Graduate Assistant

The English Department invites applications for a graduate assistantship for the 2023-2024 academic year. Our graduate assistant apprentices with a full-time English faculty member and/or the Director of the Writing Center. Duties and responsibilities may include working as a teaching assistant in a first-year writing class, an introductory literature class, or a course in the assistant's particular field of interest; tutoring in the Writing Center; assisting faculty with research projects; and/or developing resources for student outreach and professional development. This experience can be tailored for the graduate assistant to provide useful training and a valuable credential should they go on to seek a PhD or work in fields that involve writing, research, or editorial skills.

To qualify, a student must carry a minimum of 6 credits in the English MA program. Full-time graduate assistants work 20 hours per week.

Students should send a letter of interest and resume to Anita Duneer, Director of Graduate Programs in English, at aduneer@ric.edu.
