have questions about earning a doctorate degree? We support first-generation college students with financial need or members of a group that is traditionally underrepresented in graduate education who are interested in engaging in undergraduate research, pursuing a graduate education and earning a doctorate degree. McNair participants demonstrate strong academic potential and have a strong desire to pursue a Ph.D in the future. McNair scholars work with a faculty mentor to develop a research proposal and design a research project to complete in a paid summer research internship. McNair scholars also receive advice and support from a McNair advisor throughout their academic career and the graduate school application process, as well as have access to GRE prep materials and fee reduction waivers for testing.

- RIC students interested in applying must meet the following criteria: • Demonstrate interest in obtaining a Ph.D. degree. • Have completed at least 59 credits • Have a minimum of 3 semesters left until graduation. • Carry a 3.0 minimum cumulative GPA. • Qualify as either a first-generation college student who also has low-income level or be a member of a group that is underrepresented in graduate education. • Be a citizen or permanent U.S. resident.
