Welcome from the Dean of Graduate Studies

We are delighted to learn of your interest in graduate studies at Rhode Island College.

We invite you to experience quality graduate education and to advance your professional interests. Rhode Island College has over 30 nationally recognized graduate programs taught by extraordinary faculty who bring the excitement of their research and their professional experiences to the classroom. Small graduate classes, with the average size is 12, allows students the opportunity to work closely with faculty and other students. In addition, students learn with other committed students, many working professionals, who share their enthusiasm and dedication.

Since it is not possible for you to visit and talk to our graduate students you might want to "Meet the Graduates" on our web page. Here students who have finished a graduate program at the College talk about their experiences in their program, in classes, meeting and studying with their peers, and working and conducting research with faculty. You will find this a helpful resource as you consider the best college and program for you. https://www.ric.edu/department-directory/office-graduate-studies/graduate-studies-meet-our-students. It may also be helpful to know that we offer a small number of graduate assistantships that provide a small stipend and a tuition waiver. Application deadline for these is March 1st. https://www.ric.edu/department-directory/office-graduate-studies/graduate-assistant-opportunities

To learn more about the college you can access a virtual tour on the main page of the College's web site - https://www.ric.edu/admissions-financial-aid/visit-our-campus/virtual-tour.

Please let us know if we can answer your questions about the college, our graduate programs or the application process. We look forward to hearing from you and to welcoming you to RIC as a graduate student.

Sincerely,

Leslie Schuster, Ph.D.
Interim Dean of Graduate Studies

The Office for International, Immigrant, DACAmented, Undocumented, and Refugee Services

The Office for International, Immigrant, DACAmented, Undocumented, and Refugee Services is a resource for international students who are attending or applying to Rhode Island College. The office and its advisor, Karina Mascorro (kmascorro@ric.edu) help students with specific questions about U.S. government forms, the process of entering and leaving the country, employment requests, Practical Training, financial needs, taxes, health, housing, as well as academic and personal issues. The office hosts social and cultural activities throughout the year, including coffee hours, parties, and picnics and publishes a monthly newsletter by and for international students.

For more information see the handbook for International Students

International Students

For purposes of admission, an international student is defined as a student who is studying or wishes to study in the U.S. on a non-immigrant visa. This definition does not include permanent residents (who can supply a copy of both sides of the resident alien card) or applicants with temporary protected or refugee status. International applicants who are transferring from another U.S. college or university must notify the registrar of the “sending” institution of their plans to transfer to Rhode Island College.

Graduate Program Admission Requirements

1. Completed online application: https://www.applyweb.com/ricg/

2. $50 nonrefundable application fee

3. TOEFL minimum score of 81 web-based (213 computer-based or 550 written) or IELTS minimum score of 6.5. See appendix for English language proficiency testing services.

4. Official copies of all undergraduate and graduate (if applicable) academic records with a certified course-by-course evaluation and English translation from an approved agency (NACES or AICE). See appendix for a partial list of approved agencies.

5. At least three professional reference letters and a personal resume.

6. Some programs require the Graduate Record Examination (GRE) or Miller Analogies Test. Check the individual graduate program for specific requirement: https://www.ric.edu/academics/graduate-programs

7. Upon acceptance and before an I-20 can be issued, students must submit an original Declaration & Certification of Finances Form, verifying the ability to pay education and living expenses for the first academic year of study. This document must be original (no copies), current (within the past 6 months) and certified by bank seal or notary. If you are currently in the United States on an F-1 visa (transferring from another U.S. college or university), notify your previous institution. Complete a new certification of finances and obtain a new I-20 from Rhode Island College. See appendix for the Declaration & Certification of Finances Form.

8. Graduate programs begin review of all completed applications just after the admission deadline. Once the program has made its decisions, applicants are notified by the Dean of the School. This may take up to five weeks.
Housing

On-campus housing is open to all interested full time graduate students who wish to reside in a residence hall. Suites in Browne Hall have been designated specifically for graduate students. There are limited residence hall spaces. Interested graduate students can sign-up with the Office of Residential Life and Housing by calling (401) 456-8240 or email housing@ric.edu. https://www.ric.edu/department-directory/office-graduate-studies/graduate-student-housing

Preparing for travel and for the semester

International students are required to have health insurance while enrolled at the college. For the 2021-2022 year, the cost for college health insurance is $634/semester. If you have proof of other health insurance coverage, the college health insurance plan may be waived. Complete your medical forms for RIC Health Services: https://www.ric.edu/department-directory/center-health-and-wellness/health-services-faqs

For information on food service, health services, advising, citizenship laws and regulations see the Handbook for International Students. https://www.ric.edu/documents/international-student-handbook
English Language Proficiency Testing

For students whose native language is not English, scores on the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) or International English Language Testing System (IELTS) are required. SAT scores may be required for students whose native language is English. Please contact the testing services directly to obtain information about testing sites and dates:

Proof of Funding Requirements for Student Visas

United States Citizenship & Immigration Services require international applicants to provide proof of available funds before an I-20 form can be issued.

Upon acceptance, you must submit an original Declaration & Certification of Finances Form, verifying the ability to pay education and living expenses for the first academic year of study. This document must be original (no copies), current (within the past 6 months) and certified by bank seal or notary. If you are currently in the United States on an F-1 visa (transferring from another U.S. college or university), you must notify your previous institution and complete a new certification of finances and obtain a new I-20 from Rhode Island College.

Expenses will vary depending on whether you are living in college housing or in a sponsor's/relative's home. Generally certified bank statements from any number of sources (self/relative/sponsor) can be used to verify funding for tuition, fees, on-campus room, board and other expenses. A relative/sponsor can verify that your board and room will be provided free of charge (please complete attached Affidavit of Sponsor Providing Free Room & Board). Also you may list on-campus employment (Students are allowed to work on-campus up to 20 hours per week. A student could expect to earn $4,000 to $5,000 dollars per year), scholarships or loans you have received from any source. All sources of support must have official documentation and equal at least $37,899. Additional acceptable forms of documentation are indicated on the Declaration and Certification of Finances Form.

Holders of student visas are required to be full-time students (minimum of 12 credit hours for undergraduate students and 9 credit hours for graduate students each semester).

Notice of Affirmative Action and Nondiscrimination

Pursuant to the philosophy of the Board of Governors for Higher Education and Rhode Island College and its administration, the College does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, creed, national or ethnic origin, gender, religion, disability, age, sexual orientation, disabled veteran, veteran of the Vietnam era, or citizenship status. This nondiscrimination policy encompasses the operation of the College’s educational programs and activities, including admissions policies, scholarship and loan programs, athletic, and all other programs. It also encompasses the employment of College personnel and contracting by the College for goods and services. Rhode Island College is committed to taking affirmative action to ensure that this nondiscrimination policy is effectively observed in all the College’s endeavors.
Declaration and Certification of Finances Form

For issuance of Certificate of Eligibility (I-20)

This form is required to create your Certificate of Eligibility (I-20). Please print clearly and complete all information. Missing information and supporting documents will delay the issuance of your document.

Please mail completed forms and all required original supporting financial documents to:

Rhode Island College Office of Undergraduate Admissions
600 Mount Pleasant Avenue
Providence, RI 02908-1991

The Declaration and Certification of Finances Form is required to obtain your I-20. The form and required supporting documentation (see requirements below) must be on file in order for us to issue an I-20. Any combination of personal or sponsor fund sources may be used to show funding, but certified supporting documents are required for each funding source.

The Declaration and Certification of Finances form and bank/spONSor letters must:
♦ be written in English
♦ contain original documents and a bank stamp or notary seal
♦ Be issued and certified within the past 6 months
♦ refer to the total costs in US dollars
