Creating Blog Comments
By Ryan Hanley

The instructor and students can leave comments on a blog entry. Comments must first be enabled by the instructor when setting up the blog.

RIC Template Disclaimer

It will be important to note that this guide will help you navigate to the blog area using the default template set up by Blackboard. For those of you who downloaded the RIC template (as explained in the Building a Course guide), the navigation will be much easier. To get to the Blogs page, simply click Course Blog on the main menu to the left. If you do not have the RIC template, follow the navigation instructions in this guide.

1. Click Tools on the Course Menu or Blogs from the Course Tools area of the Control Panel.
If you want to add the Blogs tool to your course menu navigation, please refer to the “Adding and Moving a Tool Link on the Course Menu” white paper.

2. Select Blogs.

3. Open a blog.

I think my favorite character in the play has to be Osric. I realize he is barely in the play, but I find his scene very funny. The double-speak is wonderful.

4. Choose a post you wish to comment on and click Comment.
5. Write your comment in the Comment field.

6. Click Comment on Entry as Anonymous if you wish to remain anonymous.

7. Click Add.
