduct a major research project and write a dissertation under the direction of the instructor. A minimum of 12 credit hours in this course is required.
1–6 credit hours. Prerequisite: admission to the Ph.D. in education program and consent of major instructor and RIC co-director. Offered as needed.

Educational Leadership (LEAD)

LEAD 500: Developing Leaders for Learning
Effective leadership skills and dispositions are examined. Emphasis is on understanding human learning processes, developing an educational vision, and becoming a reflective leader. The role of values in leadership is also introduced.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status and concurrent enrollment in LEAD 501, or consent of department chair. Offered fall.

LEAD 501: Developing Inquiry for Reflective Leadership
The roles of critical inquiry, research, and evaluation in reflective leadership are explored. A field research project that focuses on school system structures and processes is required.
1 credit hour. Prerequisite: graduate status and concurrent enrollment in LEAD 501, or consent of department chair. Offered fall.

LEAD 502: Building Connections: External Contexts of Leadership
Students explore methods of communicating with and influencing decision makers outside the school community to promote equitable access in learning. Emphasis is on building sociopolitical and fiscal resources to support learning.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: admission to the M.Ed. in educational leadership program, LEAD 500, and concurrent enrollment in LEAD 503. Offered spring.

LEAD 503: Building Connections in Diverse Contexts
Students develop skill in communication, organization, and collaboration in diverse contexts. A fifty-hour field experience in an urban agency, or in a family- or youth-serving agency or school, is required. Performance-based assessments are expected.
1 credit hour. Prerequisite: admission to the M.Ed. in educational leadership program and concurrent enrollment in LEAD 502. Offered spring.

LEAD 504: Leading Learning I: Planning, Instruction, Assessment
Students develop skills and dispositions needed for instructional and transformational leadership. Emphasis is on articulating an equitable vision for learning through critical reflection and on advocating data-based decision making and accountability.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: LEAD 502. Offered fall.

LEAD 505: Leading Learning II: Collaboration, Supervision, Technology
Students enact an equitable educational platform for learning characterized by collaborative instructional teams, effective supervision, and systematic monitoring of learning outcomes. The role of information technology is examined.
2 credit hours. Prerequisite: LEAD 504 and concurrent enrollment in LEAD 511. Offered spring.

LEAD 506: Creating Learning Structures: Equity, Law, Practice
Policy making and legislation at the local, state, and federal levels to advance learning are reviewed. Emphasis is on creating and managing structures for safe, equitable, and effective learning organizations.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: LEAD 505. Offered summer.

LEAD 507: Leading Change I: Challenges, Capacity, Transformation
Models, strategies, and research on change and conflict resolution to improve school culture are examined. Emphasis is on the use of problem-framing, outcome monitoring, and data analysis in building capacity.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: LEAD 506. Offered fall.

LEAD 508: Leading Change II: Research, Accountability, Ethics
This course synthesizes the research, examines ethical practice, and promotes individual and group reflective practice for leading change. Accountability through critical inquiry and evidence-based decision making is emphasized.
2 credit hours. Prerequisite: LEAD 507 and concurrent enrollment in LEAD 512. Offered spring.

LEAD 511: Leadership Internship I
This initial 150-hour, school-based experience nurtures entry-level competencies in promoting positive school culture and best practice for leading learning. Competency-focused work samples and dispositional assessments are expected.
2 credit hours. Prerequisite: concurrent enrollment in LEAD 505. Offered spring.
LEAD 512: Leadership Internship II
This final 150-hour, school-based experience focuses on consolidating entry-level competencies in promoting positive school culture and leading change. Submission of a competency-focused performance-based portfolio is required. 2 credit hours. Prerequisite: concurrent enrollment in LEAD 508. Offered spring.

LEAD 520: Courts, Laws, and Schools
This course is designed for educators with limited knowledge of or experience with the legal system. Students develop a basic understanding of the judicial system in Rhode Island. 3 credit hours. Offered summer.

LEAD 521: Family Court and Schools
Focus is on family court and the increasing number of difficult family and juvenile situations. School leaders work with the judicial system to find proactive solutions to problems facing juveniles. 3 credit hours. Offered summer.

LEAD 522: Classroom to Courtroom
Educators develop a mock trial to highlight the consequences for youth charged with serious legal offenses. 3 credit hours. Offered summer.

LEAD 523: Leadership, Law, and School Practices
Educators develop cutting-edge leadership skills to enhance their leadership practice. This course is sponsored by RILEP and the Rhode Island Supreme Court. 3 credit hours. Offered summer.

ELED 300: Concepts of Teaching
The technical skills of teaching; a repertoire of teaching models; and classroom management strategies for all children, including the atypical/exceptional are presented. Observations and multicultural/urban laboratory experiences are required. (5) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: FNED 346, with minimum grade of B-; minimum GPA of 2.50 in all previous courses; and admission to the elementary education teacher preparation program; or consent of department chair. Offered fall and spring.

ELED 422: Teaching Developmental Reading I
This field-based experience is concerned with reading instruction from a developmental perspective. Instructional implications for teaching special populations are covered. Focus is on the elements of a balanced program in reading and writing. (5) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: ELED 300, with minimum grade of B-; admission to the elementary education teacher preparation program; or consent of department chair. Offered fall and spring.

ELED 424: Teaching Developmental Reading II
In this second elementary reading methods course, students investigate alternative teaching methods and materials for diverse populations and are responsible for managing and organizing a classroom for reading instruction. (5) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: ELED 300, 422, and 435, each with minimum grade of B-; admission to the elementary education teacher preparation program; or consent of department chair. Offered fall and spring.

ELED 435: Teaching Language Arts in the Elementary School
The role of language arts in elementary schools and the development of teaching/learning strategies are examined, including teaching language arts to special populations. Laboratory/conference required. (5) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: ELED 300, with minimum grade of B-; admission to the elementary education teacher preparation program; or consent of department chair. Offered fall and spring.

Elementary Education (ELED)

ELED 261: Disability Viewed through Cross-Cultural Lenses
Beyond official definitions, disability is a relative condition subject to different interpretations within given sociocultural contexts. Focus is on Western and non-Western cultures and their views of disability. 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: Gen. Ed. Core 1, 2, and 3. Fulfills Gen. Ed. Core 4. Offered fall and spring.
ELED 436: Teaching Elementary School Social Studies
The role of social studies in elementary schools and the development of teaching/learning strategies are examined, including teaching social studies to special populations. Laboratory/conference required.
(5) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: ELED 300, with minimum grade of B-; ELED 422 and 435, each with minimum grade of B-; POL 201, with minimum grade of C; admission to the elementary education teacher preparation program; or consent of department chair. Offered fall and spring.

ELED 437: Teaching Elementary School Science
The role of science in elementary schools and the development of teaching/learning strategies are examined, including teaching science to special populations. Laboratory/conference required.
(5) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: BIOL 109 and PSCI 103, each with minimum grade of C, except for students electing a content major in general science; ELED 300, with minimum grade of B-; ELED 422 and 435, each with minimum grade of B-; admission to the elementary education teacher preparation program; or consent of department chair. Offered fall and spring.

ELED 438: Teaching Elementary School Mathematics
The role of mathematics in elementary schools and the development of teaching/learning strategies are examined, including teaching mathematics to special populations. Laboratory/conference required.
(5) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: ELED 300, with minimum grade of B-; ELED 422 and 435, each with minimum grade of B-; MATH 143 and 144, each with minimum grade of C; admission to the elementary education teacher preparation program; or consent of department chair. Offered fall and spring.

ELED 439: Student Teaching in the Elementary School
In this culminating field experience, candidates complete a teaching experience in a preschool or elementary school under the supervision of a cooperating teacher and college supervisor. This is a full-semester assignment.
10 credit hours. Prerequisite: concurrent enrollment in ELED 469; satisfactory completion of all major and professional courses required prior to student teaching; a positive recommendation from the professor of each elementary education course; a cumulative GPA of 2.50 a full semester prior to student teaching; passing score(s) on the Praxis II, approved Preparing to Teach Portfolio; completion of the community service requirement; and a negative result from the required tuberculin test. Offered fall and spring.

ELED 469: Student Teaching Seminar in Elementary Education
Teacher behaviors appropriate to effective teaching are developed. Topics include classroom and time management, effective communication, learning styles, and teaching strategies. This seminar meets weekly.
2 credit hours. Prerequisite: concurrent enrollment in ELED 439. Offered fall and spring.

ELED 490: Directed Study
Students select a topic and undertake concentrated research under the supervision of a faculty advisor.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

ELED 500: Reflections: The Art and Science of Teaching
Focus is on elements that contribute to the making of an effective teacher, such as general pedagogical knowledge, knowledge of educational contexts, and knowledge of self as teacher. Field work and observations are required.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: prior or concurrent enrollment in CEP 552 and matriculation into M.A.T. program. Offered fall and spring.

ELED 501: Reading in the Content Areas
Focus is on methods that help K–12 students learn from subject matter materials.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status or consent of instructor. Offered fall, spring, summer.
ELED 504: Mathematics in the Elementary School
Focus is on the content and approach to modern mathematics programs, particularly current research and curriculum trends. 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status and elementary school teaching experience, or consent of instructor. Offered fall and spring.

ELED 506: Elementary Mathematics: Geometry, Measurement, Data, Statistics
Elementary mathematics curriculum, content knowledge, standards-based instruction, and research in pedagogy are linked to the teaching of geometry, measurement, and data in the elementary classroom. 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status and elementary school teaching experience, or consent of instructor. Offered annually.

ELED 507: Teaching Reading and Writing to English-as-a-Second-Language Students
Focus is on second-language literacy in reading and writing for limited-English-proficient students. Students cannot receive credit for both ELED 507 and TESL 507. 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status and TESL 539 or 541 or 549. Offered fall.

ELED 508: Language Arts in the Elementary School
Research and theory as it applies to oral and written language learning, classroom talk, sociocultural diversity in communication styles, and the teacher's role in a child-centered classroom are examined. 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status or consent of instructor. Offered summer.

ELED 510: Research Methods, Analysis, and Applications
Practitioners and consumers of research literature examine the process, products, and application of educational inquiry. Topics include research design, data collection, and analysis. 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status and prior work in research methods or applied research, or tests and measurements, or statistics; or consent of instructor. Offered fall, spring, summer.

ELED 512: Theoretical Perspectives on How Students Learn
The research on learning and theory are explored that have informed teaching in the United States. Study includes the foundations of traditional and constructivist education. 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status. Offered annually.

ELED 513: Designing and Assessing Teaching and Learning
Students examine the theory and strategies for designing and assessing instruction, considering the diversity of learners, the nature of content, and ways of knowing. 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: ELED 512. Offered annually.

ELED 514: Educational Change
Applications of change models are incorporated into professional and educational settings. Course readings and projects explore models of educational change and reform through teachers’ professional development and grant-writing activities. 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: ELED 513 and matriculation into the M.Ed. program. Offered annually.

ELED 515: Literature in the Elementary School
The development of various patterns of literature instruction in the elementary school are studied. Emphasis is on the development and enrichment of children's literary taste and appreciation. Laboratory experiences are included. 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: elementary school teaching experience or consent of instructor. Offered fall.

ELED 518: Science in the Elementary School
Emphasis is on recent research and curriculum trends in science education. Individual and group laboratory experiences employ various science processes. 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: one year of college-level science or consent of instructor. Offered fall, spring, summer.

ELED 519: Professional Development for Cooperating Teachers
Cooperating teachers gain knowledge, tools, and experience that help them prepare teacher candidates to meet professional requirements in elementary and early childhood education. This course may be repeated after four years. Hybrid course. 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status and currently serving as a cooperating teacher, or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.
ELED 522: Developmental Reading: M.A.T. Practicum I
Research and theory as it applies to developmental reading and associated teaching methods are examined. Emphasis is on application and authentic assessment in practicum settings with diverse populations.
(5) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: admission to the M.A.T. program, CEP 552, ELED 500, FNED 546, minimum GPA of 3.0, or consent of department chair. Offered fall and spring.

ELED 524: Developmental Reading: M.A.T. Practicum II
Focus is on advanced research and theory in organizing and managing reading programs. Emphasis is on investigating alternative teaching materials and methods for diverse populations in a practicum setting.
(5) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: admission to the M.A.T. program, CEP 552, ELED 500 and either 522 or 534 (M.A.T. only section), FNED 546, minimum GPA of 3.0, or consent of department chair. Offered spring and summer.

ELED 527: Language Arts M.A.T. Practicum
Research and theory as it applies to language arts and associated teaching methods are examined. Emphasis is on application and authentic assessment in practicum settings with diverse populations.
(5) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: admission to the M.A.T. program, CEP 552, ELED 500, FNED 546, minimum GPA of 3.0, or consent of department chair. Offered fall.

ELED 528: Social Studies in the Elementary School
Students examine and evaluate objectives, content, and the organization of social studies curriculum resource materials and selected instructional models in the light of current recommendations and research data.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: elementary school teaching experience or consent of instructor. Offered fall.

ELED 534: Developmental Reading: Prekindergarten through Grade Eight
Included are emergent literacy, reading and the other language arts, word recognition strategies, comprehension processes, study skills, and literacy evaluation. Emphasis is on recent research and curriculum trends in literacy education.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status and ELED 422 or equivalent, or elementary school teaching experience, or consent of instructor. Offered fall and spring.

ELED 535: The Newspaper in the Classroom
Elementary, middle, junior high, and high school teachers learn to use the newspaper as an instructional tool. A field trip to the Providence Journal is included. (Formerly Using the Newspaper to Teach Basic Skills.)
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status. Offered summer.

ELED 536: Social Studies M.A.T. Practicum
Research and theory as it applies to social studies and associated teaching methods are examined. Emphasis is on application and authentic assessment in practicum settings with diverse populations.
(5) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: admission to the M.A.T. program, CEP 552, ELED 500, FNED 546, minimum GPA of 3.0, or consent of department chair. Offered fall.

ELED 537: Science M.A.T. Practicum
Research and theory as it applies to science and associated teaching methods are examined. Emphasis is on application and authentic assessment in practicum settings with diverse populations.
(5) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: admission to the M.A.T. program, CEP 552, ELED 500, FNED 546, minimum GPA of 3.0, or consent of department chair. Offered spring.

ELED 538: Mathematics M.A.T. Practicum
Research and theory as it applies to mathematics and associated teaching methods are examined. Emphasis is on application and authentic assessment in practicum settings with diverse populations.
(5) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: admission to the M.A.T. program, CEP 552, ELED 500, FNED 546, minimum GPA of 3.0, or consent of department chair. Offered fall.

ELED 558: Teaching and Learning Writing
Focus is on the nature of composition, text types, and genre, including narration, exposition, description, and persuasion. (Formerly Developing Composition and Creative Writing Skills in the Elementary School.)
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status and ELED 508, or consent of instructor. Offered summer (as needed).
ELED 559: Student Teaching in the Elementary School
In this culminating field experience, candidates complete a teaching experience in a preschool or elementary school under the supervision of a cooperating teacher and college supervisor. This is a full-semester assignment.
10 credit hours. Prerequisite: satisfactory completion of all courses in the M.A.T. in elementary education program required prior to student teaching; a positive recommendation from the professor of each elementary education course; a minimum grade of C+ in all professional education courses; a cumulative GPA of 3.0 a full semester prior to student teaching; passing score(s) on the Praxis II, approved Preparing to Teach Portfolio; and a negative result from the required tuberculin test. Offered fall and spring.

ELED 569: Student Teaching Seminar in Elementary Education
Teacher behaviors appropriate to effective teaching are developed. Topics include classroom and time management, effective communication, learning styles, and teaching strategies. This seminar meets weekly.
2 credit hours. Prerequisite: concurrent enrollment in ELED 559. Offered fall and spring.

ELED 605: Elementary School Curriculum
Significant trends in the development of American society, current emphasis on the disciplines of knowledge, focus on processes, and recent research in pedagogy are linked to the curriculum of the elementary school.
3 credit hours. Offered summer.

ELED 619: Elementary Mathematics Assessment and Remediation Clinic
Focus is on the assessment and remediation of mathematics difficulties, proficiency in topics central to elementary mathematics, and understanding how children learn mathematics. This course is taught in a six-week summer clinic.
(16) 6 credit hours. ELED 504 and 506. Offered summer.

ELED 629: Remedial Reading Clinic
Emphasis is on the diagnosis and treatment of reading difficulties. Students gain proficiency in using strategies for overcoming reading difficulties and practice these techniques in a six-week summer reading clinic.
6 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status; ELED 501, 534, 685, 686. Offered summer.

ELED 641: Administration of Reading Programs
The role of the reading consultant in improving reading instruction is examined. Included is a study of the concept of literacy, a review of model reading programs, the change process, and curriculum planning.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status and ELED 663. Offered spring.

ELED 663: Seminar in Education: Review of Research in Reading
Focus is on the teacher as researcher. Applications of current instructional research are integrated into a student project.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status and ELED 629. Offered fall.

ELED 664: Seminar in Education
Topics vary.
3 credit hours. Offered fall.

ELED 685: Diagnosis of Reading Difficulties
Through lectures, demonstrations, and experiences, students are introduced to the theory of reading difficulties and develop skill in diagnosis. This course is intended for professionals who work with disabled readers.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status; ELED 501 or 534. Offered fall.

ELED 686: Treatment of Reading Difficulties
Focus is on current theories, practices, and materials concerning students who have reading difficulties. This course is intended for professionals who work with disabled readers.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status and ELED 685. Offered spring.

ELED 691–694: Directed Research
Students initiate a formal inquiry into an area of concern associated with their present professional responsibilities under the direction of a faculty member. A maximum of 4 credit hours may be earned in these courses.
1–4 credit hours. Prerequisite: enrollment in the M.Ed. program in secondary education or the educational specialist programs and consent of department chair. Offered as needed.
English (ENGL)

Unless otherwise noted, prior to enrolling in any 300-level English course, all students must complete the College Writing Requirement (or WRTG 100) and ENGL 161. Also note, ENGL 201 must be completed before ENGL 202, and ENGL 202 must be completed before taking any 300- or 400-level English course.

ENGL 010: Basic Writing Skills
This course is designed to help basic writers develop effective short essays. Concurrent enrollment in COLL 101 is required, along with four hours a semester in the Writing Center. Grading is S or U.
3 credit hours (this credit does not apply toward the 120-credit-hour graduation requirement, but counts toward full-time enrollment and is recorded on the student’s transcript). Offered fall, spring, summer.

ENGL 113: Approaches to Drama
Dramatic literature, past and present, is studied through analysis of selected plays.
4 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Category A. Offered fall and spring.

ENGL 116: Approaches to Film and Film Criticism
Film as an art form is studied through viewing and analyzing representative films and by reading and writing essays on the aesthetics of film.
4 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Category A. Offered fall and spring.

ENGL 117: Approaches to Global Literature
Literature as an art form and as an expression of diverse cultural voices is studied, including the voices of women, minorities, and non-Western authors. (Formerly Contemporary Approaches to Literature.)
3 credit hours. Offered fall and spring.

ENGL 161: Western Literature
Students examine the culture and heritage of the Western world as expressed in literature.
4 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Core 1. Offered fall, spring, summer.

ENGL 163: Introduction to Non-Western Literary Cultures
Various literary writings are used to introduce students to selected themes and topics in relation to the history and culture of one or more non-Western societies. Sections of this course are titled: (1) African Narrative and (2) Modern India: A Crisis of Identity and Direction.
4 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Core 3. Offered fall, spring, summer.

ENGL 201: Introduction to Literary Study I
The principles that define form and meaning in a literary text are examined. Emphasis is on close reading and on acquiring a critical vocabulary and methodology.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: ENGL 161 and WRTG 100 (or completion of the College Writing Requirement). Offered fall and spring.

3 credit hours. Prerequisite: MGT 301. Offered as needed.

MGT 423: Compensation and Benefits Administration
The process of designing and managing a cost-effective, equitable, and legally acceptable total compensation package is examined. Topics include economic, social, and legal determinants of base pay; and incentives and benefits.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: MGT 320. Offered fall.

MGT 424: Employee Relations and Performance Appraisal
Employee relations in union and nonunion organizations are examined. Topics include performance appraisal systems for nonunion environments, and laws, elections, and contract administration for union environments.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: MGT 320. Offered spring.
MGT 425: Recruitment and Selection
Concepts and methods involved in designing and managing the recruitment and selection functions of management are examined. (Formerly Selection, Training, and Development.)
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: MGT 320. Offered fall.

MGT 428: Human Resource Development
The concepts, programs, and practices that organizations use to train and develop its members are examined. Topics include learning, needs assessment, program design and implementation, evaluation, skills training, and coaching.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: MGT 320. Offered spring.

MGT 455: Strategic Operations Management
Emphasis is on the strategic integration of operations across functional areas to achieve sustainable competitive advantage in manufacturing and service organizations.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: MGT 301 and 348. Offered as needed.

MGT 461: Seminar in Strategic Management
Focus is on the formulation and implementation of organizational strategies and policies. The case method is used in integrating material from other management and economics courses. (Formerly Seminar in Managerial Policy.)
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: satisfactory completion of all other departmental required and cognate courses, and 102 credit hours of undergraduate courses. Offered fall and spring.

MGT 467: Directed Internship
Students are assigned to a business or nonprofit organization and earn three credits for topical course work, a two-hour biweekly seminar, and 120 hours of organization work, supervised by a mentor.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: MGT 301, completion of at least 60 college credits, a major or minor in a School of Management program, and consent of internship director and appropriate faculty member. Offered fall, spring, summer.

MGT 490: Directed Study
The student selects a topic and undertakes concentrated research under the supervision of a faculty advisor.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

Marketing (MKT)

MKT 301: Introduction to Marketing
This is an examination of the role of marketing in society, consumer behavior, product management, pricing, distribution, and promotion.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: completion of at least 45 college credits. Offered fall, spring, summer.

MKT 310: Product Design and Development
The development process of new products, from idea generation to launch, is explored.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: MKT 301. Offered as needed.

MKT 315: Marketing Creativity
Focus is on the creative marketing of new products, along with services, promotions, and distribution. Students develop a novel prototype in at least one of the areas listed above.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: MKT 301. Offered fall and spring.

MKT 320: Business Marketing
This is an integrated study of the theory and practice of industrial marketing. Similarities between consumer-goods marketing and industrial-goods marketing are highlighted and analysis is made of decisions involving industrial marketing.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: MKT 301. Offered spring.

MKT 322: Services Marketing
Focus is on the difference between service industries and manufacturing industries. Topics include the development of marketing strategies in service industries.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: MKT 301. Offered fall.

MKT 323: Direct Marketing
Direct marketing strategy and techniques are introduced. Topics include databases, electronic media, direct mail, catalogs, direct response advertising, telemarketing, and the role of direct marketing in the marketing mix.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: MKT 301. Offered spring.

MKT 329: Global Marketing
Global issues that confront today’s international marketers are addressed. Concepts relevant to all international marketers are presented, regardless of the extent of their international involvement.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: MKT 301. Offered fall and spring.
MKT 333: Market Research
The role of marketing information as the basis for decision making is studied, including the cost and value of information, research design and instrumentation, data analysis, and forecasting. Problem-solving exercises are included.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: MGT 249 and MKT 301. Offered fall and spring.

MKT 334: Consumer Behavior
The marketing environment, consumer behavior, and market segmentation is studied. Emphasis is on understanding the turbulent environment surrounding the marketing decision maker.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: MKT 301. Offered fall and spring.

MKT 335: Marketing Communications and Promotion
Basic promotional tools available to the marketing manager are studied: advertising, sales promotion, personal selling, and publicity.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: MKT 301. Offered spring.

MKT 337: Retail Management
Emphasis is on retail strategies and the managerial planning required to meet objectives.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: MKT 301. Offered fall.

MKT 338: Advertising
The key processes of modern advertising practice are studied. Students cannot receive credit for both COMM 338 and MKT 338. (Formerly MKT 438.)
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: MKT 301. Offered spring.

MKT 340: Personal Selling and Sales Management
Focus is on personal selling, a subset of the promotional element of marketing strategy, which involves face-to-face relationships, personal influence, and complex communication processes. (Formerly Sales Management.)
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: MKT 301. Offered fall.

MKT 347: Supply Chain Management
Emphasis is on design and management of activities along the supply chain, from purchasing and materials management to distribution and transportation systems. Students cannot receive credit for both MGT 347 and MKT 347.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: MGT 301 and MKT 301. Offered as needed.

MKT 462: Strategic Marketing Management
This capstone course integrates the marketing functions of product, price, channels, and promotion with the concepts of strategic planning. Emphasis is on the relevance of this integration to marketing.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: MKT 301, 329, 333, 334, and one additional 300-level marketing course. Offered spring.

MKT 467: Directed Internship
Students are assigned to a business or nonprofit organization and earn three credits for topical course work, a two-hour biweekly seminar, and 120 hours of organization work, supervised by a mentor.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: MKT 301, completion of at least 60 college credits, a major or minor in a School of Management program, and consent of internship director and appropriate faculty member. Offered fall, spring, summer.

Mathematics (MATH)
Prior to enrolling in any mathematics course above 120, all students must have completed the College Mathematics Requirement.

MATH 010: Basic Mathematics Competency
Satisfactory completion of this course fulfills the College Mathematics Requirement. Topics include problem solving, beginning algebra, geometry, measurement, introductory probability and statistics, and graphs and charts.
4 credit hours (this course does not apply toward the 120-credit-hour graduation requirement, but counts toward full-time enrollment and is recorded on the student’s transcript). Offered fall, spring, summer.

MATH 120: Intermediate Algebra
Intended for students needing intermediate algebra skills, especially for MATH 177, 209, 238, or 247, this course includes absolute value, inequalities, exponents and radicals, algebraic fractions, and quadratic and exponential functions.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: MATH 010 or equivalent and consent of department chair. Offered fall, spring, summer.

MATH 139: Contemporary Topics in Mathematics
Areas of modern mathematics that have application in contemporary society are introduced. Topics include the mathematics of social science, graph theory, consumer mathematics, and statistics.
4 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Category M. Offered fall, spring, summer.
MATH 143: Mathematics for Elementary School Teachers I
Emphasis is on problem solving, model building, and algorithm development appropriate for the mathematics curriculum in the elementary/middle school. Topics include numeration and the development of number systems. Lecture and laboratory. 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: three units of college preparatory mathematics. Offered fall, spring, summer.

MATH 144: Mathematics for Elementary School Teachers II
A continuation of MATH 143, this course includes geometry and measurement, counting problems, probability, and statistics. Lecture and laboratory. 4 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Category M for elementary education students only. Prerequisite: MATH 143, with a minimum grade of C, or consent of department chair. Offered fall, spring, summer.

MATH 177: Quantitative Business Analysis I
Topics include linear and selected nonlinear functions, linear systems, matrix methods, and an introduction to linear programming. Applications to management and economics are stressed throughout. 3 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Category M. Prerequisite: three units of college preparatory mathematics or MATH 120 or consent of department chair. Offered fall, spring, summer.

MATH 181: Applied Basic Mathematics
Emphasis is on applying numeric, geometric, and algebraic concepts and skills, including logarithms and right triangle trigonometry, to a wide variety of situations in beginning science and technical fields. Lecture and laboratory. (4) 3 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Category M. Prerequisite: MATH 010 or equivalent. Offered fall, spring, summer.

MATH 200: Finite Mathematics for Computer Science
Selected mathematical concepts and techniques are studied. Topics include binary and hexadecimal arithmetic, computer-related logic, Boolean algebra, combinatorics, vectors, matrices, and an introduction to graphs. 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: three units of college preparatory mathematics or MATH 120. Offered fall and spring.

MATH 209: Precalculus Mathematics
The functions, concepts, and techniques of algebra and trigonometry considered essential in the study and applications of calculus are introduced and/or reinforced. 4 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Category M. Prerequisite: three units of college preparatory mathematics or MATH 120. Offered fall, spring, summer.

MATH 210: College Trigonometry
This is an in-depth study of trigonometry. Topics include a comprehensive analysis of trigonometric and inverse trigonometric functions and solutions of triangles, vectors, and polar coordinates. 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: three units of college preparatory mathematics or MATH 120 or 181. Offered spring.

MATH 212: Calculus I
This course covers the fundamental concepts, techniques, and applications of the differential calculus of one variable and begins the study of integration. 4 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Category M. Prerequisite: MATH 209. Offered fall, spring, summer.

MATH 213: Calculus II
A continuation of MATH 212, topics include derivatives and integrals of logarithmic, exponential, and inverse trigonometric functions; techniques of integration; infinite series; and related applications. 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: MATH 212. Offered fall, spring, summer.

MATH 238: Quantitative Business Analysis II
Elementary differential calculus and partial differentiation are studied, with applications to management. Students cannot receive credit for both MATH 238 and 247, nor for MATH 238 if credit was received for MATH 212. 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: MATH 177 or 209. Offered fall, spring, summer.

MATH 240: Statistical Methods I
This is an introduction to measures of central tendency and variability, estimation and tests of significance, and regression and correlation. Lecture and laboratory. Students cannot receive credit for both MATH 240 and 248. (4) 3 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Category M. Prerequisite: three units of college preparatory mathematics or one college mathematics course or consent of department chair. Offered fall, spring, summer.
MATH 247: Calculus: A Short Course
Topics include differentiation and integration, including an introduction to partial differentiation. Students cannot receive credit for both MATH 238 and 247, nor for MATH 247 if credit was received for MATH 212.
3 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Category M. Prerequisite: MATH 120 or equivalent, or 177 or 181 or 209. Offered spring.

MATH 248: Business Statistics I
Topics include descriptive statistics, probability distributions, expected values, sampling distributions, estimation, and an introduction to hypothesis testing. Students cannot receive credit for both MATH 240 and 248.
3 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Category M for management majors only. Prerequisite: MATH 200 or 238 or consent of department chair. Offered fall, spring, summer.

MATH 262: Ethnomathematics
Students investigate how different cultures develop mathematics. Topics include the development of numeration systems, arithmetic, geometry, and calendars.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: Gen. Ed. Core 1, 2, and 3. Fulfills Gen. Ed. Core 4. Offered as needed.

MATH 300: Bridge to Advanced Mathematics
The standard techniques of deductive proof in mathematics are applied to basic results regarding sets, relations, functions, and other topics.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: MATH 213 or consent of department chair. Offered fall.

MATH 314: Calculus III
A continuation of MATH 213, this course covers three-dimensional analytic geometry, elementary vector analysis, functions of several variables, partial differentiation, and multiple integration.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: MATH 213. Offered fall and spring.

MATH 315: Linear Algebra
Matrices, linear systems, vector spaces, vector geometry, linear transformations, and appropriate applications are covered.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: MATH 300. Offered spring.

MATH 324: College Geometry
Advanced topics in Euclidean geometry are considered using synthetic, analytic, vector, and transformational formats. Included are axiomatics and non-Euclidean geometry, topics in logic, and methods of proof appropriate for geometry.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: MATH 212 or 247. Offered fall and spring.

MATH 409: Mathematical Problem Analysis
Problem-solving strategies in mathematics are identified. The level of problems and their analyses is designed to give students confidence in their ability to handle problems and a basis for the teaching of problem analysis.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: MATH 143, 144, and either 209 or consent of department chair. Offered fall and spring.

MATH 411: Calculus IV
A continuation of MATH 314, study includes Lagrange multipliers, line integrals, Green’s Theorem, transformations and the Jacobian, and an introduction to analysis involving limits and the derivative.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: MATH 314. Offered fall (odd years).

MATH 416: Ordinary Differential Equations
The fundamentals of differential equations are studied in the context of applications. Topics include analytical and numerical solutions of first- and second-order equations, systems of equations, and modeling.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: prior or concurrent enrollment in MATH 314. Offered as needed.

MATH 417: Introduction to Numerical Analysis
Algorithms and computer programs are used/developed to solve various mathematical problems. Topics include numerical solutions of equations, numerical differentiation and integration, and interpolation and approximation of functions.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: MATH 213 and one computer science course, or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

MATH 418: Introduction to Operations Research
Operations research is the systematic application of mathematical techniques for generating better decisions for real-world problems. Besides linear programming, topics may include queuing and network analysis.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CSCI 102 or higher, and either MATH 212 or both 200 and 247, or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

MATH 431: Number Theory
Topics include number systems, divisibility, primes and factorization, Diophantine problems, congruences, and Euler’s and Fermat’s Theorems.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: MATH 212 or 247. Offered as needed.
MATH 432: Introduction to Abstract Algebra
The definitions and properties of groups, rings, and fields are studied. Properties of familiar number systems are exhibited as special cases of these more general and abstract systems.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: MATH 315. Offered fall.

MATH 436: Discrete Mathematics
Several important areas in noncontinuous mathematics are introduced, including graph theory and its applications, difference equations, and finite-state machines.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: MATH 212, or 200 and 247. Offered spring.

MATH 441: Introduction to Probability
Topics include the development of both discrete and continuous probability theory, combinatorics, mathematical expectation, joint distributions, and sampling distributions.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: MATH 314. Offered spring.

MATH 445: Statistical Methods II
Using computer packages, study is made of advanced statistical topics, such as design of experiments, analysis of variance, and multiple regression. Students cannot receive credit for both MATH 445 and MGT 249.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: MATH 240 or 248 or 441. Offered as needed.

MATH 458: History of Mathematics
The history of mathematical thought and the development of mathematics from ancient to modern times are studied.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: MATH 300 or consent of instructor. Offered as needed.

MATH 461: Seminar in Mathematics
Students analyze, synthesize, and expand on mathematics learned in preceding courses, culminating in a substantial project and presentation.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: MATH 432 and 441. Offered spring.

MATH 490: Individual Study in Mathematics
This course is open to students who have demonstrated superior ability in mathematics. Topics depend on the interests of the students and instructor. This course may be repeated for credit once with a change in content.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

MATH 512: Foundations of Higher Analysis
Fundamental concepts in the theory of calculus are presented. Topics include limits, continuity and uniform continuity, differentiation, the Riemann integral, sequences and series, and convergence criteria.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: MATH 300 and 314. Offered as needed.

MATH 515: Introduction to Complex Variables
Techniques and concepts of the algebra and calculus of functions of one complex variable are studied, including trigonometric, exponential, and logarithmic functions.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: prior or concurrent enrollment in MATH 314. Offered as needed.

MATH 519: Set Theory
The foundations of set theory and logic are studied in the context of their application in the construction of number systems, from the natural numbers through the reals.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: MATH 300, 314, 432, or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

MATH 524: Higher Geometries
Advanced topics in geometry are studied, such as foundations and axiom systems, finite and non-Euclidean geometries. Possible additional topics are projective geometry, convexity, and topology. Proofs are stressed.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: MATH 300. Offered as needed.

MATH 528: Topology
Study is made of sets and sequences, various topological spaces, including metric, compactness, connectedness, curves, and mappings.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: MATH 300 and 314. Offered as needed.

MATH 532: Algebraic Structures
Selected topics in the development of groups, rings, modules, and fields are covered, including homomorphisms, permutation groups, basic Galois Theory, ring extension problems, and ideals.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: MATH 300, 315, 432. Offered as needed.

MATH 551: Topics in Proof
Varying topics in mathematical proof are examined, from number systems and functions to abstract spaces.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: consent of department chair. Offered as needed.
MATH 552: Topics in Applied Mathematics
Varying topics in applied mathematics are examined, from numerical and analytical investigations to modeling.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

MATH 553: Topics in Pure Mathematics
Varying topics in pure mathematics are examined, from number theory and advanced geometries to abstract algebra.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

MATH 571: Theory of Functions of Real Variables
A continuation of MATH 512, topics include sequences of functions, functions of several variables, and an introduction to Lebesgue measure.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: MATH 300 and 512. Offered as needed.

MATH 573: Theory of Functions of Complex Variables
A continuation of MATH 515, this course develops the theory underlying functions of complex variables and includes Taylor and Laurent series, Rouche’s Theorem, and analytic continuation.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: MATH 300, 512, 515. Offered as needed.

MATH 577: Topics in Algebra
A particular branch of algebra is examined in depth. Topics may include group theory, ring theory, field theory, semigroup theory, homological algebra, and automata theory. This course may be repeated for credit with a change in content.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: MATH 300 and 532, or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

Mathematics for Elementary Teachers (MTET)

MTET 511: Delving Deeper: Number and Operations
Students analyze the structure of number and operations in grades K–6 mathematics. Students learn to make connections beyond the elementary level. Topics include place, value, operations, and number systems. Hybrid course.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: elementary-level teacher certification and at least two years of teaching experience. Offered as needed.

MTET 512: Delving Deeper: Functions and Algebra
Students analyze the structure of functions and algebra in grades K–6 mathematics. Students learn to make connections beyond the elementary level. Topics include variables, patterns, and equations. Hybrid course.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: elementary-level teacher certification and at least two years of teaching experience. Offered as needed.

MTET 513: Delving Deeper: Geometry and Measurement
Students analyze the structure of geometry and measurement in grades K–6 mathematics. Students learn to make connections beyond the elementary level. Topics include equivalence, shape, and reasoning. Hybrid course.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: elementary-level teacher certification and at least two years of teaching experience. Offered as needed.

MTET 514: Delving Deeper: Data Analysis and Statistics
Students examine the structure of data analysis and statistics in grades K–6 mathematics. Students learn to make connections beyond the elementary level. Topics include question formation, data analysis, and inference. Hybrid course.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: elementary-level teacher certification and at least two years of teaching experience. Offered as needed.

MTET 515: Delving Deeper: Problem Analysis
Students examine the structure of problem analysis in grades K–6 mathematics. Students learn to make connections beyond the elementary level. Topics include problem selection, problem strategies, and problem posing. Hybrid course.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: elementary-level teacher certification and at least two years of teaching experience. Offered as needed.

Medical Technology (MEDT)

MEDT 301: Clinical Microbiology
The relationship of bacteria to human bacterial diseases is discussed, with emphasis on the application of procedures to medical diagnosis. Also studied are fungi, viruses, the rickettsias, and human parasites.
8 credit hours. Offered fall.
MEDT 302: Clinical Chemistry
The chemistry of body constituents and its relationship to the diagnosis of human disease is presented, with emphasis on principles and methods of analysis.
8 credit hours. Offered spring.

MEDT 303: Immunohematology
Instruction is given in drawing and processing blood and in how to ascertain compatibility. Donor-recipient blood and tissue reactions are studied in detail.
4 credit hours. Offered fall.

MEDT 304: Hematology
The morphology of blood and blood-forming organs are studied, along with the abnormalities associated with disease.
The dynamics of and diagnostic tests for hemostasis are also examined.
6 credit hours. Offered spring.

MEDT 305: Pathophysiology
This is an introduction to pathology. Topics include the correlation between pathological processes and clinical symptoms and the course of disease.
2 credit hours. Offered fall.

MEDT 306: Clinical Immunology
The formation, structure, and action of antigens and antibodies are described. Topics also include methods of immunization. Laboratory emphasis is on serological procedures in the diagnosis of disease.
2 credit hours. Offered spring.

MEDT 307: Clinical Microscopy
Focus is on the analysis of body fluids. Lecture and laboratory.
2 credit hours. Offered fall.

Middle Level Education (MLED)

MLED 310: Teaching Early Adolescents
Students examine the developmental characteristics of early adolescence and implications for teaching. (Formerly FNED 351: Instructional Issues of Middle Level Students.)
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CEP 315 or consent of department chair. Offered fall, spring, summer.

MLED 320: Middle School Organization and Integrated Curriculum
Students examine the emergence of the modern middle school and its components: teaming, advisory, flexible scheduling, and differentiated instruction. (Formerly CURR 307: Middle School Curriculum and Organization.)
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: MLED 310; and for elementary education students, ELED 300; and for secondary education students, prior or concurrent enrollment in SED 407; or consent of department chair. Offered fall, spring, summer.

MLED 330: Interdisciplinary Reading and Writing in Middle Schools
Students develop content area lessons that enable middle level students to read, write, and think critically in the content area.
(Formerly CURR 411: Interdisciplinary Reading and Writing in Middle Schools.)
(5) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: MLED 320; and for elementary education students, prior or concurrent enrollment in a methods course; and for secondary education students, SED
407; or consent of department chair. Offered fall and spring.

MLED 340: Differentiated Elements in Middle School Instruction
Preservice teachers focus on methods of selecting strategies to meet the needs of diverse learners and the relationship between assessments and planning for instruction in the differentiated classroom.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: MLED 330. Offered fall, spring, summer.

MLED 510: Teaching and Learning in the Middle Level School
Students examine the physical, emotional, social, and intellectual characteristics of early adolescents and the impact of society on early adolescents.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: current elementary or secondary certification, or consent of department chair. Offered fall, spring, summer.

MLED 520: Curriculum and Organization of Middle Schools
Students examine the emergence of the middle school and its components. They work in interdisciplinary teams to construct an integrated unit.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: MLED 510 or consent of department chair. Offered fall, spring, summer.
MLED 530: Applications of Middle School Instructional Models
Students develop lessons for all content areas, using reading and writing strategies to promote literacy and critical thinking in middle school teaching and learning. Students participate in a fifteen-hour practicum.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: MLED 520 or consent of department chair. Offered fall, spring, summer.

MLED 540: Differentiated Middle Level Instructional Strategies
The development and application of instructional plans are facilitated, using middle level differentiated strategies. Students examine the components of differentiation and apply these strategies to daily planning and practice.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: MLED 530. Offered fall, spring, summer.

Modern Languages (MLAN)
MLAN 162: Latin American Mestizo Cultures
Indigenous traditions and world views outside the Western experience are presented as they existed in the past and as they survive in contemporary Latin America. (Formerly Mestizo Concepts of Community and Spirituality.)
4 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Core 3. Offered spring and summer.

MLAN 320: Internship in Modern Languages
Students are placed in organizations appropriate to their concentrations. Sites may include advocacy agencies, nonprofit agencies, and businesses.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: completion of two 300-level courses in a modern languages concentration and an overall GPA of 2.67. Offered as needed.

MLAN 360: Seminar in Modern Languages
Students examine the relationships, commonalities, and differences among the cultures taught in the modern languages major. Study may include art, film, geography, literature, and philosophy.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: completion of two 300-level courses and one cognate course in a modern languages concentration and an overall GPA of 2.67. Offered as needed.

Music (MUS)
MUS 091: Student Recital Series
Students who are enrolled in MUS 270–289 or 370–389 must attend a specified number of recitals and perform on their principal instruments at least once each semester, beginning with the second semester of study.
(1) 0 credit hour. Offered fall and spring.

MUS 101: Beginning Piano
Note-reading, rhythm, and finger coordination are studied. Individual practice is required, but no previous musical training is necessary.
(1) 1 credit hour. Offered fall and spring.

MUS 102: Beginning Guitar
The basics of fingering melodies, chords, and accompaniments are studied. No previous musical training is required. Students must supply their own guitars.
(1) 1 credit hour. Offered fall and spring.

MUS 103: Beginning Voice
Study is made of basic vocal production and singing styles, with emphasis on interpretation. No previous musical training is required.
(1) 1 credit hour. Offered fall and spring.

MUS 104: Class Piano I
Students develop keyboard manipulative skills, the use of primary triads in accompaniment patterns, transposition, sight reading, improvisation, and basic pedaling technique.
(4) 2 credit hours. Prerequisite: music major or consent of department chair. Offered fall and spring.

MUS 105: Class Piano II
A continuation of MUS 104, study includes keyboard harmony using primary and secondary triads, altered chords and simple figured bass, and piano literature from various periods.
(4) 2 credit hours. Prerequisite: MUS 104. Offered fall and spring.

MUS 106: Class Strings
The basic techniques of orchestral strings are studied. Pedagogy and a knowledge of basic materials are also considered.
(3) 1 credit hour. Prerequisite: music major or consent of department chair. Offered spring.
MUS 107: Class Voice
Basic vocal pedagogy is stressed in preparation for a career in music education. Included are vocal production, diction, interpretation technique, and standard vocal repertoire.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: music major or consent of department chair. Offered spring.

MUS 110: Brass Class
The basic techniques of brass instruments are studied. Pedagogy and basic teaching materials are also considered.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: music major or consent of department chair. Offered fall.

MUS 111: Woodwinds Class
The basic techniques of woodwind instruments are studied. Pedagogy and basic teaching materials are also considered.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: music major or consent of department chair. Offered spring.

MUS 112: Percussion Class
The basic techniques of percussion instruments are studied. Pedagogy and basic teaching materials are also considered.
2 credit hours. Prerequisite: music major or consent of department chair. Offered fall.

MUS 113: Basic Rhythm
Students target and master rhythmic fundamentals through a hands-on approach by isolating rhythm from other elements of music reading.
2 credit hours. Prerequisite: music major or consent of department chair. Offered fall.

MUS 161–163: Large Ensembles
These courses are open to all qualified students by audition.
161 Chorus
162 Wind Ensemble
163 Orchestra
4 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Category A for nonmajors. To fulfill the requirement for Gen. Ed. Category A, students must take MUS 161–163 for a total of 3 credit hours. Any number less than 3 will not fulfill this requirement. Offered fall and spring.

MUS 164–166: Chamber Ensembles
These courses are open to all qualified students by audition. Since balanced groups are necessary, selection of participants is made by the instructor.
164 Chamber Music Ensemble (instrumental and vocal chamber music, including duos, trios, and quartets)
165 Concert Jazz Band (Formerly Jazz Ensemble)
166 Chamber Singers
4 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Category A for nonmajors. To fulfill the requirement for Gen. Ed. Category A, students must take MUS 164–166 for a total of 3 credit hours. Any number less than 3 will not fulfill this requirement. Offered fall and spring.

MUS 168: Jazz Combo
This is an applied practice of theoretical concepts from jazz theory for student small jazz ensembles. (Formerly Jazz Improvisation.)
2 credit hours. Offered fall and spring.

MUS 169: Music Cultures of Non-Western Worlds
Selected music cultures of the non-Western world are introduced and critical studies are made of the cultural and social contexts of music. Students cannot receive credit for both MUS 169 and ANTH 169.
4 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Core 3. Offered fall and spring.

MUS 170–189: Applied Music

3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CIS 251 or consent of instructor. Offered spring.

NURS 471: Practicum in Chemical Dependency/Addiction Studies
Students practice intervention strategies, with emphasis on self-awareness and self-assessment. Observation and evaluation is conducted by the practicum supervisor. Students cannot receive credit for both NURS 471 and PSYC 471.
(5) 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: acceptance into the chemical dependency/addiction studies program and PSYC 451 and 452. Offered fall, spring, summer.
NURS 474: Internship in Chemical Dependency/Addiction Studies
Students gain field experience in an agency providing substance abuse services. Included are weekly seminar sessions, on-site visits, and field consultation. Students cannot receive credit for both NURS 474 and PSYC 472.
(13) 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: PSYC 453, 471, and approval of practicum and internship instructors. Offered fall, spring, summer.

NURS 501: Advanced Nursing Research
Theories and methodologies for evaluating research findings in nursing and health care are examined. Focus is on dissemination and utilization of research findings for evidence-based practice.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status in nursing or consent of M.S.N. graduate program director. Offered fall.

NURS 502: Health Care Systems
Topics covered are organizational structure, resources, current technology, informational systems, outcome measures, safety initiatives, health care policy, and ethics. The central role of the patient in health care decision making is also examined.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status in nursing or consent of M.S.N. graduate program director. Offered fall.

NURS 503: Professional Role Development
Behaviors that promote change and collaboration in practice environments are examined, including concepts of leadership, communication, power, and problem solving.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status in nursing or consent of M.S.N. graduate program director. Offered spring.

NURS 504: Advanced Pathophysiology
Students explore the interrelationships of human systems and the effects of illness on the individual as a whole. Concepts and patterns of alterations in physiological mechanisms and functions are identified.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status in nursing or consent of M.S.N. graduate program director. Offered fall.

NURS 505: Advanced Pharmacology
Pharmacologic agents and their clinical applications are examined. Pharmacologic designs, therapeutic uses, and the side effects and drug interactions of a broad variety of classes of drugs are explored as treatment modalities.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status in nursing or consent of M.S.N. graduate program director. Offered fall.

NURS 506: Advanced Health Assessment
This course assists the learner in the acquisition of advanced health assessment skills. The status of clients is determined by using the health history interview and advanced diagnostic skills.
(5) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status in nursing or consent of M.S.N. graduate program director. Offered spring.

NURS 507: Epidemiology and Biostatistics
Topics covered include statistical concepts, evaluation of health research literature, and outcome measurements. Students cannot receive credit for both NURS 507 and HED 507.
(Formerly Epidemiology and Health Statistics.) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status in nursing or consent of M.S.N. graduate program director. Offered spring.

NURS 508: Public Health Science
Study is made of environmental and occupational health, bioterrorism and disaster preparedness, communicable diseases, chronic diseases, and vulnerable populations.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status in nursing or consent of M.S.N. graduate program director. Offered fall.

NURS 509: Professional Project Seminar
Students develop plans for a comprehensive project in the form of research, program design, or grant preparation. Planning includes literature review and exploration of resources.
(Formerly Professional Project Seminar I.) 1 credit hour. Prerequisite: NURS 501, 502, 503, and graduate status in nursing. Offered summer.

NURS 510: Adult Health/Illness I
Students develop advanced practice nurse competencies specific to health promotion and disease prevention of adults across the lifespan. Emphasis is on the patient sphere.
(Formerly Acute Care/Critical Care I.) (8) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: NURS 501, 502, 503, and prior or concurrent enrollment in NURS 504, 505, and 506. Offered spring.

NURS 511: Public Health/Community Leadership I
Variables relevant to public health problems are investigated through field experience. Students demonstrate knowledge of analytic assessment and public health science skills.
(15) 6 credit hours. Prerequisite: NURS 501, 502, 503, and prior or concurrent enrollment in NURS 507 and 508. Offered spring.
NURS 530: Synergy Model for CNS Practice
Students develop knowledge of the Synergy Model required for the clinical nurse specialist practice. Model assumptions, development, and applicability to CNS practice are discussed, analyzed, and applied.
(7) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: NURS 501, 502, 503, 504, 505, 506; NURS 510 prerequisite or concurrent. Offered spring.

NURS 540: Differential Diagnosis for Nurse Practitioners
Students are introduced to the diagnostic framework, clinical decision making, and evidence-based resources. Focus is on developing skills in diagnostic reasoning and differential diagnosis.
(7) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: NURS 501, 502, 503, 504, 505, 506; NURS 510 prerequisite or concurrent. Offered spring.

NURS 609: Master's Major Project
Under the supervision of their primary project advisor, students conduct a major project, complete a final project writing, and present findings. (Formerly Professional Project Seminar II.)
2 credit hours. Prerequisite: NURS 509. Offered fall.

NURS 610: Adult Health/Illness II
Students develop advanced practice nurse competencies specific to caring for adults with select acute health alterations. Emphasis is on the nursing/nursing practice sphere. (Formerly Acute Care/Critical Care II.)
(15) 6 credit hours. Prerequisite: NURS 510; NURS 530 or NURS 540. Offered fall.

NURS 611: Public Health/Community Leadership II
Students collaborate with community groups to assess health needs, develop partnerships, and plan programs to address needs based on cultural sensitivity. Public policy solutions to those needs are proposed.
(15) 6 credit hours. Prerequisite: NURS 511. Offered fall.

NURS 620: Adult Health/Illness III
Students develop advanced practice nurse competencies specific to caring for adults with select acute health alterations. Emphasis is on the systems/organizational sphere. (Formerly Acute Care/Critical Care III.)
(15) 6 credit hours. Prerequisite: NURS 610. Offered spring.

NURS 621: Public Health/Community Leadership III
Students engage in public policy and program planning with existing health systems. Focus includes budget development and oversight and the use of management information systems for decision making.

Physical Education (PED)
PED 102–134, 147: Beginning Activity
The development of fundamental skills to promote participation in each of the following activities is stressed. Social skills, strategies, and rule interpretations relevant to each activity are included. These are eight-week courses.
102 Badminton. Offered as needed.
105 Bowling. Offered as needed.
109 Swimming—Beginning. Offered fall and spring.

111 Field Hockey. Offered as needed.
118 Lacrosse. Offered as needed.
119 Lifesaving. Offered fall.
122 Softball. Offered as needed.
123 Outdoor Activities. Offered as needed.
124 Swimming—Intermediate. Offered spring.
125 Soccer. Offered as needed.
126 Track and Field. Offered as needed.
128 Volleyball. Offered as needed.
129 Weight Training. Offered as needed.
131 Golf. Offered as needed.
132 Educational Gymnastics. Offered as needed.
133 Tennis. Offered as needed.
134 Dance Aerobics. Offered as needed.
147 Rhythmic Activities. Offered spring.
(4) 1 credit hour.

PED 140: Introduction to Movement Sciences
The field of human movement is introduced from a scientific approach. Various philosophical, psychological, and physiological factors are analyzed.
3 credit hours. Offered fall and spring.

PED 151: Introduction to Recreation in Modern Society
The recreative experience and its importance to the individual are examined. Also explored are the historical trends concerning the impact of leisure on popular culture.
3 credit hours. Offered as needed.

PED 152: Introduction to Outdoor Recreation
Students develop skills in select outdoor activities and are exposed to a range of outdoor recreational pursuits, including Outward Bound/Adventure-type activities.
(4) 3 credit hours. Offered as needed.

PED 201: Prevention and Care of Athletic Injuries
Students acquire a basic understanding of sports medicine. Topics include preventive techniques, protective strapping, basic anatomy, injury recognition, and rehabilitation of athletic injuries.
(4) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: HED 115 or current standard first aid certification, or consent of instructor. Offered spring.
PED 205: Conditioning for Personal Fitness
Students develop personal fitness through participation in a variety of supervised activities and develop a knowledge base necessary to design their own fitness programs. Fitness-related topics and fitness testing are also included.
(4) 2 credit hours. Offered fall and spring.

PED 206: Fundamental Movement and Its Analysis
Through lecture, laboratory, and on-site clinical experiences, the fundamentals of movement analysis are introduced, including the phases of motor development and the kinesiological principles associated with how individuals move.
(4) 3 credit hours. Offered fall and spring.

PED 207: Motor Skill Development for Lifetime Wellness I
Basic competencies are developed in a variety of team sports. Included are skill analysis, strategies, rules, and history relevant to the activities. Emphasis is on team sports and their relationship to the development of wellness concepts.
(4) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: PED 206. Offered fall and spring.

PED 208: Motor Skill Development for Lifetime Wellness II
Basic competencies are developed in a variety of individual and dual activities. Included are skill analysis, strategies, rules, and history relevant to the activities. Emphasis is on the role of individual and dual sports in achieving a lifestyle of wellness.
(4) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: PED 206. Offered fall and spring.

PED 243: Foundations of Movement
The basic concepts of motor learning and performance are studied. Emphasis is on the neurological basis of motor learning and the effects of growth and developmental factors.
3 credit hours. Offered fall and spring.

PED 247: Rhythmic Movement
Focus is on the development of movement concepts and skill themes to promote exploration of a variety of educational gymnastic movements as well as rhythmic activities.
(4) 2 credit hours. Prerequisite: PED 206. Offered spring.

PED 251: Recreation Delivery Systems
Services provided by agencies in both the public and private sectors of leisure-service industries are examined. The functions of these agencies are investigated through lectures, field trips, and on-site volunteer work.
(4) 3 credit hours. Offered as needed.

PED 252: Camping and Recreational Leadership
The philosophy and problems of camping and recreational leadership are studied. The principles, practices, processes, and techniques of leadership are studied in depth. Lecture and laboratory.
3 credit hours. Offered as needed.

PED 253: Introduction to Therapeutic Recreation
Students are introduced to the history, concepts, and philosophy of therapeutic recreation in community and institutional settings. Field trips and on-site observations are included.
3 credit hours. Offered as needed.

PED 301: Principles of Teaching Activity
Techniques of activity presentation are studied, including the task, problem-solving, and guided discovery methods. Individual philosophies of teaching are considered. Supervised teaching experiences are included.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: PED 140 and 243, each with minimum grade of B-; admission to the physical education teacher preparation program; or consent of department chair. Offered fall and spring.

PED 302: Practicum in Team Activities
Students analyze select team sport skills and develop appropriate teaching progressions in team activities. This practicum includes observations and supervised teaching experiences in prekindergarten-through-grade-twelve school settings.
(6) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: PED 140, 207, 243, 301, or consent of department chair; and admission to the physical education teacher preparation program. Offered spring.

PED 305: Advanced Prevention and Care of Athletic Injuries
Preventative screening, pathomechanics of injury, and evaluation techniques are analyzed. Relying heavily on the case-study approach, laboratory sessions include opportunities for supervised practice and the application of training procedures.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: PED 201. Offered as needed.
PED 308: The Science of Coaching
Scientific aspects of coaching, motor skill acquisition, sport psychology, and developmentally appropriate sport programs are analyzed. Emphasis is on the use of systematic observation. 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: junior standing or consent of instructor. Offered as needed.

PED 323: Experiential Education
This is an introduction to the field of outdoor pursuits. Emphasis is on facilitating, planning, and implementing alternative physical activities. Included are teaching experiences in K–12 cooperative settings.
(4) 2 credit hours. Prerequisite: HED 300 or PED 301. Offered fall and spring.

PED 346: Methods and Materials in Elementary School Health Education and Physical Education
Basic principles of comprehensive health education and physical education programs for elementary schools are addressed. Students cannot receive credit for both HED 346 and PED 346.
(4) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: 60 credit hours of undergraduate courses and admission to the elementary education teacher preparation program. Offered fall, spring, summer.

PED 351: Leadership and Supervision of Recreation
Leadership styles and techniques appropriate for different age groups and a variety of settings are analyzed.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: PED 151. Offered as needed.

PED 356: Recreation Practicum
Students assist in the development, presentation, and evaluation of leisure-time activities in community, agency, school, or college settings. Lecture and field experience.
(7) 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: PED 420 and current first aid and CPR certification. Offered as needed.

PED 390: Independent Study in Physical Education
Students select a topic and undertake concentrated research under the supervision of a faculty advisor.
1–3 credit hours. Prerequisite: consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

PED 409: Adapted Physical Education
Individual differences that affect motor learning and performance are considered. Individual educational programs in adaptive, developmental, corrective, and inclusive physical education are designed. Laboratory is included.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: SPED 300 and concurrent enrollment in PED 413. Offered fall.

PED 410: Evaluation and Measurement in Physical Education
The assessment of motor performance is introduced. Emphasis is on criterion- and norm-referenced standards for evaluation. Basic statistical techniques are included.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: admission to the physical education teacher preparation program or consent of department chair. Offered fall.

PED 411: Kinesiology
The effects of physical and anatomical principles on the performance of motor patterns are studied and the mechanical analysis of specific activities are analyzed.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: BIOL 231 and admission to the physical education teacher preparation program. Offered fall.

PED 412: Organization and Administration of Physical Education Programs: Prekindergarten through Grade Twelve
Topics include the practical organizational aspects of decision making, program planning, and evaluating, as well as administrative concerns involved in physical education programs, athletics, intramurals, and selected special areas.
2 credit hours. Prerequisite: prior or concurrent enrollment in PED 414. Offered fall.

PED 413: Creative Rhythms and Dance
Students develop competencies in teaching rhythmic activities. Diversified experiences in rhythmic accompaniment, musical resources, and rhythmic activities are provided. Observations and teaching are included.
(6) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: PED 247 and 302, or consent of department chair; and admission to the physical education teacher preparation program. Offered fall.
PED 414: Practicum in Individual and Dual Activities
Students analyze individual and dual sport skills and develop appropriate teaching progressions for them. Observations and supervised teaching experiences in prekindergarten-through-grade-twelve school settings are included.
(6) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: PED 208, 302, 413, or consent of department chair; and admission to the physical education teacher preparation program. Offered spring.

PED 415: Individualized Physical Education for Populations with Disabilities
Students are instructed in organizing, conducting, and evaluating individualized physical education programs for populations with disabilities. Emphasis is on the diagnostic-prescriptive approach.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: PED 409 and SPED 300 or equivalents. Offered spring.

PED 420: Physiological Aspects of Exercise
Topics range from the physiological response of the human muscular and cardiorespiratory systems to the acute and chronic effects of physical activity. Lecture and laboratory.
(4) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: BIOL 335 and admission to the physical education teacher preparation program, or consent of department chair. Offered fall and spring.

PED 426: Student Teaching in Physical Education
In this culminating field experience, candidates complete a teaching experience in an elementary and secondary school under the supervision of cooperating teachers and a college supervisor. This is a full-semester assignment.
10 credit hours. Prerequisite: concurrent enrollment in PED 428; satisfactory completion of all major, cognate, and professional courses required prior to student teaching; proof of completion of a first aid course; CPR certification at the time of application; a positive recommendation from the professor of each physical education practicum; a cumulative GPA of 2.50 a full semester prior to student teaching; passing score(s) on the Praxis II, approved Preparing to Teach Portfolio; completion of the community service requirement; and a negative result from the required tuberculin test. Offered fall and spring.

PED 428: Student Teaching Seminar in Health and Physical Education
Teacher behaviors appropriate to effective teaching are developed. Topics include classroom and time management, effective communication, learning styles, and teaching strategies. This seminar meets weekly.
2 credit hours. Prerequisite: concurrent enrollment in PED 426. Offered fall and spring.

PED 451: Recreation for the Elderly
Students explore steps needed to plan, organize, conduct, and evaluate recreation programs for the elderly. Included are recreation programming, diverse recreation activity experiences, and staffing considerations.
3 credit hours. Offered as needed.

PED 507: Teaching Sports through a Tactical Perspective
Various sports are explored using student-centered, guided discovery, instructional models. Games for understanding theory and curriculum are introduced. Emphasis is on developing cognitive off-the-ball and on-the-ball tactics.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: undergraduate degree in physical education or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

PED 508: Psycho-Social Aspects of Human Movement
Psychological and sociological constructs related to human movement and sport are analyzed. Topics include athletic leadership, coaching behavior, and individual and societal-cultural factors related to human movement.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: undergraduate degree in physical education or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

PED 512: Curriculum Construction in Physical Education
Discussion of curricular models provide a foundation in designing a curriculum. Conceptual frameworks are used to guide decision-making processes in curriculum design.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: undergraduate degree in physical education or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.
PED 519: Professional Development for Cooperating Teachers
Cooperating teachers gain knowledge, tools, and experience that help them prepare teacher candidates to meet professional requirements in physical education. This course may be repeated after four years. Hybrid course.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status and currently serving as a cooperating teacher, or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

PED 522: Current Issues in Physical Education
Current issues and how they relate to the fields of physical education, recreation, and sport are examined. Particular attention is given to professional issues pertinent to class members.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: undergraduate degree in physical education or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

PED 523: Adventure Education
Students are prepared for adventure education content knowledge and introduced to the principles of curriculum development for prekindergarten through grade twelve. Students analyze and integrate adventure education into instruction.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: undergraduate degree in physical education or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

Physical Science (PSCI)

PSCI 103: Physical Science
The processes and natural laws that control our physical environment are investigated. Emphasis is on laboratory experiment. Lecture and laboratory. Students cannot receive credit for both PSCI 103 and PHYS 101–102.
(6) 4 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Category LS. Offered fall, spring, summer.

PSCI 205: Earth’s Physical Environments
Natural processes that control the earth, oceans, and atmosphere are investigated. This course is not open to students who have completed or are enrolled in PSCI 212, 217, or GEOG 205.
3 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Category SM. Offered as needed.

PSCI 207: Introduction to Environmental Chemistry
The flow of material and energy through the Earth system is introduced. Principles of element cycles, climate science, and coastal processes are also investigated.
3 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Category SM. Offered annually.

PSCI 208: Introduction to Forensic Science
Modern forensic techniques used in crime scene analysis is introduced. Emphasis is on the methods used to collect and interpret crime scene data.
3 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Category SM. Offered fall and spring.

PSCI 210: Introduction to Astronomy
Our solar system, the sun and other stars, galaxies, and the universe are explored. Basic physical principles provide the scientific basis for the course. Lecture.
3 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Category SM. Offered fall and spring.

PSCI 212: Introduction to Geology
Focus is on the structure and composition of the earth and the processes that have shaped the earth. Topics include minerals, origin of magma, volcanic activity, and weathering and soil formation. Lecture and laboratory.
4 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Category LS. Offered fall and summer.

PSCI 214: Introduction to Meteorology
The structure of the atmosphere and the processes relevant to the study of weather are considered. Emphasis is on the physical laws that govern atmospheric phenomena. Lecture.
3 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Category SM. Offered spring.

PSCI 217: Introduction to Oceanography
Topics include mapping the sea floor, formation of the ocean basins, sediments as recorders of ocean history, the composition and physical properties of seawater, ocean circulation, El Ninos, waves, and tides. Lecture and laboratory.
4 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Category LS. Offered spring.

PSCI 221: Introductory Nanoscience: Why Smaller Is Better
The basic science and techniques of working at the nanoscale are introduced. Students explore current and potential technologies derived from nanoscale materials and processes.
3 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Category SM. Offered fall.

PSCI 340: Field Methods in Geology
Mapping and the interpretation of geological structures are introduced. Emphasis is on the geology of local areas. Included are identification of rocks and methods of recording field observations. Laboratory and field trips.
(4) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: PSCI 212 or consent of instructor. Offered as needed.
PSCI 357: Historical and Contemporary Contexts of Science
The development of science and technology is explored through case histories from the physical, biological, and environmental sciences. Students cannot receive credit for both HIST 357 and PSCI 357.

(4) 3 credit hours. Offered as needed.

PSCI 490: Independent Study in Physical Science
A particular area of physical science is studied on the basis of the interest of the student and the instructor.

3 credit hours. Prerequisite: consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

PSCI 491, 492, 493: Research in Physical Science
Students research a topic under the supervision of the instructor and prepare a report of their work. A maximum of 6 credit hours may be earned in these courses.

1–3 credit hours. Prerequisite: consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

Physics (PHYS)

PHYS 101: General Physics I
This noncalculus-based course includes vectors, statics, kinematics, Newton’s laws, energy, momentum, fluids, thermodynamics, and wave motion. Lecture and laboratory.

(7) 4 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Category LS. Offered fall and summer.

PHYS 102: General Physics II
This noncalculus-based course includes electrostatics, DC and AC circuits, magnetism, electromagnetic waves, optics, and an introduction to atomic and nuclear physics. Lecture and laboratory.

(7) 4 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Category LS. Prerequisite: PHYS 101. Offered spring and summer.

PHYS 110: Introductory Physics
This algebra-based course includes vectors, statics, Newton’s Laws, work and energy, electrostatics, DC circuits, magnetism, electromagnetic waves, nuclear radiation, and topics in modern physics. Lecture and Laboratory.

(7) 4 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Category LS. Offered spring.

PHYS 111: Exotic Physics
This is a nonmathematical survey of particle physics and cosmology. Topics include collider physics, supersymmetry, extra dimensions, cold dark matter, grand unified theory, string theory, and the Big Bang model. Lecture.

3 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Category SM. Offered once annually.

PHYS 200: Mechanics
This calculus-based course includes vectors, statics, kinematics, momentum, energy, rotational motion, small oscillations, and fluid mechanics. Lecture and laboratory.

(7) 4 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Category LS. Prerequisite: successful completion of or concurrent enrollment in MATH 212, or consent of department chair. Offered fall.

PHYS 201: Electricity and Magnetism
This calculus-based course includes electrostatics in a vacuum and in the presence of matter, DC and AC circuits, electromagnetism, and an introduction to optics. Lecture and laboratory.

(7) 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: PHYS 200 and prior or concurrent enrollment in MATH 213, or consent of department chair. Offered spring.

PHYS 307: Quantum Mechanics I
Topics include relativistic mechanics, the failures of classical physics, the structure of the atom, and the wave description of matter, including the Schrödinger Equation. Lecture.

3 credit hours. Prerequisite: PHYS 201. Offered as needed.

PHYS 311: Thermodynamics
This is an introduction to the laws of thermodynamics and its application to equilibrium systems, such as ideal gases, phase transformations, solutions and chemical reactions, and elementary statistical mechanics. Lecture.

3 credit hours. Prerequisite: PHYS 200 and successful completion of or concurrent enrollment in MATH 213, or consent of department chair. Offered as needed (alternate years).

PHYS 312: Mathematical Methods in Physics
Topics include curvilinear coordinates, complex variables, integral transforms, vectors and matrices, special functions, differential equations, and numerical methods as applied to physics. Lecture.

3 credit hours. Prerequisite: MATH 314. Offered as needed.
PHYS 313: Junior Laboratory
Intermediate-level experiments are performed in all areas of physics. Students also learn research skills, such as data analysis, literature review, and communication skills. Laboratory. (6) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: PHYS 201 and 307. Offered spring.

PHYS 320: Analog Electronics
Students examine discrete components, including resistors, capacitors, diodes, and transistors, and their applications. Oscilloscopes and other standard laboratory test equipment are used extensively. Integrated circuits are also introduced. (6) 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: PHYS 102 or 201 or consent of department chair. Offered fall (odd years).

PHYS 401: Advanced Electricity and Magnetism
This is an examination of the theory and application of electrostatic fields, charge, potential, magnetic fields, steady currents, magnetic flux, inductance, transient current, radiation, and magnetic energy. Lecture. 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: MATH 314 and PHYS 201. Offered as needed.

PHYS 403: Classical Mechanics
This course covers, at an advanced level, the classical theory of linear and rotational dynamics of particles and continuous media. An introduction to Lagrangian mechanics is included. Lecture. (Formerly Intermediate Mechanics.) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: MATH 314, PHYS 201. Offered as needed.

PHYS 407: Quantum Mechanics II
Topics include the hydrogen atom, angular momentum, spin, the structure of solids, nuclear physics, and particle physics. Lecture. (Formerly Quantum Mechanics.) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: PHYS 201 and 307. Offered as needed.

PHYS 411: Statistical Mechanics
Topics include the advanced kinetic theory of gases, transport phenomena, and quantum statistical mechanics. Lecture. (Formerly Thermodynamics and Statistical Mechanics.) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: CHEM 104, MATH 416, PHYS 201. Offered as needed.

PHYS 413: Senior Laboratory
Advanced experiments in mechanics, waves, thermodynamics, optics, electromagnetism, and other topics are conducted. Laboratory. (6) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: PHYS 201 and 313. Offered as needed.

PHYS 467: Honors Colloquium in Physics
Current topics in science at an advanced level are presented through department colloquia with outside speakers and through a series of seminars led by resident experts. This course may be repeated for credit with a change in content. (1) 0.5 credit hour. Prerequisite: PHYS 201 and consent of department chair. Offered fall and spring.

PHYS 490: Independent Study in Physics
An area of physics is studied on the basis of the interest of the student and the instructor. 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

PHYS 491, 492, 493: Research in Physics
Students select a topic and conduct original research under the supervision of the instructor and prepares a report on the work. A maximum of 6 credit hours may be earned in these courses. 1–3 credit hours. Prerequisite: consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

Political Science (POL)

POL 161: Politics and Culture in Southeast Asia
Focus is on the interplay of culture and politics in Southeast Asia. Where possible, students approach Southeast Asian culture and politics through the writings and works of Southeast Asian leaders and citizens themselves. 4 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Core 3. Offered annually.

POL 200: Introduction to Political Science
The scope and methods of political science are introduced along with political ideologies, socialization, and institutions. 3 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Category SB. Offered fall, spring, summer.
POL 201: Development of American Democracy
The struggle for democratic values and political institutions from the Revolution to the present are considered. Documents in America's political history are analyzed for their impact on institutions and culture.
3 credit hours. Offered fall, spring, summer.

POL 202: American Government
The institutions and principles of American national government are examined. Topics include the constitutional foundation, federalism, political parties, Congress, the presidency, the Supreme Court, and civil rights.
3 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Category SB. Offered fall, spring, summer.

POL 203: Global Politics
This is an introduction to the governance of other contemporary national political systems and to the forces, principles, and transnational arrangements of international politics.
3 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Category SB. Offered fall and spring.

POL 204: Introduction to Political Thought
Fundamental concepts and issues of philosophy and political theory are investigated. Basic precepts about authority, law, government, and the terms of obligation are examined in light of contemporary concerns.
3 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Category SB. Offered fall and spring.

POL 208: Introduction to the Law
How the law and legal system affect the everyday lives of citizens is analyzed. Emphasis is on topics of current concern at all levels of government.
3 credit hours. Offered fall and spring.

POL 261: Global Competition: The United States and Its Trading Partners
Issues surrounding global economic competition are examined along with the merits of free trade for the United States and other global competitors.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: Gen. Ed. Core 1, 2, and 3. Fulfills Gen. Ed. Core 4. Offered fall and spring.

POL 262: Power and Community
The observation and use of power shapes many traditions of political inquiry. Students explore these traditions in Western and non-Western thought, with emphasis on the effort to understand power in diverse urban communities.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: Gen. Ed. Core 1, 2, and 3. Fulfills Gen. Ed. Core 4. Offered annually.

POL 263: Citizenship, National Identity, and Immigration
The ways in which different societies have dealt with citizenship, immigration, and national identity are introduced. Emphasis is on comparative analysis and the moral issues involved in debates over citizenship and immigration.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: Gen. Ed. Core 1, 2, and 3. Fulfills Gen. Ed. Core 4. Offered alternate semesters.

POL 264: Federalism and Nation Building
Literature produced by the development of American federalism and its relevance to contemporary issues in diverse cultural settings is studied.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: Gen. Ed. Core 1, 2, and 3. Fulfills Gen. Ed. Core 4. Offered annually.

POL 265: Politics and Popular Culture: Global Perspectives
Students investigate the intersection of politics and popular culture in Western and non-Western societies by examining entertainment values, their relationship to political culture and behavior, and the debate over globalization.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: Gen. Ed. Core 1, 2, and 3. Fulfills Gen. Ed. Core 4. Offered annually.

POL 300: Methodology in Political Science
Philosophical, historical, and analytical approaches to political science research are explored.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: POL 202 or consent of department chair. Offered fall.

POL 301: Foundations of Public Administration
The art and science of public administration is introduced. Topics include the broad range of administrative functions, techniques, problems, and solutions confronting public sector managers.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: POL 202 or consent of department chair. Offered fall.

POL 303: International Law and Organization
Both twentieth-century international organization and the place of evolving international law are considered with respect to the settlement of disputes and the maintenance of peace.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: one 200-level political science course or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.
POL 304: Research Methods II
Students develop skill in the preparation, analysis, and interpretation of data. Lecture and laboratory. Students cannot receive credit for both POL 304 and SOC 404.
(5) 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: POL 300 or SOC 302 or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

POL 306: State and Local Government
Students examine the political structures, processes, policies, and power distributions in state and local governments in the United States. Topics include intergovernmental relations, executive leadership, and legislative policy making.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: POL 202 or consent of department chair. Offered every third semester.

POL 307: Political Behavior
Through a comparative critical study of selected readings, students develop and practice behavior indicative of political culture, political socialization, organization and leadership, and stratification.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: POL 202. Offered fall.

POL 308: Current Political Controversy
Students learn the art and science of political analysis by critically reading and writing about political controversies currently in the news while learning to use the tools and data available to political scientists.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: POL 202, 203, 204; or POL 202 and consent of department chair. Offered fall.

POL 309: Women and Politics
Focus is on the increasing involvement of women in the politics and issues of contemporary America. Women's political socialization, voting behavior, and political roles in government are also discussed.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: one 200-level political science course or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

POL 315: Western Legal Systems
This is a comparative study of English common law and continental European civil law. Students cannot receive credit for both POL 315 and HIST 315.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: HIST 161 or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

POL 316: Modern Western Political Thought
The ideas of major Western political thinkers are reviewed. Students cannot receive credit for both HIST 316 and POL 316. (Formerly POL 310: Political Thought and the Modern World.)
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: POL 204 or consent of department chair. Offered fall.

POL 317: Politics and Society
Relationships of power and authority and their social foundations are examined. Students cannot receive credit for more than one of the following: HIST 317, POL 317, and SOC 317.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: POL 204 or consent of department chair. Offered spring.

POL 327: Internship in State Government
Through field placements in the government of Rhode Island, students are able to integrate classroom theory with political reality. Included is a weekly lecture series involving the participation of appropriate political leaders and academics.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: recommendation of the Academic Advisory Committee to the State Internship Commission. Offered spring.

POL 328: Field Experiences in the Public Sector
Students are assigned to local, state, or national agencies, political parties, or interest groups. Assignments relate field experiences to academic concepts.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: consent of instructor. Offered fall, spring, summer.

POL 330: Administrative Law and Regulatory Politics
Students examine procedural law remedies of regulatory agencies, as well as rule making, adjudication, judicial review of administrative decisions, and the politics of regulation.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: POL 301 or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

POL 331: Courts and Public Policy
Focus is on the role of the United States Supreme Court in policymaking. Through case analysis, the impact of judicial policymaking on the presidency, federal policing, and other selected public policy areas are studied.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: one 200-level political science course, preferably POL 202. Offered fall.
POL 332: Civil Liberties in the United States
Traditional constitutional guarantees of civil liberty and due process in American life are examined. Included is an examination of legal decisions and the justifications offered for those decisions.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: POL 202. Offered fall and spring.

POL 333: Law and Politics of Civil Rights
Struggles for legal and political equality are examined, with primary focus on discrimination based on race, sex, and sexual orientation. Interactions among law, political institutions, interest groups, and social movements are also explored.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: POL 202 or consent of department chair. Offered annually.

POL 335: Jurisprudence and the American Judicial Process
The nature of law is examined through the analysis of selected theories of jurisprudence. Attention is given to judicial organization and process, judicial administration and politics, and judicial behavior at both the state and national levels.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: one 200-level political science course or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

POL 336: State and Society in the Third World
The origins of preindustrial non-Western states are examined as issues of power, class, statecraft, and empire. Students cannot receive credit for both ANTH 336 and POL 336.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: any 200-level anthropology or political science course or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

POL 337: Urban Political Geography
Geographic and political analyses are used to study the growth of cities. Consideration is given to the role of cities on local, national, and world scales. Students cannot receive credit for both GEOG 337 and POL 337.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: any 200-level geography or political science course or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

POL 341: The Politics of Developing Nations
Emphasis is on theories of political development and the analysis of developmental problems, including terrorism, the role of the military, instability, and the alteration of political cultures.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: POL 203 or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

POL 342: The Politics of Global Economic Change
Fundamental changes in world politics and the international economy in recent years are examined. Topics include the integration of Western Europe and the rise of newly industrialized countries in Asia.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: POL 203 or consent of department chair. Offered every third semester.

POL 343: The Politics of Western Democracies
The political structures, processes, and policies of the principal West European and Anglo-American postindustrial societies are compared and analyzed.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: one 200-level political science course or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

POL 353: Parties, Interest Groups, and the Media
The roles of political parties, interest groups, election campaigns, and the media in the American political system are examined. Focus is on contemporary political behavior and participation.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: POL 202 or consent of department chair. Offered fall of election years.

POL 357: The American Presidency
The constitutional and institutional evolution of the presidency is studied, including the demands and resources of the office. Students cannot receive credit for both HIST 332 and POL 357.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: any 200-level history or political science course or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

POL 358: The American Congress
Students examine the development of Congress and assess its structure, the behavior of its members, and its role in American politics.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: POL 202 or consent of department chair. Offered every third semester.

POL 359: Politics and the Media
The role media plays in politics is analyzed. Topics include media evolution and regulation and the relationship between media and political institutions/policy in the United States. (Formerly Political and Governmental Communications.)
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: POL 202 or consent of instructor. Offered as needed.
POL 371: Readings in Political Science
The student engages in independent readings.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: major in political science and consent of advisor and instructor. Offered as needed.

POL 381: Workshop in Public Service
Selected topics are investigated in various formats.
1–4 credit hours. Prerequisite: varies. Offered as needed.

POL 390: Independent Research in Political Science
Students select a topic and undertake concentrated research under the supervision of a faculty advisor.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: consent of department chair, faculty advisor, and dean. Offered as needed.

POL 444: British Politics and Cultural Studies
Focus is on British politics, government, constitution, political subcultures, and media since World War II and British involvement in the European Union. See The London Course under the political science program.
(6) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: consent of department chair. Offered summer.

POL 445: European Political Geography
The political geography, city planning, and urban policy within the European Union is studied, with focus on London. See The London Course under the political science program.
(12) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: consent of department chair. Offered summer.

POL 446: Foreign Policy
American foreign policy, decision making, and politics are examined. The policies and decision-making particulars of other governments are developed where appropriate.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: POL 203. Offered as needed.

POL 452: Leadership and Bureaucratic Politics
Focus is on the leadership and political environment of mid- and upper-level public managers and administrators in public agencies.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: POL 202 or consent of department chair. Offered fall.

POL 455: Policy Formation Process
Public policy formulation, from input to output, by the major institutions of government is studied. Included are the internal processes and interactions of legislatures and executives.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: POL 202 or consent of department chair. Offered fall.

POL 456: Policy Analysis
The substance of public policy in the United States is investigated. Focus is on various models of policy analysis that seek to explain the variables that influence the initiation, implementation, and outcome of policy decisions.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: POL 202 or consent of department chair. Offered spring.

POL 460: Senior Seminar in Political Science
This is an integrating experience in political science. Students complete a project that demonstrates their ability to investigate, write about, and orally present significant research.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: senior standing and 12 credit hours of political science courses. Offered fall and spring.

POL 504: Federalism and Intergovernmental Relations
The financial and programmatic relationships between federal, state, and local governments are examined. The federal government’s efforts to achieve national policy objectives are also investigated.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: early admission to the University of Rhode Island M.P.A. program or graduate status at Rhode Island College or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

POL 525: Public Sector Contracting
Models used to provide government services are analyzed along with the conditions that lead to the success of models of service delivery. Topics include the impact of such models on political accountability and quality of services.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: early admission to the University of Rhode Island M.P.A. program or graduate status at Rhode Island College or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

POL 531: Public Policy in the Arts
The history, interests, purposes, rationales, politics, and programs of public agencies involved in shaping public policy in the arts are studied.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: admission to the M.F.A. in theatre program or consent of department chair. Offered spring.
Portuguese (PORT)
The general prerequisite for 200- and 300-level Portuguese courses is proficiency in intermediate Portuguese demonstrated through examination or successful completion of PORT 114 or the equivalent.

PORT 101: Elementary Portuguese I
Students learn to understand, speak, read, and write in Portuguese and gain an understanding of Portuguese life and character. Language laboratory is required. Not open to students who have offered admission credit in Portuguese. 4 credit hours. Offered fall.

PORT 102: Elementary Portuguese II
Four skills in elementary Portuguese: listening, speaking, reading, and writing are further developed within the context of Portuguese culture. Language laboratory is required. 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: PORT 101 or one year of secondary school Portuguese, or consent of department chair. Offered spring and summer.

PORT 113: Intermediate Portuguese
The cultural and linguistic heritage of the Portuguese-speaking world is examined through selected readings. Grammar is reviewed and basic oral and written skills developed. Language laboratory is required. 4 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Category SB. Prerequisite: PORT 102 or three years of secondary school Portuguese or a score of 500–549 on the CEEB Achievement Test in Portuguese. Offered fall.

PORT 114: Readings in Intermediate Portuguese
Students develop both reading skill and an appreciation of literature as a reflection of the heritage of the Portuguese people. Development of oral skill is continued, and some attention is given to written practice. 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: PORT 113 or equivalent or consent of department chair. Offered spring.

PORT 201: Conversation and Composition
Students develop correct pronunciation through practice in the language laboratory and elementary work in phonetics. Emphasis is on the use of correct spoken Portuguese on an advanced level. 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: PORT 114 or equivalent or consent of department chair. Offered fall, spring.

PORT 202: Composition and Conversation
Writing skills in Portuguese are developed through grammatical exercises, controlled composition, original themes, and the stylistic analysis of literary texts. Discussions of written materials in Portuguese provide oral practice. 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: PORT 114 or equivalent or consent of department chair. Offered fall, spring.

PORT 301: Survey of Portuguese Literature I
This is the first half of a comprehensive introduction to the principal movements, genres, and authors of Portuguese literature. 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: PORT 202 or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

PORT 302: Survey of Portuguese Literature II
This is a continuation of PORT 301. 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: PORT 202 or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

PORT 303: The Portuguese World: Portugal and the Islands
The geography and the political and cultural history of Portugal and the Portuguese islands are traced from origins to modern times. This course is conducted in Portuguese. (Formerly PORT 230.) 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: PORT 202 or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

PORT 311: Survey of Brazilian Literature I
This is the first half of a comprehensive introduction to the principal movements, genres, and authors of Brazilian literature. 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: PORT 202 or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

PORT 312: Survey of Brazilian Literature II
This is a continuation of PORT 311. 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: PORT 202 or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

PORT 313: The Portuguese World: Brazil
The geography and the political and cultural history of Brazil are traced from origins to modern times. This course is conducted in Portuguese. (Formerly PORT 231.) 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: PORT 202 or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.
PORT 316: Survey of Lusophone African Literatures
A chronological and thematic survey of the literature of Lusophone Africa is presented. Works and authors from Cape Verde, Guinea-Bissau, São Tomé and Príncipe, Angola, and Mozambique may be included. This course is conducted in Portuguese.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: PORT 202 or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

PORT 320: Applied Grammar
Practical application of grammar is offered in both oral and written form along with an intensive study of construction and idiomatic expressions.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: PORT 202 or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

Psychology (PSYC)

PSYC 110: Introduction to Psychology
The field of psychology is surveyed, with emphasis on the biological, cognitive, and environmental factors influencing behavior.
3 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Category SB. Offered fall, spring, summer.

PSYC 215: Social Psychology
The ways in which individuals are affected by, and in turn affect, their social environment is introduced. Topics include intragroup and intergroup relations and cultural influences on behavior.
3 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Category SB. Offered fall, spring, summer.

PSYC 217: Drugs, Society, and Chemical Dependency
Psychoactive drugs and their effects are reviewed. Emphasis is on physiological brain response, history of drug use and drug control, chemical dependency, and drug abuse education.
(Formerly Drug Use and Personal Decision Making.)
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: PSYC 110. Offered fall, spring, summer.

PSYC 221: Foundations of Psychological Research
The purposes and procedures of psychological research are introduced. Topics include the nature of empirical research, varieties of research strategies and methods, the process of conducting research, and elementary data analysis.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: PSYC 110 or equivalent. Offered fall, spring, summer.

PSYC 230: Human Development
This is a survey of life span development. Included are major theories and contemporary information relating to learning and development in physical, social, emotional, and cognitive realms.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: PSYC 110 or equivalent. Offered fall, spring, summer.

PSYC 251: Personality
Personality functioning is studied, including genetic, constitutional, and cultural determinants; theories of personality; and techniques of personality assessment in children and adults.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: PSYC 110 or equivalent. Offered fall, spring, summer.

PSYC 320: Introduction to Psychological Methods
Statistical methods and research design as they are used in psychological investigations are examined. Topics include measures of central tendency, variance, probability, and parametric and nonparametric statistical tests.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: PSYC 221 or equivalent. Offered fall, spring, summer.

PSYC 331: Child Psychology
Physical, social, emotional, and cognitive development from conception to early adolescence are studied. Emphasis is on current research concerning the biological and environmental influences on growth.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: PSYC 221 and 230 or equivalents. Offered fall, spring, summer.

PSYC 332: Adolescent Psychology
Significant factors in adolescent development are studied. Adjustment to adolescent roles and the search for self-identity are emphasized.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: PSYC 221 and 230 or equivalents. Offered fall, spring, summer.
PSYC 335: Family Psychology
Theories and research on family structure, functioning, and development, are examined. Discussion includes the interdependent relationships between an individual’s thoughts, feelings, and behaviors and the family system.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: PSYC 221 and 230 or equivalents. Offered as needed.

PSYC 339: Psychology of Aging
Theory and research relating to psychological processes in adulthood and old age are addressed. Topics include behavior-biology interactions and perceptual, cognitive, and intellectual functioning.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: PSYC 221 and 230 or equivalents. Offered fall, spring, summer.

PSYC 341: Perception
The variables that determine what we perceive are explored, including input from sensory systems and the effects of attention and past experience. Included are experimental techniques used to investigate perceptual phenomena.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: PSYC 221 or equivalent. Offered fall, spring, summer.

PSYC 344: Learning
Traditional theories and contemporary models of learning are examined. Emphasis is on relationships between theories and observed phenomena. (Formerly Psychology of Learning and Memory.)
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: PSYC 221 or equivalent. Offered fall and summer.

PSYC 345: Physiological Psychology
Neural and chemical bases of behavior are examined, including the relationship between anatomical, neurophysiological, and behavioral data. General principles of sensory functioning, control of movement, and rhythms are also considered.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: PSYC 221 or equivalent. Offered fall or spring.

PSYC 349: Cognitive Psychology
Historical and contemporary views of cognitive functioning are introduced, with emphasis on current interpretations of a wide range of cognitive phenomena. Included are information-processing theories.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: PSYC 221 or equivalent. Offered fall and spring.

PSYC 353: History and Systems of Psychology
The growth of psychology from its philosophical roots to its current status is surveyed. Emphasis is on the great historical questions and controversies and on the people involved with them.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: PSYC 221 and 251 or equivalents. Offered as needed.

PSYC 354: Abnormal Psychology
Traditional and contemporary approaches to the understanding and treatment of a wide range of abnormal behaviors, both in children and in adults, are studied.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: PSYC 221 and 251 or equivalents. Offered fall, spring, summer.

PSYC 356: Psychology of Women
Documented sex differences from biological, biosocial, and social-psychological perspectives are analyzed. Included are theories and research findings relating to personality, self-concept, and mental health.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: PSYC 215 and 221 or equivalents. Offered fall and spring.

PSYC 357: Social Cognition
Classical and contemporary theoretical and empirical approaches to how individuals think about and understand the social environment are examined, including attribution processes and social inferences, and attention and memory processes.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: PSYC 215 and 221 or equivalents. Offered as needed.

PSYC 360: Seminar in Current Topics
Contemporary issues and developments in the field of psychology are explored. Recent research and theoretical literature are considered. Topics vary. This course may be repeated for credit with a change in content.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: PSYC 221 and consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

PSYC 390: Directed Research
Students select a topic and undertake concentrated research under the supervision of a faculty advisor.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: PSYC 221 or equivalent, 6 credit hours of 300-level psychology courses, and consent of department chair and dean. Offered as needed.
PSYC 391: Directed Research
This is a continuation of PSYC 390.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: PSYC 390 and consent of department chair and dean. Offered as needed.

PSYC 392: Problems in Psychological Research
Topics of current interest are selected from psychological literature. Under the supervision of the instructor, students conduct investigations into these topic areas. One class per week is devoted to problems of research design and methodology.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: PSYC 473 or 475 or 477 and consent of department chair and dean. Offered as needed.

PSYC 393: Directed Reading
Under faculty supervision, the student engages in intensive reading on a specific issue within the area of psychology.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: PSYC 221 or equivalent, 6 credit hours of 300-level psychology courses, and consent of department chair and dean. Offered as needed.

PSYC 400: Issues in Child Growth and Development
Theories and empirical evidence relating to contemporary issues in child development and learning are considered. Representative topics include intelligence, personality, adjustment, social behavior, self-concept, and cognitive development.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status and 6 credit hours of psychology courses, or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

PSYC 402: The Social Psychology of Adolescence
Patterns of development and social interaction are analyzed within a social-psychological frame of reference. The adolescent’s peer group interactions and the adolescent’s search for identity are examined.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status and 6 credit hours of psychology courses, or consent of department chair. Offered fall and spring.

PSYC 421: Behavior Modification
The principles of behavior modification are studied. These principles are applied to a variety of behaviors and settings.
(Formerly PSYC 342.)
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: PSYC 221 or equivalent. Offered fall and spring.

PSYC 422: Psychological Testing
The basic principles of construction, selection, and interpretation of psychological tests are introduced. Also considered are reliability, validity, and norms. (Formerly PSYC 346.)
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: PSYC 221 or equivalent. Offered fall and spring.

PSYC 423: Psychology and the Law
Psychological theory and research are applied to the legal system. Topics may include the psychological factors influencing eyewitness testimony and jury deliberations. (Formerly PSYC 358: Social Psychology and the Law.)
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: PSYC 215 and 221 or equivalents. Offered as needed.

PSYC 424: Health Psychology
The psychological influences on how people stay healthy, become ill, and respond when they are ill are examined. Emphasis is on the application of psychological research and theory to health promotion. (Formerly PSYC 359.)
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: PSYC 221 and either PSYC 215 or 251 or equivalents. Offered fall and spring.

PSYC 451: Psychology of Race, Class, and Gender
Psychological factors relating to gender, social class, and racial differences are presented. Included are the historical and contemporary effects of discrimination and methods of reducing intergroup conflict. (Formerly PSYC 509.)
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: PSYC 110 or 215, and 221. Offered fall.

PSYC 452: Theories of Psychological Intervention
The basics of theory and methods of promoting psychological change and behavior modification are presented. Included is a survey of appropriate theories and an introduction to practical resources for treatment. (Formerly PSYC 623.)
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: PSYC 217 and 354 or equivalents. Offered fall.

PSYC 453: Community Psychology
The relationships between environmental stressors and emotional reactions are examined. Strategies for the prevention of disorders by altering environmental factors and social interactions are considered. (Formerly PSYC 654.)
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: PSYC 451 and 452 or equivalents. Offered spring.
PSYC 471: Practicum in Chemical Dependency/Addiction Studies
Students practice intervention strategies, with emphasis on self-awareness and self-assessment. Observation and evaluation is conducted by the practicum supervisor. Students cannot receive credit for both NURS 471 and PSYC 471.
(5) 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: acceptance into the chemical dependency/addiction studies program and PSYC 451 and 452. Offered fall.

PSYC 472: Internship in Chemical Dependency and Addiction Studies
Students gain field experience in an agency providing substance abuse services. Included are weekly seminar sessions, on-site visits, and field consultation. Students cannot receive credit for both NURS 474 and PSYC 472. (Formerly PSYC 474.)
(13) 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: PSYC 453, 471, and approval of practicum and internship instructors. Offered spring.

PSYC 473: Research Methods in Developmental Psychology
Standard laboratory and field procedures, research design, and the analysis and interpretation of data from developmental psychology are presented. Lecture and laboratory. (Formerly PSYC 373.)
(5) 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: PSYC 320 and at least one course from PSYC 331, 332, 335, 339, 422, or equivalent. Offered fall, spring, summer.

PSYC 475: Research Methods in Personality and Social Psychology
Laboratory and field procedures, research design, and the analysis and interpretation of data from personality and social psychology are presented. Investigations using basic research methods are undertaken. (Formerly PSYC 375.)
(5) 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: PSYC 320 and at least one course from PSYC 353, 354, 356, 357, 422, 423, 424, or equivalent. Offered fall, spring, summer.

PSYC 476: Research Methods in Applied Psychology
This course presents standard research procedures, research design, and analysis and interpretation of data from the applied and human services areas of psychology. (Formerly PSYC 376: Research Methods: Applied Areas of Psychology.)
(5) 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: PSYC 320 and at least one course from PSYC 354, 356, 357, 422, 423, 424. Offered spring and summer.

PSYC 477: Research Methods in Experimental Psychology
Standard experimental laboratory procedures, research design, and the analysis and interpretation of data are presented. Experiments illustrating the basic methods are performed. (Formerly PSYC 374.)
(5) 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: PSYC 320 and at least one course from PSYC 341, 344, 345, 421, 422, or equivalent. Offered as needed.

PSYC 500: Research Design and Analysis I
The design and analysis of descriptive and nonexperimental research designs are covered. Included are correlational, nonparametric, and single-subject designs and their corresponding statistical tests for data analysis.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status and undergraduate courses in research methods and statistics, or consent of department chair. Offered fall.

PSYC 501: Research Design and Analysis II
The design and analysis of experimental and quasi-experimental research designs are covered. Included are between- and within-subjects approaches to single-factor and factorial designs and their corresponding statistical tests for data analysis.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status and PSYC 500, or consent of department chair. Offered spring.

PSYC 508: Behavior in Groups and Social Organizations
The psychological aspects of group task performance, role behavior, and social dynamics in working situations are covered. Emphasis is on analytic techniques, institutional climates, leadership methods, and human values.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status and 6 credit hours of psychology courses, or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

PSYC 510: Drugs and Behavior
Contemporary issues relating to drugs and behavior are introduced. Topics include classification and identification of various drugs, mental and physical effects of the drugs, characteristics of the drug addict, and rehabilitation of drug addicts.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status and 6 credit hours of psychology courses, or consent of department chair. Offered fall and spring.
PSYC 521: Industrial Psychology
Emphasis is on the measurement of human abilities and the understanding of psychological principles in decision making, planning, industrial training, and group interaction.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status and 6 credit hours of psychology courses, or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

PSYC 535: Psychopathology of Childhood and Adolescence
Emphasis is on the identification, description, and diagnosis of childhood psychopathology and the social, psychological, and physical factors involved in the development of these disorders.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

PSYC 538: Seminar in Child and Adolescent Development
Milestones in physical, social, emotional, cognitive, and language development from conception through adolescence are examined, with emphasis on theory and research. (Formerly Seminar in Personality and Social Development.)
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status or consent of department chair. Offered spring.

PSYC 549: Cognition
Cognition is studied from a contemporary information-processing point of view. Included are historical antecedents, relationships to alternative theoretical perspectives, and applications to learning, development, and problem solving.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status or consent of department chair. Offered fall.

PSYC 556: Seminar in Personality Theory
Personality theories are considered in the context of the philosophical and sociocultural environments in which they evolved. Relationships between behavioral development and theoretical predictions are examined. (Formerly PSYC 566.)
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status or consent of department chair. Offered fall.

PSYC 558: Seminar in Social Psychology
An overview is given of the field of social psychology organized around major research areas. Each of the areas is critically examined using primary sources and representative empirical research.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status or consent of department chair. Offered spring.

PSYC 559: Seminar in Adult Psychopathology
Psychopathology with adult onset is examined. Topics covered are DSM classification, etiology, major theoretical approaches, and various categories of disordered behavior. (Formerly Seminar in Psychopathology.)
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

PSYC 560: Current Issues in Psychology
Contemporary issues and developments in the field of psychology are explored at the graduate level. Recent research and theoretical literature are considered. Topics vary. This course may be repeated for credit with a change in content.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status and 6 credit hours of psychology courses, or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

PSYC 593: Directed Reading
Under the supervision of a faculty member, the student engages in intensive readings on a specific topic in psychology.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status and PSYC 500 and 501 or equivalents, good standing (see Graduate Manual), and consent of department chair and dean. Offered as needed.

PSYC 594: Directed Research
Students undertake a qualitative or quantitative empirical research project under the supervision of a faculty advisor. (Formerly PSYC 590.)
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status and PSYC 500 and 501 or equivalents, good standing (see Graduate Manual), and consent of department chair and dean. Offered as needed.

Public Administration (PBAD)
PBAD 325: Politics of Public Management: Budgeting and Personnel Administration
Emphasis is on the role of public budgets in policy formation and on the search for balance among a representative public work force, neutral competence, and political responsiveness.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: POL 301 or consent of department chair. Offered spring.
Race, Gender, and Class (RGC)

RGC 461: Seminar in Race, Gender, and Class
Students examine how race, gender, and class—interconnected systems that shape individual and collective social experiences—are constructed, experienced, and negotiated within specific historical eras and locations.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: 12 credit hours in African and African American studies, labor studies, or women’s studies; or consent of program director. Offered as needed.

Radiologic Technology (RADT)

RADT 201: Orientation to Radiologic Technology
Topics include the history of x-rays, the technologist’s role on the health care team, radiographic equipment, clinical settings, and the various modalities in diagnostic imaging.
1 credit hour. Prerequisite: only open to students majoring in radiologic technology. Offered fall.

RADT 301: Introduction to Radiologic Technology
This course explains the organization of radiology departments and services, licensure processes, the responsibilities of the professional radiologic technologist, and the responsibilities of a clinical setting.
(11) 3.5 credit hours. Prerequisite: RADT 201 and acceptance into the RADT program. Offered fall.

RADT 305: Skeletal Anatomy
Students learn detailed anatomy of the skeletal system, including identification of bony processes and specific anatomical features. Students also learn to identify and describe the articulations of different bones.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: RADT 201 and acceptance into the RADT program. Offered fall.

RADT 306: Radiographic Procedures I
Basic positioning principles are explored, including communication, radiation safety, technical factors, and the evaluation of images. Topics include chest, abdomen, upper and lower extremity, and spine.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: RADT 201 and acceptance into the RADT program. Offered fall.

RADT 307: Radiographic Procedures II
A continuation of RADT 306, this course includes positioning principles of bony thorax, skull, and contrast agent studies of the digestive, biliary, and urinary systems.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: RADT 306. Offered spring.

RADT 308: Radiographic Procedures III
A continuation of RADT 307, this course explores advanced imaging studies, including trauma, portable, and pediatric patients. The formal critiquing of radiographic images is also discussed.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: RADT 307. Offered fall.

RADT 309: Clinical Education I
In various clinical settings, students learn to produce appropriate radiographic images on all patient types. Technical factors are introduced.
(14) 3.5 credit hours. Prerequisite: RADT 201 and acceptance to the RADT program. Offered fall.

RADT 310: Clinical Education II
A continuation of RADT 309, this course includes routine radiographic procedures and technical factors.
(14) 3.5 credit hours. Prerequisite: RADT 309. Offered spring.

RADT 320: Principles of Radiography I
The discovery and properties of x-rays and the structure and function of x-ray tubes are discussed. The analysis of radiographic film quality is also explored.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: RADT 301. Offered spring.

RADT 321: Principles of Radiography II
Topics explored are quality assurance testing, the evaluation of quality control tests, radiation monitoring, latent image formation, the use of intensifying screens, and automatic film processors.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: RADT 320. Offered fall.

RADT 330: Radiation Physics I
Topics explored are the construction and function of x-ray tubes, the properties of x-ray emission spectra, photon interactions, and the clinical significance of photoelectric and Compton scattering.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: RADT 301. Offered spring.

RADT 411: Clinical Education III/IV
While reinforcing skills already learned, this clinical course focuses on advanced imaging procedures, including trauma and fluoroscopy procedures.
(32) 8 credit hours. Prerequisite: RADT 310. Offered fall.
RADT 412: Clinical Education IV/V
This final clinical course prepares students to become independent functioning radiologic technologists. (32) 8 credit hours. Prerequisite: RADT 411. Offered spring.

RADT 425: Ethics/Critical Thinking and Problem Solving
Topics include personal and professional values, professional standards, and legal liability in the workplace. Problem-solving techniques are taught to help students make competent, informed decisions. 2 credit hours. Prerequisite: RADT 411. Offered spring.

RADT 431: Radiation Physics II
Students explore electromagnetic and particulate radiation, tomography, radiosensitivity of different cell types, radiation sickness, radiation barriers, and federal, state, and local regulations concerning the use of radiation. 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: RADT 330. Offered fall.

RADT 440: Cross-Sectional Anatomy
Students examine the basic theory and practice of CT imaging and interpretation. 1 credit hour. Prerequisite: RADT 305. Offered fall.

RADT 455: Comprehensive Radiographic Pathology
A detailed, comprehensive pathology of organ systems relevant to radiologic technology is provided. 2 credit hours. Prerequisite: RADT 305. Offered spring.

RADT 461: Registry Review
Students review the specifications of the ARRT radiography examination, the guidelines for application, study strategies, and content included in the exam. 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: RADT 411. Offered spring.

Secondary Education (SED)

SED 407: Instructional Methods, Design, and Literacy
Students explore research-based reading and writing strategies for secondary education content teaching and apply these strategies by designing and presenting literacy instruction in a field-based setting. 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: SED 406 (with minimum grade of B-) and fulfillment of retention requirements, or consent of department chair. Offered fall, spring, summer.

SED 411: Content and Pedagogy in Secondary Education
Students examine principles, methods, content, and curriculum in the content area and prepare lessons and units that incorporate the needs of diverse learners and effective assessment strategies. 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: SED 407 (with minimum grade of B-), concurrent enrollment in SED 412, and fulfillment of retention requirements. Offered fall and spring.

SED 412: Field Practicum in Secondary Education
Teacher candidates, under the supervision of college and clinical instructors, plan, develop, and implement lesson plans within middle/secondary clinical settings, drawing on content developed in SED 411. (4) 2 credit hours. Prerequisite: SED 407 (with minimum grade of B-), concurrent enrollment in SED 412, and fulfillment of retention requirements. Offered fall and spring.

SED 421: Student Teaching in the Secondary School
In this culminating field experience, candidates complete a teaching experience in a middle or senior high school under the supervision of cooperating teachers and college supervisors. This is a full-semester assignment. 10 credit hours. Prerequisite: concurrent enrollment in SED 422; completion of all program requirements and all required education courses, with a minimum grade of B, prior to student teaching; satisfactory completion of all courses in the major prior to student teaching; a recommendation from the practicum instructor; undergraduate, second degree, and RITE students must have a cumulative GPA of 2.50 a full semester prior to student teaching; graduate students must have a cumulative GPA of 3.00 a full semester prior to student teaching; undergraduate and second degree students must complete the community service requirement; passing score(s) on the Praxis II, approved Preparing to Teach Portfolio; and a negative result from the required tuberculin test. Offered fall and spring.
SED 422: Student Teaching Seminar in Secondary Education
This is an integrative and culminating experience in the professional program in secondary education. Students reflect on their initial experience as classroom teachers.
2 credit hours. Prerequisite: concurrent enrollment in SED 421. Offered fall and spring.

SED 444: Teaching Adolescent Literature
This is a blending of the academic appreciation of young adult literature with pedagogical strategies for its classroom use. Students read widely in the field and develop individualized demonstration projects for use in the secondary English class.
3 credit hours. Offered fall.

SED 445: The Teaching of Writing in Secondary Schools
Study includes the evaluation of aims and objectives, selection and organization of content, principles and methods of writing instruction, and current research and practice in the teaching of writing.
3 credit hours. Offered as needed.

SED 461: Latinos in the United States
The experiences and perspectives of Latinos in the United States are introduced. Students may receive credit for only one of the following: ANTH 461, SED 461, or SSCI 461.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: 60 earned credits and any course in a social or behavioral science, or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

SED 490: Directed Study I
Students develop a proposal that includes a description and rationale for their research project, a literature review, methodologies for data collection and analysis, a time line, and a plan for presenting their findings.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: acceptance into the educational studies honors program. Offered fall and spring.

SED 491: Directed Study II
Students complete the research project begun in SED 490.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: SED 491 and good standing in the educational studies honors program. Offered fall and spring.

SED 514: Secondary School Curriculum
The development of a curriculum and the forces that modify it are examined in terms of the problems, needs, and trends involved. Recent curriculum developments are considered.
3 credit hours. Offered spring (even years).

SED 519: Professional Development for Cooperating Teachers
Cooperating teachers gain knowledge, tools, and experience that help them prepare teacher candidates to meet professional requirements in K–12 education programs. This course may be repeated after four years. Hybrid course.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status and currently serving as a cooperating teacher, or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

SED 527: Foreign Languages in the Schools
Focus is on more effective foreign language teaching at all levels. Recent research in methodology and educational media is examined, with particular reference to the contributions made by such areas as psychology and linguistics.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: completion of minimum academic requirements for certification in the discipline or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

SED 529: Mathematics in the Secondary Schools
Emphasis is on the actual teaching of mathematics. Topics include current curriculum recommendations that affect methodology and the teacher’s fundamental approach to mathematics.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: completion of minimum academic requirements for certification in the discipline or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

SED 531: Models of Instruction
A variety of theory-based instructional models are examined and in the context of contemporary secondary school issues and reform efforts.
3 credit hours. Offered spring.

SED 542: English in Secondary Schools
Study includes the evaluation of aims and objectives, selection and organization of content, principles and methods of English instruction, and current research in English instruction.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: completion of minimum academic requirements for certification in the discipline or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.
SED 543: Social Studies in Secondary Schools
Study includes the evaluation of aims and objectives, selection and organization of content, principles and methods of social studies instruction, and current research in social studies instruction.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: completion of minimum academic requirements for certification in the discipline or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

SED 548: Science Methods in Secondary Schools
Focus is on five major areas relative to science instruction in the secondary schools. Discussion of each area is supplemented with library research.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: completion of minimum academic requirements for certification in the discipline or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

SED 551: Inquiry into Classroom Practice
Students engage in systematic inquiry based on original data and standardized assessments of teaching and learning within educational settings. This is the first core course in the M.Ed. in advanced studies in teaching and learning.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: admission to the M.Ed. program in advanced studies in teaching and learning or consent of department chair. Offered fall.

SED 552: Social and Cultural Contexts of Education
Students examine the social and cultural construction of schooling and the implications of multiculturalism, school structure, and educational policy. This is the second core course in the M.Ed. in advanced studies in teaching and learning.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: SED 551 or consent of department chair. Offered spring.

SED 553: Assessing Teaching and Learning
Methods of assessing teacher and student performances are addressed, including quantitative and qualitative methods for conducting assessment, uses of assessment data, and the implications for classroom instruction.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: SED 552 or consent of department chair. Offered summer.

SED 554: Learning in Middle and High Schools
Students use multidisciplinary perspectives to examine individual, social, cultural, and historical factors in learning, teaching, and assessment practices. This is the third core course in the M.Ed. in advanced studies in teaching and learning.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: SED 552 or consent of department chair. Offered fall.

SED 555: Literacy across the Disciplines
Students examine the research, theory, and practice of multiliteracies in academic disciplines. This is the final core course in the M.Ed in advanced studies in teaching and learning.
(Formerly Literacies in the Disciplines.)
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: SED 553 or consent of department chair. Offered spring.

SED 591–594: Directed Research
Under the direction of a member of the department faculty, students initiate a formal inquiry into an area of concern associated with their present professional responsibility. A maximum of four credit hours may be earned in this sequence. 1–4 credit hours. Prerequisite: consent of department chair. Open only to students enrolled in the M.Ed. program in secondary education or the educational specialist programs. Offered as needed.

Social Science (SSCI)

SSCI 102: Introduction to Computer Use in the Social Sciences
The applications of computer technology in the social sciences are introduced, including word processing, data storage, management, and analysis. Students become familiar with main frame and microcomputers.
3 credit hours. Offered as needed.

SSCI 162: Individual and Society in Japan
The heritage, values, perceptions, and actions of individuals and social groups in Japan are examined from the perspective of one or more social sciences disciplines. (Formerly Individual and Society in Non-Western Worlds.)
4 credit hours. Gen. Ed. Core 3. Offered fall, spring, summer.
SCSI 310: Africa
The social and political structures and related problems of changing Africa are considered. Social science faculty members and visiting specialists may lecture in their fields of specialization.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: any 200-level course in a social science. Offered as needed.

SCSI 311: Latin America
Changes in Latin American societies during the twentieth century are examined in terms of their geographic and historic origins and political, social, and economic implications. Social science faculty members and visiting specialists may lecture.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: any 200-level course in a social science. Offered as needed.

SCSI 400: New England and the Sea
Students explore various aspects of New England’s coastal maritime cultural environment and worldview. Included are field trips to “alongshore” sites. Students cannot receive credit for both ANTH 400 and SSCI 400.
(8) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: 60 earned credits and any course in a social or behavioral science, or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

SCSI 418: Cultural Pluralism
The nature and dynamics of cultural pluralism in American society are examined. Issues of identity, race, ethnicity, and class are explored. Students may receive credit for only one of the following: ANTH 418, SSCI 418, or SSCI 518.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: 6 credit hours in any of the social sciences disciplines or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

SCSI 461: Latinos in the United States
Students examine the experiences and voices of Latino communities in the United States through personal narratives, literature, film, art, and participant observation in local settings. Students may receive credit for only one of the following: ANTH 461, SED 461, or SSCI 461.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: 60 earned credits and any course in a social or behavioral science, or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

SCSI 518: Cultural Pluralism
Students undertake graduate-level research on the nature and dynamics of cultural pluralism in American society. Students may receive credit for only one of the following: ANTH 418, SSCI 418, or SSCI 518.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status and 6 credit hours at the 300 and/or 400-level in any of the social sciences disciplines, or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

SCSI 561: Latinos in the United States
Students examine recent scholarship on Latinos in the United States and undertake research projects that focus on Latino educational issues. Students may receive credit for only one of the following: ANTH 561, FNED 561, or SSCI 561.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status and any 300-level social or behavioral science course, or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

Social Work (SWRK)
Prior to enrolling in any graduate-level (500- and 600-level) social work course, all students must be accepted into the M.S.W. program. Nonmatriculated graduate students may take SWRK 520 and 522, if they have a bachelor's degree.

SWRK 010: Basic Computer Skills for Case Management Practice
Students develop basic computer literacy skills, using Microsoft Word, the Internet, and electronic case-recording devices.
(1.5) 0 credit hour. Prerequisite: acceptance into the Case Management Certification program. Offered fall and spring.

SWRK 110: Introduction to Case Management
Students are introduced to the knowledge, values, and skills needed in case management. Issues of diversity, community resources, and the various arenas of case management practice are presented.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: acceptance into the Case Management Certification program. Offered fall and spring.
SWRK 111: Basic Interviewing Skills for Case Management Practice
Students practice relationship building, interviewing, and engagement skills. Classroom learning is integrated with practice experience.
(3) 1 credit hour. Prerequisite: acceptance into the Case Management Certification program. Offered fall and spring.

SWRK 120: Generalist Case Management Practice
Focus is on generalist case management practices, which include assessing, planning, linking, monitoring, recording, and evaluating.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: SWRK 110 and 120. Offered spring and summer.

SWRK 220: Case Management Planning and Intervention
Focus is on generalist case management practices in working with individuals, families, and groups.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: SWRK 110 and 120. Offered spring and summer.

SWRK 230: Advanced Case Management Skills
Focus is on assessment and intervention practices in working with individuals, families, and groups.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: SWRK 110 and 120. Offered spring and summer.

SWRK 240: Introduction to Social Work and Social Welfare
Topics include the historical evolution of welfare programs, the structure of public and voluntary social services, current welfare programs, and the development and status of social work as a profession.
3 credit hours. Offered fall, spring, summer.

SWRK 260: Case Management Integrative Seminar and Field Experience
In this seminar, students share their fieldwork experiences. Emphasis is on the integration of theory and practice.
(6) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: SWRK 110 and 120. Offered spring and summer.

TECH 204: Energy and Control Systems
Energy sources and common energy processing techniques are introduced. Study includes control devices, energy transmission technology, and the operation of energy conservation systems.
(4) 3 credit hours. Offered spring.

TECH 205: Production Processes
Tools and materials found in technology education laboratories and the production methods used are examined. Study includes fundamental manufacturing and industrial processes, tool and machine safety, and lab management.
(4) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: TECH 202. Offered spring.

TECH 216: Computer-Aided Design
International drafting-language protocol is explored and used to solve design problems in orthographic and pictorial presentation. Study includes basic computer-aided drafting.
(6) 3 credit hours. Offered as needed.

TECH 300: Orientation to Technology Education
The field of technology education and its historic role in education are introduced. This study includes past and contemporary trends, technological literacy standards, program and curriculum development, and professional traits.
4 credit hours. Prerequisite: TECH 200, 202, 204, 205, with minimum GPA of 2.75; completion of 12 credit hours of content area courses, with minimum GPA of 2.75; and minimum cumulative GPA of 2.75. Offered fall and spring.
TECH 310: Historic Innovation and Invention
Individual and regional contributions to the overall development of technology are explored. Topics include inventors, their innovations, and the diffusion of local industries and technologies.

(4) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: TECH 200. Offered spring.

TECH 325: Technology Assessment
Focus is on the decision making involved in the selection and use of technological products. Study includes assessment procedures, life cycle analysis, and the application of pollution prevention measures.

(4) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: TECH 200 and 310. Offered fall.

TECH 326: Communication Systems
Communication processes, systems, and their applications are examined. Study includes the technological processes used in developing, producing, delivering, and storing ideas and information in a technological society.

(4) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: TECH 200, 202, 204. Offered fall.

TECH 327: Construction Systems
This is an introduction to the skills, knowledge, environments, and people in the construction industry. A laboratory component is required for students to plan, design, and build a structure. (Formerly TECH 305: Construction Technology.)

(6) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: TECH 200. Offered spring.

TECH 328: Manufacturing Systems
This is an exploration of contemporary manufacturing systems, design considerations, production techniques, and automated systems and control devices to produce products. Organizational and management structures are also practiced.

(4) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: TECH 200, 202, 205. Offered spring.

TECH 329: Transportation Systems
Focus is on transportation technology, modes, vehicular systems, and support systems for moving people and cargo in various environments. Study includes the effects of transportation on individuals, society, and the environment.

(4) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: TECH 200, 202, 204. Offered fall and summer.

TECH 400: Technological Enterprise
The organization, management, and operation of a technological enterprise are examined. Students design, produce, and evaluate a product and organize, staff, and operate an enterprise.

(4) 3 credit hours. Prerequisite: TECH 200, 202, 205. Offered as needed.

TECH 406: Methods in Technology Education
Students are introduced to a variety of teaching strategies involved in the daily instruction of technology education. Included are support materials and evaluation tools.

4 credit hours. Prerequisite: TECH 300, with minimum grade of B-; completion of 18 credit hours of content area courses, with minimum GPA of 2.75 in these courses; admission to the technology education teacher preparation program; or consent of department chair. Offered fall and spring.

TECH 407: Practicum in Elementary Technology Education (Grades K through Six)
Strategies for presenting technological topics and learning activities at the elementary school level are introduced. Topics include theory, activity safety, and the development of elementary integration activities.

(6) 4 credit hours. Prerequisite: TECH 300, with minimum grade of B-; TECH 406, with minimum grade of B- and positive recommendation from the instructor; completion of 55 credit hours of required and cognate courses in the major, or consent of department chair; minimum grade of C in all content area courses, unless otherwise required; minimum cumulative GPA of 2.75; and minimum GPA of 2.75 in content area. Offered spring.

TECH 408: Practicum in Technology Education (Grades Seven through Twelve)
Three major instructional units in technology education are presented. Topics include the principles and practices of technology education, selected technology learning activities, and laboratory planning and management concepts.

4 credit hours. Prerequisite: admission to the technology education teacher preparation program. Offered fall.
TECH 421: Student Teaching in Technology Education

In this culminating field experience, candidates complete a teaching experience in a middle or senior high school under the supervision of a cooperating teacher and college supervisor. This is a full-semester assignment.
10 credit hours. Prerequisite: TECH 407 and 408, with a minimum grade of B- and positive recommendations from the instructors; concurrent enrollment in TECH 422; completion of all required education courses, with a minimum grade of B- (except CEP 315); completion of all content area courses, with a minimum GPA of 2.75; a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.75 a full semester prior to student teaching; passing score(s) on the Praxis II, approved Preparing to Teach Portfolio; completion of the community service requirement; and a negative result from the required tuberculin test. Offered fall and spring.

TECH 422: Student Teaching Seminar in Technology Education

Teacher behaviors appropriate to effective teaching are developed. Topics include classroom and time management, effective communication, learning styles, and teaching strategies. This seminar meets weekly.
2 credit hours. Prerequisite: concurrent enrollment in TECH 421. Offered fall and spring.

TECH 511: Implementing Technology Education

Teaching strategies are provided, with focus on implementing programs, integrating with STEM areas, and developing activities. (Formerly TECH 510: Analysis and Implementation of Objectives for Technology Education.)
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status and certification in technology education, or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

TECH 512: Program Development and Funding

Focus is on developing funding plans and grants to sustain technology education programs.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status and certification in technology education, or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

TECH 520: Curriculum Models in Technology Education

New curriculum models used in technology education programs at the national level are presented. Career education and prevocational curriculum thrusts are identified and analyzed for implementation in technology education programs.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status and certification in technology education, or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

TECH 531: Issues in the Workplace

Economic, social, and political issues affecting work and education are identified. Forces accelerating the rate of change in peoples' working lives and their expectations for education and training are studied.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status and certification in technology education, or consent of department chair. Offered spring.

TECH 562: Research in Technology Education

Basic forms of research and evaluation are introduced. Students are required to develop a research proposal in the field of technology education or in another area of technology. (Formerly TECH 561: Seminar on Technology Research.)
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: completion of four courses in the Professional Education Component and/or consent of department chair. Offered as needed.

TECH 565: Problem Solving and Critical Thinking

Students apply techniques for analyzing problems, framing decisions, and stimulating critical analysis and creative thought.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status and certification in technology education, or consent of department chair. Offered fall.

TECH 590: Directed Study

Students select a topic and undertake a concentrated research project under the supervision of a faculty advisor.
3 credit hours. Prerequisite: graduate status and either completion of all required courses or final semester of study. Offered as needed.

Rhode Island College Foundation 2010–2011

The Rhode Island College Foundation, established in 1965, exists for the purpose of obtaining private and public support to enhance the college’s continued tradition of educational excellence. Gifts may be made to the college through the Foundation in many forms—cash, real estate, gifts-in-kind, stocks, bonds, certificates, and insurance policies. Gifts to the Foundation are deductible for income tax purposes to the extent allowed by law.

Rhode Island College Alumni Association 2009–2011

The Rhode Island College Alumni Association, first formed in 1887, acts to organize and serve alumni; to foster a sense of loyalty and pride in Rhode Island College; and to encourage continuing development of and support for the college.

At present, there are approximately 52,000 alumni in fifty states and in many foreign countries. Approximately 67 percent of the college's graduates live in Rhode Island. After Rhode Island, the five states with the greatest Rhode Island College alumni population are Massachusetts, Florida, Connecticut, New York, and California.
