This Adapted Literature resource is available through the Sherlock Center Resource Library.

The text and graphics are adapted from the original source. These resources are provided for teachers to help students with severe disabilities participate in the general curriculum. Please limit the use and distribution of these materials accordingly.
If you give a moose a muffin
The moose will want some jam to go with it.
You will bring out some of your mother’s blackberry jam.

Adapted from the original text, If You Give a Moose a Muffin, by Laura Numeroff
When the moose is finished eating the muffin,

the moose will want more.

Adapted from the original text, If You Give a Moose a Muffin, by Laura Numeroff
When they’re all gone, the moose will ask you to make more.

Adapted from the original text, If You Give a Moose a Muffin, by Laura Numeroff
Adapted from the original text, If You Give a Moose a Muffin, by Laura Numeroff

You’ll have to go to the store to get muffin mix. The moose want to go with you.
When the moose opens the door and feels how chilly it is, the moose will ask to use a sweater.

Adapted from the original text, If You Give a Moose a Muffin, by Laura Numeroff
When he puts on the sweater, the moose sees a button is loose. The moose will ask for a needle and thread.

Adapted from the original text, If You Give a Moose a Muffin, by Laura Numeroff
He’ll start sewing. It will remind the moose of the puppets his grandmother made. The moose will ask for some old socks. The moose will make sock puppets.
When the puppets are done, the moose will want to put on a puppet show. The moose will need paints.

Adapted from the original text, If You Give a Moose a Muffin, by Laura Numeroff
Then he’ll ask you to help him paint.
When painting is finished, the moose will get behind the couch.

The moose’s antlers will stick out.

The moose will ask for a sheet to cover them up.

Adapted from the original text, If You Give a Moose a Muffin, by Laura Numeroff
You bring the moose a sheet from your bed.
Adapted from the original text, If You Give a Moose a Muffin, by Laura Numeroff

When the moose sees the sheet, the moose will want to be a ghost for Halloween

The moose will shout, “BOO”
The moose will scare himself and knock over the paints.

The moose use the sheet to clean up the mess.

The moose will ask for some soap to wash it.

Adapted from the original text, If You Give a Moose a Muffin, by Laura Numeroff
The moose will want to hang the sheet up to dry.

The moose will go outside and put it on the clothesline.

When outside, he’ll see your mother’s blackberry bushes.

Adapted from the original text, If You Give a Moose a Muffin, by Laura Numeroff
Seeing the blackberries will remind the moose of her jam.
Adapted from the original text, If You Give a Moose a Muffin, by Laura Numeroff.

The moose will probably ask you for some jam.

And chances are....

If you give the moose the jam,
The moose will want a muffin to go with it.